The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House preceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 640, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Borough Code" approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) further regulating bonds to be given for protection of labor and materialmen.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the bills were, on my calendar, marked to be passed over but I realize there was a caucus change on the other side and I was out and did not receive the message.

I just want to say that I realize I am interrupting a roll call, but 640 and 644 increase the amounts of purchases to be made by a borough in 640, and in 644 it raises the amount from $500 to $1000 for the purchases to be made by a third-class city.

We had already covered those two bills in our caucus previously, and I would suggest that the Members on our side go along on the bills.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

April 6, 1959.

Art Wall, Jr., of Honesdale, Pennsylvania, representing Pocono Manor, and son of Art Wall, Sr., esteemed member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, blasted out five birdies on the final six holes yesterday at Suny Augusta National Golf Club, Augusta, Georgia, to bring new glory both to himself and his native State by winning his first "big" tournament, the Twenty-Third Masters Golf Tournament.

Art has long been one of golf's finest and has made Pennsylvania proud of him by playing such consistently good golf to earn for himself a position on the coveted Ryder Cup Team of 1957. Although he has won two other major tournaments this year, and finished well toward the top in numerous others, none of these are comparable to the "Masters" in prestige. Yesterday he trailed defending champion, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pennsylvania, and Stan Leonard, by six strokes when the final round started and was resting in a four-way tie for thirteenth place. With half of the final round over, Art was still five strokes behind, but his fabulous whirlwind finish beginning on the thirteenth hole will never be forgotten.

Art's final score of 184 for the 72-hole tournament was four under theoretical perfection. His last round 66 was six under par.

Art has been quoted as saying to Arnold Palmer, his fellow Pennsylvanian who was leading the tournament going into the final round. "Keep this Masters championship in Pennsylvania," Palmer was trying for an unprecedented second traight Masters Title. Certainly Art's pride in his native State can be no greater than the pride all Pennsylvanians today feel for him; therefore be it

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House a resolution reported from the Committee on Rules at this morning's session.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

April 1, 1959.

On April 1, 1909 George Boxheimer reported for work as a stenographer in the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh.

Today as City Clerk he begins his fifty-first year of employment with the City of Pittsburgh.

During the intervening years, he has displayed such a dedication to duty, and given of his tremendous ability in such measure that he has earned the respect, admiration and gratitude of the entire city. He is known as a tireless worker, arriving at the office between seven and seven-thirty in the morning and frequently working until seven in the evening. It is common to find him working on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and during his vacation. He is ever striving to improve his near perfect work. Although using shorthand every day, he has practiced it every evening since 1909. He is satisfied with his work only when he knows that he has done the best job he could possibly do.

George Boxheimer was born on June 21, 1891 in uptown Pittsburgh. He was educated at Holy Trinity Grade School, Epiphany High School and the Pittsburgh Business College. To obtain his education he sold newspapers and worked in a grocery store.

On June 25, 1913 he married Julia Riley at St. Brigid's Roman Catholic Church. They were blesed with three fine children, George Jr., William and Mary Frances. Now they are enjoying their two grandchildren, Mary Anne and Neil.

The Boxheimers belong to St. Marys of the Mount Catholic Church in Pittsburgh, and are active in its affairs.

Forty-nine of George's fifty years with the city have been in the City Clerk's office and on September 10, 1951 he became the head of that office, a reward for service which he richly deserved; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate George Boxheimer on this fiftieth anniversary of his employment with the City of Pittsburgh and congratulate the City of Pittsburgh on finding and keeping so valuable an employe; and wish for both of them that his service will extent into many more years, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to George Boxheimer at 202 Olympia Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Mr. FILLO offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FILO and BOIES. RESOLUTION No. 54.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1959.

The Borough of West Mifflin, in Allegheny County, is presently facing a financial crisis. The long range plans of this community were rightfully based upon anticipated revenues from existing sources of taxation and from a full utilization of its industrial potential. These expectations, however, have been shattered, first by a 1957 act of the Pennsylvania Legislature which rapidly decreases and soon will completely exclude machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment from being considered in determining the values of industrial establishments for tax purposes; and second, by the location within this community by the Federal Government of the Bettis Atomic Research Laboratory. The location of this instrumentality of the Federal Government imposes an additional burden upon the Borough of West Mifflin not only because of the occupation of the best industrial site by a tax-free agency, but also because of the additional demands placed upon educational facilities and public works because of the persons there employed. The present token payment made by the Federal Government in lieu of taxes is grossly inadequate to compensate for the loss of revenue which could otherwise be realized.

It can reasonably be assumed that other municipalities are presently facing the same problems which now exist in the Borough of West Mifflin; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation providing that where the assessed valuation of tax-exempt property owned by the Federal Government within any municipality is greater than 2% of the total assessed valuation of such municipality, the Federal Government shall either make additional payments in lieu of taxes, or shall permit such property to be subject to tax; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. This being the birthday of the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, your former Speaker, the Chair is requesting him to preside throughout today's session.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, in reference to this bill I first would like to bring to the attention of the Members on both sides of the aisle that in the party platforms of the Democratic party and the Republican party there is a plank which binds both parties to support public housing. I say to you at the outset that if you vote for this bill, be you a Democrat or be you a Republican, you are breaching your party's platform.

I have in my hand an article in the Evening Bulletin. I just want to read the first sentence:

> "Philadelphia can just forget about any future housing if the pending local option bill becomes law."

In principle I am not opposed to a referendum as such, providing the referendum is the proper type of referendum. I say to you that this is not a proper type of referendum. There is a reason for that. If you permit this type of legislation, whether it applies to this particular bill or a similar type of bill, you are, to all intents and purposes, destroying representative government.

The Members here will recall that you, by the charter, gave the city of Philadelphia certain rights. Now, if you pass a bill like this you are abrogating the powers that you have already given to the city of Philadelphia to legislate. Let me explain to you exactly what I mean.

In Philadelphia they have a city council and, under that charter to which I referred, every type of a change of an ordinance on a housing site first is sent to the City Planning Commission for its approval. It is then sent to the city of Philadelphia. So that these requests for a housing site are first sent to our City Planning Commission; it is screened by that particular Commission; and they then give their opinion as to the site in question or an ordinance or whatever it may be, to City Council. City Council then, under the charter, is required to advertise notice of a public hearing and to hold such a public hearing at which anyone residing in the city of Philadelphia and has an interest can appear and voice his particular objection. Now that is representative government.

We have such things down there as zoning boards of adjustment, all kinds of boards that decide what is good for the city and what is not good for the city. Now, there is no distinction, in my opinion, between a person who comes to a zoning board and requests a change in the zoning ordinance—they want to use it for a particular purpose. A bill like this, if you are going to permit this type of legislation and require a referendum, you can then turn around and say that before the zoning board of adjustment, for instance, can make any change, they have to conduct a public hearing, they have to grant a referendum, as you are doing here. You would destroy our representative local government down in the city of Philadelphia.

Now, another bad feature of this bill is that it applies to all public housing; not just to housing, low rent housing, which is paid for by the Federal government. You Members are familiar with redevelopment and redevelopment authorities. I say to you that this bill would apply to redevelopment authorities as well. You know, also, that redevelopment authorities must be built in a slum area. Now, how are you possibly going to have any redevelopment authorities operate and any projects built by them if you require a referendum?

The people in those areas may object or they may not object, but you want to recall that this applies to all public housing and therefor you have another reason before you why this is extremely bad legislation.

Let us go a step further. If you pass a bill like this public housing will disappear. Public housing in Pennsylvania will disappear for yet another reason. This piece of legislation is entirely in opposition to the Federal rules and regulations. In other words, if you pass this type of bill, the Federal government will say, "We are sorry. Because you do not comply with our regulations at this point, we cannot advance you any funds."

For your information, in this low cost housing field the Federal government today picks up 90 per cent of the entire tab. I urge you, in all sincerity, to vote against this type of legislation. We had the same bill two years ago. It was defeated on this floor and I trust that the Members wisely will defeat it again.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak very briefly to emphasize the importance of this bill, not only to the city of Philadelphia, but to the state as a whole.

I think it is important to those of us who do not live in Philadelphia for these two reasons. In the first place, the economic well-being of our Commonwealth is dependent on each and every part. We are all familiar with what redevelopment and public housing has done in our two great cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Those of us who do not live in Philadelphia can ill afford to have the sort of progress that they have made down there blocked by legislation of this sort, because that is just what this will do. That is the first reason.

The second reason is this: we in the city of York, and I know in many other cities, smaller cities, throughout the state have participated in the redevelopment program. I say to you that if this bill passes this is the opening wedge. This will encourage components of similar legislation in other cities, in other areas, throughout the state to introduce the same sort of legislation. I think if this bill passes it is the beginning of the end for public housing and redevelopment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We can ill afford that, and I ask all of you, whether you are from Philadelphia or not, to consider the impact of this bill and to vote against it.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill—Mr. Kee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEE. I shall.

Mr. SILVERMAN. I would like to ask the gentleman which ward he represents.

Mr. KEE. Twenty-third Ward.

Mr. SILVERMAN. I would like to ask the gentleman the boundaries of that ward.

Mr. KEE. The boundaries of this ward are—well, we have an indirect boundary on the Roosevelt Boulevard, Frankford Creek, and we also have Van Kirk Street and Cheltenham Avenue right down to the Frankford Creek and back again.

Mr. SILVERMAN. How many miles does it encompass roughly?

Mr. Kee. I think it covers about seven miles.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Do you think it is fair for the people who are seven miles away from a particular project to vote on that project?

Mr. KEE. Why not?

Mr. SILVERMAN. First of all, they are quite a great distance away from it and it might not concern them. You would have an end to all public housing, and I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows the difference between public housing and slum clearance?

Mr. KEE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say one thing for myself, and as long as I am being interrogated, I am not against slum clearance nor public housing.

Now let is be known once and for all in this House that this is not a bill against race discrimination or any other religion or race, because, as far as I am concerned, this will help everyone, and it is about time we let our people decide what is best for their community.

I think it is about time we come to the voters, because even we will be here in two years or we will not be here in two years. Now that is a question for the voters to decide, and if they think it is good for the community, I think it is good. Let's clear the slums in the city of Philadelphia as it is a disgrace to come through some of the parts of the city and see the slums, and all the board is looking for, the housing commission is looking for, is building on empty lots.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I object to the gentleman making that statement. He is being interrogated.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is being interrogated. If he desires to make a statement following the interrogation, the Chair will recognize him.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Will it be possible to obtain Federal funds under your proposed law?

Mr. KEE. Yes.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Do you know the machinery necessary in order to get federal funds for a project of this kind? How long does it take before the actual project is completed? When do you apply for the federal funds?

Mr. KEE. I don't think I am aware of that information. I plea that I do not know, but I do know that this bill has nothing to do with that.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Well for the gentleman's information I will advise him that it would be impossible to obtain Federal funds for public housing if this bill went through and therefore I am going to ask that it be defeated. Without these public housing projects we will have more unemployment in Philadelphia, and the Lord alone knows that unemployment is presently high enough. No man would try to bring it to a standstill. I am going to ask that this bill be defeated.

Mrs. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I had planned to debate the bill but the points I had have been covered by Mr. Schwartz and Mr. Gailey. I have numerous counts to defeat the bill.

Mr. McKEEVER. I am in the area that is involved. Like my colleague, Mr. Kee, I too am in favor of public housing, with reservations and qualifications. Where they are necessary I will vote twice if possible, but not where they are totally unnecessary, as in this case. The case we have in mind, where we have had a project existing for years, having one torn down about two years ago and now being replaced by a proposed project.

From experience in the past, the neighbors could not place on the clothes line their clothes or coats because they were stolen, they could not have happiness in their own homes because the people were subjected at that time to ridicule, and obscene language from the people residing in those projects.

I feel, as Mr. Schwartz specified that we do have hearings. I have attended hearings where there have been 500 people present in City Council, also before the zoning board, but to no avail. The people were whipped down and told. "Whether you like it or not you will have a project." Please, for the sake of human decency, vote for this bill.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it seems that everybody is in favor of public housing as long as you don't put it in their area.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I have had some little experience with public housing. A number of years ago we had a housing project in the city of Johnstown, and the present Speaker of this House was a member of the Authority.

We suggested that a housing project be built in perhaps the most dilapidated section of our city. It was a section of the town that had outside toilet facilities, in many cases no electric lights. Buildings were a hundred years old or more. And yet when the project was suggested to be put in that district, the people were bitterly opposed. Now, some twenty years later, they rejoice. We are in the present moment attempting an urban redevelopment project, and this likewise is the most dilapidated part of our city, places that should be renewed. Yet the citizens of that particular area are up in arms.

We all say we are in favor of public housing and yet I am quite certain if you were to vote today in favor of this bill you would be actually rejecting all public housing because I know from my knowledge of no place where you can go in and set up a public project and win approval in that particular area.

I believe it is a mistake to vote for this particular bill today unless you are convinced that all public housing should be discontinued. If you were to discontinue public housing in Pennsylvania you would be denying many citizens of Pensylvania a proper home in which to live in years to come, because without public housing it would be impossible for any person to furnish decent living accommodations for certain individuals in our state.

Fundamentally we are voting this morning on the question as to whether or not we should continue to have public housing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I ask, in behalf of those citizens who will be given better accommodations through public housing, that you vote down this bill.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to these different discussions about killing public housing. I cannot see in any part of this bill where it would defeat or destroy public housing.

When this bill was originally drawn, it was made statewide. I was informed by the other counties of this Commonwealth that they did not have the problems we have in Philadelphia.

Under public housing the procedure is suppose to be this: Where a proposed site is listed, city council will hold hearings; the planning commission of Philadelphia will hold hearings to decide. In the past at these hearings you had people in certain districts who opposed public housing in their districts unanimously but they went right ahead and put public housing in their ward.

I say to you, I think it is about time that we who invest our life's savings and our life's work, deny ourselves many things to buy a home, I think we should be protected. We certainly are not being protected when we voice our objections to stop it from being put in our neighborhoods, and then two or three men who are not elected, do not face the people, turn around and say, "We don't care what you think or want, we will do as we want." I think it is about time, not only in the city of Philadelphia, but I think there is some room up here too, for us to straighten these appointed people out.

Now, on this ward optional bill, called fatal to housing, as I started to say before, we took the objectionable statewide referendum out of the bill when we felt it wasn't needed statewide. Then we turned around yesterday and amended the bill again. Instead of making it mandatory, we leave it up to the people. Down in Philadelphia, in our blighted and slum areas, we need public housing because private funds won't go in to invest. We can see that. We have many, many areas of Philadelphia that could use this public housing, and do it in an orderly fashion, taking one small section at a time. Many of these people who live in these sections do not want to be moved from one end of the city to the other; they want to stay there. Their roots are there; their families have been there for years.

Now I don't want to prolong the argument, but there was an article in last Sunday's Bulletin, Philadelphia, which said the "Ward Option Bill is Fatal to Housing." You have three appointed officials. One comes out and says this bill will encourage crime, another comes up with some long-winded story, but there was not one of these officials who could point out why people should not have the right to vote.

There is a part here where Mr. Allesondroni says, yes, he believes the people should have some say about what goes in their neighborhood, and then there is a word "but," that lawyer's word "but." He says the people have a right to go to city council and the planning commission, which the people have done in the past, and their efforts have been turned down. I think this bill is much needed.

Before I close I would like to say that I have heard there is some labor opposition to this bill. Let me say to you down in these districts we are union members who pay to keep our unions going, and we are the ones they should listen to.

(The interrogation of Mr. Silverman by Mr. Stewart at the request of Mr. Stewart were stricken from the record.)

(The motion by Mr. McCann to strike from the record the interrogation by Mr. Stewart was withdrawn by Mr. McCann.)

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Comer?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COMER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLT. I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is true or not that a certain type of literature was circulated in the northeast section of Philadelphia on behalf of this bill and was sold for one dollar a copy?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, would you ask the gentleman to repeat the question, please?

Mr. HOLT. I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is true or not that a certain type of literature in connection with this bill was circulated in the northeast section of Philadelphia and sold for one dollar a copy?

Mr. COMER. No, Mr. Speaker, I know of no such thing.

Mr. HOLT. I would still like to ask the gentleman if he has any information on whether certain Members of this House have been intimidated or pressured if they did not support this bill?

Mr. COMER. By what way does he mean, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HOLT. The gentleman was asked a question whether it is true or not, whether he has any knowledge or not?

Mr. COMER. Certainly not.

Mr. HOLT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, House Bill 336 is objectionable in many, many different features. This bill will defeat all past legislation that is already on the books, in behalf of public housing and in behalf of civil rights. This bill does not only stop at the feature of public housing; it extends far beyond that.

While I am standing here, Mr. Speaker, I have information from very reliable sources that certain Members on this side of the House have been intimidated and threatened to be blackmailed and boycotted if they did not vote for this piece of legislation.

I ask every Member to join with me and vote this piece of legislation down. It serves no useful purpose for the people of Philadelphia nor the people of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly, I also request that my motion pertaining to his remarks be stricken from the record.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mrs. B. Z. MILLER filed the following reasons for her vote on House Bill No. 336.

> The backbone of a true democracy is an informed electorate. The communication of the will of the people to their elected representatives is one of the most serious problems that confronts a legislator. This is true today even in the face of modern mass communication, newspapers, television and radio.
> The old "Town Meeting" of early Colonial times was the perfect way of communicating the will of the people to its public servants. This method has become unwieldy and practically impossible in our modern government—the basic idea has not. The modern counterpart of the "Town Meeting" is the referendum.
> Although it has been suggested that the duty of a legislator is to legislate and not to shirk his duty by washing his conscience in a referendum, nevertheless, it is also the responsibility of a representative to follow the wishes of his people. My personal feeling is to oppose this bill for I believe it will seriously hamper the Public Housing program in areas where it is vitally needed.
> However, since this bill contains a provision for the self-determination of the need for Public Housing by the residents of each particular Ward, and since the question is highly controversial to the extent that Public Housing is almost an absolute necessity in certain areas whereas in other areas it is not needed, at all, I must, in the cause of democracy, support this bill. For these reasons and to give my constituents an opportunity to express their opinion, I have cast my vote in the affirmative.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this is just a reflection of our procedure here. It seems like we are wasting valuable time on roll calls.

I would like to address myself to the House Rules Committee that has a resolution about an electric roll call. Let us give that another going over. Let us look it over carefully. Maybe we should get out of the horse and buggy days and establish an electric roll call here so that on a day like today when the Members would like to get home we will not consume all the time calling the roll. I therefore again say to the Rules Committee, give it a pretty good going over and let us see whether something can be done.

Mr. McCANN. I listened very carefully to the remarks of the gentleman from McKean regarding the Resolution. We of course can give it a very good look, but I think there is a thing around the Capitol called the Art Commission that has something to do or to say about when you install something, but perhaps we will see what can be done.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that underneath the floor there is the wiring, unless it has been torn down, for an electric roll call system. I have forgotten whether the gentleman from McKean was in the House at the time we approved the bill for an electric roll call system. The contract was concluded and then something happened, the party with which I am presently identified never was able to find out just what happened after the wiring had been put in, and finally the majority party decided it did not want to do it.

Perhaps the gentleman from McKean can help us obtain the information as to what stymied that noble experiment to get an electric roll call system, and perhaps he will find out for us and help us, because the opposition came not from our side but from his side of the House. If he would remove the roadblocks, if they still exist, I think that the Rules Committee will be glad to call in his counsel and perhaps something can be done about it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I just want to say in answer to the Speaker of the House, I will take the admonition that he delivered to me early in the session when I was criticizing the Leader Administration wherein he said, "be prospective and not retrospective." The statute of limitations has run on that, let us face the future and go from here.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection
Senate Bill No. 309, Printer's No. 610
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 335, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of July 29, 1953 (P. L. 1435) entitled "An act relating to the more effective treatment of persons convicted of crime or committed as defective delinquents * * *" authorizing direct commitment of defective delinquents to institutions designated for commitment of such persons.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate Mr. Petrosky, please.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate Mr. Lopresti? I believe the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, is not on the floor.

Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I believe the purpose of this bill is to eliminate a useless function on the part of the eastern and western correctional classification centers and that it is a worthless, rather, a useless function, such as the law requires, that certain delinquent defectives be placed in certain institutions. So you send them to a classification center and then all the center can do, under the law, is send them to those particular institutions.

This act would allow them to be sent directly to the institutions rather than proceed through a classification center which must send them anyway in the final analysis.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, will this not defeat the purpose of the diagnostic and classification centers?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I do not believe it will because, as I pointed out, the diagnostic center can do nothing more now than send them where the law provides and, since the law says they must go to a certain place, there is nothing the diagnostic center can do other than send them to that place.

Mr. STEWART. Is there anything in the minds of the sponsors of this bill to create local diagnostic and classification centers in the mentally defective hospitals?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I believe not. I believe this, in fact I am sure, it is a departmental bill, with the Department of Justice recognizing that the function is useless they are asking that it be eliminated.

Mr. STEWART. Was it not the purpose of the diagnostic and classification centers to not only diagnose and classify but to compile statistics for research in one central or two central places.

Mr. LOPRESTI. The statistics in this particular instance can be compiled just as easily at the institution where, as a matter of law, these persons must go and you will still get the statistics immediately from that institution.

Mr. STEWART. Isn't research done at the diagnostic and classification center?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Well, I would not know what they would do other than compile statistics, as you say, and they can be compiled just as well at the institution.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I believe although on the face of it this bill would appear to permit the removal of an unnecessary step, it is my belief that this bill will seriously hamper psychiatric research in the diagnostic and evaluation clinics, and for this reason I am going to ask the Members of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I disagree with my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart, in that under the present setup, the court, in sentencing a person that the court finds to be a defective delinquent, would send that person, under the present law, to the diagnostic and classification center.

It seems to me that no research is done at that center. The purpose of the center was to determine where and to what institution the person sentenced by the court should be sent. This amendment would take effect where the court has found the person was guilty of committing a crime, a defective delinquent, they would send him directly to the institutions we have in Pennsylvania that are set up for the care of a defective delinquent. It seems to me that all of the research that is done is done by the institution to which that person is referred.

Under the present law it makes it more burdensome on the part of the classification and diagnostic center. Where the diagnosis has already been made it is completely unnecessary to send the defective delinquent to the center. This would correct this unnecessary step by sending them directly to the mental institution designated by the state. Therefore I think it is a good bill and it is not something that should be partisan in any respect. It is a necessary correction to the present law.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has covered the major points of what I wanted to say since the court does sentence these defective delinquents to the proper institution. All I can say is that the bill does not have anything to do with establishing diagnostic centers or clinics in various counties, if that may be the situation. I think it has been covered rather thoroughly, and I will ask that, if at all possible, all of the Members of the House support this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. AUKER from the Committee on Municipal Corporations reported as amended House Bill No. 850, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1947 (P. L. 990), entitled "An act to permit employes of counties, cities, boroughs, towns and townships to accumulate annual sick leave in certain cases," increasing the period for which sick leaves may be accumulated and regulating the granting of sick leaves.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SCHWARTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. SCHWARTZ, Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. SHERMAN, FINEMAN, DOUGHERTY and EILBERG offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1959.

It is with deep sorrow that we learn of the passing of Mrs. Yetta Gelfand, widow of Israel Gelfand, and mother of our fellow members, Eugene Gelfand, who died on Tuesday morning, the seventh day of April at her home at 3501 Kensington Avenue, in the City of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Gelfand is survived by two sons, Eugene and Isaac and a daughter, Beatrice Rossock, four grandchildren and one great granddaughter; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their heartfelt sympathies to the family of Mrs. Yetta Gelfand; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the family of Mrs. Yetta Gelfand.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, for presiding.

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs. HENZEL, Messrs. WOOD and LOPRESTI offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1959.

The guiding hand of last session, W. Stuart Helm, reached his 51st milestone today.

Since 1940 when he was first elected to this House of Representatives, Mr. Helm has been in the political driver's seat although the road has often been a rocky one. In 1937 he was elected to the Kittanning Borough School Board which he served as both "veep" and "prexy."

In addition to his accomplishments in public life, Mr. Helm is a successful merchant, a member of the Kiwanis Club, the Masons, married the former Geraldine Rearick and is the father of two lovely daughters; therefore be it

Resolved, That each member of the House of Representatives extend his congratulations to W. Stuart Helm on his 51st birthday and best wishes to a continued and prosperous future to a dedicated public servant; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to W. Stuart Helm.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote and the singing of "Happy Birthday."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, and fellow Members, I believe I have reached the plateau in my life when I hate to think of adding another year to those birthdays and anniversaries. The gentleman from Warren just advises me that I reached that plateau ten years ago.

In spite of having reached the fifty-year mark and passed it by one, I think we get a great deal of enjoyment out of spending our birthday anniversaries with those people whom we like to call our friends. I can assure you that I feel today that I am among some of the finest friends I have ever had and ever hope to have.

I thank those Members who have sent me so many fine birthday cards, the members of my office force who have been so nice as to have a breakfast for me this morning, and for all the fine, good wishes. Thank you so very, very much.

The SPEAKER. The Chair says to the gentleman from Armstrong:

"Grow old along with me:
The best is yet to be,
The last of life,
For which the first was made.
Our times are in his hand
Who said, Fear not,
See all, nor be afraid."

Mr. HELM. I certainly could not allow the opportunity to pass without thanking the Speaker of this House for his sentiments. If I can just grow old as graciously as the gentleman who presides in this Chair, I shall be very happy.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. O'NEIL offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1959.

Wednesday, April 8, 1957, marks the birthday anniversary of Harris G. Breth, one of the most highly esteemed members of this House of Representatives.

Harris G. Breth was born in Clearfield, Pennsylvania, on April 8, 1905, the son of Joseph Ambrose and Clara (Hammond) Breth, and received his education at St. Francis High School, Temple University, and the University of Pennsylvania. He is married to the former Mary K. Hall.

Mr. Breth, an outstanding authority on outdoor sports, is the author of several books on the subject and numerous outdoor articles. He is commentator on various radio stations and appears weekly on a coast-to-coast television show known as the "Sportsmen's Club."

We are indeed fortunate to have a man with the knowledge, intelligence and ability of Harris Breth as a colleague. No one could be better suited to serve as chairman of our Committee on Game and Conservation, and to guide legislation relating to wildlife and the out-of-doors in the proper direction; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives express to Harris Breth their pleasure in working with him in this, his seventh term, in the House of Representatives and wish him a very happy birthday and continued success as a legislator, outdoorsman, author, actor, and all-around good citizen; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Harris G. Breth.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the singing of "Happy Birthday."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, but before the gentleman proceeds, the Chair expresses the hope that the Minority is not seeking to be present here come September 12 which is the birthday of the Chair.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of offering an amendment to an obvious error in the resolution. It sounds like you have dusted off the resolution of 1957 and reintroduced it. Am I correct that it said that his birthday was in 1957?

If the resolution says 1957, maybe Mr. Breth wants to forget about subsequent birthdays and is celebrating his 1957 birthday today. Otherwise, we should amend the resolution so it will read "1959."

The SPEAKER. The Parliamentarian calls the Chair's attention to the fact that the resolution plainly reads, "Wednesday, April 8, 1957, marks the birthday anniversary of Harris G. Breth." He very wisely declines to grow old and maintains his eternal youth—a feminine accomplishment which I do not think the masculine character of the gentleman from Clearfield will enable him to carry forth from this time on.

However, the gentleman from Clearfield whatever his anniversary date may be, now has the floor and the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, my first remarks are those of thanks for taking so many years off my age, which I assure you I feel is justified because my locks are still on the favorable side and, furthermore, the plateau that I have attained is not as high as the plateau attained by the Chair.

However, I have hope, and hope springeth eternal, that since Nature saw fit to bring two characters of this House into the world on this very day, perhaps we can get together with the Speaker and find out the secret of his fountain of youth.

I want at this time to thank my distinguished colleague from Clearfield county for this recognition of my birthday, and to say that as we all know, there is no place to be recognized on your birthday like the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to remark that apparently birthdays are a mollifying panacea for such wrath as may from time to time be displayed upon the floor. Arrangements should be made that we have a birthday celebration every day we are in session. It makes for peace.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to announce to the House that next week the House will be in session three days, at the usual starting times as agreed to in the past.

There will be a Democratic Caucus of the Democrat Members of the House at 2:30 in the new House caucus room.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We announced in our caucus, Mr. Speaker, that hereafter the House Republicans will caucus every Monday at 3:00 o'clock, unless notified otherwise.

I just want to repeat that caucus announcement. It will save us making the announcement every week. The Members will only be notified if we change the caucus time on Monday.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this announcement has to do with the change of the Steno Pool which we believe will take place, if the schedule works out. When you return here next week, if the work is completed, the House Steno Pool, beginning next Monday, if possible, will be located in Room 131 on the first floor.

That is the space that we are taking over and it is the part of the Capitol in which formerly the Department of Commerce was located. The room has the double doors that are next to the elevator at the south end of the Capitol Building.

The Steno Pool, if the plans go according to plan the Members who come in Monday to do work or come in early, will be in that area.

Following the completion of that move, we will then re-assign the Committee rooms and, when we re-assign them, they will be effective for the following week. We will have a chance to move the committees into the rooms when we re-adjust our committee assignments. Some of the committees then will go to what will be listed as Room 131, Main Capitol Building. There will be a total of seven committee rooms in Room 131. I believe we will end up by calling them room A, B, C, D, and so forth, in Room 131.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. J. A. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, April 13, 1959 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:14 p. m.) the House adjourned.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 223, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for payment to joint boards under certain conditions by the Commonwealth for the acceptance of non-resident pupils and providing for installment payments.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not feel that we can just run through this bill without knowing what situations it will create and the problems that are inherent by passing this bill into law.

This bill would, in effect, advance the payments to school districts which accept non-resident pupils. It would amend those sections which allow them to do that today. As a matter of just plain economics,—and we are always talking about saving money—this amendment would require three reports by school districts applying for reimbursement.

By the same token, it would require three times as much employee-time to process the applications. It would require three audits and three times the amount of bookkeeping. To administer this bill, if enacted, would require the employment of an additional staff to administer the program. To pay such tuition currently, as well as tuition due in 1959 and 1960 on account of 1958 and 1959 operation, would actually necessitate increasing the amount to be allocated for the 1959-1961 biennium by fifty per cent. This bill means budgeting an estimated $4,560,000 rather than $2,700,000 which has been requested.

Mr. President, these figures that I have given you have been stated by the Department of Public Instruction. I do not understand how we can conscientiously vote for this bill if we are seeking to cut the budget and save the Commonwealth money. This is not the way to do it. If the Members of the Senate, before voting on this bill, would like some further information concerning it, I would be most happy to supply it and I am sure the Department of Public Instruction would supply information, also. By doing that, we can discuss this matter further before we hastily pass this bill.

If more information is required, I will ask that we be at ease for a moment in order for me to speak to some of the other Members of the Senate, unless they want to debate the bill at this time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if it is satisfactory to the Minority Leader, we will pass this bill over in order until tomorrow.

Mr. WEINER. I have no objection, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that

Senate Bill No. 223, Printer's No. 240,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is happy to announce the return of the Lieutenant-Governor to the Chamber, who will now preside.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 20, CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 10 of today's Calendar, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 20.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

REQUESTING THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RENDER AN OPINION AS TO THE LEGALITY OF ALLOWING VEHICLES WHICH EXCEED THE MAXIMUM WEIGHT AND SIZE TO OPERATE ON THE TURNPIKE AND EXTENSIONS

In the Senate, March 31, 1959.

Effective January 1, 1956, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission established toll schedules providing rates for the movement over the Turnpike and the extensions thereto of vehicles which exceed the maximum weight and size limitations which the Legislature has made applicable to the highways of this Commonwealth. At the present time and for a considerable period the Commission, upon the collection of the tolls provided for by such schedules, has permitted vehicles having weights or size, or both, exceeding the maximum limitations to operate over the Turnpike and extensions thereto.

There appears to be a serious question as to whether this action by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is lawful and consistent with the legislation of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General, after study of this matter, render an opinion to His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission regarding the legality of the above described action of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Attorney General.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 20, RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Resolution, Serial No. 20, be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, this resolution was introduced approximately a week ago, I believe. It comes as a great surprise to me, as a country boy coming up here, to think that the Members of this Senate obviously do not agree that the laws which we have passed heretofore apply to the entire Commonwealth and not just to certain parts or to certain people.

I believe it is quite important to note what this innocuous little resolution does. It is not a very dangerous resolution and I do not understand why everybody, Republicans and Democrats alike, cannot be in favor of something like this. It is a very simple matter. The only thing it does is that it asks the Attorney General to render an opinion to the Governor and to the Turnpike Commission concerning an issue which, I believe, is basic. That issue is whether the Turnpike Commission can make rules and regulations for its own road in opposition and in contradistinction to the other highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I cannot believe that there could be any purpose in sending this resolution back to committee, except to kill it. What would anybody be afraid of in trying to find out what is legal and what is not legal? I am sure that pressures would not be brought on anybody and that everyone would be in favor of what is right. I cannot understand why some people would feel otherwise. What would they be afraid of?

I am sure there are some Members of the Senate who could stand up here in this Senate and very easily state that the bondholders are being jeopardized because some of the revenue from the Turnpike may be decreased. However, when they argue on such a matter, they are therefore assuming and admitting that the Turnpike Commission is allowing truckers to use the Turnpike in excess of the legal weight limits which we passed during the 1955-1956 Session of the Legislature. Every trucker should have the same laws applying to them. I am sure that the local truckers from Lebanon are obeying the law. I am sure that most of the local truckers throughout this Commonwealth are obeying the law. However, it appears to me that there are some truckers using the Turnpike who are able to exceed this weight limit.

I have talked with the Executive Director of the Turnpike Commission and found this situation very interesting. They have nine special classifications for vehicles. I think it is important that the people of this Commonwealth know that some trucks are treated differently than other trucks. In other words, when these mammoth things roll down the highway,— as you know, it is much more dangerous to have 100,000 pounds than 60,000 pounds—there is a danger in shifting weights. I am sure that no one in this Senate would like to have such a truck hit them and demolish them. If it would, they would not be here any longer.

Concerning these classifications, they have a few classes for the regular vehicles and then they have Classes 7, 8 and 9. Those classes are 100,000 pounds, and they pay their rates according to those weights. Incidentally, I understand they also have their fare, and on their fare tickets it is indicated that it includes the excessive weight and the size, if any. In other words, not only are they in excess of weight but in excess of the legal size. Yes, it does give the Turnpike Commission more money. However, is that justification for ignoring a law which we previously passed?

The President, I do not want to hurt anybody because the truckers are my friends, too. However, I very strongly believe in doing what is right. What is right is something more than money.

Let me say that there is a very, very basic issue even outside of excess weight, excess limitation and excess size. The issue is whether the Turnpike Commission, or any other department of this Commonwealth, can make rules and regulations having the effect of substantive law, ignoring the laws which we have passed in this General Assembly. If they are going to continue to get away with things like that, I certainly hope that I hear the Republican Members no longer complain about bereaucracy. I also hope that the Democratic Members, who would vote for recommittal, will no longer complain about bureaucracy.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Ehrgood.

The Chair might remind the Senate, however, that a motion to recommit is not debatable except as to the question of recommittal.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Thank you, Mr. President.

I may have strayed a little bit; I did not mean to. I apologize. However, I think it does point up that this recommittal motion is for no reason other than to kill a very, very valuable resolution which asks for some advice from our Attorney General. I am sure that the Attorney General would rule what is legal. I have faith in her. I am sure that, at least, all the Members on the Democratic side would believe that the Attorney General would rule as to what is right, true and correct and what is good for the Commonwealth as a whole.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I realize that this motion is not debatable and I do not intend to debate it. I will try to use just as few words as possible.

I have a very high regard and much respect for Senator Ehrgood. I have said many times that if I were going to have another son, I would want him to be just like Senator Ehrgood. I think he is wonderful. However, I say to you, Mr. President, that the gentleman knoweth not of what he speaks.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to additionally second the motion that this resolution be recommitted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

APPRECIATION OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO DOCTOR THOMAS L. SINGLEY FOR THE PART HE PLAYED IN AVERTING A MAJOR DISASTER THAT COULD HAVE RESULTED IN THE DEATH OF MANY CITIZENS OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 13, 1959.

Because a young doctor remembered reading, as a student at Jefferson Medical School, a case carried in the American Journal of Public Health involving the poisoning of eleven men in New York City, the Philadelphia-Camden area was spared a possible major disaster from fish poisoning.

Dr. Thomas L. Singley, twenty-seven year old resident physician at Cooper Hospital, Camden, New Jersey, recognized the symptoms of nitrate poisoning (the first reported case in twenty years), remembered the antidote and by his quick thinking and with the able assistance of four interns, was credited with saving the lives of five persons.

In spreading the information among the public health officials, serious illness and deaths were reduced to a minimum.

The people of Pennsylvania and New Jersey are deeply indebted to Dr. Singley for the manner in which he, as a young physician, diagnosed and handled a case that resulted in the saving of countless human lives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extends its grateful and deep appreciation to Dr. Thomas L. Singley for the part he played in averting a major disaster that could have resulted in the death of many citizens of Pennsylvania and New Jersey; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. Thomas L. Singley, Cooper Hospital, Camden, New Jersey.

URGING CURTISS-WRIGHT CORPORATION AND OTHERS TO CONTINUE IN THEIR RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT OF NEW IDEAS AND PRACTICAL WAYS OF USING COAL

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCREESH offered the following resolution (Serial No. 22), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 13, 1959.

The Curtiss-Wright Corporation has reported an exciting and important development which may have far reaching effects on the distressed economy of the coal regions of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The development is a new road paving substance which has coal for its basic ingredient, and which material can be utilized by a thousand other Pennsylvania manufacturing firms producing roofing, shingles, floor tiles, conduits, automobile undercoating and other products.

With the ever increasing use of oil and gas for heating, the production of coal is at its lowest ebb, resulting in unemployment for thousands of Pennsylvanians. Now a ray of hope has been provided for a reawakening of many communities of this great Commonwealth which have virtually become desolate ghost towns; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate and commend the Curtiss-Wright Corporation for this magnificant achievement in finding a new use for coal; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania urge Curtiss-Wright Corporation and others to continue in their research and development of new ideas and practical ways of using coal; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Roy T. Hurley, chairman and president of Curtiss-Wright Corporation.

WITHDRAWAL OF REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I do not suppose if we were here for fifty years that we would cease to find surprises occasionally. I still do not know how it happened, but the bill which I reported from the Education Committee this afternoon was passed in the Senate and is now over in the House. Therefore, reserving the right to make a more elaborate explanation at some earlier hour and at some future date, I desire at this time to withdraw this report from the Education Committee.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, we will grant the request of the Senator from Schuylkill County to withdraw the report.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I want to thank the Senator because I am a member of the Education Committee. I heard the bill being reported out, and I was wondering what it was all about. I am glad it has already passed.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, that comment affords me an opportunity to let Senator Silvert share in the mistake, because we took it up at our meeting last week and at his insistence we decided to report out this bill.

The PRESIDENT. I do not know whether the mistake becomes less through the sharing of it, but we will let the Senator share it with you.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WOLFE, from the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 27, 1949 (P. L. 1903), entitled "The Military Code of 1949," providing that Colonels having certain service shall be placed on the retired list as Brigadier Generals.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of the bill reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 27, 1949 (P. L. 1903), entitled "The Military Code of 1949," providing that Colonels having certain service shall be placed on the retired list as Brigadier Generals.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, yesterday I was quite amazed to read in a Pittsburgh paper a statement by Senator Pechan. The item is headlined in heavy type:

"Tax 'Sleeper' Charge Hurled by GOP Whip.
"Pechan Sees $178 Million Political 'Kitty.'"

The article goes on to say:

"A top Republican leader charged today that there is a $178 million dollar 'political sleeper' in Governor David L. Lawrence's 400 million dollar revenue program.

"He is Senator Albert R. Pechan, Ford City, majority whip.

"He declared that the 'gimmick' lies in the governor's request for 178 million dollars in new taxes—as part of the 400 million total—to wipe out a deficit left over from the administration of Ex-Governor George M. Leader."

Senator Pechan goes on to say:

"What has not been brought out for the information of the taxpayers is that if the Legislature goes along and passes taxes to produce this amount, the taxes will remain on the books and will be collected again in the biennium running from June 1, 1961 to May 31, 1963.

"In other words, the Governor then could pay off the deficit in the biennium opening June 1, 1959, and then have a nice, cozy cushion of 178 millions to play with in the last two years of his term.

"And, in this connection, I'd like to point out that Pennsylvania elects a new governor in 1962."

The Senator goes on to say:

"Wouldn't it be just too nice for the Governor to have 178 millions lying around, just before an election?

"With that bundle of boodle," he said, "he could go before the 1961 Legislature and make himself a hero and the Democratic Party, of which he is the head, a hydra-headed knight in shining armor."

He also says:

"He'd be in a position to recommend the abolition of a whole slew of taxes, totaling up to 178 millions, on the ground that he has been a good steward of the public's interest and the money no longer is needed."

He goes on to say:

"Under no circumstances are the Republicans going to fall for a dodge like this."

Mr. President, I would like to sincerely congratulate the news reporter who interviewed the distinguished Senator from Armstrong County, because I believe he has more or less smoked out one top man on the Republican side. We, on the Democratic side, now understand the attitude of the Republican Members in the House in refusing to give the Administration any votes on the tax program as of this day.

I would also say, Mr. President, that I am, indeed, surprised at Senator Pechan. He has been around here for quite a long time. Senator Pechan well knows that we must adopt a budget. He also knows that the money must be justified. He further knows that the majority in the Senate are Republicans, and if they wish to amend a tax bill and make it effective for a whole biennium, they can probably get away with it. It seems to me that this is nothing more than, I would say, headline hunting and more or less trying to convince the people of Allegheny County and western Pennsylvania, in particular, that Governor Lawrence wants the $178,000,000 to play footsy with.

It seems to me that Senator Pechan should more or less, explain his position. Therefore, I would very much appreciate the opportunity of interrogating this distinguished gentleman, as he represents a part of the Republican leadership here in the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, agree to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, you heard my reading of your alleged statement. Did you make that statement?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I did.

You read better than I do, Bill. I read Hi Andrews' speech the other day and some of the words that Hi used—I do not know how you got that out so quickly. You read much better than I do. I did not do as well with Hi Andrews' speech as you did with mine. You did a good job. I congratulate you.

Mr. LANE. Thank you. That is easily explained. Hi Andrews, you know, uses larger words than you generally use because he has a larger vocabulary, I believe.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, but, I am just a dentist.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, do you believe your statement?

Mr. PECHAN. Do I believe it?

Mr. LANE. Yes.

Mr. PECHAN. Well, there is nothing wrong with it. It is one hundred per cent true. You know I believe it.

Mr. LANE. You believe that statement; I see.

Senator Pechan, were you speaking for the Republican Members of the Senate when you made that statement?

MR. PECHAN. No, I never speak for anybody but Al Pechan.

Mr. LANE. I see.

Senator Pechan, as you well know, we have to adopt a budget here in the State of Pennsylvania, do we not? How could we get away with $178,000,000 in fat?

Mr. PECHAN. Well, it is just simple arithmetic. You were $178,000,000 in the red. You have come up with a tax revenue raising program that is going to bring in $400,000,000. One hundred seventy-eight millions of that is a deficiet that was left to us by the former Governor. Now if we do not provide a retiring date, that $178,000,000 will recure in the 1961-1963 biennium. It is just like two and two make four, Bill.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, why did you not make that statement in the papers, that you were going to recommend that we have a retiring date?

Mr. PECHAN. It infers that; it means that.

Mr. LANE. It does not say that. I can read reading; maybe I cannot read writing, but it does not say that.

Mr. PECHAN. You do not have to read between the lines. I just said, as it tells you there in that article, that in 1961-1963 you are going to have $178,000,000. Now I may be all wrong. Maybe your new Governor is planning on another deficit of $178,000,000. In that case, we are going to break even.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, you also, I think are predicating your thinking on the fact that probably you will not control the Senate at the next session, is that right?

Mr. PECHAN. Predicted on what?

Mr. LANE. The fact that the Democrats might have control of the Senate in the next session by a majority vote, is your thinking along that particular line? It must be one or the other. You did not say in your statement anything about a retiring date, and yet you say that the governor can get away with $178,000,000 of boodle for political purposes. Is that true?

Mr. PECHAN. Well, if he performs according to past performances, you know that in Pittsburgh, first of all, Mayor Lawrence put on a one per cent wage tax about six or seven weeks after he was elected, when he had promised not to do so. Then, before another election, he cut it in two and, in the eyes of some people, he was a pretty good Joe. He cut the tax.

Mr. LANE. Is it not also true, Senator Pechan, that the Earle Administration put on emergency taxes and every Republican Administration since the Earle Administration re-enacted them? Is that not true?

Mr. PECHAN. We never re-enacted them as fast as you fellows are doing.

Mr. LANE. When you were in control, you did the job all right.

I would like to ask you one more question, Senator Pechan, in regard to your statement here. Do you feel there is any other way that we can do the job without including the $178,000,000 in the budget without deficit financing?

Mr. PECHAN. For this biennium, you need $178,000,000, I agree .We have the deficit and I hope I will be in a position to help raise the revenue for that. However, I am not going to see to it that you have $178,000,000 recur in the 1961-1963 biennium.

Mr. LANE. Well then you intend to offer an amendment to terminate these taxes at the end of the next biennium, is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. There are a lot of things which may happen before that bill gets here.

Mr. LANE. Well, after all, if you made this statement, you should give us an answer here because I believe if the newspapers headlined this, they should also headline your answer. If you are going to offer an amendment, I want to know now. I think the people in Pennsylvania have a right to know.

Mr. PECHAN. If I may interrupt, Senator Lane, such an amendment may not be in that bill. There are certain other features of the tax bill. You know House Bill No. 665 is not the only tax measure that is coming over here. I do not necessarily mean that that House Bill No. 665 has to be amended. It may be that some of the other bills that will be coming before us will be amended so that this amount would be retired at the end of this biennium.

Mr. LANE. You are going to amend the tax bills so that you will make sure that at the next session, the Governor will not have $178,000,000, is that correct? You will amend one of the tax bills?

Mr. PECHAN. If I have to, yes.

Mr. LANE. You will have to, will you not?

Mr. PECHAN. Someone else may do it. They may do it in the House tonight before it gets here.

Mr. LANE. Oh, I see. You will vote for it?

Mr. PECHAN. For what?

Mr. LANE. You will vote for the amendment?

MOTION FOR RECESS

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now recess until 10:00 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I see that Senator Pechan is running in the third team here now. He used to be on the first team, but I do not know; something happened. He is now on the third team.

I thank you very much, Senator Pechan. I would like the news reporters to print in the papers that you, representing the Republican Party, plan on inserting an amendment in one of the tax bills to make sure that Governor Lawrence does not have that $178,000,000 to play around with before next election.

Mr. PECHAN. You would not want him to have it either, would you, this $178,000,000 that he does not need?

Mr. LANE. Absolutely not. I would not. I do not think that is good government.

However, what you are doing in your statement is trying to make the people believe that Governor Lawrence has $178,000,000 in a political kitty, without going into it, and that the Majority Floor Leader is going to offer an amendment. This is all by inference. That is what I do not like about it.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I think a motion is before the Senate to recess.

The PRESIDENT. The motion to recess has not as yet been seconded, Senator.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BROWN, ASHTON and UJOBAI.
RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1959.

In these days of deficit financing and debt-ridden governments, it's amazing to hear of a political subdivision in the Commonwealth that is free of all bonded indebtedness yet one small community in Chester County can boast of this achievement.

On Saturday, April 4, the Borough of Parkesburg celebrated an "out of debt" dinner at which time Burgess J. William Stroup burned the last outstanding bond which made the borough debt-free.

The small community of three thousand inhabitants was $80,000 in debt in 1942—yet, through a systematic reduction of the debt through sinking fund payments, the borough has been able to get out of the "red." We only wish that there were more governmental bodies that could achieve the same position as Parkesburg because in that case our whole system of government would be better off; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives offer its sincere congratulations to the Borough of Parkesburg on their fine job in gaining a reputation that many other governments should try to achieve; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Borough Council in Parkesburg, Chester County.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 266, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) prohibiting the installation or operation in motor vehicles of equipment adjusted or tuned to receive police radio messages and providing for certain exemptions.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform me as to whether or not frequency modulation radio-receiving equipment which is capable of receiving the type of signal referred to in this bill might be installed in an automobile as standard equipment?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I cannot in candor answer that question with a yes or no answer. If the gentleman will go on to the next question, I would prefer to pass that one.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I do no think there should be a next question until we get the answer to that one. The reason being that if such receiving equipment comes as standard equipment in a car, or can be bought in an ordinary radio store, and if I am riding along the road, if I have bought a car, have a radio, do not know what kind it is, if it falls within the terms of this bill, and I turn it on and am apprehended, why it seems to me that I have violated the law. I certainly think this House should have the answer to that question before we vote on this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I say to the gentleman that I was always of the opinion that it was customary before the sponsor of a bill is interrogated for the person desiring to interrogate him to at least inform him so that he would be better prepared to come up with the answer.

With that prefatory remark I will answer the gentleman by saying that the radios installed in automobiles as standard equipment are not the type of radios that are regulated by this bill. The standard radios installed in cars are of the AM type, and not the frequency modulation type this bill mentions.

Mr. A. M. LEE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I have no further questions to ask him.

It is my understanding that you can acquire an FM radio for installation in an automobile just as well as an AM radio. Because FM radio today is very current and very popular, I would just say to the Members of this House that if the gentleman is insistent that this bill be put to a vote today, I feel we should vote it down unless we can get an authoritative answer to the inquiry that I posed to him.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, when I first read the bill I was a little bit worried that someone might inadvertently carry in his automobile a portable radio that would have bands that would enable them to listen in to public broadcsats. However, upon reading Printer's No. 297, which is before the House today, I find that this covers only FM or frequency modulated sets. Because of that I no longer have any objections to catching somebody with a portable set inadversently. I speak in favor of the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calender for a considerable length of time, and it was on there for the primary purpose of having those persons interested in this type of legislation, or affected by this type of legislation, to contact me for the purpose of possibly amending the bill in such a way that it would not adversely affect those people who have a legitimate interest in radio receiving and transmission.

Inasmuch as this is a highly technical subject I will confess I do not know much about it. I do want to impress upon the House, though, the reason why this bill was introduced. In Philadelphia, and in many other counties throughout the Commonwealth, we have automobile repair shops with tow trucks who seize upon innocent victims of accidents and sign them up, at a time when they are distraugh and injured, to have their car towed to a garage, thereafter extracting from them unreasonable and illegal charges for the repair and towing service. The reason they come up on the scene is that they intercept police radio messages that go out informing the police radio cars at the time of the accident.

This is a vicious practice, and it is especially prevalent in the city of Philadelphia, with which I am personally familiar. It is because of this that I had this bill drawn up. It is endorsed by the police chiefs of Pennsylvania.

The bill in its first form was objectionable to the ham operators in Pennsylvania. At that time a Mr. Crosley from Penn State, who is the director of the Atlantic Division of the American Radio Relay League, indicated he wished to discuss it with me. After a few meetings he came up with a bill which is the law in Florida, which has the exact wording of this bill, and which is working wonderfully well. He told me if I incorporated that law into my bill there would be no objection on the part of the ham operators. This is the bill in its present form. I ask support of both sides of the House.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just a further word in connection with this bill.

I am familiar with the tow truck racket in Philadelphia to which the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, referred and certainly as far as I am concerned, I deplore it as much as anyone else, I feel, however, that we have here a bill which covers a very broad area besides tow trucks, because it is perfectly possible for these tow truck operators to have either portable radios or table model radios in their shops which are capable of intercepting this particular type of signal, and they can run out and jump in the truck and get to the scene of the accident. I feel that since the implications of this bill are so broad we are again engaged in that process known as burning down the barn to get rid of the mice, and I wonder whether or not it is advisable.

I would also like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, a further question.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack again.

Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have a copy of the Florida statute to which he referred?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. M. LEE. I thank the gentleman.

I have read the Florida statute, Mr. Speaker, and as I read it it only applies to the installation of this equipment and does not apply to the operation of it. I read the bill very carefully, and that is my impression. So I do not believe this bill is exactly the same as the Florida bill.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I, too, have a copy of the laws of Florida pertaining to this subject, and it is not the same as the one on which we are voting today.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman who just spoke permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FULMER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Will the gentleman tell me wherein the bill in the Florida Assembly differs from the bill that is presently on the calendar?

Mr. FULMER. I will be glad to do so.

It states here that "no person, firm or corporation shall install in any motor vehicles or business establishment," and I do not believe that "business establishment"' appears in this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is the difference a substantive one? Is it important?

Mr. FULMER. It is very important in my opinion, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. In what respect?

Mr. FULMER. Because, for example, the person who wants to operate as you say they are now doing in Philadelphia, all he would have to do, really, is to install one of these systems in a busines establishment and have a crew of cars floating around anyway.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, doesn't that broaden the bill then, what was just read?

Mr. FULMER. I am not making an interpretation of whether it broadens it or not. I just said it is not the same as you said it was.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would be perfectly willing, if the gentleman cares to do so, to introduce an amendment to take care of that. If the gentleman would like me to—

Mr. FULMER. I have no desire to amend this bill. I just want to call to the attention of the Speaker and the Members of the House that this bill is not the same as the one we are voting on. That is all. I do not want to amend it.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 13, 1959.

Bertram J. Murphy, well-known Reading attorney, passed away unexpectedly on April 9, 1959, at the age of 61.

Mr. Murphy, the son of Agnes and the late Joseph E. Murphy, attended Reading High School and McCann's Business College. He served in the Marines in World War I. In 1921, he was graduated from the Georgetown University Law School, and served as an assistant attorney for the Post Office Department for three years. He was admitted to the Berks County Bar in 1925, and since that time served as assistant city solicitor in Reading, assistant district attorney, and solicitor to many county officers, including the sheriff and controller. He was solicitor to the county controller, and was national counsel of the Fraternal Order of Orioles. Mr. Murphy also served as administrative assistant to Albert S. Readinger when he was Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, and was currently serving as legal advisor to Stephen McCann, Majority Leader of the House. He has held numerous other high posts, including former judge advocate of the Marine Corps League, past president of the Pennsylvania Allied Beverage Industries, and past president of the Berks County Bar Association. Well known in Democratic political circles, Mr. Murphy was several times a delegate to Democratic national conventions.

In the untimely death of Bertram J. Murphy, we have lost not only a very capable legal advisor, but also a close personal friend. His public spirited activities and devoted service to the people of his city, county and State showed his true character as an outstanding citizen whose memory will long be cherished by all who had the pleasure of knowing him; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives express their sincere and personal sympathy to the surviving members of the family of Bertram J. Murphy upon his death; and, be it further

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DOUGHERTY from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed).

Mr. MUSTO from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 102.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House a resolution this day reported from the Committee on Rules.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

Kutztown High School and West Reading High School helped the Berks County Scholastic Basketball Conference make P.I.A.A. history on March 20, 1959 when they both won the State basketball championship for their respective class. This was the first time in the long history of the P.I.A.A. that two State champions in the same season were from the same circuit. We're sure that the residents of Berks County are proud of their teams and they certainly have the right to be.

To the people of Kutztown the honor and glory is even more significant because it was the third time the school has emerged victorious in their quest for the class B crown. To add to this we must also praise the team for its wonderful season record as they finished unbeaten in the 29 games they played. They are the only team in the Commonwealth that can boast of an undefeated season.

The Cougars from Kutztown climaxed their perfect season with a smashing 51 to 34 victory over the District 10 representative West Middlesex to bring home the laurels.

The game was played at Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania. The coach John Silan has put this team a notch or two ahead of his other State champions by saying that they were the best overall team he ever had. The Kutztown mentor has always instructed his teams to fight hard but in a clean sportsmanlike manner and the team at the championship game displayed the fact that his instructions were followed to the letter.

Our congratulations for this great victory are certainly in order and we will extend them. However, this team, the student body of the Kutztown Area High School, Coach John Silan and the supervising principal Paul C. Dunkelberger deserve congratulations for something far more important, that in the inspiring display of good sportsmanship and good citizenship they have shown during the entire season. The members of the staff and faculty have worked earnestly and hard to supply our State with that which it needs most—good citizens. They have been successful. The students have responded to their teaching and good examples and have in turn shown an example of right living which everyone may well emulate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its heartiest congratulations to the team and coach of Kutztown High which is a true champion in every sense of that word, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to the coach Mr. Silan who is here in the House today, and be it further

Resolved, That the team consisting of Milton L. Borrell, Terry Christman, Dennis J. DeTurk, Lee D. DeTurk, Richard W. Houck, Harry H. Kline, Edwin F. Kutz, Stanley R. Saul, Philip Scheidt, Gene R. Stump, Kraig A. Wagaman, and Glenroy Wiltrout stand at this time and be recognized, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the school.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DAVIS. RESOLUTION No. 55.

In the House of Representatives, April 13, 1959.

Resolved, In view of its historic background and travel advantage that State Route No. 899 be known as "The Forest Short Cut;" and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Highways be authorized and requested to have erected suitable markers at the terminal ends and at the several villages on the route, which shall set forth the name "The Forest Short-Cut."

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House a resolution this day reported from the Committee on Rules.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1959.

Saturday, March 21, 1959, was another great day for Farrell High School Steelers Basketball team, and coach Eddie McCloskey when the Farrell team won another class PIAA championship for the State of Pennsylvania, by defeating Chester, the winner of the Eastern crown, 76-66 for their fourth state title out of five attempts. This is a great tribute to coach Eddie McCloskey who has compiled a record of 248 victories against 50 defeats during the period of 1948 to 1959, while head basketball coach at Farrell High School.

The people of Farrell were full of admiration for their team as more than one thousand fans gave the team a resounding hero's welcome at the airport when the boys arrived back home. Hundreds more joined the students of the school when the five trophies which were won by the Steelers in their march to the championship were presented to the school.

The spectacular teamwork, excellent sportsmanship and fine spirit which the team displayed throughout the season culminated in this hard earned victory. Such teamwork, spirit and sportsmanship reflects credit on the team, the administration under John Hetra, superintendent of Farrell Schools, Edward McCloskey, coach and his able staff, and Ralph Dresch, Athletic Director, whose help and able assistance made this victory possible, the students and the faculty.

In earning this honor Farrell had to compete against and defeat some of the strongest high school teams in the State. Chester High was certainly one of those as they displayed their high quality and fine ability in losing to a team which justly deserves the highest honor a high school basketball team can achieve, that is, winning the State championship; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to the coaches and players of Farrell High School basketball team its sincere and hearty congratulations on their magnificient victory in the PIAA class A basketball championship playoff game, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Farrell High School, and Chester High School.

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House a resolution this day reported from the Committee on Rules.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

The people of Berks County and especially those residing in West Reading are basking in glory today because, for the first time in P.I.A.A. history, two State basketball champions are from the same conference. On Friday night, March 20, 1959, Kutztown won the class B championship and West Reading won the class C titles.

Albright College's fieldhouse was the scene of the victory for the Cowboys from West Reading High, as they defeated a fine Lilly Washington High team by a score of 74 to 55. This was the first State championship for the school, and they richly deserve all the honors being bestowed upon them. Their record of 27 victories and one defeat in the march to the crown is outstanding and it is fitting to note that their one loss was to their neighbor Kutztown who also went on to earn the title of State High School Basketball Champion in their class.

The hard play and clean sportsmanship displayed by the team were two of the factors responsible for the championship, but praise must also be showered upon the coach of the West Reading Cowboys. If it wasn't for the fine work and guiding hand of Roy Bilger, the team would never have made it to the top as they did.

With the spirit of individual responsibility and team cooperation that typifies America the team, students, coaches and members of the faculty of West Reading High School have established sports as one of our best citizen builders and they have firmly implanted in the minds of our young men the desire to be a generous winner and a good looser.

Every member of the winning team deserves credit for the victory but if one boy must be singled out for stardom, it certainly would be Ron Krick who broke two records when he threw in 35 points on 15 field goals in the final game.

The victory is well deserved and the honor well placed, for during the season and in the play-offs the team has established an enviable reputation for skill and determination, but even more for clean playing, fairness and good sportsmanship; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives congratulate the West Reading High School basketball team on their glorious victories; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, be presented to the team through the coach, Mr. Roy Bilger who is here with us today and who will accept our congratulations on behalf of the West Reading High School championship basketball team; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the team, Dennis Becker, Michael Formicone, Edward Goodwin, Hans Haas, Jack Huesman, Ronald Krick, Grant Krow, Edward Kuhn, Jack Moyer, Ricardo Scalese, James Walker, and Robert Wheeler stand at this time and be recognized; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the high school principal, Authur B. Hummelberger and the athletic director, John Shaner in West Reading.

HOUSE BILLS Nos. 665 and 666 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No.

665, Printer's No. 299 and House Bill No. 666, Printer's No. 300 be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, some of the Members on the Republican side have not received copies of House Bill No. 665.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, how many Republican Members have not received House Bill 665? Please hold up your hands and, the Democratic Members on this side of the House, will deliver the bills to those Members.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that some of the bills have been distributed around the side lines and that is the reason the Members do not have enough bills.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 665.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration of final passage of House Bill No. 665, entitled:

An Act amending the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) defining or redefining certain words terms and phrases increasing the rate of tax imposing tax on certain additional services changing the bracket schedule and basis to reflect tax increases * * *

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, now that this bill is back again for reconsideration, I have some additional remarks to make against its enactment into law.

This three and one-half per cent Lawrence sales tax is unreasonably high in its rate. A three and one-half per cent sales tax would make our people pay the highest state sales tax of any state in the United States, and then look at that one-half cent which will just be another worry to everybody.

This three and one-half per cent Lawrence sales tax discriminates against the poor and favors the rich. There is no getting away from that point, and I will be willing to carry that point to the people for their decision.

Now let us vote this bill down again in the interests of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WHITTAKER. I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor of the bill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHEELER. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, not having had the chance to study this bill, I find it necessary to ask for certain explanations.

The word "services," I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill whether this is the first time services have been taxed in Pennsylvania?

Mr. WHEELER. That is right.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Did we not have a tax under Governor Earle whereby I paid, as a young man in practice, certain taxes to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for services?

Mr. WHEELER. It is not a part of this bill.

Mr. WHITTAKER. It is not a part of this bill, but it was on the record. at that time and later made unconstitutional. Now has our constitution been changed so that we can now tax services again?

Mr. WHEELER. The tax the gentleman is talking about paying under Earle's administration surely is not a part of this bill.

Mr. WHITTAKER. The tax under the Earle Administration, for the information of the sponsor of this bill, was a tax upon certain laboratory services in my profession, and, from the interpretation I get of this bill, I will again be taxed upon those services. Am I right or wrong?

Mr. WHEELER. Services of professional people are not taxed under this bill.

Mr. WHITTAKER. How does the gentleman explain the tangibles and intangibles in making a set of dentures?

Mr. WHEELER. The professional people are specifically exempt from that section of the bill. I do not have the section right here.

Mr. WHITTAKER. That is my complaint. We have not had a chance to go through and see if we are exempt or whether we are on it.

Mr. WHEELER. You are exempt. No question about it.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Going to Webster's Dictionary, Mr. Speaker, a service is to do some work of maintenance or repair on or upon. I notice in the fore part of the bill that we are taxed for the washing and greasing of automobiles. What part of that tax is the tax upon the labor?

Mr. WHEELER. On an automobile? Any labor done on an automobile—the entire labor is taxed.

Mr. WHITTAKER. In other words this is a tax upon labor.

Mr. WHEELER. It would be a tax upon the labor, not upon the car.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Now it also says in Webster's Dictionary, a branch of public service of a person. Are all services taxable that a person might render, such as our County Court House etc.? Are all those services going to be taxable?

Mr. WHEELER. No, they would not be taxable.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Now, under service also how are we going to define and get away from taxing certain religious rites?

Mr. WHEELER. I did not hear your question, sir.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Service, according to Webster's Dictionary, also includes religious services as service. What part of those are taxable?

Mr. WHEELER. Would you tell me what page you are on?

Mr. WHITTAKER. We have not had a chance to study the bill. We can't vote on this tonight.

Mr. WHEELER. In other words, you are just shouting stuff out of the air.

Mr. WHITTAKER. No, I am not shooting it out at the air. The only explanation we have had is on tangible and intangible. I am asking you to explain the bill, part by part, so that we know what we are voting on.

Mr. WHEELER. Charitable institutions and religious churches are exempt from paying tax on services.

Mr. WHITTAKER. May I ask the gentleman, if I repair my home whether any of that is going to be taxable?

Mr. WHEELER. I would say that repairs on real estate are not taxable.

Mr. WHITTAKER. If I have the trailer I use for hunting repaired, is that taxable? That is my home part time.

Mr. WHEELER. I would say that a trailer is not considered real estate. It probably would be taxable. It comes under personal property.

Mr. WHITTAKER. In other words, it is whether I have wheels under my home or it is on a foundation as to whether it is taxable or not.

Mr. WHEELER. We have had that problem not only here but other places concerning trailers where they set on foundations or where they do not, and whether they are real estate or not, so it would probably be taxable in your trailer and not on your home.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SHERMAN filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 666:

Mr. Speaker, I make my statement in complete sincerity and hope that in the future some more of us may think it his duty to take a part in our tax program rather than let the other man do it.

If anyone thinks he can play politics with the welfare of our state and throw our beloved Commonwealth into bankruptcy, he is acting in bad faith and should resign as a Member of our House. He is shirking his duty as a legislator.

I do not fully approve of this bill, neither do many of my constituents. On the other hand, I realize that if we had the cooperation of more of our 102 Republican Members of the House we could have a better bill. Their duty, the same as ours, started December 1, 1958 and for four and one-half months I have heard nothing from them, or since the first Tuesday of January have I heard any expression of opinion as to what tax bill it is they desire. This bill is not a Lawrence bill and neither is it a Democratic bill. The Sales Tax bill was originally introduced a few years ago as a Republican bill and passed as such.

Though I am against the principle of a sales tax and voted against it in previous sessions, yet I in full sincerity realize that I must at times forget myself and think of the people of this Commonwealth.

In voting for this piece of legislation which cannot pass and be signed by the Governor unless we have the votes of a Republican on controlled Assembly in the other body, I consider our handicapped, our mentally ill, our teachers, our mental and educational institutions, our hospitals who will be in destitute circumstances unless funds are forthcoming by May 1st.

I am voting for this bill as it is the only broad based tax measure which can pass the House. I am asking for cooperation of both parties, not one, majority and minority when it comes to future tax legislation. Stop playing politics with human lives and suffering.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 666.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 666, entitled:

An Act amending "The Hotel Occupancy Tax Act" approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1256) increasing the rate of tax clarifying the liability of hotel operators for tax collections providing standards for commission allowances.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the Members of this House for their indulgence, and for being so kind as to wait here patiently while we got the bill here, even though we planned to vote on it at 9:30 p. m.

I would like to thank all the Members of the House for saving the time of the House, because I know that you know every single thing that is in this bill and we did not have to debate it. I want to thank all of the officers and all of the staff who worked so hard to get this accomplished tonight. I hope that when we meet here tomorrow we will move on with other legislation which is just as important.

STATEMENT BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to the Majority Leader, I think he has acted like a perfect gentleman in this fight on this tax bill and I say the same for the Members on the other side.

I want to thank our own Members on our side for the way that this has been handled. There has been no recrimination, and I am sure the Majority Leader must feel fine tonight to know that his Members stood by him and passed as a party a very important tax bill.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:49 p.m.) the House adjourned.

(FOR REPORT SEE APPENDIX)

STUDENTS FROM MILDRED, SULLIVAN COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, we have as visitors here today a group of students from Mildred, in Sullivan County. The instructor, who is with them, is Mr. Green. At this time, I would like to present them to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to welcome you to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

COLONEL STERLING L. MORELOCK, HOLDER OF CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to deviate for a few minutes from the regular order of business in order to introduce a most distinguished guest, who is seated in the audience of this Senate Chamber.

In the few months that I have had the pleasure of serving with the eminent statesmen who make up the Senate of this Commonwealth, I have seen various Senators introduce beautiful women, both Democrats and Republicans. Of course, I have seen promient sportsmen introduced for a round of applause, and I have seen, as just witnessed, student bodies presented from the gallery.

However, Mr. President, the gentleman in our midst today goes back to World War I days, even though our minds are now on veterans of World War II, and just yesterday we had a reading on a bill pertaining to Korean Veterans.

Let us go back for a few moments to the year 1916, when World War I was still in progress. The gentleman about whom I am speaking enlisted as a Private in World War I and was thereupon assigned to the Regular Army, in the Infantry, First Division, and served under General Charles P. Summerall, who is now deceased.

His military service took him to the Meuse-Argonne sector during the close of World War I. Fourteen German machine guns were concentrated on Company M, 28th Infantry of the First Division, in that Meuse-Argonne sector. Our distinguished guest, seated in our audience, led a patrol of eight men, under heavy machine gun fire and penetrated the position which had stopped the advance of the whole First Division. By use of hand grenades and the use of bayonets, the fourteen German machine gun operators were wiped from the face of this earth.

Our distinguished guest was severely wounded and spent fourteen years and nine months in various hospitals as a result of his heroic attempt to open the gates for the advance of the First Division in theMeuse-Argonne sector. He has had to undergo no less than fifteen major surgical operations on his right hip. His heroic efforts were not overlooked. In 1921, the President of the United States, President Woodrow Wilson, awarded him the highest military award in the Nation. President Wilson personally presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to this most humble World War I Veteran.

Today, he is the only World War I living Congressional Medal of Honor holder in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He now gives of his time, his money and his efforts in the aid of his disabled comrades. He is now the Department Commander of the Pennsylvania Disabled American Veterans.

Mr. President and my fellow Senators, as I introduce this distinguished guest, who, by the way, is a resident of my Senatorial District in Allegheny County, I would ask that you remain seated until he has an opportunity to come forth. Then, give unto him the standing ovation which he justly deserves.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I present to you a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, Colonel Sterling L. Morelock of the city of Pittsburgh.

The PRESIDENT. We are, indeed, happy to have Colonel Morelock with us today.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would certainly feel that I were remiss in my duty if I did not join in the sentiments just expressed by Senator Ripp.

Colonel Morelock, while now a resident of Senator Ripp's Senatorial District, was long a resident of the small borough from which I come, the Borough of Aspinwall, where we grew to know him and love him.

Everything which Senator Ripp said about Colonel Morelock's service to the disabled veterans of Pennsylvania can be multiplied many times. He is an outstanding citizen of Pennsylvania. He is one of the foremost workers, not only in Pennsylvania but in the entire United States of America for the disabled war veterans.

Sterling Morelock, years ago—and he told me this personally—made a vow to God that if he were ever able to walk again, he would spend the rest of his life in trying to alleviate the suffering of other disabled war veterans. There sits one man who kept his vow to God, and has devoted his entire life to doing everything he could do for the well-being of all disabled war veterans.

Certainly, not only those of us in Allegheny County, but all of Pennsylvania can well be proud of such a distinguished citizen.

The PRESIDENT. Colonel Morelock, we are indeed honored to have you with us today.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe it would only be fitting, as was suggested by Senator Ripp, if the entire Senate, and the visitors as well, would rise in acclamation to the Colonel.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this may be an experiment in futility but, nevertheless, I am going to introduce this bill. I introduced similar bills on previous occasions. I am reminded of Cato in the Roman Senate, who got up time and again and thundered that Carthage must be destroyed. He thundered so long, until finally Carthage was destroyed.

I do not deprecate the services of the Commission on the Revision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. However, I feel that this is such a long drawn out process, that a bill which will make possible a new Constitution for Pennsylvania is in order.

Knowing that this bill will go down to defeat, I, nevertheless, on behalf of Senator Lane and myself, offer such a bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, on December 1, 1958, this nation, at 2:45 p.m., was shocked to hear of the terrible Chicago tragedy in which eighty-seven parochial school children were killed, along with three nuns.

Many of the States in our Nation re-evaluated the safety hazards that confronted the school districts in their particular areas. We, in Pennsylvania, under the able direction of our Secretary of Labor and Industry, Mr. Batt, conducted the same type of investigation.

It was charged that the department was acting along the lines of a crash program. That happened, Mr. President, because of a misunderstanding. However, I am very happy to tell you, at this time, that many of the schools in Pennsylvania that were unsafe before, are now safe places in which to send our children to school.

The department's investigation revealed to the Members of the Senate the need for more competent personnel in the Department of Labor and Industry. Only 137 men are charged with looking out for the everyday lives of 11,000,000 people; millions of people who are gainfully employed in Pennsylvania and millions of people who are sending their children to school.

I honestly hope that the resolution I am about to introduce will receive our immediate attention. I should like to ask for its immediate consideration.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO TAKE WHATEVER ACTION MAY BE NECESSARY TO PROVIDE A SUFFICIENT NUMBER OF COMPETENT INDUSTRIAL SAFETY INSPECTORS

Mr. ROONEY offered the following resolution (Serial No. 23), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 14, 1959.

The State of Pennsylvania, through the Fish Commission and the Game Commission, has some 1,500 fish and game wardens.

The State of Pennsylvania has only a handful of Industrial Safety Inspectors.

Many industrial accidents, resulting in loss of limb and life, are not adequately and promptly investigated due to inadequate personnel and lack of proper and dedicated personnel in this field; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry is hereby requested to take whatever action may be necessary to provide a sufficient number of competent Industrial Safety Inspectors; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not in any way questioning the excellent purpose of the resolution. The matter is one of considerable discussion and controversy in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, due to the number of orders that have been issued by what has been termed an inadequate number of inspectors.

Mr. President, I would suggest that this resolution be referred to the appropriate committee. Therefore, I object to its immediate consideration.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that the Senator from Norhampton is seeking to solve a very serious situation that exists in our Commonwealth. I believe in his resolution he probably points out that we are, in this State, supporting 1,500 fish and game wardens. I think that our children in this Commonwealth, who are as important to us as our wildlife, should at least receive the same consideration. That is why Senator Rooney is asking for immediate consideration of this resolution.

I believe the Senator from Northampton will withdraw his request for immediate consideration if the committee to which the resolution is referred will give it some serious consideration, and do so soon.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure that the committee will give the resolution prompt and serious consideration. However, I would like to point out that the comparison to the number of fish and game wardens in the Commonwealth has very little to do with the number of industrial inspectors in the Department of Labor and Industry. The implication is that they can take some fish wardens and make them industrial inspectors, which has been suspected by many of us as being the fact for some time.

I believe that the intent of the resolution is to provide more inspectors and not less fish wardens.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Rooney, are you willing to withdraw your request for immediate consideration of this resolution?

Mr. ROONEY. Yes, Mr. President. However, I would like to clarify the subject just for a minute.

I would first like to state that I am not against the fish and game wardens in any way whatsoever. I am merely interested in the health and safety of the millions of people in Pennsylvania.

One hundred and thirty-seven safety inspectors in the Department of Labor and Industry are charged with the responsibility of looking out for the safety of 1,400 public schools, some 150 colleges, 700 parochial schools, the hospitals and convalescent homes in Pennsylvania, and a quarter of a million factories, along with millions of pressure vessels that can possibly explode. We need fish and game wardens and we need safety inspectors, but I feel that we do need more safety inspectors.

I will withdraw my request for immediate consideration. However, I sincerely hope that the committee to which the resolution is assigned will give it serious consideration.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeable to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2017), entitled "County Institution District Law" increasing the powers and duties of institution districs.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 141 is a piece of legislation which was sponsored by Senator Ruth, Senator Berger, Senator Pechan, Senator Silvert and myself. It has to do with the establishment of foster homes by the various institution districts in the various counties and cities.

This is a great forward step and will provide foster homes for aged people who are now in institutions, or those who may be on public relief. It seems to me that they are entitled to the right to have a home. I think most of the elderly people who are now in institutions would prefer to have home life again.

Under the program, Mr. President, the Department of Public Welfare will set up rules and regulations whereby these elderly people will be protected. The homes will have to meet qualifications as set up the Department of Public Welfare.

I would like to read to you just a portion of an opinion which was given to me by Deputy Attorney General Harrington Adams. It reads as follows:

> "This bill would allow county institution districts to pay all or part of the costs in maintaining aged persons in foster homes. At the present time, the county institution districts do care for the aged in central institutions. This proposed amendment would diversify the type of quarters available for the aged and would result in a reduction in maintenance costs."

I want to say to the Chairman of the Committee on State Government and to the Chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare that companion measures, which will augment and, of course, expedite the setting up of this program, are in their committees; namely, Senate Bill No. 142 and Senate Bill No. 143.

I believe the Senate of Pennsylvania is taking a great forward step in passing this type of legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—49

Barr,	Hays,	Miller,	Silvert,

The first section was read,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. STIEFEL. I want to make a motion, Mr. President, that this bill be recommitted for further study.

I have great respect for the Committee on Judiciary General and for its learned and capable chairman. However, I believe that this bill should get more attention and further study. It is another step towards concentrated power.

I have all the confidence in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, but I believe that it has so much to do and so much to attend to that it cannot spend too much time in study on prescribing rules and regulations for the Courts of Quarter Sessions. This should be done by the Judges in each county in order to provide flexibility. Anything that comes from above always spells rigidity.

For this reason, Mr. President, I believe it would be for the best to have this bill sent back to committee for further study, and I so move.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I regret that I cannot agree with my colleague, Senator Stiefel.

This bill was studied by the Task Force and it was recommended that it be offered as legislation. The power granted to the Supreme Court here is not a total power because the bill provides, on page 4, that:

"Each of the Courts of Common pleas, each of the Courts of Common Pleas, each of the Courts of Quarter Sessions, the County Court of Allegheny County, the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and other courts established by the General Assembly may adopt additional local rules for the conduct of its business which shall not be inconsistent with or in conflict with such general rules prescribed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania . . ."

The PRESIDENT. Senator Silvert, may the Chair remind you that this is only a motion to recommit?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am opposed to the motion.

The PRESIDENT. You are opposing the motion to recommit and debate is restricted to the motion to recommit, and does not extend to the bill itself.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am assuming then that I am restricted to the bare statement that I am opposed to the recommittal of this bill.

Mr. McMENAMIN. If one more lawyer can get into this discussion, Mr. President, I would like to say that I agree in part and disagree in part with each of the two previous speakers, my distinguished colleagues.

I agree with what Senator Silvert had to say, but I wanted to point out that there has been no second to this motion and, therefore, it is irrelevant and should be stricken from the record. However, as a matter of courtesy and because Senator Stiefel, our distinguished friend from Philadelphia, asked me to do so, I am seconding this motion.

While I do not agree with the reasons that he has advanced for the recommittal of this bill, I would, likewise, vote against its recommittal.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this bill is a bill that has been recommended by a Task Force of the Joint State Government Commission and there is a motion to recommit before the Senate. I, therefore, will await the decision on that motion before saying anything further.

I will, however, request that my colleagues vote "no" on the motion to recommit. I believe that this bill can be studied very handily while it is on the Calendar for the time it would take to understand it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 434, Printer's No. 613, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 512, Printer's No. 547, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 665, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" defining or redefining certain words terms and phrases increasing the rate of tax imposing tax on certain additional services changing the bracket schedule and basis to reflect tax increases exempting certain property or persons from the tax and clarifying the scope of such exemptions extending thet tax credit provision to include certain services changing the provisions relating to licenses collection of tax and returns extending the retail sales presumpion to include certain services allocating the tax proceeds for public education and imposing additional penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is well known to everyone in this room I believe, including the people who are here as visitors, that this bill, House Bill 665, Printer's No. 299, and the next bill, House Bill No. 666, Printer's No. 300, are the tax bills which have been pased by the House and sent to the Senate.

It is equally well known that we plan to have a late session, or rather an early morning session on Wednesday, commencing at 12:01 a.m., for the purpose of acting upon these bills finally. I ask the indulgence of the Chair, and of my colleagues, to make a few remarks while this bill is on Second Reading and preclude the necessity of taking up time in the early morning hours for debate upon this bill.

Mr. President, in order to pass this tax bill, or any tax bill in the Senate, the Republicans will have to cast, under existing conditions, five affirmative votes and we recognize this responsibility. In no sense, however, do we on this side adopt this bill as our program or as a bipartisan program.

The percentage rate fixed in this bill at three and one-half per cent is an awkward and a misleading rate. It will certainly cause great confusion and inconvenience in the collection of the tax by the businessman who has to collect it and has a limited staff of employees, and who must rely on people who are somewhat less than expert mathematicians in the conduct and assistance of his business. Charts will have to be furnished and we will have to expect our Revenue Repartment to forebear in the imposition of penalties until such charts can be produced and supplied for the use of the citizens who have to collect the tax at this rate.

Mr. President, because we feel a real concern on this side over the conditions that the Democratic Administrations have created in Pennsylvania's fiscal picture, we are hastening the passage of this bill so that collections will commence promptly and some of the financial pressure on the State will be relieved.

We regret that so much time has been lost and revenue lost in reaching the compromise point where a tax bill, however onorous as this one is, may be passed and signed by the Governor and revenue production commenced.

The stand taken by the Governor, Mr. President, in insisting on the tax package suggested by the Tax Study Commission has, of course, resulted in precluding the study and proposal of other measures that might have been less burdensome. But, at any rate, here is a tax bill, such as it is.

A large part of the money from taxes which will be paid in the next biennium will have to be devoted to getting the State out of its deficit position to the tune of the terrific sum of $178,000,000.

It is just a smelly, old, dead horse, but we and all the taxpayers are forced to buy it. How unfortunate for the Pennsylvania people that this situation was not made known to them and to us as their representatives when it became appaernt last year that this deficit was in the making. How much worse that the logical and sensible course was not taken last year, that of cutting down on extravagant spending and of calling a Special Session of the General Assembly to meet the crisis.

We respectfully suggest to Governor Lawrence that he consider carefully the statement of his predecessor when running for the office of Governor, that there were 10,000 drones on the State payroll. These, of course, have long since been replaced by diligent Democratic employees and 12,000 more have moved in. Surely if 10,000 drones were on the State payrolls in 1955 and their places have now been taken by people of ambition and zeal, the need for the new 12,000, or at least part of them, is hardly apparent.

A quick calculation might suggest that about $100,000,000 in the next biennium might be found in that area.

Mr. President, we on this side have agreed—and the facts are well known to the public and the press—that we expect to cast five affirmative votes for the passage of these two bills. It does not mean that we endorse the tax package nor are we adopting it or considering it in any sense as a bipartisan program. We are meeting the responsibility which we have in accordance with the necessities of the situation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not believe that anyone in the Administration or anyone who holds a responsible position and has anything to do with this tax program, and is a member of the Democratic Party, has ever stated that they are not taking the responsibility for this tax. The Governor has repeated on many occasions to both parties, who were present at all the meetings that we have had, and has stated categorically that he was assuming the responsibility of this tax program and that it was the Party's responsibility to come up with a program.

Senator Berger has stated that he feels in many ways this tax may be bad, and I might, in certain areas, agree with him. However, we find ourselves in a situation where we must raise the money. The people, in their wisdom, have seen fit to put one Party in the Executive Branch of this Government. They have also seen fit, in their wisdom, to put the same Party in control of the House. When I say "control," I use that in quotes because it is very paper thin. We had 108 Members. Due to the death of a Member, we only have 107. When you visualize that you must obtain 106 votes to pass any type of legislation and the make-up of people being what it is, regardless of the party they belong to, you begin to realize the magnitude of the problem of mustering the kind of support that you need behind any type of program.

In this Senate Chamber the people, in their wisdom, have seen fit to put the control in the opposite Party. That may or may not be good for the State, but I am not here to concern myself with that. Even here that majority is rather thin because it takes twenty-six Members to pass any kind of a program. The Republican Members on the other side of the aisle have twenty-eight of those Members. Therefore, when we get down to talking about programs, this is the only approach that any of us can take, unless we are going to spend a long time sitting here fighting with each other and getting no where and not helping the State with its problems, and bickering here over a long period of time and not accomplishing very much.

Much has been said about the Tax Study Commission. I think a word ought to be said here about it. This committee met, and I am not quarreling with the make-up of the committee or its report. I may have some reservations, as everyone has about any report which is handed to the Members of the Legislature, because the final responsibility is ours. However, by the same token, we tried here over the last four years to write a tax program within the confines of the equipment that we have available to us. What happened? We were here for seventeen months.

Now the Republican Party blazed the trail for sales tax in this State. We tried other types of taxation, but we just could not get the votes to put it across and finally ended up with a sales tax. That helped to solve the Commonwealth's problem at that time and we have continued on with that tax.

I do not say, and I will not say it publicly, that the Democratic Party did not oppose this taxation or the theory behind it. However, we find ourselves in the situation today where we have a $178,000,000 deficit. We have needy problems in the state. All of us have addressed ourselves to the problems of mental health, hospitalization and the other programs that go with it, and we cannot cut these programs off or cut them back.

It was of interest to me to speak to one of the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle who has been here a good many days longer than I have, and he was telling me that he remembered a time when the budget in this State was equal to what the Department of Public Instruction is asking for today, which is $800,000,000.

We have come a long way from that time and I do not know that the end is particularly in sight. I feel that the only approach that we can make to this program is the aproach that we are making here, hoping that some outside force that is representative of all strata, economic and social strata, in our Commonwealth can aid us in determining what the solution to this problem will be.

We do not, of necessity, due to a lack of funds, have the equipment or the personnel to devise a tax program or to completely study this problem and present it to us. We are faced constantly with the problem of coming to the Senate and taking a good many of the things that we receive, on both sides of the aisle, on faith; on the decency of the people that we are dealing with, and hoping that these are the best formulae for solving the problems and the difficulties that beset us on every turn of the road.

When we come up with a tax program, it does not have to be perfect; it does not even have to be the solution to all our problems because as you and I well know,—and I am sure that we will differ on this—this sales tax bill is due to raise $163,000,000 in new money. Some of the Members on the other side will say that it will raise considerably more money. When we project into the future as to what will happen in the next biennium or bienia, the best that we can do is make "an educated guess:" This guess is based on the figures presented to us. They may be erroneous. How can we forsee or foretell whether there will be a recession? Where the State of Pennsylvania finds itself in the hole to the extent of $178,000,000 the Federal Government finds itself in the very same predicament to the tune of $12,000,000,000.

The United States Congress meets every year. We meet only once every other year, so how can we, with the equipment we have, come up with a perfect program or any kind of a program that would solve the problems before us. Of course, if we had the votes in both Houses, the problem would be completely ours. It may be that we might not pick this type of program. It might be that we would pick another program or it might be that we would expand the present program as it exists and have across-the-board taxes on everything. I cannot answer that question. It is asking me to look into the future. However, I think that no one on the Democratic side has ever said that the responsibility is not ours because the Governor happens to be of the same party that we are, nor has anyone on this side ever said that they will not try to do the best possible job that they can with the equipment that we have at hand.

Therefore, I think if Senator Berger, and the Members on the other side who are going to supply the necessary votes, fail to do so, we will have to continue to remain here for the next two or three years until we can get the votes or maybe we will never get them and the problems of the Commonwealth will just continue to multiply. However, by the very fact that you must supply the votes and we are supplying part of the votes, I think in that sense you are talking of a bipartisan program without it you would have "no program whatsoever."

In the House, we received no Republican help so that where they could help themselves, they have done so. On our side in the Senate, it is impossible for us to do so because of the twenty-six votes that are needed and the best that we can muster is twenty-two, if everyone were present and in their seats. In that sense, I think we have a bipartisan program.

I think, at this time, for us to quarrel with each other about the program, or the operation of it, or what it does or its inequities is a little bit late in the day because the Commonwealth is suffering and suffering badly every day that we do delay.

I do not want to unduly delay the movement of this bill or the progress of it, because I think all of us are unanimously agreed that the Commonwealth does need the money. This happens to be the one avenue that all of us can agree upon, and which will take us to the path that we are trying to get to and the goal that we are all trying to reach in helping all the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, when my colleagues on the Republican side elected me as one of their officers, that honor also carried responsibility. We know that over on the Democratic side they only have twenty-two votes. Sometime ago, the Governor was told that if the bill were amended, we, on the Republican side, would provide sufficient votes to pass the bill. Tonight, at the midnight Session, when the bill is on Third Reading, I expect to vote in favor of that measure.

Yesterday, Senator Lane and I talked about the $178,000,000 which is going to recur in the 1961-1963 Session. There are many other revenue-raising bills still in the House, and I am hoping those bills can be amended so that the $178,000,000 will not again recur.

I have repeatedly said, not only to my colleagues but to the entire Membership and to my people back home, that I wanted to make a thorough study of the budget and see where it could be cut. I wanted to make sure that the appropriation requests in the budget, as presented to us by Governor Lawrence, are justified. I wanted to make sure that the money the Governor is asking for is absolutely needed. I think there are many areas in which we can cut the budget. I am convinced that even the budget in the Department of Public Welfare can be cut. However, we are going to come to that matter. As you know, we are having an investigation of that department. Under Senator Stevenson's Appropriation Subcommittee, they are studying the Department of Public Welfare budget, but that is coming a little later on.

Mr. President, I do not like House Bill No. 665 the way it stands. However, I do not want to be accused of hamstringing Governor Lawrence's Administration. He claims that he is losing some $367,000 a day. Sometimes, I feel that when he does not have that money, the taxpayers are actually saving $367,000 a day. Had Governor Lawrence not been so obstinate four weeks ago, when we told him we would furnish the necessary votes if the bill were amended, he would now have in his coffers some $10,000,000 more than this bill is going to produce.

Rather than delay this matter any longer, we are going to supply the votes. I am going to be one of those who is going to help supply them. I am going to vote for many appropriations which I think are justified. I would feel like a faker if I would not also vote for the revenue-raising measures.

I feel certain that this bill, House Bill No. 665,—even though it is not the type of bill that I like nor one that I can look at and think it is the best kind of legistlation—is a lot better than some of the bills that are going to follow and which will come from the House.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I tried very hard to follow Senator Pechan. It was not too difficult to do that. The one piece of logic which escapes me, however, is how by not paying your bills it puts money into your pocket. The people do not have money by not paying taxes; they only delay paying what has to be paid for eventually. I fail to see the theory or reasoning behind that argument.

I do take exception to Senator Pechan's remarks about the Governor being obstinate. I think the Governor stated on many occasions and in the presence of Senator Pechan—it might well be that I have wronged Senator Pechan. He may not have been at the meetings. If I am mistaken, I want to apologize to Senator Pechan. However, my recollection—and I do not believe it is faulty in this instance—was that the Governor did not want to break the package that the Tax Study Commission had sent to him. The reason for this is that once you break it for one person, party or group, you then have the entire problem before you where all the rest of the people who are included in the program now want out.

I think none of us are that naive or that practical minded that we do not realize that there are gentlemen present on this Hill and in this very Chamber who make it their business to keep a close account on what goes on in this Senate. If they feel in any way that they are being somewhat injured or that the people whom they represent are in some way annoyed or hurt, they will speak out and speak out loudly.

The Governor felt that once he took a position which in any way removed any of these people, it would open the door for all other people who felt they were being hurt to come forward at that time and state that he did so and so for Mr. "X" and they would expect the same treatment. They would have been correct.

The problem which exists about taxation is that everybody is in favor of it. Everybody is for spending and everybody wants appropriations. However, when you talk about taxing, everybody says, "Yes, let us have taxes, but do not tax me." When you have that type of a situation, I think you must try to work out the most equitable and broadest base that you can possibly operate on in order to obtain the most money for the Commonwealth under the present conditions.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I will probably stand here tonight and cast an affirmative vote for this tax bill, somewhat in the position of a reluctant dragon. However, there are certain reasons why I believe I must vote for the bill. Certainly, the three and one-half per cent sales tax bill is far from perfect and I am happy to hear the Minority Leader admit to that fact. Also, compromise is a two-way street. I will give the Governor this credit; that after a great deal of pressure, two of the very glaring inequities have been removed from the bill, although they will probably come up for further consideration in separate amendments.

The Majority Leader has mentioned the awkward rate of the tax in itself. Of course, the thing which bothers me mostly about this tax bill is the tax on restaurant foods, with the reduction of the exemption to eleven cents. I feel that is inequitable. However, in any matter which comes before a Legislator, I believe you must balance the good of all as against the personal objections to a few parts of the bill. I do not believe there is any tax bill in the world that would be applauded by anyone in this Senate or by anyone in this Commonwealth.

The one consideration that leads me to vote for this bill is the fact that the very make-up of this Senate,—twenty-eight Republicans and twenty-two Democrats—make me decide that we must have, for the passage of any tax bill, twenty-six votes. Unfortunately, there only twenty-one Democratic votes present, due to the very legitimate reason that one is absent. The officers of the Republican Senate have decided that they should stick their necks out and vote for the bill, and they obviously need one other vote because there are only four Republican Members of the Senate who are officers. Therefore, there are only four who could legitimately provide their votes and one more vote is needed. I guess, perhaps, I am somewhat in the position of a reluctant dragon.

There is a dilemma, of coures, imposed by reason of any tax bill. As I stated previously, the bill is not perfect and I do not believe it is perfect. However, in arriving at a conclusion to volunteer my services, I have to try to balance the equities in my mind. I would point out, as Senator Weiner did, the mental health program. I can point right in Berks County, which serves Lebanon County, to the Wernersville State Hospital. It is requesting an increased appropriation, from $4,976,000 to $5,890,501. That is important to me, but more than the fact that it is important to me, it is important to the citizens of Lebanon County, and I am sure of Berks County and I am sure of even Lancaster County. It is for reasons such as these that I reluctantly go ahead and am in favor of a tax bill such as this one.

Another reason I could easily give is the increased aid for State Teachers Colleges, for higher education and for the State-aided universities. I feel very strongly that something must be done, even above what the Governor has recommended. It is for that reason and for many other reasons that I, myself, feel that I will help assume the responsibility of the Democratic Party in passing this tax measure. After all, it appears that there are many tax measures to come before this Senate. I tried to find out what is the lesser of the evils.

I will state right now that you will not get my vote, under any circumstances, for any tax bills such as the personal property tax, such as the tax on tobacco and many others. This is one, however, that I think we can all, perhaps, vote on and pass for the benefit of the Commonwealth, as a whole. This is something which I think will help us, instead of staying here seventeen months, as we did under the Leader Administration, to solve the problem.

I believe the Republican Party is rising above what, I believe, unfortunately the Democratic Party ever did, by giving votes for a tax measure.

I say once again, I do not enjoy coming up here and voting for tax measures and I do not enjoy voting in favor of this particular tax measure. I do not believe it is perfect and, yet, it is better than many of the others so proposed.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I am not sure what team is speaking over there, but I am down pretty low on this team. I had a coach one time who talked about the "wildcats." They used the other team's plays, and maybe that is where I am. I do want to say that I shall, of course, vote quite willingly and enthusiastically for House Bill No. 665.

I do want to call attention to the fact, however, that on line 5, page 2, and on page 40, the paragraph beginning with line 10, there is an implication that there is a Special Education Fund in the State Treasury. Of course, I think all of us know that in the same sense that there is a Highway Fund, there is no State Education Fund. Therefore, I just simply want to rise and deplore this implication in the bill.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, last Wednesday I read an editorial in the Bulletin. It was so keen that I thought Duke Kaminsky wrote it, but he admitted to me that he did not. It was also prophetic. I should like to take a minute or two to read this editorial into the record.

It is titled:

> "Sincerely Political
> "If sincerity were a common commodity at Harrisburg, it would be easy to understand why Governor Lawrence's tax program has come to what seems to be a dead end."

That was last week. The dead end is now appearing.

> "You could then assume that more than half of the members of the House of Representatives had searched their consciences and come to the belief that a three and one-half per cent sales tax with trimmings is not the best way to raise the new money needed.

"This explanation would start to strain the imagination when you observed that all the Republicans had reached this conclusion and nearly all the Democrats the opposite conclusion. The strain would get to the boggling point when you remembered that a few years ago Republicans and Democrats, largely the same persons, held exactly the opposite views about the sales tax.

"Clearly, party solidarity outranks sincerity."

Of course, that was last week.

"The reasons are simple. A big minority such as the Republicans now have can, with a little luck, accomplish two things. It can get taxes adjusted as it wishes, but still stick the majority with full blame for them. And it can hamstring the administration, helping it make a poor record with a view to attacking that poor record later.

"This is putting politics ahead of the well-being of the Commonwealth, for it would be possible to reach a bipartisan agreement at once instead of eventually, as surely will be the case. But politics always comes first no matter which party is at bat."

May I say to you, Mr. President, that politics apparently does not come first today, because the Republicans have agreed to give us the necessary five votes. I want to congratulate the Republicans for reaching that decision as quickly as they did.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I presume it does not take a crystal ball for you people to know that mine is one of the votes which will be cast in favor of this measure tonight. However, I do want to rise, Mr. President, to endorse the statements made by our Majority Leader, Senator Berger. He expressed very clearly, I believe, the sentiment of the Republican Caucus, over which I have the honor to preside. That is the place, as you all know, where our real decisions are made.

The Republican Party felt, and still feels, that it is the responsibility of the Governor and the Democratic House of Representatives to present a tax program, good or bad. They must stand behind it, it must be theirs. As Senator Weiner suggested to the Senate, the Governor has said he would be responsible for the program and we want it to be very clear to the people of Pennsylvania that it is his program.

We also recognize the fact that you only have, at the present moment, twenty-one votes on that side of the Senate, and the leadership in the Republican Caucus felt that it was their responsibility to furnish the necessary votes, which we are going to do tomorrow morning.

We would like to call to the attention not only of the Legislature in Harrisburg, but to all the citizens of Pennsylvania, that there was delay. Whose fault it was I do not know but the tax measure did not come over. I would draw to the attention of everyone that where the Republican Party and where the Republican Senate is in a position to place a tax measure on the books, the measure that Governor Lawrence has advanced and advoated to the people of Pennsylvania, we are going to make it possible for him to put that into law within forty-eight hours of receiving it in our hands.

Certainly we cannot be charged by anyone with dilatory tactics or in any way attempting to stop the orderly processes of government in Pennsylvania. We assure you gentlemen, and we assure all the people of Pennsylvania, that the orderly process of government will go on with our help.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if I may have the indulgence of the Chair for just one moment, I want to clear up one impression that might have been left in connection with House Bill No. 665. It is that the present form of the bill, as it appears here, is not because of any conditions which were attached by us in the Senate as to the form in which it should come over.

Our only suggestion, in connection with this tax bill, was that the Administration accept a bill which the Democratic Members of the House would pass. They were objecting to passing the features which were amended out of the bill in the House. Those features were the trade-ins and the tax on beer and liquor. Those were not conditions attached to the bill by us in the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would just like to take a moment to rise in defense of some of my Republican colleagues. Senator Pechan is a very genial fellow but sometimes, in wandering around in his discourse at the microphone, he says something which has implications which are not what he intended, I am sure.

I understood Senator Pechan to say that he felt that since he was voting for appropriations, if he did not vote for this tax bill he would feel that he was a faker. That implies that any of his colleagues who take that position and do not vote for this bill might be in that category. I am sure the Senator did not mean to leave that impression, and I just wanted to call it to his attention.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to thank my very good friend, Senator Seyler, for bringing this to the attention of my colleagues. If I left that impression, it certainly was erroneous. I meant to convey that I would certainly be a faker to vote for all appropriations and not vote for tax measures.

I know if I want to spend money at home, I have to have it. This bill does not meet with my approval. I do not think it is a perfect bill, but it is lesser of two evils.

As Senator Fleming just brought forth, we must have the orderly process of government go on. I do not want to have the Democratic side say that we, on the Republican side, were obstructionists. We certainly acted a lot faster on this measure, once it came over here, than your colleagues acted on it over in the House.

Senator Berger brought out the fact that the amendments to the bill, as it did come over, are not our amendments. Those amendments were placed by Democratic members of the House. However, we had promised if the bill came over here, we would furnish the five votes, and I am happy to supply one of those five votes.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the sections?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 666, entitled:

An Act amending the Act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1256) entitled "The Hotel Occupancy Tax Act" increasing the rate of tax clarifying the liability of hotel operators for tax collections providing standards for commission allowances

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO DISPENSE WITH PRINTING OF THE SENATE CALENDAR FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1959

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I want it understood that the only bills that we plan to consider at tomorrow morning's Session—that is the 12:01 a.m. Session—are House Bills Nos. 665 and 666. I would, therefore, like to ask unanimous consent to eliminate the printing of the Senate Calendar for tomorrow. I hope the minority will go along with this request, and enable us to save a considerable amount of money and time.

The record will show that the bills have passed Second Reading and, therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to dispenses with the printing of the Senate Calendar for Wednesday, April 15, 1959.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, Will join in that request made by the Senator.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, unanimous consent of the Senate is granted to dispense with the printing of the Senate Calendar for Wednesday, April 15, 1959.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 19, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 22, 1907 (P. L. 31), entitled "An act to provide for the assignment of counsel in murder cases, and for the allowance of expenses and compensation in such cases," providing for the appointment of special investigators.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 190, entitled:

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, will state it.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to clarify conditions existing in the Executive Nominations Committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. You may proceed.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, for some eleven years I have been a Member of the Senate of Pennsylvania and for those eleven years that I have been here, Senator Watson was the Chairman of the Executive Nominations Committee, in which I did all of the work. Now, through the appointment of Senator Fleming by the President pro tempore, I do fifty per cent of the work. Over the period of those eleven years, I always had the great pleasure—and, of course, knowledge of the nominations which were placed on the desk—of seconding those nominations.

Certainly, this is nothing personal, Mr. President, but I would like to know how you have taken up and gone into league with Senator Blass. For the past few weeks in the Senate, I have noticed that you have gone all around me. You have been out in left field, center field and, after while, you have gone back to home plate. You get back to where I am once in a long while. I feel as though I have been hurt.

I realize there should be some understanding when one seconds a motion. I think, in the future, you should refrain from looking over on the other side of the aisle and recognize the Senator who is now doing fifty per cent of the work and who, previously, did all of the work.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will be very careful to keep in mind the advice set before him.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, earlier in the afternoon, we accepted a report from a Task Force of the Joint State Government Commission, under the general title of Advanced Training. This, I want to point out, is a more far-reaching report than this title would seem to indicate. This is a report of a committee headed by Chancellor Litchfield, of the University of Pittsburgh. In some respects, it is a blueprint for higher education in Pennsylvania for the next twelve years.

I simply want to say that I think we should analyze and study this report. I hope, perhaps at some future date and at a more appropriate time, to give one analysis of this report.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House a resolution that was reported from the Committee on Rules.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
March 31, 1959.

General Lyman L. Lemnitzer will become Army Chief of Staff on July first of this year when he succeeds General Maxwell D. Taylor.

This very wise choice of President Eisenhower is applauded throughout the nation, and here in Pennsylvania we are particularly happy for General Lemnitzer is one of our own. He was born at Honesdale, Pennsylvania and is married to a hometown girl, the former Katherine Tryon. He is the father of Captain William L. Lemnitzer a West Point instructor and of Mrs. Henry E. Simpson, Jr. who lives at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

General Lemnitzer has had a long and distinguished career in the Army serving in command, staff and diplomatic posts. In World War II he joined with General Mark Clark in the secret submarine mission which led to the African landings in 1942. During the remainder of the war he performed outstanding service in command and staff duties and in surrender negotiations with the Italian and German high commands. At the age of 51 he completed the airborne course and became a paratrooper, winning command of the 11th Air borne Division. In 1951 he commanded the 7th Infantry Division in Korea.

After tours of duty as Deputy Chief of Staff and U. S. Far East Commander, he was named Vice Chief of Staff in April of 1957. His new post will be difficult and demanding, but he has many times demonstrated the tremendous ability required to fill it.

Recognition of his service has come in the form of the Middle East Ribbon with six battle stars, the Silver Star for gallantry in action in Korea and several awards from foreign countries; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives extend our congratulations to General Lyman L. Lemnitzer on his new promotion, and express our gratitude to him for his years of outstanding service to our nation. We wish him the greatest measure of success in his new duties and we are confident he will achieve it; and be it further Resolved, That the chief clerk be instructed to forward a copy of this Resolution to General Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

Haudenshield,	Kubitsky,	Thompson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 401 entitled as follows:

An Act requiring common carriers by railroad to furnish flag protection to all trains occupying the main track.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, we are now considering House Bill No. 401. This bill briefly is a piece of feather bed legislation. Specifically it would require that all trains, including passenger and freight trains, or even locomotives or light engines, which operate on the main track of any railroad in Pennsylvania would be required to have a flagman stationed at or near the end of the train or the locomotive for the purpose of providing flag protection.

Now in the first instance I would like to say that it has been conservatively estimated that the passage of this bill and its enactment into law would cost the carriers by railroad in the state of Pennsylvania at least a million dollars because of additional wages required to be paid to persons acting as flagmen under the terms of this bill.

In reading the bill there is no definition as to what a flagman is, nor is there any defintion as to what the main track of any railroad might be. I would assume that it could be construed to apply to the major portion of the trackage in the state of Pennsylvania. I would also like to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill does not require that this flagman go out under any circumstances and actually furnish flag protection to the train. It merely says that he must ride on the equipment at or near the end of the locomotive or the train.

Now, Mr. Speaker, today with the modern advances in connection with railroading you will find that in the majority of the areas of track where trains operate in Pennsylvania today, there has been installed expensive automatic equipment which is designed to give warning of obstructions on the track in front of these trains, and this automatic equipment, as a safety measure, it seems to me, certainly provides adequate protection for these trains when taken in conjunction with the fact that on all of these trains, in the crews, are people, employes of the railroad, who, by virtue of their other duties, are qaulified to furnish flag protection in the event that such protection is necessary.

And, finally, Mr. Speaker, in connection with the specifics of this bill, I would like to point out that under present law, the Public Utility Commission of the state of Pennsylvania can, if circumstances warrant it, in any particular area or under any particular type of circumstances, say that such flagman actually be carried on the train in the manner purported to be required by this bill.

I think it is important as we consider this bill that we give some thought to the current situation of railroads throughout the entire country. I think most of us are familiar with the fact that in newsppapers, in magazines, on the radio and on television in the last year or two, there has been a tremendous amount of discussion, tremendous amount of publicity, concerning the problems that are confronting our railroads today. I might point out, in that regard, that some 35 years ago the railroads employed about two million people. The number of those employes has steadily deceased over the years until today they are employing only about 800,000 people.

There are a lot of reasons for that and I would like, Mr. Speaker, to go into those briefly, because I feel these matters are important when we consider this bill because of the interest that prevails at the present time.

The railroads are extremely important to the people of America. During World War II, about three per cent of the military personnel were transported by rail, and as far as the rails were concerned, they transported a tremendous percentage of all the cargo and the freight and the other things that were required in connection with our war effort.

I think all of us know that aviation and the other modes of transportation have certainly not progressed to the point, at this time, where they are able to substitute in any way for our railroads. As a result of which we need them desparately in the event of any national crisis of any kind where the shipment of any equipment or personnel may become important to the safety and welfare of all our people.

In addition to which, Mr. Speaker, I think the cities are beginning to feel the problem, especially in commuter problems as far as the railroads are concerned, and a lot of consideration, a lot of talk, is being given to those problems, because the railroads, due to their economic condition, are unable to maintain the services for commuters that are demanded by the public.

Even more important, perhaps, or equally important with these two points, is the position of the railroads as an employer and as a consumer, and certainly we must do everything we can to maintain them in a healthy economic condition so that they may continue to pay their $750 million a week payroll, and also so that they may continue to demand the goods and services from other industries that are necessary for them to continue to operate.

Many years ago, around the turn of the century, the railroads had a virtual monopoly on transportation, and as a result of that it became necessary for government to step into the picture and to institute a lot of measures for the control and the regulation of carriers by railroad. Many, many of those regulations which in many instances are very strict and very severe are still with us today. They have not changed materially with the times.

About the time of the first World War when the railroads were in their heyday, the internal combustion engine became perfected, as a result of which the railroads have been increasingly, since that time, subjected to competition from the airplanes, from the trucks, from the buses, from shipping interests, and so forth and so on. As a result of this, the situation with the railroads tends to deteriorate.

Now these suffocating regulations were born in an era that required regulations, but they have not been abandoned and times have modernized and we have come on to the point where the railroads need a little room in which to breath in order for them to continue to contribute to our national life.

During the period of World War II, the railroads performed a tremendous service for America. After the war they began to be subjected to the increased competition of aviation and the motor carriers. Then the railroads themselves discovered the internal combustion engine and we found that they began to convert to diesel engines. Of course, we are all familiar with the fact that certainly conversion by the railroads contributes in some extent to the casualty of a great industry here in our state, the coal industry. But, nonetheless, they were forced into this conversion in an attempt to render better service to the people of Pennsylvania.

In recent years the government has begun to awaken to the plight which is facing the railroads of our nation, and I have here some material which I think is of interest in connection with the consideration of this bill. Some of you may be familiar with what is called "Operation Northwest" in the City of Philadelphia, where the city is paying to the Pennsylvania and the Reading Railroads the sum of $160,000 over a period of 6 months in order to have the railroads increase the number of trains on their lines so that we may get more people back on rail transportation and remove automobiles from the streets and highways in order that the center of our cities may not become suffocated in the traffic. I said at the outset that this particular bill was a piece of "feather-bed legislation."

You may be interested in the fact that in Canada a governmental commission has recently studied some of the problems in feather bedding in the railroad industry and this commission has reported back with a recommendation that the firemen be eliminated from diesel engines because of the fact that at the present time they have no real duty.

In the State of New York, Governor Rockerfeller has on his desk at the present time a series of bills and resolutions which were an outgrowth of the so-called Purcell Report in the State of New York. This legislation which has been presently awaiting his approval includes a bill to relieve the railroads in a four-state plan of possibly up to $15 million a year in taxes. A concurrent resolution has directed the Public Service Commission to study the Full Crew Law with a view of recommending changes to the next session of the New York Legislature.

There is a bill authorizing the New York Authority to purchase 400 or more air conditioned coaches for use on certain lines. There is a bill creating the new bi-state agency to deal with the problems of commuter traffic. There is a constitutional amendment regarding purchase and lease of coaches to certain New York railroads and a bill appropriating $20 million for the purchase of air-conditioned coaches. Those bills are now awaiting approval by the Governor of the State of New York. The subject matter of them certainly indicates that a lot of consideration is being given to this particular problem.

I also have before me the report of the subcommittee on Interstate Foreign Commerce, the so-called "Smathers Committee," which considered this problem very seriously and came up with a number of recommendations for aid and assistance to our railroads.

So, Mr. Speaker, as we consider House bill 401 today, I think we should consider it in connection with the interest here that presently prevails in connection with the railroads in the United States. In my opinion, this bill is a step in the opposite direction. This bill constitutes the imposition of more suffocating regulation which is rigid and not subject to any discretion of any kind and it also means a tremendous increase in the cost to the railroads of our state and, more than that, if those costs are imposed upon the railroads, the cost eventually will be passed on to railroad riding, and railroad shipping, public.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I urge the Members on both sides of the House to vote down this legislation.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Lee of Philadelphia County?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAYLOR. Will the gentleman tell me if he is familiar with Rule 99 of all railroads throughout America?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I am not familiar with Rule 99, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAYLOR. Well, if you are not familiar with railroad work you should be.

Mr. A. M. LEE. I would like to change my answer, Mr. Speaker.

I am not familiar with the regulation to which the gentleman refers. If he will tell me what it is and has any further inquiry I will try to answer his inquiry.

Mr. TAYLOR. You had so many different remarks on the bill we were working on that I just did not know whether you knew anything about it or not.

I will tell you myself. Rule 99 is a rule that was proposed by the railroad associations themselves and it says, if a train is stopped or may be overtaken by any other train a flagman must go out immediately a sufficient distance to insure full protection to the train.

Mr. A. M. LEE. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will alternate and recognize the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, then recognize the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, we have just been kindly advised that Rule 99 requires the flagman to protect the rear of the train when it stops or when there are approaching trains. If the present rules of the railroad industry require flagmen, what then is the purpose of this bill?

I would also like to point out that a flagman on a train at the present time could be the brakeman or could be the conductor. It could be the fireman because in all of those categories those men have all passed the rules in the examination for flagman. You have an additional flagman and that is what it amounts to, to a fireman who does not fire any fires, to an extra brakeman who does not brake any brakes. It is feather bedding in its purest, simplest terms.

Mr. MULLIN. In reply to the gentleman's question—the railroad companies at the present time do not have sufficient qualified men on these trains to man the rear end so as to have a flagman. In other words when a train stops at a certain station or has a stop to make to put out cars they do not have a flagman to go out and protect the rear end of the train, so therefore the men on the front end, the brakeman and the conductor must put out the cars at these stations.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 401 provides that all common carriers by railroad operating trains or locomotives over their main tracks in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall have a qualified flagman stationed at or near the rear end of said train or locomotive for the purpose of providing flag protection when the train or locomotive is stopped or delayed, under such circumstances that it may be overtaken by a following train or locomotive. This is purely a safety measure to provide the travelling public and the employes of the railroads operating in Pennsylvania maximum safety.

The Interstate Commerce Commission records are replete with tragedies which have occurred due to rear end collisions or collisions wherein derailments have occurred of trains occupying an adjacent track that struck cars, implements or some object resulting in death or injury to the travelling public and to the employes of the railroads.

It is not my contention that this proposed measure will automatically result in elimination of all such accidents. However, it is my contention that it will materially reduce such occurrences.

To sum this up very briefly, I do very strenuously object to the remark of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, that he made about feather bedding. I do not care if you call this feather bedding or whatever you want to call it. If this is a safety measure and it is going to stop one major train catastrophe, where maybe a couple of hundred people could be killed or injured, I am for this measure, call it what you may.

One other thing, I do not know how the gentleman, Mr. Lee, arrived at the figure that it is going to cost $1 million. Whether this is an actual fact or whether he pulled this out of a rabbit's hat somewhere, I do not know, but I do not care if it costs $2 million. If it is going to protect the public, then I am for this bill.

One more thing and I will close. The gentleman, Mr. Lee from Philadelphia, depends entirely upon electronic devices. Now we all know, or we should know if we have read the papers of train accidents, that these electronic devices have failed—may become jammed or some other thing regardless—they have failed and train accidents resulted. So if putting a flagman at the rear of each train that happens to be stopped or is derailed, and that flagman can wave down any approaching train and eliminate a major catastrophe, then I am for this bill and so should every other right-thinking man and woman in this Assembly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, to preside temporarily.

Mr. AGNEW IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, was I correct when I heard that the gentleman from Dauphin indicated that there are men on the trains at the present time who are qualified to act as flagmen?

Mr. BOWMAN. That is correct.

Mr. GELFAND. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

I have just heard a long discourse on the question of "featherbedding." Now featherbedding in my mind is the requirement or the necessity of an employe who serves no real function.

Mr. Bowman, the gentleman from Dauphin, indicated to us that there are presently on railroad trains men who are qualified to act as flagmen. Now when I read the bill there is nothing in this bill that indicates to me that there has to be extra flagmen. It does indicate that somebody must be on the train who is qualified to act as a flagman.

If I may refer to the bill it says:

> It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by railroad to operate or permit to be operated on or over the main tracks in this Commonwealth any passenger trains, freight trains or any other train or locomotive unless the train or locomotive has a qualified flagman.

Now that is the purpose of the bill, just to require that a qualified flagman be on the crew. I think in view of the fact to serve the purposes of safety for the people who ride the railroad trains there should be no need or no purpose whatsoever in voting a bill such as this down.

As Mr. Maxwell has indicated, there are records in the Interstate Commerce Commission which indicate that many, many times there have been serious injuries suffered by passengers on trains due to the fact that there were not qualified employes on the railroad to prevent any such railroad disaster.

In view of all these things, and in view of the fact that the bill does not require featherbedding, but merely requires that someone qualified to act as a flagman be present in the crew, I can see no reason why this should not pass the House unanimously.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 90, entitled as follows:

An Act permitting the completion of baseball games in cities of the first or second class notwithstanding provisions to the contrary

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McINROY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 6, by striking out "six" and inserting "five."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments, and I would like to make a brief statement with respect to them.

These amendments offered by the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McInroy, would unduly restrict the playing of a baseball game on Sunday afternoon so that the game could not be started after 5:00 p. m. I think there is no reason in the world why we should vote on this curtailment, this restrictive amendment and I will ask the House to vote it down.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this amendment is to try to limit, particularly the second game, from starting later than 5:00 o'clock. As it is now, the first game can start at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon. That would allow four hours for the first game and there is no reason why they could not be ready to start the second game no later than 5:00 o'clock. If they do not, if it is unlimited and you go on to 6:00 or 7:00 o'clock in the evening to start the second game, and you have, as was the case some time ago, a 19-inning game or a 20-inning game, for the second game, that could conceivably go on until late in the evening, and there is no doubt that that would annoy the people of Philadelphia.

This amendment comes from the right thinking church people of Philadelphia. It is a question not only of the game but of traffic coming from the game that we are concerned with.

Therefore, I think an amendment permitting baseball from 1:00 until 5:00, and the second game starting no later than 5:00 or before 5:00 would certainly be long enough.

Therefore, I ask that these amendments be adopted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

NOT VOTING—8

Cooper,	Jones, T. H. W.,	Kubitsky,	Thompson,
Haudenshield,	Knecht,	Petrosky,	Ujobai,

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, House bill 90 which is before us now for final passage is a bill that would permit the completion of a baseball game on Sunday even though it has not been completed by 6:00 p. m.

I read with great interest the great debate which took place back in 1933 during the session of the Legislature, and there were all kinds of misgivings with respect to Sunday baseball and other sports. But after an intensive and fair debate it was the will of the Legislature that the people should have the right to a referendum.

Now I read nothing in those debates that had to do with the confinement of a game between the hours of 2:00 and 6:00 p. m. The only conclusion I can reach is that it was on behalf of the church group that they made this consideration and restricted the game. Since that time I am sure that all of us either by a personal appearance in the ball park or on television have witnessed the spectacle of a game very exciting as it was stopped five minutes to seven with the announcer saying that they could not start another inning.

I can find no logical reason for the restriction. It is not my purpose here to offend any church group and that was not my intention when I introduced this bill, but I think that we ought to give the people a little consideration. It is on Sunday that fathers and children attend these ball games, they go there for the afternoon and many, many times they are not able to see the complete game.

This bill would not hurt anyone. We have Sunday baseball and this step would permit those people to see a full and complete game. I, therefore, ask with all due respect that the Members on both sides of the House give the people of Pennsylvania a break and let them see what they are paying for.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor, Mr. McCormack, briefly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, was it not true that when the people of Philadelphia voted on this referendum they voted that no game should continue beyond the time of 6:00 p. m.?

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, that was a part of the bill passed by the Legislature in the 1933 session. The question on the referendum was whether or not you wanted baseball between the hours of 2:00 p. m. and 6:00 p. m.

Mr. McINROY. In other words Mr. Speaker, would it mean if we passed this bill today we would be extending the hours longer than the people of Philadelphia originally voted on in this referendum?

Mr. McCORMACK. That is perfectly right, Mr. Speaker, and for a further answer to the gentleman I would like to ask him whether or not there is anything wrong with that.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, yes, I would say so. In the beginning, in 1933 there was a bill passed permitting a referendum which the people in Philadelphia could vote on, as to having baseball starting at 1:00 o'clock p. m. and stopping at 6:00 p. m. Now here we are extending the time indefinitely to a game that is not finished at 6:00 p. m. In other words we are going against the will of the people in Philadelphia. Who knows but what there were many people who voted for the bill, because they thought the game would be finished by 6:00 p. m. in the evening.

A few minutes ago I sumbitted an amendment which would have permitted the game to be finished if it was started before 5:00 p. m. I might say as far as I am concerned, Mr. McCormack, I am finished with my interrogation unless you want to interrogate me, which you could when I get through.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Tioga wish to debate the bill.

Mr. McINROY. Yes. I have just finished with the interrogation.

The question was asked if there is anything wrong with this bill, and I would say, yes, there is.

According to the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States we have a bill here that would affect the religion of the people of Philadelphia. .I see no reason under this bill that if the authorities in Philadelphia want to start the game, the second game at five minutes to six they could finish that game no matter how long it was continued.

Therefore I do not think it is a good bill I think if you are going to do that we should submit another referendum to the people of Philadelphia and see what they want. Therefore I ask the Members of both sides of the House to vote down this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want once and for all to state my personal position concerning the gradual deterioration of the spirit of observance of the Christian Sabbath.

The day is tending more and more to become a day of commercialization, a day for the sale of all kinds of goods, for a day of merriment, for a day of all kinds of what we call pleasure.

I say Sabbath when we lose respect for the Christian Sabbath, we strike a deadly blow at our way of life. There is such a thing in life as faith and devotion. There is more to our way of living than an increased attention to worldly observances on the Sabbath.

I do not cherish the hope that my personal opinion will have any weight against the tide of Sabbath desecration, but I do want my personal position to be known. I say that when we lose contact with the simple faith of our childhood, of the recognition that there is a higher law than the law that we ordain that we are losing something very precious out of the texture of our way of life. There is a higher law than the laws that we enact in this chamber and I am of the opinion that bills of this kind are in derogation of that higher law.

Mr. McCORMACK. May I interrogate the Speaker, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. I did not seek the interrogation. If the gentleman persists we will prolong the discussion.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well—

Mr. ANDREWS. And I will answer such questions as he may ask.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cambria, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. If the gentleman from Philadelphia insists.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has the right to interrogate. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia wish to proceed?

Mr. McCORMACK. In deference to the expressed wishes of the House, Mr. Speaker, I desire not to interrogate the Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. He missed an opportunity.

SENATE MESSAGE

Recalling Senate Bill No. 29 From Governor

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 13, 1959.

RESOLVED (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 29, Printer's No. 29, entitled "An act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P.. L.. 519), entitled 'An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs' authorizing each civil service commission to designate the time when applicants for positions and promotions in the police force and as paid operators of fire apparatus shall take physical examinations", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 402, entitled as follows:

An act to repeal Secs. 662, 663, and 730 of "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), relating to the imposition of penalties against railroad employes and other persons for certain activities during strikes and against transportation employes for injuries or death resulting from their actions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I may have permission, I would suggest that we take the roll call as accepted on House Bill 401, Printer's No. 252 on the series of bills Nos. 402, 406, 438 and on page 12, 628. We are moving rather later into the evening than we thought we would and I hope that somehow we could agree to accept roll calls except for those who may want to change. Would this be satisfactory, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Of course the question, Mr. Speaker, was not addressed to me, but I can see a distinction in these bills. I believe that we should go with great care in going over the bills. Therefore, in connection with Bill 402, I would like to discuss that before we debate the others.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears objection to the suggestion of the Majority Leader.

The Chair might point out that we can move slowly allowing the maximum time for debate on any of these bills, but take the same roll call to save time, and any Members wishing to change their votes may do so.

Is there any objection to the procedure as just an-naunced by the Chair as suggested by the Majority Leader?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am most agreeable—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, yield to the Majority Leader?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am most agreeable and I am sure all the Members of the House are, that on any of the bills that the Members may want to debate, except for the saving of the time on the roll call, except those changes that may occur, if that is acceptable to the Members of this House we would like to preceed in that manner.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, in the debate on House Bill No. 401, I was convinced by the fair weight of the evidence that the measure was being presented as a safety measure and not "feather bedding." It was demonstrated that this bill was purportedly in the public interest in order to save and protect lives and property.

House Bill No. 402 repeals certain Acts of Assembly, and I believe that the Members of the General Assembly should know what sections are being repealed so that they can vote intelligently upon this matter.

House Bill No. 402 repeals Section 662 which reads in part as follows:

> Whoever being a locomotive engineer or other railroad employe engaged in a strike or with a view to incite others in such a strike or in furtherance of any combination or preconcerted arrangement abandons a locomotive in his charge when attached to either a passenger or freight train in any other place than the scheduled or otherwise appointed destination of the train is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Now no person certainly can contend that the engineer of a locomotive train in connection with a strike would have the right to abandon this train on the Horseshoe Curve in the dead of winter. That certainly would not be a safety measure. We feel that this particular Act of Assembly should remain upon the statute books.

Section 663 provides substantially that where there is a strike a man who is working for the Pennsylvania Railroad can not refuse to take his train to the B & O Railroad which happens to be on strike. We all realize that transportation is a public matter and that the interests of the railroad are subservient to the public.

Now if House Bill No. 402 applied only to Section 730 which places a criminal liability upon a railroad for mere negligence I could vote for that bill, but since this particular bill carries new features, and since this particular bill in my opinion is not a safety measure, it is against the best interests of the public, and we feel that Members on both sides of the House to protect their constituents should vote against this bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that Mr. Goldstein has interpreted the repeal of section 662 in a proper light.

I would quite agree with him that it would be unreasonal for an engineer to leave or abandon his train on a hair pin curve and just merely walk away from it. That is not the intent of the repeal of this section of the Penal Act of 1939.

Under the Penal Act or Code of 1939, this section 662, an engineer who refuses or fails to take his train to the point of destination is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Simply that means this, if a train is scheduled to go from Philadelphia to California and the Union to which the engineer belongs goes on strike, that engineer, notwithstanding the fact that he may take his train into the closest available roundhouse and properly discharge his function as to making certain that the train is safely secured, notwithstanding these facts, he can be subjected to the provisions of this act, holding him responsible for a misdemeanor. That is the provision of this act that is particularly onerous and is the main reason for the repeal.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I agree with Mr. Goldstein that the purpose of section 662 is to prevent the abandonment of equipment at some intermediate point which may inconvenience and may threaten the safety of passengers, and also may result if there is perishable cargo, in the destruction or deterioration of that cargo. It also may result, if the equipment is abandoned, in serious damage to the equipment itself. As a result of which I agree with Mr. Goldstein that the repeal of this particular section is not proper.

In connection with his remarks on section 663, I do not think that it was made quite clear as to just exactly what the purpose of that section is. It says, in effect, that if railroad A is on strike, and on or about the time this strike commences cars are delivered in the normal course of events to railroad B, which is not on strike, if the employes of railroad B do not move those cars they are subject to the penalty imposed by this section. The reason for the section is that once those cars are delivered to railroad B, and if railroad B is not on strike, as far as the railroad itself is concerned it is subject to suit by the shipper or the consignee if they do not deliver the goods. In addition to which they are subject to sanctions by the I.C.C., as a result of which this particular provision is for the protection of the railroad whose employes are not on strike, and to whom cars are properly delivered in order that they may be assured that these cars will reach their destination, and they will not be subjected to a serious penalty that would be imposed under the law in the event the cars were not delivered.

In connection with section 730, which imposes penalties for wilful misconduct and negligence in failure to observe safety rules and regulations upon a railroad employe, we have heard a lot of talk here today about safety. The operation is so closely entwined with the public interest and the safety of life and property that it appears to me reasonable and proper that such a provision should be on the statute books of the Commonwealth. Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill be voted down.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will one of the sponsors agree to be interrogated? Will the gentleman from Westmoreland consent to be interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. Before I am interrogated, may I make a brief statement?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland?

Mr. BELL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I understand that on this side of the House we have a very able and eager beaver who just loves to be interrogated, so I will yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if there is a strike called or something of that nature occurs, and a crew walks off a passenger train halfway between Philadelphia and Chester on the Pennsylvania Railroad, does this present criminal code punish the employes who walked off the train?

Mr. FINEMAN. I think so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Is it the purpose of this bill, among other things, to remove that penalty?

Mr. FINEMAN. That question is not susceptible of a yes or no answer, because if I were to give you a yes or no answer you would be boxing me into the position that I do not want to take.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, overestimates my ability. I would still like to put a very simple question. Does this bill remove the criminal penalties that attach to a crew leaving a passenger train on a main line of the Pennsylvania railroad due to a strike or any other reason? No catch question, do they or do they not?

Mr. FINEMAN. I will have to reiterate what I said before. The intention of this bill is to delete the necessity of an engineer taking his train to a point of destination where that point of destination is many, many miles from where he is commencing his run.

I understand, although I am not a railroad man, it is the established custom for all engineers to take their train, in the event of this type of contingency, to the nearest roundhouse so that passengers may be safely discharged, so that the equipment and the vehicles that are in their care may be safely stored away, or whatever else is done with them.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I will repeat my question. I will make it a little more simple. If my wife and my 5 year old child are on a passenger train between Philadelphia and Chester on the Pennsylvania Railroad and the crew walks off because of a strike, does this remove the criminal provisions?

Mr. FINEMAN. If the crew walks of, it would remove the criminal provisions, but your question is like asking me, when did I stop beating my wife?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I think that is the answer I am after. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. You are welcome sir, and may I say to Mr. Maxwell that he is grossly in error about my willingness to be interrogated.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because if my wife and my child, or if the constituents of my district, are on a train and a strike is called I want to see them safely brought to a station and not left stranded on a train. Well it could even be farther away from Chester than Philadelphia. They are not very good walkers today.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the man's question for him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia suspend?

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, has the floor, the gentleman from Philadelphia will be recognized as soon as the gentleman from Delaware has terminated his debate of the bill.

Mr. BELL. If this bill is amended to give the safeguard to these people in my district and other people from Pennsylvania, I might feel otherwise about the bill, but I am greatly concerned that these trains get into the stations, and that there be a provision kept in the criminal code to penalize an engineer or crew that leaves a train midway between stations.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the man's question, all passengers will be delivered to their destination, including cattle.

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, my good friend Mr. Taylor, show where it says that in the provisions being ripped out.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Delaware interrogating the gentleman rom Philadelphia?

Mr. BELL. I don't have to, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAYLOR. It may not show in this particular bill but it is the ruling of the ICC that all passengers be delivered to their destinations, also all cattle trains and livestock.

Mr. BELL. Do the ICC regulations cover a local train from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania to Chester, Pennsylvania, terminating in Chester, Pennsylvania?

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Delaware, interrogating?

Mr. BELL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Which Member is the gentleman interrogating?

Mr. BELL. I guess I would as soon have Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Taylor, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman then answer the question?

Mr. TAYLOR. What is the question?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware repeat the question?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if a local train originates in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and terminates in Chester, Pennsylvania without going through any other State, does it operate under an ICC set of regulations.

Mr. TAYLOR. Yes.

Mr. BELL. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that the majority of the Members here have missed the point behind this legislation.

As we all know, these penal provisions were written into our law at a time when the railroads were the darlings of the Legislature, at a time when large blocks of Members were controlled lock, stock and barrel by the railroads. But the fundamental unfairness in a bill like this, is that it applies to no other situation.

The PTC can have a work stoppage or a strike and the operators of those facilities can leave their vehicles and the people have no way of getting to their destination, yet there is nothing in the penal code, and I stand corrected on this, that would make it a crime for the operator to leave. And so with the trucking industry, there is nothing in the penal code that would make it a crime for the operator to leave without returning his vehicle to his point of origin or to his point of destination. This is special class legislation and it has been on the books for years.

If someone can point out to me a similar situation in another industry where there are a few provisions applicable, then I would say that the bill is not fair but this would remove those special penal provisions pertaining exclusively to railroads.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. McCormack got his remarks mixed. He's got a class "J" railroad mixed with the Philadelphia Traction Company.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening with a great deal of interest to this debate. There are two things that have come up in my mind in connection with it.

Number one is that there comes a time sometimes when the protection of the public temporarily rises above the interest of labor strikes, that is, to get people who are paying taxes for their services to their destination, for which they have paid their fare.

Number two is that a great number of people here have been arguing about how they would be left off between Philadelphia and Chester. My worry is if they stop and leave me out in the mountain regions that I have to travel on foot to get to my home.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I think as we discuss this bill, we miss one of the major points. The origin of this legislation goes away back to the latter part of the nineteenth century. The bill referred to is in the 1939 Criminal Code, but it was rewritten into the Criminal Code from laws which have long been on the statutes of Pennsylvania. These laws were created at the time of railroad disputes many, many years ago, before the rights of labor were fully recognized. Since the creation of these laws we have had the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act.

We have had many acts on the federal books which would have acted as bills of right, so to speak, for labor. The only portion of labor, the only aspect of labor, which is still penalized with this type of legislature happens to be railway labor. Now if you would refer to the bill you would find that what it does say is this: "Any man who takes the train to any place other than the scheduled point of destination of such train is guilty of a misdemeanor." Now the point is what difference does it really make where he drops the train if he drops it in a safe location?

What we are doing here is taking away his protective right to strike because what we are saying is unless you complete your duties with the railroad then you have committed a crime which is a misdemeanor. Now we must bear in mind that in any dispute there are two sides to a dispute, both that of labor and that of industry. If industry would be willing to accept the demands of labor in a given situation perhaps we wouldn't have a problem created.

Also, when we go to section 730 of the existing Act we find that it says anyone who is guilty of a violation of a rule or regulation or who negligibly violates a rule or regulation of the railroad company is also guilty of a misdemeanor, subject to a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment not exceeding three years.

Now, Mr. Lee, made much of the fact that this might be a safety regulation. There is nothing in here which says it deals with safety regulation. It merely says rules and regulations, and if the railroad had a rule which says a brakeman must wear white gloves when he comes to work and if the railroad worker didn't wear white gloves, and through some mishap someone was injured then the railroad worker would of necessity be in violation of section 730 and subject to the penal provisions.

Now one thing I do object to when we discuss legislation here is reading into the legislation something that does not appear.

What we are doing here is creating all sorts of strawmen and then proceeding to knock them down in a manner which is not pertinent or germaine to the actual bill. I think if we think of the matter clearly, view what has happened with the growth of labor in the United States, realize that these bills had inception at a time when labor was just starting to grow and when industry in many, many instances had to be watched very, very carefully, I think we will realize that the removal of these matters from the current books is not doing any harm to anyone and then we will all safely vote in favor of removing them from the books and voting for the bill as it is.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say one thing in connection with the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand. He talks about everybody talking beside the point, but he talked beside the point too. These criminal provisions are not for the protection of the railroad. They are not for the protection of the members of the labor union. They are for the protection of the general public and I think these provisions are good.

Mr. BELL. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, very briefly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. GELFAND. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia want us to believe that because a criminal law is old, it is no good?

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I would say, I do think the laws which are old should be re-examined and if they appear to be failures they should be removed from the books.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, without being impious, can we go back to the ten commandments? They are rather old.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's question is not pertinent and the Chair rules it is out of order.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. BELL. I have in front of me now Section 662, of the Code, which is supposed to be ripped out by this bill, and this portion of the code contains a fine not to exceed $200, or a term not to exceed six months, for any person who abandons a locomotive engine in his charge, whether attached either to a passenger or a freight train, at any place other than scheduled or otherwise appointed destination of such a train.

Now the way I read that it means that if an engineer and the crew walk off and leave a train between stations today, they can be fined or meybe imprisoned. I have had that experience in western United States and it was not very interesting. I say, for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania, we should keep this portion of the Penal Code I am talking specifically about, Section 662.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair informs the membership of the House we shall probably suspend this roll during its call and, without objection on the part of the House, poll the members of the Committee on Elections and Apportionment who will come down here to vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. A. M. LEE, DAVIS and STROUP.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 406, entitled as follows:

An Act relating to employers and employes of railroads and providing for the regulations of health and safety conditions in places of railroad employment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, could we then at this point pick up the fast roll call it has now been verified and a matter of record to speed the operation of the roll call, and those who desire to change be recorded as such.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will once again ask the House if there is any objection to the procedure suggested by the Majority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe there are those who will want to debate the bill. I think after the debate those who wish to change their vote can stand, and I believe that it will be agreeable on this side to take the same roll call on this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection. We will proceed with the debate on this bill.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just briefly for the information of the House I would like to point out what this bill provides. It requires the Public Utility Commission to require railroads to install electrical systems in their trains so that there are rear lights on all trains, which are powered by electricity, visible for three thousand feet under ordinary atmospheric conditions. In addition to which, it requires electrical lighting inside the caboose.

In the first place, the present oil lamps which are used are visible for three thousand feet under ordinary atmospheric conditions. In the second place, as far as the electrical lights inside the caboose, it seems to me that it would serve no useful purpose. First, there is very little clerical work that is required inside the train because the major duties of the persons who occupy the caboose is to observe the train in motion and to see whether there is any equipment dragging or if there is anything else wrong with the train as it proceeds.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the present oil lamps in the caboose are certainly adequate and actually desirable, because for the purpose of the train it is important that there be as little light as possible inside the caboose. Otherwise, it would interfere with the observation of the train inside. Thank you.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I do not like to disagree with my colleague from Philadelphia, nor do I want to question how he became such an expert on railroads and railways, but it certainly seems to me that an electric marker lamp would certainly be much more visible on the rear end of a train than an oil lamp.

Changes take place in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania just like they do all over, and certainly an electrical system is much to be preferred now when you get to the caboose, which is a car attached to a—not a passenger train—but usually a freight train. If the employes are required to do clerical work, and I understand that they are from information that I have received, then you ought to have decent light in the caboose car so that they can do the clerical work that the railroad requires them to do. I think that this is not feather bedding legislation. This is good legislation, in keeping with our modern times.

I urge the Members on both sides of the House to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—9

Cooper,	Knecht,	Nelson,	Petrosky,
Haudenshield,	Kubitsky,	Odorisio,	Thompson,
			Ujobai,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 438, entitled as follows:

An Act compelling common carriers by railroad to man locomotives trains and other self-propelled engines or machines with competent employes providing for the minimum number and qualifications of men so employed and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate at this late hour to debate this bill at length. However, it is the most important bill in this so-called package of railroad bills.

It is called the "Full Crew Bill." It, for the first time in Pennsylvania legislative history, creates the new position of flagman. Now you recall the discussion and interrogation on Bill 401. This bill specifically does create the new position of flagman on the railroad.

For those of you who believe that this Legislature should not pass something that is unconstitutional, I would refer you to the fact that this Legislature in 1937 passed the "Full Crew Law." That Full Crew Law was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as being an unreasonable burden upon the railroad industry, having no relation to the safety of the people in relation to the tremendous burden placed by the railroad industry. This bill today contains three sections which are the same sections, the same terminology, the same number of employes on crews of particular types of trains as were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. If you, therefore, vote in favor of this bill you are voting either on an unconstitutional bill or on the assumption that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania would not declare the same thing unconstitutional that it did just a few years ago.

What does this bill actually do? Oddly enough, as distinquished from the Full Crew Laws of 1937, it only selects particular types of trains on which full-crew requirements are required. In the 1937 legislation the Legislature provided for full crews on all types of trains and locomotives on the main lines and in the yards. However, for reasons unknown to me, the bill before you today just selects particular types of trains and prescribes minimum crews for those particular types of trains. There is no mention of passenger trains whatsoever. Whereas, the 1937 legislation did cover passenger trains, there are no provisions with respect to freight trains of more than 50 cars. Yet in 1937 we felt that the safety factor had something to do with freight trains of 50 cars or more. There are no provisions in this bill for local freight trains for minimum crews.

There are no provisions for all other general types of trains in this bill, as there was in the 1937 legislation. This bill is limited to full crews for four particular types of trains. Why? Is there any more important or different safety problem involved in just certain types of trains than there is on all types of trains, in particular with reference to passenger trains? It is beyond my comprehension.

As I mentioned previously, the full crew bill this year, the one before you now, creates the additional job of flagman and the bill prescribes the respect to the three types of trains it covers, and I will add at this point that it also covers trains and wreck trains which have no passengers or freight on them whatever. They must have minimum full crews in this bill.

Getting to the content of this bill itself it covers, as I said, just three particular types of trains. It covers only freight trains of les than 50 cars, locomotives in yards, single locomotives on main tracks, self-propelled hoisting cranes has some penal provisions in addition to those. In other words, this legislation picks out three types of trains and they tell us that it is done for the protection of the public. If the protection of the public is so important, and that is the reason for this legislation, why then do they not require full crews for trains in which there are pasengers and for freight trains of more than 50 cars? The answer to the question is simple. They are not interested in the public. This bill is merely made to provide additional jobs, as I said before, feather bedding for railroad crews on certain types of trains.

Now, the bill will add, in some cases, one additional crew member that will be in addition to the present crews of an engineer, a fireman, a conductor or brakeman, and in some cases one conductor or two brakemen. This bill will require an additional member, in some cases, to the crew, when we have, in the opinion of the Public Utility Commission and the I.C.C., all the men that are presently needed.

I do not want to prolong this debate with respect to the need for additional men, I do not want to prolong this debate with respect to what it would cost the industry, but I have been supplied with authoritative figures that this bill now before you will cost the industry over $5 million a year in Pennsylvania.

We have before us, in my opinion, an unconstitutional piece of legislation. We have legislation which, while purporting to be for the safety of the public, does not cover the trains in which the public is most interested and, finally, we have before us what I consider to be pure feather bedding legislation. I ask members on both sides of this House to vote against this bill.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 438, Printer's No. 235, be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE BILL No. 628 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 628, Printer's No. 260 on page 12 of today's calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 628, entitled as follows:

An Act regulating the time of payment of wages and earnings of railroad employes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The sponsor of the bill is Mr. Gallagher, the gentleman from Bucks. Does the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, is it not correct that the present Act of 1913 provides for bi-monthly payment of wages to all segments of industry and business?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I believe that is true.

Mr. BOWMAN. Would the gentleman explain to the House the particular reason or need who the railroad industry should be particularly singled out or why railroad employes should be particularly singled out or treated with favor, with respect to the payment of wages?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, many industries in the state of Pennsylvania have pursued this practice of paying their employes on a weekly, rather than a bi-monthly basis, and it has been requested by the railroad employes that they be given the opportunity to have this extended to them as it has been to other industries in the state. In this modern day and age it is needed that weekly payments be made to these employes rather than bi-monthly.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, is it not correct that all employes that are paid on a weekly basis now have obtained that through negotiations under labor contract rather than by law?

Mr. GALLAGHER. In some cases that might be possible. Had this Legislature not enacted this bi-monthly payment, we would have no need to amend it to provide for weekly payments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Is it not correct that the industries or segments of industries of which you spoke which pay weekly, have done so through negotiation of their labor contract rather than by law?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Not in all cases. I say again that if this Legislature had not enacted this law providing for bi-monthly payments we would have no need at this time to amend it to provide the weekly payments. They would have been provided for under the course of bargaining agreements of the railroad industry and the labor unions involved.

Mr. BOWMAN. Thn why is this amendment not bold enough to cover all industry?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman feels that it should cover all industry, I would be glad to help sponsor a bill with him to provide for all industries.

Mr. BOWMAN. I did not say that I was in favor of it; I was asking why the gentleman did not draw it in favor of all industry.

Mr. GALLAGHER. I will draw it if the gentleman will help co-sponsor it.

Mr. BOWMAN. I did not say that I was in favor of it. I ask why the gentleman did not do so.

Mr. GALLAGHER. At this time that is not a matter for discussion.

Mr. BOWMAN. Is the gentleman aware that if this bill passes, railroad workers will not have the protection of the Act of 1891 prohibiting the future assignment of wages.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Will the gentleman repeat that please?

Mr. BOWMAN. Is the gentleman aware that if this legislation passes, railroad workers will not have the benefit and protection of the Act of 1891 which prohibits the future assignment of wages where wages are paid on a bi-monthly basis?

Mr. GALLAGHER. As far as I know, it does not affect the situation, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Is the gentleman aware of the provisions of the Act of 1891?

Mr. GALLAGHER. At the present I am not.

Mr. BOWMAN. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, the Act of 1891 provides that where wages are paid on a bi-monthly basis they may not be the subject of future assignment by the employe. This is a very salutary piece of legislation. It is very beneficial and helpful to the laboring man or to any person receiving wages. However, the provisions of that Act are limited to those cases where wages are paid on a bi-monthly basis. I suggest to the Members of this House that if this legislation passes that protection given to the laboring man will no longer be available to him under the provisions of this bill.

On the question recurring,

SUPPLEMENT

REMARKS BY MR. WEIDNER

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, on March 19th, the Kutztown and West Reading High Schools held the Berks County Scholastic Basketball Conference Meet in my P.I.A.A. district as the first circuit to have two champions in the same season. That evening at the end of the day, which was but a few minutes apart, Kutztown captured the Class B title defeating West Middlesex of New Wilmington by a score of 51-34, while West Reading captured the Class C championship by defeating the Lilly Washington team from Cambria county by a score of 74-55.

West Reading is located in my legislative district and it is only natural that I should have a personal interest in this school. The season's record of 27-1 is outstanding and our only loss was to none other than their neighbor, Kutztown, the Class B champions. Both teams are here today to whom we pay honor, and it is my privilege and pleasure, Mr. Speaker, to introduce to the House, Mr. Roy Bilger, the coach of the West Reading team, who will accept a copy of the resolution on behalf of his team, which this House adopted at yesterday's session. Mr. Speaker I yield to Mr. Machmer, the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, yields to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Machmer. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks.

REMARKS BY MR. MACHMER

Mr. MACHMER. I want to thank the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, for his remarks. It is only proper that he should yield to me because you will note by his remarks that the team from his district yielded to the team from my district. As Kutztown is located in my legislative district, I am having a personal interest in this school and in this team. I and all of Berks County are proud indeed to announce that the season's record of this team is 29-0 in winning this Class B state championship.

We are not only honoring the team who has won this years championship, but it is a rare privilege and a great pleasure, Mr. Speaker, to introduce to you and all the Members of this House and guests, Mr. John Cooks, who not only has won the state championship with this team this year but who has on two previous occasions won the state championship for the Kutztown School district. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

COMMITTEE TO SPONSOR COACHES

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, and the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Machmer to escort Coach Roy Bilger of the West Reading High School basketball team, and Coach John Silan of the Kutztown Junior High School team to the rostrum to receive copies of Resolutions of congratulations adopted by this House.

The SPEAKER. Gentlemen, the Chair welcomes you. Life is a serious business. You know they fight great battles and thousands die, and the victors move away from the battlefield, leaving the dead and the wounded the victors to receive their laurels.

Now it so happens that among those who have been laid low by your prowess are none other than the poor unfortunates from my town who entered the battle against you. You fought well and bravely and were victors. To the victors belong the praise. But the Chair hopes that in the hearts of the Members of this House and in the hearts of the Coaches and in the hearts of the members of the teams that you coached, there is some trace of sympathy for the poor defeated from my home town and appreciation of how I would have gloried, selfish as I am, if, instead of saluting you it would have been my privilege to salute the coaches and the team from my home town.

I congratulate you, it is one of the features of the groups to which you belong that you contend fairly, that you contend cleanly and that your victories leave not rancor.

It is now my happy privilege to present to you the Resolutions of congratulations which was unanimously adopted by the Members of this House. I hope in the days to come if they have a team from Altoona you go out and slay them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair takes great pleasure in presenting to the Members of this House, Coach Bilger.

Mr. BILGER. Mr. Speaker on behalf of the boys of the West Reading High School basketball team I wish to sincerely thank you for the time and interest you have shown in us. I feel very deeply appreciative and I know the boys will always remember this occasion.

At this time I would like to introduce the West Reading High School basketball team, accompanied by Mr. Charles Starfer, our Supervising Principal, Mr. Arthur Hummelberger, our High School Principal, and Mr. John Shaner our Athletic Director. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now presents with pleasure Coach John Silan who will speak for Kutztown.

Mr. SILAN. Mr. Speaker, I humbly and proudly accept this resolution. It gives me great pleasure and also the team. At this moment I would like to introduce the Kutztown Area High School basketball team, which is on my right. Accompanying the team are Mr. Paul C. Dunkelberger, Supervising Principal, Mahlon Stauffer, Principal, and Herbert Mock, Faculty Manager. Thank you, sir.

SENATE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 665.

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" defining or redefining certain words terms and phrases increasing the rate of tax imposing tax on certain additional services changing the bracket schedule and basis to reflect tax increases exempting certain property or persons from the tax and clarifying the scope of such exemptions extending the tax credit provision to include certain services changing the provisions relating to licenses collection of tax and returns extending the retail sales presumption to include certain services allocating the tax proceeds for public education and imposing additional penalties.

HOUSE BILL No. 666.

An Act amending the Act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1256) entitled "The Hotel Occupancy Tax Act" increasing the rate of tax clarifying the liability of hotel operators for tax collections providing standards for commission allowances.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Before signing this bill I desire to make a correction in the record as recorded by the public Press.

Several newspapers said that the Speaker would not be available for signing this bill at 10:00 o'clock this morning. The Speaker is always available when there is a quorum present in the House. There was no reason at all why we should have endeavored to have assembled a quorum in this House at 12:01 last night, and as you know, as Speaker we are committed to the policy that no business will be performed by this House in the absence of a quorum.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 665.

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" defining or redefining certain words terms and phrases increasing the rate of tax imposing tax on certain additional services changing the bracket schedule and basis to reflect tax increases exempting certain property or persons from the tax and clarifying the scope of such exemptions extending the tax credit provision to include certain services changing the provisions relating to licenses collection of tax and returns extending the retail sales presumption to include certain services allocating the tax proceeds for public education and imposing additional penalties.

HOUSE BILL No. 666.

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1256) entitled "The Hotel Occupancy Tax Act" increasing the rate of tax clarifying the liability of hotel operators for tax collections providing standards for commission allowances.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Parliamentarian has furnished the Speaker with an analysis of the bills that the Speaker has just signed.

According to his analysis you can avoid all taxes imposed by the bill if you don't smoke, if you don't eat, if you don't drink, if you don't work, if you don't buy anything, if you don't go any place, if you don't see anything, if you don't live and if you don't die.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WHITTAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this is a memorable occasion in which we embark upon a new era of taxation.

If this occasion were to be passed without comment I would be derelict in my duty to the people I represent, the majority of whom are hard working, laboring people, some are members of organized labor, many who are not, but all have equal rights under our Constitution.

With the signing of this legislation into law our Governor, at the request of the legislative body, will place a yoke upon the neck of labor. This is not the first time this has been tried. If this legislation stands the test and becomes law, we in the House are placed in a very serious situation.

Any extension of this tax to more services as spelled out in this legislation can lead to placing the laboring people of our state to a certain degree in camouflaged slavery.

My friends, this is socialism at work under the disguise of emergency legislation due to deficit financing. Mr. Polen's statement, and I quote: "Until we stop deficit financing this legislation is necessary." To the spirit of this statement I fully agree.

It is long past time when we should face the facts and correct our ways, namely, place necessary legislation—not watchdog legislation such as on our calendar where the politician checks another politician—but legislation of the type that places the tax-paying citizen of this Commonwealth in a position to check the spending of all of us in state government, including any deparment head or any governor who graces that office.

Unless serious steps are taken, we will soon be in another dilemma because as a state we have no control over inflation but we do have a duty to the tax-paying citizens and to industry. Let us lead before industry leaves our state by request.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I listened with delight to the words of wisdom of the gentleman who debated the bill the other night to make sure that certain professional services were excluded, and he was assured that they were, and he knew that they were.

I am sure he is deeply aware of the financial situation of our school districts, of our municipalities, and certainly of our universities and coleges, as well as all of the hospitals. He, being a professional man, would be somewhat closely related to this field.

If this tax was only for deficit spending, then certainly he would not be asking for any more money for the hospital in his district or any more money for the schools in his district. I believe it is the responsibility of each of us, including the gentleman who spoke, to indicate clearly whether he favors the additional appropriations and does not favor the taxes, or whether he desires to have the appropriations cut.

I think the time has come when we must realize that taxation is the only source of revenue to operate the Commonwealth. Really we are a gatherer of funds to distribute to districts, to cities and to communities, for 76 per cent of the proposed budget will be disseminated to the communities, to the hospitals and to the various school districts of Pennsylvania.

I believe that the laboring people, as well as all the other people of Pennsylvania, know that we are trying our level best to see that industry has a greater competitive advantage in Pennsylvania than in any other state. We have absoluely, in the Hood-Kennedy Commission, when you check the report carefully, taken the position that we are trying to keep industry in Pennsylvania, to bring new industry into Pennsylvania; that we have not tried to tax industry out of Pennsylvania. I am proud of the fact that both parties agree on this. I hope that the gentleman also agrees that that is exactly what we are doing.

If he does not agree, would he be kind enough to enlighten the House as to his tax program that would pay these bills, that would guarantee the money to his district as well as to mine; to guarantee that industry would be a part of this state and that new industry would continue to come here?

I am proud of the fact that we have taken this position that we favor and are trying to help industry. I am proud of the fact that we believe we must do everything possible to retain those industries here in Pennsylvania and bring in new industries.

If this tax which was passed the other night, known as the Selective Sales and Use Tax, is driving industry out of Pennsylvania, would the gentleman please indicate clearly the sections of the bill that do that, and how it will drive the industry out of the state to a better competitive advantage in some other state in this great Union of ours.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe I would yield to Mr. Whittaker. He has something he would like to say and then I would like the floor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the Majority Leader, the only thing that concerns me on this $178 million, which was deficit spending, is that if we did not have the right to spend money without first having it we would not be in this dilemma. Other states have legislation on their books which prevents this and we legislators in this body should have been back in session long ago and have taken care of this without deficit financing. That is the thing which is going to drive our state into higher taxation, and we will never be able to control it until we are men enough to stand up and place those statutes on the books.

I am not worrying that taxes may hit my profession. That does not bother me a bit. I, along with others, am perfectly willing to pay our fair share. I am worried about placing a tax upon labor, and that is my main concern.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like unanimous consent of the House to make a few remarks.

The SPEAKER. The Minority Leader is never required to have the consent of the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think with the signing of the tax bill the time has come for again taking stock. I like to do it. I like to appraise where we have been, where we are now, and where do we go from here. Therefore, with the kind indulgence of the House, I would like to point out some things this morning to the membership and let them think it over very carefully.

Last week, in my home town, someone said to me, "Albert, what are you doing in Harrisburg? How about the program?" I said to them, "What program?" Well, that is what we are wondering. What is the program? I said the only thing that has been on the calendar so far, in three and one half months of Session, are things which would increase the cost of local government in all its many activities, increasing the mileage of public officials, their salaries, witness fees and jurors' fees, and all the different things the people back home read about how we here are increasing the cost of local government without any compensating rewards or additions to their revenue.

I know Mr. McCann says, I grant you, that the tax bill is not a punitive measure as far as business is concerned, but I say there are things on the calendar that are punitive to business. We have bills on this calendar right now that are, of course, making the problems of our near bankrupt railroads worse.

I mean, I am just pointing out that on the calendar today there has not been anything that you might call a program. I think we should all be amazed at that situation, particularly in view of the—again I repeat—great promises, the great plans, that were made for Pennsylvania last fall, and here we are with a Governor in office 90 days and practically nothing has been accomplished except putting through a major tax bill increasing the tax revenues that take from the people. Where is the program on this calendar to straighten out the Unemployment Compensation Fund?

Mr. McCann said during the first couple of weeks, "You'll see. We'll have some great bills on the calendar straightening out this situation." To date we have not seen it. We have not seen any on absentee voting; we haven't seen anything on higher education. There is nothing on the calendar on highway safety. In fact, up to date, I would say that we have been floundering around and the people are wondering what is the program of this great, so-called, administration in Harrisburg. What has happened?

To repeat, the first week of the session we found the state was broke. That, of course, is common knowledge to everybody all over Pennsylvania. Then we had the alarming situation in the anthracite coal mines and now we find that because of faulty inspection, because of illegal leases of coal mines, because of mining too close to the river, with the people closing their eyes, we have practically destroyed a major part of the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania and 12 persons are entombed in a coal mine. I am wondering if the people last summer had known what was going on in the anthracite industry, would they have been so quick and so ready to have voted in Mr. Lawrence as Governor of Pennsylvania?

Let's take a short look at the Highway Department. Recently, Park Martin said, "I have come to the cupboard and the cupboard is bare. There will not be any new road contracts let for a long time to come because the previous administration let $220 million worth of road contract and there is no money in the coffers for any new ones, in fact, you in the Legislature have taken out of my Treasury what few dollars I had.

Folks, the problems are bigger, the bumps are higher, the roads are getting narrower, the berms are getting rougher, and I want to tell you the highways of our state, those of you who travel the length and breadth of this Commonwealth, will admit they are in the worst condition in history. It is a deplorable situation, as far as the highways of Pennsylvania are concerned.

I just want to remind you that you folks have been in power for four years and you cannot blame that on a Republican administration. I could go on and point out many other things that today are facing this great state of ours which need to be remedied and which need some quick action on the part of this General Assembly.

Now, how about the plight of our schools? What has happened to our school system since Mr. Lawrence became Governor? The school directors of Pennsylvania today are in a pretty distraught state, I would say, over the way things have gone. You have put upon them a panic program to repair school buildings overnight, which they absolutely have no money for, haven't had any plans for, and down through the years have been lulled into a feeling that everything was fine.

In my school district alone, the tab is $60,000 to make these panic repairs and right now we cannot balance our budget for next year within $60,000 without adding on $60,000 more for these repairs, which perhaps must be done in our schools. I say today that the average school director is wondering what is going on in this state capitol of ours, why have we been forced into such an intolerable situation that we cannot get money to run our schools. "We have no money to make these repairs. What are you people in Harrisburg, the Governor, going to do about it? You are not doing a thing for us." You say, "There is no money. We are sorry. You go out and pick it up yourself wherever you can find it."

That is the situation with respect to our schools. Our school directors are looking over this budget and they find that for these increases, the mandates that we have thrust upon them, they find that in my district they are $60,000 short to balance their budget and we from Harrisburg, so far, have not said, "We will give you a lift."

Now we have the budget. We have had the budget since the first of March. What has happened to that budget? Not a thing. I interrogated Mr. Polen when the budget first came down and I said, "What are you going to do with this budget? Are you going to audit that budget? Are you going to point out to the House here a way that we can save money on the budget? When are the hearings going to start?" He said, "We'll start them the first week in April." Folks, this is the 15th of April and I have not received a schedule of budget hearings. Maybe Mr. Polen has them set up, but here we are faced with a $1.729 billion budget and I do not know, and no one in this House knows, whether that budget is adequate, whether it is too big, whether it is too little, whether it is inflated, or what is wrong with the budget.

I had a statement of what the $178 million deficit consists of. The statement that I received is something like this: On May 31st, there will be $240 some million in appropriations for which a symbol will not be given to the departments, although commitments will have been made, there will be some $60 million in the bank, and you subtract that from that figure and you get the $178 million dollars. I think that that figure requires auditing and study. Maybe that deficit will not be $178 million, as I have pointed out here time and time again. But, we have no figures on that.

Also we are getting reports that taxes are bringing in more money than estimated the last three months. Has consideration been given to the increase in revenue during the last three months when you talk about putting more taxes on the people.

The SPEAKER. There are certain things, in line with the dignity of this House, that we should acquire as a habit, and one is courtesy. Parliamentary courtesy stipulates that not only when the Leaders rise but when any Member of this great House rises to speak, he is entitled under the Constitution and under all the laws of courtesy to attention. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Now where do we go from here? What should we do? We should find out all we can about this $178 million deficit that Dr. Whittaker talked about a few minutes ago.

I think, on this tax bill which the Speaker has just signed and which the Governor will probably sign today, that we should have a realistic picture of what that tax bill will bring in. How far-flung is this tax on services? Is it a tax on laundry, for instance? Is it a tax on many other things that we have not dreamed about in putting a tax on services?

We are putting a new tax on your telephone bill, on the electric light bill. We are taxing utilities for the first time on their repair and maintenance parts. I think that from all sources we should get a statement of how much this bill will bring in before this House is asked to pass new and additional taxes to increase the burden of the people of this great state. I repeat, we should carefully audit this budget. Let us find out how much money is realistically needed to carry on the services of this state to its people. Add it all up. Let us see what it comes to. How far are we short?

And may I say to the Majority Leader: Sit Down with Governor Lawrence, sit down with your advisers, sit down with Members of the Senate, add up a program, then come before the House and tell us what you are going to do. When are you going to have unemployment compensation on the calendar? When are you going to have your highway safety program out here? When are you going to have your scholarship loan program on the calendar? When are you going to have something out here with some meat in it, something that means something to the people of this state? Then come forth and say: We are shooting for a deadline here of, as I have suggested, July 1. Let us get this Session out of town. Wrap it up. Get the show over with. Get down to business and let us do something in a good, logical, businesslike way so that the people of Pennsylvania, when we go back home each week, will not say, "Where are you going down there in Harrisburg; do you folks know what you are doing?"

You people are in power. Let us get this show on the road, and let us get something with some read meat out here that we can do business on.

The SPEAKER. Before the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington there is one little remark the Chair would like to make for the benefit of the Minority Leader. He talked about the school situation. In our school district there were certain stipulations made by the people here in Harrisburg. Do you know what we told them? We told them, "We will meet you in court." I do not think we will be bothered.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Johnson asked me some time ago about the Appropriations Committee holding hearings, and at that time, suggested that he hoped it would be a different type of hearing. I believe it is correct that I said we hoped to hold hearings early in April, and we do expect to get hearings started this month. But I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that we have endeavored to be in position to hold a different type of hearing. In the past the different commissions, boards and departments would appear before the Committee; there would be a lot of questions asked, and actually it did not bring forth any real information that would be of benefit to the Committee or this House.

Now we have hade a different aproach. We have been doing research over these many weeks. We have had some of the departments in. We have discussed their problems. One of the things we have been trying to ascertain is: Of the amounts in the budget, what amounts are mandated by this Legislature; things that have to be paid, increases that have to be met. We have some of those figures now available, and we expect to start the hearings, I hope, the week after next.

Mr. Speaker, there are many things we would like to do for the people of Pennsylvania that are contingent entirely upon our having the money to do those things.

We have made a little different type of approach. In the past we usually passed large appropriation bills. We never passed enough taxes in the past years to meet those bills, and in order to balance the budget the usual course, under both Republican and Democratic administrations, was to up the estimate of the taxes to be received. I want to assure all the Members of this House that as late as Monday night, at a conference I attended, I was told the Governor had made one provision very clear, there would be no more deficits in Pennsylvania. And I believe that is correct. But I think this House has a duty in connection with that.

There are to ways to balance the budget. You can pass appropriations and fit your estimate to meet them. But I believe the sound way to put Pennsylvania back in a position of fiscal responsibility and back to a position where it can meet its obligations promptly, is to levy the amount of taxes and tailor our appropriations to those taxes. If we do that we will not be faced with deficits. We will not be faced with any deficit spending.

I would call to the attention of the House, when we talk about deficit spending, that the department under the Executive did not overspend their appropriations. What happened in a couple of instances was the Occupational Disease Act, the large amounts that were neecssary there, and the relief money. Those are two things that are not controlled and cannot be controlled. So I think it is unfair to blame the present Governor for anything that happened in the past. In all fairness I think we should recognize that the departments under the Executive did not overspend except for the relief and Occupational Disease Act.

Now when we talk about this deficit, I am telling you as I have before, and I repeat, it is an actual deficit. I think it is one we should meet; we should face it. We owe these retirement boards over $60 million. Those are really trust funds, and I think there is not any way under the sun but what we are duty bound to raise the money to pay that.

In addition to that there is another $25 million, so of this deficit approximately $85 million will be due to the State Employes Retirement Fund and the Teachers' Retirement Fund.

Mr. Speaker, on two different occasions I asked the help of the Members of this House in giving to the Appropriations Committee any information they had or any suspicion they might have of money that was not being well spent, and of places we could cut the appropriations. To date two Members of this House, one Democrat and one Republican, have made suggestions to me. Both of these suggestions, if put into effect and the entire amounts eliminated, would result in a saving of approximately $200,000.

I again repeat: If Members of this House on either side have any information or any suggestions as to where we can make savings, I would certainly like to hear them.

We hope to start the hearings week after next. I hope they will be hearings that will bring out what the money has been spent for, whether it has been well spent, and whether these departments can get along with any less money.

I think we must be fair and face the fact that in the past, and probably in the future, the great inflation had much to do with the greatly increased cost of government. It has taken place in private industry, in your homes and it certainly has affected the state.

I again repeat, ladies and gentleman, if you have any information that you can give the Appropriations Committee I would like you to come in to Room 245 and we will discuss it, and certainly give it every consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair next Monday or Tuesday, as time permits, will ask the privilege of addressing the House for the purposes of discussing the responsibilities of the House. What it owes to itself, what are the responsibilities of the Executive. Departments and what we must do if we are to function efficiently in meeting our responsibilities, and before I recognize the gentleman from Allegheny, I want to rise to a question of personal privilege.

I have here the clipping of a dispatch that was sent out to all parts of the Commonwealth by a news distributing agency which says, in reference to a bill that is before the House, that the Speaker ordered the bill sent back to the Committee despite efforts to bring a showdown right away.

This is obviously a misstatement. The Chair has no power to send a bill back to Committee. Absolutely nothing of the kind was attempted. "Despite a chorus of 'no' votes on the motion and demands for a roll call, Mr. Andrews ruled that the "ayes" had carried the motion. There was no demand for a roll call and it was the opinion of the majority leaders that there be no roll call."

Now I have, and I wish to speak for the information of the Press, a collection of letters of more than a hundred instances of inaccurate statements regarding what has happened on the floor of this House and I counsel the newspaper agencies to make provisions to report the proceedings of this House in comformity with the facts.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin, to preside temporarily.

Mr. DEVLIN IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, concerning requests for information.

One thing which has been a source of irritancy to me and others in this Commonwealth, has been the fact that over the years lawyers and architects have been paid money on a fee basis instead of a salary basis. I have tried to obtain the information from certain sources as to how many people in the years 1956, 1957 and 1958 received fees as lawyers, architects or otherwise by private contract, and to date I have not received said information.

I believe that everybody who is employed by the Commonwealth should receive a proper salary. I am wholly against the fact and the situation which exists today in this Commonwealth that many people employed on a part-time basis receive more money than faithful Commonwealth employes.

I now request the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee to furnish me with detailed information as to the number of persons in this Commonwealth who as lawyers, architects, or otherwise, during the years 1956, 1957 and 1958, received more than $7,500 by virtue of fees or private contracts.

INTERROGATION

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. POLEN.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, if these trust funds of the Teachers and Employes Retirement Fund are trust funds? Does it require a special Act of Legislature to move money from these funds over into the general fund, or is it at the disposal of the chief executive and the various departments?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it requires an Act of Assembly to transfer funds from any of the retirement funds to the general fund.

I might state that the word "trust fund" was of my own origin, but I do feel that when the employes or the teachers make their contribution and the school board makes theirs that it is the duty of the Commonwealth, and that is wherein I used the words "trust funds," to make theirs to match them. The obligation is a legislative one that this General Assembly has mandated and I use it in connection with the deficit, that we owe approximately $85 million to those funds, and I think it should be paid.

Mr. AUKER. I would further ask this gentleman when were these monies by Act of Legislature transferred from these funds over into the general fund?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, these monies have not been transferred from these various retirement funds. They have not been paid into them because the Commonwealth did not have the money. Over the years it seems that the last item to ever be paid was the amount due the retirement funds by the Commonwealth.

We have, by several Legislative Acts, I believe three this session, reduced the contributions to the Public School Employes Retirement Act and the State School Employes Retirement Board. We have reduced those appropriations in order to give the Governor authority to sign these various emergency appropriation bills, because it must be kept within the limiation of the total appropriations. We have in those acts pledged our intention to restore those amounts. There has been no actual money transferred from these trust funds to the general fund.

Mr. AUKER. I thank the gentleman, and would further like to ask the gentleman, has any thought been given to the amount of money being spent to educate our children in the stae-aided, so-called teacher colleges and the number of those people graduated from there who have not taught for three years in this state, as they sign up to do when they enter? In other words, they go out of the state. Has any thought been given to closing off that loophole or angle?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, over the years that has been a subject that received a lot of attention. I think the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, has raised the question that we should settle by legislation. Perhaps it might be punitive in that we would require that they would repay a portion or all of the amount of the expenses of their education if they did not teach. I personally am in favor of that. There has been objection by educators in the past to it, but I would certainly be glad to discuss the matter with the gentleman and with others who are interested.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman feel, and I throw this out for the consideration of the House, — there was a bill introduced in 1957, I believe, by the gentleman from Bloomsburg, Columbia Couty, to require a bond to be filed, conditioned upon the person receiving the benefits of the state teachers college education teaching the three years in Pennsylvania, or if they only taught two years their bond would be forfeited to that amount. I understand—I will preface my remarks further—that the state teachers colleges at present cannot take care of the number of applications that they are receiving. Then certainly it would seem to me that that might be a proper bill to receive the consideration of the House.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that such procedure would probably solve the question because if the student did not teach the required three years the bond would be invoked and the amount would be collected. I understand that this was strenuously objected to by leaders in the educational professions. In answer to the question I would say it would probably solve it.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman agree with this, that maybe we should not listen too much to the education people of the state and probably listen a little bit more to the taxpayers of the state who are paying the bills?

Mr. POLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I will agree that we certainly should listen to the taxpayers of the state. I also believe we should listen to the educators of the state. Whether we might agree with everything they suggest I do not believe or say that we would, but we should be governed, to a great extent by what they think, but I believe that there are certain areas when probably the judgment of this General Assembly would be better than that of the educators.

Mr. AUKER. I would like to further ask the gentleman if any thought has been given to a charge being made upon cars, no matter how many the occupants of the car, using our state recreational parks with a view of possibly cutting in half the budget of the state department of Forest and Waters for the upkeep of those state parks?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know of any such study.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman agree that possibly a 25- or 50-cent charge per car would very materially decrease the amount of money needed by the Department of Forests and Waters at the expense of the general taxpayers of the state, if that were done?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would agree.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman say then whether or not he would give such proposed legislation his very earnest consideration?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly would and furthermore, I will discuss the matter with the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters.

Mr. AUKER. I thank the gentleman very kindly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this seems to be the official time for the making of statements, and I could not pass up this opportunity, having waited so long in this session to make a few remarks.

It seems to me that many years ago a book entitled "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" was written and, while I did not read the book, I know in principle it refers to thinking in two different directions by the same person at the same time. Now I think that can be applied a little bit to some of the arguments and discussions we have heard this morning.

There are some people who would like to point to the preceding Governor, and to the present Governor and lay upon those two administrations the blame for all of our fiscal difficulties and at the same time absolve themselves from any blame whatsoever in that connection. I would like to remind this House that two years ago the fiscal policies of this Commonwealth were decided by the opposition party. I would like to recall to your memories when the appropriation bill came out of this particular House onto this Floor, it came out with the understanding that no amendments, and I mean no amendments to that bill would be considered no matter how worthy an argument would be made in favor of such change.

I say to you that the blame can not be laid directly on any party because it was due to the economic situation. Our economy in Pennsylvania determines the amount of revenue that we will get in this Commonwealth, and that is so because our revenue is based upon principally two taxes, sales tax and corporate net income taxes. When our economy falters the tax return under those two measures also decreases correspondingly, and therefore, I would say it would be wrong to charge anybody with a great portion of the deficit we are now faced with, because it was something that could not have been foreseen.

But there are certain portions of that deficit which can be laid to obstinacy, because the then majority party refused to recognize reality. We, on this side of the House, when that appropriation bill was being voted upon, for hour after hour pointed out in many places where mandated increases were taken care of in that particular bill and yet that policy which was established before the bill hit the floor of the House went through unscathed. After many hours of debate, not a single change was made in that appropriation bill in this House.

Now there are some other things we like to blame the former Governor for, and that is, chuck-holes on our highways. I say to the minority party that blame lays just as much upon that party as it does upon the Governor, or the former Governor of this Commonwealth. The former Governor came to this House and requested that we keep a one-cent gas tax emergency levy which had ben previously put on, that we leave that because the funds in the Highway Department would not be sufficient to build the roads to bring in the matching funds necessary for Federal matching funds and at the same time keep our highway condition as it should have been. The present majority party at that time said, no, that one cent must be taken off. Arbitrarily it was removed and it was not considered by this House. I think that the chuck-holes can properly be blamed perhaps on a combination of circumstances. But certainly one of those circumstances is the refusal of the then majority to give the money which was needed to keep our highways in good condition.

We cannot be Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde. We can not ask for additional appropriations amounting to sixty thousand dollars for our local school districts and at the same time refuse to vote taxes.

I do not say that our party is wholly without blame when we talk about such a policy, but I say that the time has arrived for both of our parties to grow up; the time has arrived when we set aside political considerations, that we, once and for all, face up to our responsibilities and finance this Commonwealth as it should be financed and, that is, that we determine the amount of money that we need and then set about to pass the taxes that finance that program.

I believe the majority of this House will cooperate in such a program. The Chairman of the Appropriation Committe has already invited your cooperation. We not only invited but believe in the coming months we will insist upon it. We are going to try to place this Commonwealth where it belongs, on a sound financial basis. The Governor has committed himself to that kind of a program and we on this side of the House are likewise committed to that kind of a program. We want to eliminate, of course, waste.

Those of you who were in the halls of this House in 1955 will recall when I asked the then Majority Leader concerning fat in the budget. He pointed out, you men know as much about fiscal affairs as we do. You certainly have had many, many years of experience in this century concerning the fiscal affairs of this Commonwealth. You know as much about budgets as we do on this side of the House, and you have advisors who can properly advise you today in that respect. We say to you if you claim and contend that our budget is overfat too much padding, show us where it is and, if we do not take it out, then point the finger. But until you have shown us where, you certainly should not point any finger of scorn at this side. Now we invite that kind of cooperation. We are sincerely interested in the Commonwealth. We are sincerely interested in our financial situation and we invite your cooperation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BUCHANAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that there are several facts he should remember on this proposal to increase tuition for certain students in state teachers' colleges.

Pennsylvania State University receives far more appropriation than the 14 other state teachers' colleges put together. If this policy of increasing the tuition for certain students in state teachers' colleges is good, then it certainly should apply to Pennsylvania State University. If it is not good, then it should not apply to the state teachers' colleges or Pennsylvania State University. The University of Pittsburgh and the University of Pennsylvania also receive state aid. That means that every student in those schools has a share of the cost of his or her education paid by the state. I think these facts should be remembered.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I will agree with the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Buchanan, regarding the matters that he mentioned, and I invite him to meet with me in Room 245 at his convenience, his earliest convenience, and we will fully discus that matter.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. COMER and KEE.

RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, April 14, 1959.

Citizens of our Commonwealth who are of advanced age should be given the opportunity of living happy and useful lives even after retirement.

Because of lack of sympathy or understanding on the part of society or their very own families, these older persons are left to shift for themselves in large houses in which large families have been reared but which are no longer desirable for lonelv persons.

The health, welfare, safety and happiness of these persons would be greatly enhanced if proper and suitable living quarters with recreational facilities were made available to them.

The Philadelphia Housing Authority in the City of Philadelphia could relieve this situation by erecting and maintaining one-bedroom units on the proposed site known as Oxford Village II; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives urge the Philadelphia Housing Authority to erect at Oxford Village II, housing facilities of one-bedroom units with available areas for recreational facilities which would be attractive primarily to persons sixty years of age or over where they would be able to spend the remainder of their allotted time in peace and contentment.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. REIBMAN, Messrs. VERONA, PRENDERGAST and HELM. RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 14, 1959.

In this day and age of scientific materialism it has become the unusual to find a person who has remained punctiliously faithful to his need for spiritual guidance.

Such a person is Miss Annie Bertha Warford who has accumulated sixty-five years of perfect Sunday School attendance. Miss Warford, who presently attends the Calvary Methodist Church in Easton, began attending Sunday School in the St. John Evangelical and Reformed Church at Reigelsville, Pennsylvania where she was confirmed in 1900.

Because of transportation problems, Miss Warford, who on several occasions walked four miles to church and back, transferred her attendance record to her church in Easton several years ago. Even now, although admitting to being "over seventy" she still attends communion and other special services at the Reigelsville church; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to Miss Warford for this wonderful attendance at Sunday School; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Miss Annie Bertha Warford, 645 Ferry Strett, Easton, Pennsylvania, the St. John Evangelical and Reformed Church, Reigelsville, Pennsylvania and the Calvary Methodist Church, 14th and Lehigh Streets, Easton, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

SENATE SERIAL No. 102

The SPEAKER laid before the House Senate Resolution Serial No. 102.

The resolution was read, considered and concurred in as follows:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SESQUICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate January 6 1959

Whereas on February 12 1959 the entire civilized world generally and the American Nation in particular will celebrate the Sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of its martyr-President Abraham Lincoln whom Count

Leo Tolsoi described as "Christ in miniature" and who by universal consent is the most revered Citizen of the World because his immortality to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson "does not lie in any one of his achievements but in his attitude towards mankind" and

Whereas the entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr- President whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none and

Whereas in these days of strain and stress of gloom and vacillation of a world "half free and half slave" a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr-President will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings the tonic values whereof have been generation after generation universally acknowledged and

Whereas of all the states of the Union none can boast of more Lincoln lore than Pennsylvania as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg address was delivered by Lincoln coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth and

Whereas with only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Now be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania" to consist of six members three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives and three of whom shall be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for proper action and implementation

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, some plans that many have asked for 'way in the future, and I hope that we can keep these commitments without any difficulty.

We announced the schedule for next week, two days, Monday and Tuesday. We want to change the schedule for the week of May 5 if at all possible. On that Tuesday will be the swearing-in ceremony of the Secretary of Internal Affairs which very likely will change the hourly schedule well into the afternoon. We will be in session three days that week without a question of doubt.

For those who have asked and are interested—and certainly we are all interested in the primaries of our respective districts or counties—we hope we will be able to fulfill the commitment of no session the week of the primaries, which I believe is the third week of May.

Mr. Speaker, again I repeat, next week two days, Monday and Tuesday.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, April 20, 1959 at 4:30 p.m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:58 a.m.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Most gracious Heavenly Father, we wait in the shadow of Thy holy presence. We are weak, but Thou art strong. We are sinful, but Thou art sinless. We are impure, but Thou art pure and holy.

Thou, O God, art the source of all wisdom, purity and power. Speak to us that we may be guided in our deliberations today. May Thy Holy Spirit enter into our lives, so that we may be clothed with honor, love, honesty, mercy and a forviging spirit.

Most gladly may we glory in our weakness, so that the strength of our Savior may rest upon us. Walk with us, O Father, in the untried paths of duty and service, guarding always the honor of our Commonwealth.

We pray for Thy guidance and strength of purpose in the business of this day. May the words of our mouths and the meditation of our hearts be accepted in Thy sight, O Lord, our strength and Redeemer. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, various other Members of the Senate and I are introducing legislation today concerning those school districts and State Teachers Colleges which have been affected by the temporary orders of the Department of Labor and Industry.

As you may recall, back in February, the Department of Labor and Industry started making inspections of school buildings throughout this Commonwealth. I understand from Secretary Batt that the Department of Labor and Industry has made 4,000 inspections, and that approximately 2,000 orders have been placed on 657 school districts throughout the State. Incidentally, those figures include parochial schools. Therefore, the following figures must be interpreted accordingly.

Many of these orders have permanently closed various schools. They are very, very few in number. It is my understanding that the Administration will be introducing a bill concerning those permanently closed school buildings, placing them on a priority basis for school construction. However, nothing has been contemplated up to this time concerning those school districts which are facing a financial emergency due to complying with the orders of the Department of Labor and Industry. Those orders, in the main, are concerned with fire towers, fire alarm systems, fire resistant materials in basements and in boiler rooms. I understand that the average cost of these repairs is something like $3,000. I believe that the Secretary of Labor and Industry has estimated a figure of approximately $2,000,000 for those 657 school districts already affected. Actually, of course, that would include parochial schools, which would not be included in the bill I am about to introduce.

There are also State Teachers Colleges which are being inspected and which will be facing a similar emergency, caused by these orders.

One other thing occurred recently which helped to solve this problem. In the Senate Investigation of the Department of Public Instruction, we found there was such a thing called the State School Fund. This State School Fund was set up originally in 1911, and is presently found in the Act of 1949, March 10, P. L. 30, Article 26. It provides that all escheated moneys and property, by way of devise or gift to the State, shall constitute a fund known as the State School Fund. This State School Fund is wholly under the auspices, control and management of the State Council of Education. The Fund is invested, for the great part, and I have received figures as of April 15, 1959, showing that there is a cash balance of approximately $183,000, while the investment account totals $3,782,000. In reality, there is approximately $3,919,575 available. The income from those investments amounts to perhaps $100,000 a year. It is of importance to note that the entire basis for this State School Fund is the equalization of educational opportunities throughout this Commonwealth.

To be sure, the school districts in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton are not subject to the Department of Labor and Industry orders under the Fire and Panic Act. However, they all have local inspections and they, likewise, are faced with this emergency.

This proposed legislation, Mr. President, is to set up a committee of three, consisting of the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction, the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry and the Auditor General, to use this State School Fund and to allocate it to the local school districts and the State Teachers Colleges on a matching basis, to help them in this financial situation.

I am sure it will be of great interest to everyone to know there is no need for new tax moneys because of this bill. It is merely transferring a fund, which is lying dormant and unused, to a great extent. After all, you know that the $100,000 income from this investment, which the State Council of Education presently has, is practically de minimus, in helping achieve the purpose of equalization of educational opportunities.

It seems to the sponsors of this bill that this is an opportunity to really help the local school districts throughout this Commonwealth and the State Teachers Colleges. It does so without any new tax moneys being raised, and it meets a financial drain which they are all incurring by reason of those orders.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS FROM ERIE COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, we are especially privileged today to have in our presence, as guests of the Senate, several distinguished citizens from Erie County. Among them we have the Honorable Arthur Gardner, Mayor of the City of Erie; Mr. Fred Lamberton, County Commissioner of Erie County and Republican County Chairman; Mr. Everett Zurn, the Democratic County Chairman of Erie County; Mr. Joe Maher, Editor of the Erie Daily Times; and Mrs. Ford Odell, wife of the Assemblyman from Erie County.

The PRESIDENT. Will these personages from Erie County please rise?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am about to offer a resolution. In connection with this resolution, I want to call the attention of the Members of the Senate to the fact that this book which I hold in my hand is one of the finest documents ever to come from the press of the Joint State Government Commission.

It is a lucky coincidence that so many notables come from Erie, because I am going to praise Senator Blass. This document came over the signature of Senator Blass. It is a catalog of all historical sites and historical buildings in Pennsylvania. It is a masterpiece of documentation. However, unfortunately over the last decade, there was such a demand for this document that it may no longer be obtained. Therefore, I am now offering this Senate Concurrent Resolution, on behalf of Senator Blass and myself, requesting that ten thousand additional copies be printed and bring up-to-date the listing of historical sites in Pennsylvania.

I further request its immediate adoption.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

INSTRUCTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION, WITH THE COOPERATION OF THE PENNSYLVANIA HISORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION, TO MAKE A RESURVEY AND PREPARE A REVISED CATALOG OF ALL THE HISTORIC BUILDINGS AND SITES AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL REMAINS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH

Messrs. STIEFEL and BLASS offered the following resolution (Serial No. 109), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 20, 1959.

Whereas, The Joint State Government Commission was instructed by the General Assembly in 1947 to make a survey and prepare a list of all the historic buildings and sites and archaeological sites which is deemed to be of distinctive significance and value to the history or archaeology of Pennsylvania, and to report this list to the General Assembly at its next Regular Session with recommendations for appropriate legislation to assure the safety and preservation of such buildings and sites; and

Whereas, The Joint State Government Commission completed this original survey and presented its report in March, 1949, as a Catalog of Historical Buildings, Sites and Remains in Pennsylvania, which Catalog has been of great value in providing criteria and standards for legislation and for local action with respect to the preservation of historic sites and buildings; and

Whereas, In the ten years since this report was presented a number of historic buildings have been razed or destroyed, and historical research has also brought to light some additional buildings and sites which may be worthy of consideration; and

Whereas, There is grave danger of the further destruction of buildings and sites which are the tangible remains of Pennsylvania's rich and inspiring historic past unless their importance is again emphasized by a study and a resurvey of the important buildings and sites; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby instruct the Joint State Government Commission, with the cooperation of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, to make a resurvey and prepare a revised catalog of all the historic buildings and sites and archaeological remains which it deems to be of distinctive significance and value to the history or archaeology of this Commonwealth, and to report this revised catalog to the General Assembly at its next Regular Session with further recommendations for appropriate legislation to assure the safety and preservation of such buildings and sites; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the printing of ten thousand copies of the revised Catalog of Historical Buildings, Sites and Remains in Pennsylvania for the use of the members of the General Assembly and the information of the public.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philanelphia, Senator Stiefel, has requested the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am going to withdraw my request for immediate consideration. May I respectfully direct your attention to the fact that during the preceding Session, the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish was the depository of all historical matters, because of Senator Blass' interest in the history of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, I respectfully urge Your Excellency to refer this resolution to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAFER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, tomorrow the City of Farrell will be honoring its high school basketball team, which this year won the Class A Pennsylvania championship. Therefore, I would like to present to the Chair, at this time, a resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO

THE FARREL HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM, ITS STUDENT BODY, COACH EDWARD McCLUSKEY AND HIS ASSISTANTS, ITS FACULTY AND THE COMMUNITY OF FARREL UPON THEIR WINNING THE CLASS A CHAMPIONSHIP

Mr. SHAFER offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 20, 1959.

Farrel has proven the verity of the ancient adage that good things come in small packages. This small community has produced the mightiest basketball team in Pennsylvania.

On the 21st of March of this year, the Farrell High School basketball team became a Class A champion with their 76-66 victory over the very powerful Chester High team. The occasion marked Farrell's 4th State title in the last 7 years, and this successful season added 5 more trophies to their vast collection.

The people of Farrell, exultant in their team's march to victory, gave them that heroes welcome which the team so richly deserved. At least figuratively, the Laurel wreath was placed upon each hero's head.

The success of the Farrell High School basketball team typifies the American way of life at its best; the team work, sportsmanship, spirit, and fair play which the team displayed throughout the season, are in the best tradition of Americanism.

Tomorrow night Farrell and the entire community will celebrate the victories of their basketball team and do honor to their champions. It is fitting that the Senate of Pennsylvania officially mark this glad day; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania extend to the Farrell High School basketball team, the student body of Farrell High School, Coach Edward McCluskey and his assistants, the faculty of Farrell High School and the community of Farrell, their heartiest congratulations on this magnificent victory and express to all of them our gratitude for this fine display of democracy at work; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the principal of Farrell High School.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, in further reference to the resolution just adopted, I wish to state that I certainly heartily approve of the resolution. I would like to add to it that we in Chester, who were the opponents of Farrell, feel very deeply and very much hurt about the situation which occurred. There were a few disgruntled boys, evidently lacking the training which we would like for them to have, who caused a rumpus and injured one of the boys.

I speak for the people of Delaware County and I speak for the Chester High School. We are deeply hurt. We wish to apologize for the conduct of those boys in Philadelphia at that basketball game.

In complimenting the Farrell Basketball Team, we feel there was never a better and cleaner played game of basketball in the history of our county competition with other teams. When I say "we", I speak for the coaches and the various people at the head of our school.

We want to compliment the Farrell boys for being great sports and great athletes, who certainly deserved to win. The Chester team was really off to a great start, but I am just a little bit afraid that the Farrell team was much better at the end. We compliment them on the victory and, above all, ask them to forgive us for the conduct of four boys over whom we had no control.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Watkins. I know that the good people of Chester could not allow such conduct to go on. We, in Philadelphia County, of course, had a part in it, too. We also were sorry that it happened in Philadelphia, but it did not detract any from Farrell's great victory.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE KUTZTOWN AREA HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBLL TEAM, COACH JOHN SILAN, THE STUDENT BODY AND SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL, PAUL C. DUNKELBERGER UPON WINNING THE CLASS A CHAMPIONSHIP

Mr. RUTH offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 20, 1959.

A new record was added to the history of the P. I. A. A. when two teams from the Berks County Scholastic Basketball Conference won the State basketball championship for their respective class. On Friday night, March 20, 1959, Kutztown won the class B championship and West Reading won the class C title. Thus for the first time in the long history of the P. I. A. A., two State champions in the same season were from the same circuit.

For the Cougars from Kutztown, it was the third time that the school has returned home with the class B trophy safely tucked under their arm. In addition to this, their brilliant victory over West Middlesex, the District 10 representative, by a score of 51 to 34 climaxed a perfect season of 29 victories without a loss.

To mentor, John Silan, this was the best over-all team he has ever coached; thus, he regards this group of boys even better than his two previous State championship teams. With a record of three State championship teams to his credit, coach John Silan has demonstrated that hard fight and clean sportsmanship are the ingredients for top caliber play and the production of champions.

Our congratulations are, therefore, in order for this great victory and we heartily extend them to this team, coach John Silan, the student body of the Kutztown Area High School and supervising principal Paul C. Dunkelberger. But what is more significant, we commend these boys, their coach and supervisors for demonstrating that clean sportsmanship, good leadership, hard work and cooperation are the factors which make good citizens and develop our leaders of the future; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extends its heartiest congratulations to the team and coach of Kutztown High, which is a true champion in every sense of that word, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to the coach Mr. Silan who is here in the Senate today, and be it further

Resolved, That the team consisting of Milton L. Borrell, Terry Christman, Dennis J. DeTurk, Lee D. DeTurk, Richard W. Houck, Harry H. Kline, Edwin F. Kutz, Stanley R. Saul, Philip Scheidt, Gene R. Stump, Kraig A. Wagaman, and Glenroy Wiltrout stand at this time and be recognized; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the school.

EXTENDING BEST WISHES OF THE SENATE FOR THE CONTINUED SUCCESS OF THE GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE UPON ITS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Messrs. MULLIN, SILVERT, STIEFEL and WEINER offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 20, 1959.

The GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE has completed its first fifty years of publication. The half-century of service thus rendered by the publishers of the GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE has been of incalculable value to business and industry, the general population of Philadelphia and the neighboring area; therefore be it

Resolven, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby take official and approving note of the contribution of the GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE to the welfare and progress of the Commonwealth's largest metropolitan area; and be it further

Resolved, That upon the occasion of the publication's Golden Anniversary, the people of Pennsylvania do salute and wish continued success and long life to the GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to the editor of the GREATER PHILADELPHIA MAGAZINE.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 44, Printer's No. 406, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 45, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1945 (P. L. 382), entitled "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945" providing that the exemption of Authorities from taxation shall include exemption from taxes on liquid fuels used in the operation of motor buses.

be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I wanted to state to those Members of the Senate who were willing to support Senate Bill No. 44 and Senate Bill No. 45 that I have been notified by the attorney, representing the Altoona Bus Authority, that the Authority will be content to try the operation of the buses of a bill similar to Senate Bill No. 44 which was introduced by Representatives Charles Auker, of Altoona, should pass. It passed the House and is now in the Committee on Highways in the Senate.

I appreciate the support from both sides of the Senate, which realized the great difficulty that Altoona is in. I am hopeful that the Senate Committee on Highways, which now holds Mr. Auker's bill, will report it favorably and Altoona may be successful in affording transportation for approximately twenty per cent of the employees of all industry in Altoona.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 116, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) entitled "Local Health Administration Law," limiting the powers of the county departments of health and conferring powers on the Department of Agriculture.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have received a letter, which I presume every Member of the Senate has received. It is in opposition to Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117. It is not a double-barreled gun; it is a triple-barreled gun, in opposition to these bills.

In order that there may be no uncertainty as to the kind of milk which people may drink in Pennsylvania, I will read part of the amendment I am about to offer:

"No person shall sell milk that does not bear prominently on the cap of the bottle or on any other container the name and identification of the processing plant and the designation Certified Milk or Raw Milk or Milk for Pasteurization or Pasteurized Milk. Other designations may be used with the designation of Raw Milk or Pasteurized Milk provided the definition of such designation is filed with and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture."

I presume that most of the Members of the Senate, like myself, enjoy milk. I am sure that you have all seen me drink milk back here in our lunch room. However, I, too, prefer pasteurized milk. If any of you like raw milk that is all right with me. We want to make certain, however, that we can exercise our choice. Anyone who can read can find on the cap of the bottle or container, the milk of his choice! otherwise, he need not buy it.

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by inserting after "Agriculture": "and further regulating the sale of milk"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 10), page 3 line 8, by inserting after "culture":

"No person shall sell milk that does not bear prominently on the cap of the bottle or on any other container the name and identification of the processing plant, and the designation Certified Milk or Raw Milk or Milk for Pasteurization or Pasteurized Milk. Other designations may be used with the designation of Raw Milk or Pasteurized Milk provided the definition of such designation is filed with and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am not expressing any disfavor for the amendments. However, just to keep Senator Mallery's record clear, was unanimous consent to amend on Third Reading granted or was that step omitted?

The PRESIDENT. I heard no objection to Senator Mallery's desire to amend.

Mr. SEYLER. Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly have no objection to the amendments being offered or to the amendments being accepted. However, I merely want to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that this amendment in no ways clears the objection that I have to this bill. My objection is still there; that this bill definitely takes away from the County Health Department in Allegheny County the right to set up regulations. That is the primary objection I have to the bill and while this amendment may be good,—and, again, I have no objection to it being offered—my opposition to the bill on Final Passage remains just as adamant as it was before.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I, like my colleague, Senator

Fleming, am not going to argue or fight the amendments because as I read it, it is not going to do the bill any good. Once you take the control of milk out of the Department of Health and put it in the Department of Agriculture, then the people of Pennsylvania will be wide open to the fact that at times they will be drinking raw milk when they do not know it. These amendments will not stop undulant fever and things such as that.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I take the same stand on this bill as Senator Fleming and Senator Barr. I am not objecting to the amendments, but I do object to the powers which are being take naway from the Health Department in my county by turning them over to the Department of Agriculture. I feel that we are operating successfully. I know of no deaths or sicknesses caused from milk in our county, and I see no reason for this transfer of power over to the Department of Agriculture.

I, therefore, too, wish to state that I am utterly opposed to these two bills.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, without interjecting anything concerning the merits of the bill at this time, I wish to call attention to the fact that the order of business is the consideraion of the amendments. I intend to ask that the bill go over in order, as amended. If so, tomorrow it will appear on the Final Passage Calendar for debate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 116, Printer's No. 125, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 117, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 2, 1935 (P. L. 589) entitled "Milk Sanitation Law" limiting the powers of municipalities and county departments of health and conferring powers upon the Department of Agriculture.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by striking out "and". Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "Agriculture": "and further regulating the sale of milk." Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 3, line 6, by inserting after "Agriculture": "No person shall sell milk that does not bear prominently on the cap of the bottle or on any other container the name and identification of the processing plant and the designation Certified Milk or Raw Milk or Milk for Pasteurization or Pasteurized Milk. Other designations may be used with the designation of Raw Milk or Pasteurized Milk provided the definition of such designation is filed with and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 117, Printer's No. 126, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 130, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 2, 1919 (P. L. 521) entitled "Transfer Inheritance Tax Law" changing the tax rate on property transferred to brothers or sisters.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the onstitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be remiss in my duty if I did not bring to the attention of the Senate the position of the department in regard to this bill. Their position is that they are against this measure because it would be a loss of revenue.

This matter is one of basic philosophy; whether we believe that a person's estate, once he has ceased to exist and there is no one to participate in it after a certain degree of bloodline, should then revert back to the State, and whether the benefits that that person had during his lifetime and the use of those assets should then go back to the State. It might well be that this is a very narrow point of view and maybe not a correct point of view.

The other side of this bill is whether a person who has gained or amassed any kind of assets during his lifetime—and the law prevents him from moving these assets along the line of the people that he now knows are living—should be allowed to continue that line by increasing the number of persons who can inherit, so that the State is prevented from sharing in these assets until all these people have been exhausted. If you believe in this philosophy, then you would have to vote for this bill.

The position of the department is that they take the further view that they feel this money should revert to the State. It also becomes the philosophy of whether you feel that the State should bear or have any interest in a person's estate or assets.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would like to state for the Senate that the position of the department is that they are opposed to this matter as a revenue loss.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I think that Senator Weiner must have these bills mixed up, because this bill provides for a reduction from fifteen per cent to ten per cent in inheritance taxes by brothers and sisters. The present rate on direct heirs—that is, children and parents—is two percent and the other class of heirs, collateral heirs, is fifteen per cent. All this bill would do is to lower the rate from fifteen per cent to ten per cent on brothers and sisters and put them in a closer class of relationship than cousins, second cousins, uncles and aunts. That is all it would do.

I do not think it would cost the State much money at all. However, I do think that it is a good bill. This bill has been recommended to me by lawyers who saw a great injustice by brothers and sisters, families that are close together, being charged fifteen per cent tax when their own children and so on are taxed two per cent. The brothers and sisters were put in the same class with cousins, uncles and aunts.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, most of us were Members of this Senate when not so long ago the inheritance tax rates were per cent for direct heirs and five per cent for collateral heirs. Of course, in the desire to obtain greater revenue, we passed legislation raising collateral heirs to fifteen per cent.

There is no question that under this bill there will be some loss of revenue. However, I think that we, as Legislators, should draw a distinction between heirs who are not closely related and brothers and sisters. I feel that this reduction from fifteen to ten per cent is reasonable, and will meet with the approval of common sense and decency and allow brothers and sisters to feel that they are not in the same position as total strangers under a will.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, we, on our side, thought this was a pretty good bill and we have approved it for passage. However, I notice that the sponsors are all Members of the other side and if they care to oppose the bill, we have no objection but we feel that it is a good bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye".

However, the purpose of the bill is a very good one, and there is no reason in the world why we should hold it up here simply because that bill has not been reported from committee in the House.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, responsibility on our highways and highway safety is of paramount importance to elected public officials, those who have the duty of policing our highways, appointed officials, insurance companies who must pay for highway mistakes, and the much larger group, all highway users. It must receive the complete and unbiased consideration of all. Nowadays so many of our citizens use this highly developed means of transportation that those affected include every home and individual.

To achieve better highway safety and highway responsibility there must, therefore, be a comprehensive program and the problem of the irresponsible motorist must be met by specific measures, rules and regulations for the protection of all. Recently, three large insurance company associations composed of 532 insurers, which write about eighty per cent of the automobile liability insurance in the United States, advanced a program for better highway safety outlining nine phases or categories. These were: (1) more effective endorsment of motor vehicle laws, (2) chemical tests for intoxication, (3) no-fix traffic tickets, (4) point system of driver control, (5) driver education, (6) tighter licensing requirements for youthful drivers, (7) re-examination of drivers, (8) pedestrian controls, (9) sanctions on habitual users of alcohol or narcotics. Their second suggestion was in the field of more financial responsibility.

For some reason or other, here in our State much ado has been made about the use of radar and some have been most vocal in endorsing legislation to legalize it. Also, much misinformation has been broadcast regarding it and what might be accomplished by its use. Some uninformed hail it as a cure-all for everything.

According to Dr. Kopper, of Johns Hopkins University, of Baltimore, Maryland: "Radar is a radiating phenomenon. It is a disturbance of some kind. Nobody knows exactly what it is. It seems satisfactory to think of light and radar waves, referred to as microwaves, as ripples of some sort which pass through space and travel at an extremely high speed."

Radar, which is the commercial or common name for returning these electronic cycles, is a marvelous and very useful invention. It was developed into modern use during World War II, and as a defense instrument it has had no equal in the annals of warfare. It is used as an alerter or notifier of the position, action or contemplated action of the enemy. Already thousands of living persons, both serving in the military and otherwise, can attribute their lives to the use of this invention.

It has had another very useful area in modern air travel. Now airplanes have speeded up their course of travel through the use of jet engines and different fuels and with crowded airways existing today, many, many more accidents would undoubtedly occur were it not for radar, especially since air travel has indeed become very popular. Then, too, in bad weather radar is a big help in guiding and controlling these airships. This instrument is also used on the high seas, but it was only recently that the fault of radar was demonstrated in the collision of two rather large ships.

Radar has also been used to a limited extent in weather predictions. While these uses are quite accepted and of proven value, the use of radar in speed traps is something quite different. It is authorized, according to reports, in about half of the States. How many States actually use it in speed trapping is a matter of conjecture. It appears, after rather large investments in equipment, many States have abandoned it in speed trap use and their expensive machines are now counting devices. As stated before, the use of radar is comparatively new, and particularly as an instrument for speed trapping, it is quite unproven. A safe statement, I think, is that its uses have not been generally accepted by fair-minded enforcement officers or officials in police work.

Radar is advocated by three groups of people. First, those who are uninformed regarding its difficult use and different ramifications as well as unsatisfactory results. Second, those who will personally benefit by adopting radar, and this class, I sincerely hope, will indeed not be large. The third class are those who might wish to take some unfair advantage or to sneak up on their victims. Some use the term, "stalking their prey."

The explosive growth of motor vehicle use has, by all standards, been a major challenge to highway safety. This problem has received the best thinking, study and consideration on the part of many experts engaged in the field of safety.

Soon after the passage of the Federal Highway Act of 1956, the Secretary of Commerce was directed to make a complete and full investigation and study as to what the Federal Government should do in highway safety. This is only one of the many, many studies authorized by interested and concerned public officials, as well as insurance companies who pay dearly for highway accidents. For example, the National Safety Council estimated the cost of motor vehicle accidents in 1958 at seven and one-quarter billion dollars. In 1957, this economic loss amounted to $116 for every motor vehicle registered. However, the great loss resulted in injuries or fatalities to humans, including the loss of productive time and suffering.

From an unbiased summary of a study made by that widely known and highly reputable organization known as the American Automobile Association, published recently, I will quote briefly because I think this information is indeed important and pertinent to the entire problem of highway safety:

> "Because of its complexity, the traffic accident problem has not been well understood, nor has there been an efficient approach to its solution. Even so, commendable progress in highway safety has been made, but a very substantial task still remains.
> "Officials, highway users, automotive, insurance and other groups urgently need to reach closer agreement on their respective objectives and obligations—and to decide to what extent they will share in a comprehensive, co-ordinated highway safety plan of their own devising.
> "An important fact to keep in mind is that three-fourths of the adult population are now licensed drivers—some 82 million of them. Of the entire United States population, 36 per cent were licensed drivers in 1940; 47 per cent in 1958.
> "There are 68 million motor vehicles registered; more than twice as many as in 1940.
> "Each of these vehicles is driven about 10,000 miles per year; about the same as in 1940. Total highway travel more than doubled between 1940 and 1958, and an additional 70 per cent is predicted for 1975.
> "In 1940, about 35,000 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents, while in 1958 it is estimated that 37,000 were killed. Traffic increased so greatly, however, that the death rate dropped sharply from 11.4 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles in 1940 to an all-time low of 5.6 in 1958.
> "Encouraging progress has been and is being achieved in traffic accident reduction. The Highway Safety movement is a highly dynamic force for good in the nation's welfare."

Now let us review some of their conclusion:

> "The field studies were conducted on 35 sections of road, typical of main rural highways totaling 600 miles in length. Of these sections, 27 were on two-lane highways, with average traffic volumes varying from 1,000 to 8,000 vehicles per day. The remaining 8 sections were on four-lane highways, with average traffic volumes ranging from 5,000 to 24,000 vehicles per day.
> "General scope of the Data: The study covered 3.7 billion vehicle-miles of travel by 290,000 drivers, and of accidents involving 10,000 vehicles.
> "The driving conditions on the 600 miles of highway sections in the eleven states studied are typical of those existing on most main highways throughout the United States.
> "Accident Involvement Rate: A unit of measurement called the accident involvement rate was devised for evaluation of this study. An accident involvement is one driver or one vehicle involved in one accident. The accident involvement rate is the number of involvements that occur for every 100 million miles of highway travel.
> "Results from the Preliminary Analysis: Speed and accident involvement: Night and day SPEEDS ON MAIN RURAL HIGHWAYS WERE ABOUT THE SAME. Average speeds ranged from about 42 to 59 miles per hour.
> "Drivers traveling at speeds below 40 miles per hour were involved in accidents at a rate several times higher than that of drivers traveling at higher speeds.
> "Daytime involvement rate was lowest for speeds between 55 and 70 miles per hour and increased at the higher speeds.
> "Speed and Severity of Accidents: The higher the speed, the more severe the accident. Excessively high speeds were revealed as a double threat to safety.
> "Injury rate is the lowest at speeds of 45 to 70 miles per hour. Injury rate increased sharply above 75 and below 40 miles per hour."

Parallel information comes from such publications as Newsweek for March 16, 1959, which reads in part:

> "The safest speed on the country's Highways? Is 75 mph a dangerous speed? Not especially. The rate of accidents at 40 mph is higher.
> "What if you slow down to 55 mph Surprisingly, the lowest accident rate occurs at about 65 mph. There are three times as many accidents at 40 as at 65.
> "Will slow driving avoid accidents? Don't bank on it—the most dangerous speed is 35 or less. Most accidents occur not at high speeds, but at low speeds, and as an example, there are six times as many accidents at 35 mph as there are at 65 mph. In fact, so far as avoiding an accident is concerned, the driver is safer at 65 mph than at any other speed."

So much for brief details regarding the misconception that I believe quite generally exists regarding speed. Let us return to our discussion on radar speed traps.

Two years ago, we received a radar bill from the House of Representatives only a few days before adjournment, barely enough time to pass it and certainly not sufficient time to give it proper consideration. Mr. O. D. Shipley, then, as now, Director of Highway Safety, was a strong advocate of enacting this bill to create radar speed traps.

At this point, Mr. President, it might be well for us to take note of Mr. Shipley's keen interest in radar legislation. Certainly, I am not alleging that at that particular time Mr. Shipley was a field representative or a salesman of radar machines. However, it might be well to put on the record a letter, a copy of which I read and offer for the record. It is dated December 23, 1955, and the heading is:

> "Automatic Signal Division
> "Reading Speedometer Service Company
> "Reading, Pennsylvania
> "Dear Mr. LeFata:
> "In connection with your recent letter, we are pleased to refer you to Radar Safety Supply of Emigsville,'—York County—' Pennsylvania, who are our Sales Representatives in eastern Pennsylvania. We are sure that their Mr. O. D. Shipley will be glad to furnish you all available information along the lines of your interest. Enclosed to our Bulletin R-102.
> "With appreciation of your interest,

"Very truly yours,
"Automatic Signal Division,
"P. L. Green, Sales Manager"

Let us keep the record straight, Mr. President. I am not charging that Mr. Shipley was selling radar equipment at the time he was so loud in crticism of our committee two years ago.

At that time, and on occasions since, I have asked him for experience of States now using radar. To date, this information has not been forthcoming. When I did not get the report from Director Shipley, we wrote to some fifteen States. Six states have given us a report.

The North Carolina Highway Department said in part:

". . . This Department has a small number of early model radar speed checking devices—however, they have been used very little as we find the 'speed-watch' is much better for our purpose . . ."

Connecticut Department of tSate Police said, in part:

". . . We pioneered the first adaptation of radar to Motor Vehicle law enforcement. We have not used radar as a principal enforcement arm, but to confirm or deny complaints as to speed areas and for survey work, etc. In view of the fact that the State is not blanketed with radar installations, there is no possible way to advise any proper comparison of fatality experience or attribute any downward trend in fatalities to the use of this device . . ."

The California Highway Patrol:

". . . An Act of the Legislature prohibits use of speed traps, and therefore, we cannot use radar . . ."

Virginia said:

". . . The 1954 Session authorized use of radar . . ."

Note: Virginia traffic deaths increased 7% plus after radar was legalized for no known reason. In 1956, their fatality rate was 5.7; in 1957, it advanced to 6.1 per one hundred million miles traveled.

New Jersey gave a rather favorable report which came from T. J. Forkin, Major of their Law Enforcement Agency. The report was typewritten, but was not signed. Florida reported that it was "not legal to use radar" in that State.

Here are some of the conclusions or areas of doubt drawn from the rather complete testimony of Dr. Kopper, earlier referred to:

1. At the very best, there is confusion as to what car re-reflected the radar microwaves. According to Doctor Kopper: ". . . the frequency of the transmitter, or sender, of the radar speed meter is 2,455,000,000 cycles per second . . ."

2. Machine reading varies as to the atmosphere. Comment: In other words, the reading would be different at the bottom of a hill and at the top of a hill. Again, it would vary with the weather, wet or dry.

3. Radar microwaves are returned or reflected accurately when meeting four square feet of reflector surface, at right angles to machine.

4. Time of day affects the machine. Morning, heavy atmosphere; noon, lighter atmosphere because it is drier.

5. Machine must be adjusted for each operation or setting, and to be accurate, needs to be completely inspected every thirty days.

6. The angle of the automobile and the radar machine influence the reading as does the distance of the car.

7. Vibrations such as rattling of keys or other loose instruments, including blowing leaves, flight of a bumble bee, a running dog, or a flock of birds will momentarily actuate the machine, reflect, or kill the energy waves. Radio resistance, such as tin foil or aluminum foil on the bumper or other outside surfaces have been successfully used to mislead the reading.

8. Condition of the battery: A strong battery in the morning may not be a strong battery at midday or the evening. More particularly is this true of a battery that has been used for some weeks.

9. All connections must be good. If a wire, while in the process of being connected, were to fall to the wet ground, it would affect the machine unless dried by a flame.

10. Machine must be warmed up for at lease thirty minutes.

11. The training of the operator is very important as well as the knack of the operator to manipulate electronic machines.

One radar machine sells for between $1,750 and $1,800. This does not include other auxiliary costs, such as the station wagon and built-in carrying equipment.

In conclusion, Mr. President, let us touch on a most un-American practice which has apparently developed where radar is legalized. To illustrate this actual happening: On a February Sunday morning between 8:30 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. in a Virginia town, the double line of cars going south stopped at a traffic light. Immediately, a uniformed officer steps from the curb and proceeds to walk up between the two lines of cars. He picks out certain cars and informs the driver he should pull to the right side within the next block. When he completes his tour, his companion, operating the traffic light manually, clears the light for traffic.

As the tagged cars group to the side, the six or eight selected were ordered to follow the police car to a minor judiciary's office. On arrival, they discover that only out-of-State cars make up the group.

Now, the office explains that no one is to be fined. All that is to happen is each will deposit $23.60 and one week from next Thursday, each will have his day in court. What were the charges? Exceeding the speed limit as determined by radar. Where? No answer. Where was the radar speed trap set up? No answer. The only answer, "We permit no argument. Come back Thursday a week, and the trial officer will hear you. In the meantime, deposit your $23.60."

I submit this is not an isolated case. States report that nine out of ten radar arrests are on out-of-State motorists. The reporting officers may wish to create the impression that out-of-Staters are the ones who violate. My conclusion, and I believe your conclusion as well, is that they prey on visiting motorists.

None of us want to see unfair practices of this kind in Pennsylvania. We admire our State Police and generally the municipal police forces are good, if not excellent. They are not asking for the privilege of operating radar speed traps. They are not asking us to spend rather large sums for machines which have not proved their practical use.

Police forces, public officials everywhere, and every Member of the House of Representatives and the Senate of Pennsylvania want to prevent every possible accident, especially the fatal ones. We are proud of our rapidly improving record during the past two decades and anxious to do everything possible to continue this improvement.

Despite predominant evidence against the use of radar, any radar bill, if referred to the Highways Committee, will receive consideration.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Would you explain just what you mean by the word "entrapment"?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am unable to follow the debate because I am unable to hear it. I am wondering if the gentleman from Blair would use the microphone.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, will please use the microphone and address his questions to the Chair.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, what he means by the word "entrapment."

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not recall using the word "entrapment." I did, however, use the words "speed trap."

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, one faculty I still have, and one which I think is good, is my hearing. I think the gentleman did use the word "entrapment."

I wonder whether the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, would consider doing away with the policing of our streets at night in all of our localities so we could apprehend those who would commit crimes.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly would not advocate any move of that kind. After talking here at some length about safety on the highways, I would not advocate any move of that kind.

I would like to say to the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery, that I am in favor of every sound safety measure that can be advocated by anyone who can prove his case.

The PRESIDENT. Then you are not advocating at this time the removal of police officers from the highways?

Mr. WADE. I certainly am not, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. The fact is that there have been more people killed on our highways than in any war in which this Country has been engaged, in a comparable period of time. I, for one, believe we should do everything possible to prevent this traveling over our highways at a rate of 100 or 150 miles per hour.

I do not know how many young people have been killed in my Senatorial District. Police have been injured in trying to follow those people who travel at such speeds. It is unfair to our police on the Pennsylvania Turnpike to expect them, in order to apprehend someone traveling that fast, to travel faster. I think it is high time that we quit coddling with this matter of death on our highways and give it serious consideration. I am no expert on radar, but I think we should give serious consideration to everything that we can do to prevent and stop this laughter on our highways and not be coddling with this matter.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, first, I want to congratulate Senator Wade on his wonderful speech. It indicates to me, from the subject matter contained in it and all the statistics, that someone must have been burning the midnight oil. The amusing part about his speech is that I figure Senator Wade has made nineteen strong points against the use of radar and then, in his last paragraph, he said:

"Despite predominant evidence against the use of radar, any radar bill, if referred to the Highways Committee, will receive consideration."

I imagine it will be considered all right. It will be considered on the nineteenth hole.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, unfortunately, I did not get to hear all of Senator Wade's speech. However, I know he was out on the husking last year for the Republican Party and preaching what it stood for. He said that it stood for the use of radar in its platform, the same as the Democratic Party did.

I think if people are going to listen to either one of the major political parties, it is about time that we keep our promises to them in the platforms which we put before them in the General Election years.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to know whether Mr. Shipley is going on a tour of the forty-eight States in order to obtain this information that Senator Wade requested.

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President. I did not collect any information or statistics from Mr. Shipley.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would suggest that Mr. Shipley be sent on a tour of the forty-eight States, and take his time in gathering some information. I know then I would be satisfied.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that is an excellent suggestion. I hope they send Mr. Shipley and not hurry him in returning. May I suggest that when Senator Mullin introduces that resolution, he provides for one year in each of the fifty States?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, from the reports I have had, there are a few Members on the other side of the aisle who would very much like to see Mr. Shipley take that tour; not for one year, but for five years.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 21, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:09 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, April 21, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 20, 1959

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Jesse R. Houk, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, West Middlesex, Mercer County, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain and guest of the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Willard, offered the following prayer:

Mr. RUDISILL IN THE CHAIR

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. O'DELL and BLAIR.
RESOLUTION No. 58.

April 20, 1959.

Pennsylvania, workshop of the world, is the producer of nearly every manufactured item needed in the conduct of home, business, and government. The Commonwealth's economy and government is dependent upon the success of Pennsylvania industry.

Industrial success depends upon securing markets for products. The people of Pennsylvania, and certainly their State government, should act wherever possible to improve the market for Pennsylvania products.

A major product is paper. As representatives of Erie County, home of fine Hammermill Bond Paper, we note with concern that Pennsylvania tax dollars are being spent to purchase the paper products of out-of-state concerns. An example of this disparaging practice is the stationery being furnished to the House of Representatives.

We believe that Pennsylvania paper, and all other good products made by Pennsylvania, should be given priority by our Commonwealth's government. Therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth hereby urge the Governor to instruct the Director of Purchasing, Department of Property and Supplies, to give special consideration to Pennsylvania producers who supply tax dollars to the Commonwealth and its Communities, and who provide jobs for Pennsylvania workers.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. LOPRESTI, RUDISILL, BOWMAN and A. H. JOHNSON. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 59.

In the House of Representatives, April 15, 1959.

There is widespread dissatisfaction in this Commonwealth with the present laws relating to the condemnation of private property for public purposes and with the procedure in effect thereunder for determining the amount of damages to be awarded in connection with such takings. This dissatisfaction is increasing because of highway extension programs, suburban expansion, urban redevelopment municipal growth and public authority activities. It has been heightened further because of the lack of uniformity in law and procedure as evidenced in the multifarious laws under which the various condemnors in this State must now act. The courts have been handicapped in developing satisfactory procedures to aid in arriving at substantial justice between the parties involved because of these statutory variances and because of judicial precedents which originated largely during the agrarian period of the Commonwealth's history and which fail to take into consideration the problems created by a changing economy, the expanding population and a revised concept of what constitutes public use.

A thorough and exhaustive study of all statutes on the subject of eminent domain now in force in this Commonnwealth should be made, and, in addition, comparable legislation of other states should be examined, for the purposes of:

(1) Developing a single procedure, if possible, to provide for a determination of compensation to be paid in all cases regardless of the identity of the condemnor;

(2) Providing for the use of court-appointed appraisers, but permitting the parties to offer additional testimony if they so desire;

(3) Providing for payment to condemnors and other interested parties of a percentage of the value of the property taken, as determined by the court-appointed appraisers, within a definite period of time following the filing of their appraisal report in court;

(4) Developing a more workable and modern definition of "just compensation" which shall be applicable to all condemnors alike;

(5) Defining "time of taking" so that it shall be uniform in practice for all condemnors;

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the Members, in most areas of the Commonwealth daylight saving time will go into effect this coming Sunday, April 26th.

The House will convene on Monday at 3:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, which will be 4:30 p. m. Daylight Saving Time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Resolution No. 48, Serial No. 53, provides for a committee composed of the House and Senate to investigate the personnel administration policies of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

I personally saw and heard a member of the public being hit, grabbed, shoved and cursed by a uniformed toll collector on the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the Valley Forge intersection.

I am wondering just how often such mistreatment is perpetrated upon the members of the public that no one in this General Assembly ever sees or hears about.

These uniformed tolll collectors are often the only persons that tourists come in contact with as they pass through portions of this state, and tourists may often judge this Commonwealth by the conduct of these uniformed toll collectors.

I say to you that as long as I can stand on the floor of this House, I will, and am demanding now that no member of the public shall be mistreated as I have seen this Philadelphia Inquirer newspaper boy mistreated by a strong-arm agent of this Commonwealth.

The public has a legal right to lawful and courteous treatment by all agents and servants of this Commonwealth without strong-arm tactics, and this General Assembly has a duty upon it to see that these public rights are granted fully to the people from the people's Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This resolution has been in the Rules Committee of this House for at least two weeks. Why does not this resolution come to the floor of this House for adoption? What is the Lawrence Administration trying to cover up? Bring this resolution to the floor of this House so that we can get started to lift the lid off.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Game and Conservation has custody of House Bill No. 324 which is the Air Pollution Bill. We will hold a public hearing on this bill Tuesday, May 5, at 9:00 a. m. DST. This is to inform the Members of this House that they are welcome to attend and to take part in the proceedings of that hearing.

Also, I would like here and now to issue an invitation to any groups, individuals, organizations or industries which might possibly be concerned with this bill to be present to make any particular statements which they might wish to make regarding the legislation.

The meeting will be held in the new House Caucus room downstairs on the first floor of the Capitol Building. That is at 9:00 a. m., Tuesday, May 5, which is two weeks from tomorrow.

INTERROGATION

Mr. Goldstein asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Comer, Chairman of the Committee on Highways.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, on March 2, 1959, House bill No. 317, known as the anti-billboard bill, was recommitted to the Committee on Highways for the purpose of amendment. What action has been taken in reference to these amendments to date?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, we are still working on amendments to the bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman pinpoint the amendments you are discussing and working on?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, one part of the bill pertains to distance off the roadway. At the present time the federal interstate bill calls for 660 feet.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is the Chairman of the Committee on Highways concerned about the effect of the bill upon billboards in city areas?

Mr. COMER. We are concerned about all areas, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the gentleman is in order in questioning the Chairman of a Committee regarding a bill which has been recommitted to him, and has not been reported out of that Committee?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order to interrogate the Chairman of the Highways Committee, but the Chairman of the Highways Committee is not privileged in his answers to inform the gentleman of what has taken place in the Committee room.

The gentlemen will proceed.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the Federal bill, which is the basis of the state bill, provides that billboards within urban areas can be excluded from the state bill?

Mr. COMER. To the best of my knowledge, no.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

More than six weeks ago this bill was recommitted to the Committee on Highways for the purpose of amendment.

I just inquired from the Chairman of the Committee on Highways if one of his concerns was the possibility that the bill might apply to urban and rural areas where billboards are now in existence.

I call to his attention the following language from the Federal statute which will solve his problem whereby he can call his Committee meeting and have the bill amended and meet with Federal and State laws, which reads as follows:

> "Upon application of the State, any such agreement may, within the discretion of the Secretary of Commerce, consistent with the national policy, provide for excluding from application of the national standards segments of the Interstate System which traverse incorporated municipalities wherein the use of real property adjacent to the Interstate System is subject to municipal regulation or control, or which traverse other areas where the land use is clearly established by State law as industrial or commercial, and any such segment excluded from the application of such standards shall not be considered in computing the increase of the Federal share payable on account thereof."

This provision in the Act of Congress merely means that if billboards exist in the city of Philadelphia or any other areas which are commercial or urban in character, they can be excluded from our particular bill.

All I have to say about this matter is this: The anti-billboard bill has received the advocacy of Governor David L. Lawrence; it has received the approval of the Secretary of Highways, Park H. Martin. The record shows that it was recommitted with a vote of every Democrat except one.

I now ask the Members on the other side, are they giving lip service to the Governor or are they going to stand behind him in this type of legislation?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COMER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to suggest to Mr. Goldstein that if he has any amendments pertaining to House bill 317, I would be only too happy if he would submit them to my Committee, and we will give them every consideration.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. This bill has been recommitted. I ask the Parliamentary inquiry:

Where a bill has been recommitted, can a discharge resolution be introduced after fifteen days?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In reply, under Rule 34 of the House, a Committee may be discharged from the consideration of a bill, or resolution, fifteen days after the day on which it was referred.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mrs. Varallo for Mr. HOLT for today because of illness.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House who has an announcement to make.

The SECRETARY OF THE HOUSE (Paul C. Moomaw). The Department of Property and Supplies has now completed the new parking lots at the rear of the Capitol. All Members, on legislative days, when arriving and finding no space available on the front plaza should then go to the rear of the Capitol to the new parking lot.

I might advise that Members coming in late in the afternoon from the east, over route 22, can come directly into the lot if they so desire.

RESOLUTION

MR. LOPRESTI offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair simply wishes to state that it has always been keenly aware of the beauty and grace and especially the charm of the lady Members of this House, and the courtliness and graciousness of the gentlemen of the House, but it has never been more apparent than it has been from this vantage place this afternoon.

The Chair thanks the lovely ladies and the gracious gentlemen for their cooperation and, of course, thanks the Parlimentarian for his patience. The bad feature of that is this—that my left ear is the bad one.

The Chair also thanks the Speaker of the House for his courtesy.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethern Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Incline Thine ear unto us, our Heavenly Father, and hear the prayer which we offer unto Thee this day. May we always realize that we are Thy children and that nothing can separate us from Thee. Thou hast made us and not we, ourselves. We pray for Thy eternal blessing, that we may be kept in health and strength to serve our State and do Thy Holy will.

By a faithful use of our abilities and privileges, may we fulfill in our daily walk those duties which are: "To do justly, love mercy and walk humbly before our God."

Sustain us by Thy love and grace, which can be the secret of strength. Let us be still in these moments of prayer and come to know that Thou art God. Let us accept Thy guidance for this day and every day. In the Master's Name we pray, Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in my opinion, the bill which I am about to introduce, on behalf of Senator Sarraf and myself, is long overdue in Pennsylvania. It has been on the statute books of the State of New York for a long time. It deals with the safety of the public, who patronize restaurants and other places of public gatherings.

In many instances, Mr. President, the restaurants are so overcrowded that, God forbid, in the case of a fire, a calamity may ensue.

Therefore, Mr. President, this bill provides for regulations whereby each room in each restaurant must exhibit the number of persons who, according to the law, may be seated there in order to eliminate overcrowdedness.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and SARRAF read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 681, entitled:

An Act providing for the safety of persons assembled in certain buildings and imposing powers and duties on the Department of Labor and Industry and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO PROCLAIM A WEEK AS "HEDGEROW THEATRE WEEK"

Mr. WATKINS offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 21, 1959.

The world-wide famed Hedgerow Theatre of Moylan-Rose Valley, Delaware County, Pennsylvania, a nonprofit organization, is observing its 37th birthday on April 21, 1959, and is reactivating the theatre after being closed three years.

Hedgerow Theatre performed repertory continuously for thirty-three years (1923-1956), and was the foremost repertory group in the United States, providing the only genuine repertory operation in this country.

The United States Government, recognizing the cultural value of Hedgerow Theatre, sponsored a State Department film in 1947, entitled "THE HEDGEROW STORY" which was shown throughout Europe under State Department auspicies.

The cultural advantages of Hedgerow Theatre become more important to thoughtful people in times of stress and world crisis as among the more valuable elements of our national heritage; and these are sustained by the work and effort of citizens such as officers, workers and members of the Hedgerow Theatre Corporation, in addition to thousands of partisans and supporters throughout the State of Pennsylvania.

Citizens from all areas of our nation have generously contributed to the fund campaign which has enabled Hedgerow Theatre to again provide the type of non-commercial art theatre for which it has been acclaimed in the past by such notables as George Bernard Shaw, Sean O'Casey, Eugene O'Neill, and international publications; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania respectfully request and urge the Governor of this Commonwealth to proclaim a week as "Hedgerow Theatre Week" in recognition of its internationally known artistic achievements and its value throughout theatrical circles and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Hedgerow Theatre.

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO RECOMMEND THAT APPROPRIATIONS FOR STATE-AIDED HOSPITALS BE INCREASED TEN PER CENTUM

Messrs. KROMER, WHALLEY and WALKER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 24), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 21, 1959.

In his proposed budget for the coming biennium, the Honorable David L. Lawrence is requesting the same amount for State-aided hospitals as was appropriated for the current biennium. This is true in spite of the common knowledge that as the cost of living has increased for individuals, so too the cost of maintainnig our hospitals has increased. Unless the amount now proposed for the maintenance of State-aided hospitals is substantially increased, it will result in a serious impairment of the medical and surgical services rendered to, and the maintenance of, persons entitled to free service who are treated in these hospitals. In the interest of the health and welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth, it is imperative that appropriations to our State-aided hospitals be made in the amount necessary for their continued effective operation therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania respectfully suggests that the Governor in his budget recommend that the appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare for State-aided hospitals be increased ten per centum.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the resolution is a meritorious one and one in which I could hardly join. There is only one problem with this resolution, and that is the age old problem which has faced each and everyone of us in the Commonwealth during our individual lives namely, where do you get the money to do these things?

I would say to the gentlemen who sponsored this resolution, that if they could come up with a program whereby we could obtain the necessary finances to handle this situation, I would be most happy to join in this resolution and ask for its immediate consideration. I would also ask the Governor to act immediately on this proposal.

Not only do the hospitals need more money, but the schools in our Commonwealth need more money. I think that none of us who are sitting in this Chamber today are that old that we do not remember when the total amount of $800,000,000, which is being sought today for education, was the total amount of the Commonwealth's budget. Today, that is only one-half of the total budget that we need.

There is no question in my mind, Mr. President, that the hospitals and other institutions, which are doing fine work, need greater aid. Apparently, the people who ask for more help for hospitals and other institutions do not want to talk to the people who are seeking more money. They do not talk with each other they talk to us. We are more or less the by-product of both of these groups. I think the group seeking more money should talk to the people who will vote for taxes. Many of these people say: "We like taxes, but do not tax me." If the two groups would get together, I think our problems would be solved and we would not have to sit here and wonder and worry about where we are going to make up these deficits which face us every year.

I would respectfully suggest, Mr. President, that this resolution be referred to committee for further study. If we can obtain more finances, I would be most anxious to become one of the sponsors of this resolution and see that the Governor acts favorably upon it.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Weiner, are you objecting to the immediate consideration of this resolution?

Mr. WEINER. I am, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution, therefore, is referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 498, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 31, 1955 (P. L. 531) entitled "Pennsylvania Athletic Code" abolishing the State Athletic Commission designating a deputy of the Department of State appointed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the State Athletic Commissioner providing for the use of employes of the Department of State to perform duties heretofore performed by the State Athletic Commission and authorizing use of Pennsylvania State Police for investigation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks on this bill.

Lately, we have been talking about one kind of a bill which was passed last week, and that is taxes. This bill today is a different kind of bill. This is saving. This bill will save $100,000 for the people of Pennsylvania, and still retain all of the benefits of the present Athletic Commission.

Now in Pennsylvania, we have three commissioners. We have three offices in three different cities. We have three secretaries and I feel that these are absolutely unnecessary. That is the reason I sponsored this bill. Under this bill, there will be one commissioner who will be a deputy in State Government. He can operate from Harrisburg and eliminate all these other offices.

This is not new. The State of New Jersey has one commissioner; the State of Massachusetts has one commissioner; the State of Connecticut has one commissioner; and the State of New York, where all the boxing fights originate, has one commissioner. This is not a new bill. This is something which is being done in other States of the Union and our surrounding States.

There is one thing we can do, which is as they do in New York. They have one paid commissioner and he has the right to supplement his office by having unpaid commissioners throughout the State who are interested in boxing. That is one of the ways they do it in New York.

Just to show you how boxing has fallen off financially in the State of Pennsylvania, years ago, back in 1923, there was a bill passed providing that the profits of the Boxing Commission were to be used to buy markers for the graves of Pennsylvania soldiers who died in service in the First World War. Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars was spent on these markers as a result of the profits which were made from boxing in the State of Pennsylvania. Also, up until eight years ago, every year the Boxing Commission took in more money than they spent. Some people are going to say that it is not the purpose of the Commission to make a profit; its purpose is to regulate. I admit that, but it still should make a profit if there is a profit to be made.

Just as an indication of how boxing has fallen off, in the biennium 1953-1955, the total income was $98,308. In 1955-1957, the income dropped from $98,308 down to $35,000. In two years the income dropped. In the meantime, for 1957-1959, the appropriation was $141,000 and in 1955-1957, $149,000. We have been losing money every year since we have had this Boxing Commission for the last eight years. Therefore, I say this Commission is unnecessary.

One thing which we want to do is save some money. How can we do it? The amateur shows are one thing the Commission has been trying to control. Anyone trying to put on an amateur show must get permission from the amateurs' union, and they must get a license so the amateurs' union can operate that kind of a show. Then they operate wrestling. Wrestling is just nothing but an act. We should not give any indication that it is legitimate by the Athletic Commission supporting it or checking on it. We should not take care of a wrestling show any more than we should take care of a burlesque show, because if you saw the one I saw the other night on television in Washington where Tony Galento was the referee, it was the greatest farce that I have ever seen. Therefore, I say the Commission should let wrestling go by itself and let the police powers of the city or town in which they are having a show take care of their burlesque show.

One of the most honest men on the Commission, Jim Crowley, the chairman, has made the statement that boxing is in the doldrums and he is right, one hundred per cent.

Why should we have a Commission which has nothing to do? He definitely said it is in the doldrums, and he has only had a few shows in his area, we know.

Governor Lawrence also admits that boxing is in a bad way. He said to a friend: "Why is it we cannot get boxing in the State of Pennsylvania? We cannot even get the Golden Gloves in Pittsburgh." Then he said, according to the newspapers, that if this bill would go through, he would veto it. He knows it is in the doldrums and he knows we are not having any boxing exhibitions. Are we operating here as a Senate and a Legislature, or are we being operated from the front office where bills are vetoed before they are passed, or are we going to pass the legislation?

As I said in the beginning, this is a bill to save $100,000. Is it not about time that we start to talk about saving instead of spending?

How is that boy who goes to a hot dog stand this week and pays a three and one-half per cent tax on his hot dog going to feel about this waste of $100,000, after you passed a bill last week levying a three and one-half per cent sales tax? Would he be for this bill? Also, there is the old fellow who is sitting before his television set and while he is watching a show being televised from New York State, where they have one commissioner, something happens to the set. He must call a serviceman. He then pays a three and one-half per cent tax to have his television set repaired. Will this man be for this bill? Yes, he will want to save the $100,000, because the bill which was passed last week was the first bill ever passed by the State of Pennsylvania—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, are we debating the tax bill or the boxing bill?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this point, Senator Weiner, we are debating Senate Bill No. 498 which deals with boxing.

Mr. CONFAIR. It also deals with saving money, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I respectfully suggest to the gentleman who is now speaking on this bill, Senator Confair, that his remarks be confined to that part of the debate. If he wants to discuss the tax bill, I will be very happy to debate that issue with him under Petitions and Remonstrances.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair requests Senator Confair to adhere to the limitations of the bill.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I am adhering to the limitations of the bill from the angle that we are going to save $100,000. I am not talking about the tax bill when I speak about saving $100,000. That is part of the bill, is it not?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Confair, will proceed.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, what is the man going to think who must pay taxes and double taxation on automobiles? Is he going to favor this bill? He does not want to pay more taxes.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise again to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we are not debating the tax bill. If the gentleman wants to talk about pop taxes, car trade-ins or other problems of that type, I will be very happy to discuss the matter with him. However, I will not discuss it at this moment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair must inform Senator Confair that he is out of order and requests that he confine his remarks and debate to the bill.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I will be glad to confine my remarks to the bill which is intended to save the people of Pennsylvania $100,000. I will be glad to do that.

I am about finished with my remarks, Mr. President. There is only one question which you have to vote on today and that is the question, are we going to save the people of this Commonwealth some money or are we going to keep people in this office for political purposes? There is no need for the Boxing Commission. This bill is a good bill, and every man in this Senate should vote for this bill if he is in favor of saving money for the people of this Commonwealth. Let us try to save something instead of spending all the time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to bring to the gentleman's attention just how the Boxing Commission came about.

In 1923, the McBride Act, which subsequently revised as the State Athletic Code in 1955, brought about the three members of this Commission. The purpose for the three members was not something which somebody dreamed up or decided arbitrarily, but it came about in this fashion. They divided the State into three parts and they assigned a Commissioner to each one of these regions or parts of the State.

Senator Confair talked about saving money. Let me point out to him that if he had a deputy to take care of this particular problem, this deputy, who under the bill would be housed in Harisburg, could not possibly cover the State alone and he would, therefore, have to have assistants. All of his assistants would be paid and would travel up and down the length and breadth of this State and charge the State for their traveling and necessary expenses, plus the amount of money they would receive as a stipend for the work which they would do for the Commonwealth.

I would like to point out to the gentleman that recently in Life Magazine, this past week, as a matter of fact,—and I do not think anyone can accuse Life Magazine of being an organ of the Democratic Party—it was stated that Stillman's Gym, one of the main institutions in the boxing field, was no longer doing the business that it had done even as late as three or four years ago and that the place was empty. As a matter of fact, it was slated to be torn down and either a parking lot built in that area or they were going to erect a building. This is the position that boxing, wrestling and many other sports have fallen into. I think all of us are aware of the fact that sandlot baseball, which we all used to see a great deal of, is not in the same category as it was years ago. As a matter of fact, things have come to such a pass that many of our baseball teams of the duly constituted National and American Leagues, as we know them, are moving on to other areas in order to find more revenue and also people who would be interested as fans to come out and see them and support their teams. Many of the cities which have these teams have been driven to the proposition of doing something about it.

I would think that Senator Confair, who spoke on this matter, would do well to be constructive in this area and try to find a way of perhaps interesting people to take part in this sport. I think he should interest the people of our Commonwealth to enjoy it. Perhaps, in a sense, that would give the Boxing Commission a great deal more to do.

I would just like to point out to Senator Confair that, up until June of this year, there are expected to be held about fifty professional boxing matches. Before the season is ended, in September, there will be about 250 professional boxing and wrestling shows. Many of these shows have been very successful because they have not been called bouts, as we know them. They have been featured as exhibition matches. These exhibition matches have drawn, in small auditoriums, as few as 4,000 people and as many as 10,000 people to witness the event, plus the television rights and radio rights which go with that type of activity.

Mr. President, let us concern ourselves for a moment with the people who make up this Commission. In February 1955, the public was clamoring for a clean up in this sport. As a matter of fact, I believe Senator Confair, one of the aficionados, if I may use the word, of the sport, will remember there was a gentleman, namely, Harold Johnson, who was boxing in the State and who was doped at a match. At that time, the then Governor Leader suspended boxing until this matter was thoroughly investigated and cleared up. Boxing, as a result of this, has been put on a higher plane than it has ever been. The gentlemen who make up this Commission have a national reputation. Take, for example, the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission, Mr. Crowley. He has a reputation in the field of sports that goes back to before his appointment to this Commission. He was Vice-President of the National Boxing Association. Commissioner Sullivan, about whom Senator Confair said some rather unkind things, has acted as a Member of the Legislative Committee of the National Boxing Commission. He was also a member of the Constitutional Revision Committee of the National Boxing Association as recently as last year.

With respect to the boxing activities and the money it has cost in this State, let us concern ourselves for a moment about this charge made by Senator Confair. I would like to point out that in the last biennium, this Commission turned back to the State $13,000 of unexpended funds. I can give the exact figures, should Senator Confair care to have it. This sport has occurred in a bad era. I think our motion picture industry, our television industry and others have depicted this sport as one which is ridden with racketeers, crime, and one which is just on the edge of being a legitimate sport.

If Senator Confair has other problems which are peculiar to his area in regard to this bill, I can be sympathetic to that and I can even understand it. I think it would not be amiss here to mention that there used to be a gentleman on that Commission who lived in the area known as Williamsport. Perhaps, that is part of his problem and maybe he has some ideas and suggestions which probably he cannot get across to the Commission. Therefore, probably, they are using this left-handed means of striking back at a Commission that has been doing a good job.

Nowhere in this discussion have I ever heard Senator Confair or anyone else mention that these people are not honest, that the Commission is not doing a good job or that they are not trying to stay on the job and handle it in a manner which is not only a credit to the State of Pennsylvania, but a credit to them and the entire Commission.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think that this bill is completely unnecessary. I have advised the gentleman that the Governor has publicly stated that he would veto this bill. I think the Governor has a perfect right, as representing the Executive Branch of this Government, to advise the Legislature about what he is or is not interested in and what position he will take on these different matters. By the Governor so doing, we will not do any unnecessary and foolish things which would result in a lot of wasted time and money. This is one area where we could save the money of printing the bill, printing it in the Calendar and sending it over to the House, which may or may not act on it as they see fit. If the Governor says he will veto it, I do not believe Senator Confair will be able to obtain the necessary votes to pass this bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I respectfully ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I am glad Senator Weiner spoke about the saving of money, printing the bill and so forth. Saving money is one thing in which I said I was interested.

Senator Weiner spoke about Stillman's Gym and said they were not using it any more because people are not boxing. That is one good reason for our eliminating this Boxing Commission. Boxing has fallen off not only in Pennsylvania, but throughout the Country. I feel we could save a lot of money by eliminating the Pennsylvania

Boxing Commission.

I have a suggestion for Governor Lawrence, also. If he should read the Wall Street Journal of Thursday, April 16, 1959, he will find out what Governor Ribicoff did in Connecticut. He did the same thing which we are suggesting in this bill. He cut the commission down from 120 to sixty in order to save some extra money. He put the Connecticut Boxing Commission in the same kind of a setup which we propose in this bill.

There is no question about my being interested in boxing. I am interested in good boxing. However, there is one thing which I am also interested in and that is saving money. I hope that each and everyone of you who are interested in saving money, and interested in good boxing, will vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just wish to state that this bout was not under the planning or program as outlined by the Boxing Commission. This was completely an exhibition.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 255, Printer's No. 272; and
Senate Bill No. 256, Printer's No. 273.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, yesterday the name of a York Countian was brought into the record and some remarks were made about the gentleman which, to my mind, were uncalled for; at least, the implications left by the remarks were uncalled for. Several people, in speaking to me about the remarks made about Mr. Shipley, described the remarks as a low blow. I am not using that term myself, but I will say that I think the name of Mr. Shipley was left under a cloud, under which it does not deserve to remain.

Yesterday, Senator Wade read a letter which spoke of Mr. Shipley's having been employed by a company which was in the business of selling radar. In his usual chivalrous and gallant manner, he disclaimed any intention of alleging that Mr. Shipley was still employed by that company, but the implication was left that he might well be.

I would like to inform the Senator and all Members of the Senate that this condition is not, in fact, true; that Mr. Shipley it is quite true, was a representative of a company which sold radar prior to his assuming the position of Director of Highway Safety. However, when he accepted that position and before assuming the position which he now holds, Mr. Shipley withdrew entirely from that relationship with that company. I should like to read, at this time, Mr. President, a letter addressed to Mr. Shipley, which read as follows:

"Mr. O. D. Shipley,

"Dear Mike:

"I have your letter of October 3 advising of your appointment as Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the same time advising that you are relinquishing your sales representative arrangement with us. Please accept our congratulations on your appointment. Naturally we understand why it is necessary for you to terminate your sales arrangement with us and are entering the cancellation of the Agreement as of October 1, 1956.

"There are no outstanding accounts between us and the slate is clean. With regard to your mention of Mr. Ring, we would be glad to have him get in touch with us at some future date and discuss a Sales Representative arrangement with him, in which we understand you would not be financially interested directly or indirectly.

"As you know, we very much appreciate your past efforts as a Sales Representative and we wish you every success in your new position."

That letter, Mr. President, is dated October 3. 1956. The letter which was read yesterday by the Senator was dated 1955. I think this establishes clearly that Mr. Shipley, at no time had any connection with any company dealing with radar while he was Director of Highway Safety, and he certainly had no connection with such firms, at any time, in 1957 when Senator Wade alleges that he was an advocate of a bill in favor of radar.

I would like to say further in connection with a remark made by Senator Ehrgood, who seems to be kind of a understudy of Senator Wade these days, that he implied that there might be some Senators who might be unhappy about Mr. Shipley's activities as Director of Highway Safety. That may be so; I do not know. However, I would suggest that it may perhaps be that Mr. Shipley, in the conduct of his offce, found it necessary to see to it that no special considerations were given and that all cases were treated on their merits. If that is the reason, I think this is a tribute to Mr. Shipley for doing a good job in the position to which he has been assigned, because unless whoever holds that position takes that position, this job certainly cannot be done.

I would like to leave one further point with regard to Senator Wade's discussion yesterday. The point was made by Senator Barr, I believe, that the Republican Platform in the last campaign told the people that if the Party were successfully elected, it would advocate the use of radar for highway safety. Senator Wade in dissenting to that, of course had a perfect right to dissent. He does not need to feel bound by the promises made by his party to the voters. As a matter of fact, the ink was hardly dry on an occasion when Senator Wade was campaigning last fall in York County when he did say, quite honestly and frankly, that he disapproved of that particular point in the Platform of the Republican Party. However, I would like to point out to him that it was a Party promise, a Party pledge and, putting his own feelings aside, it seems to me a bit incongruous for a person, in the responsible position of Chairman of the Committee which will consider this legislation, to so deviate from the Party pledge which was made to the people to effectuate this kind of legislation.

One final point which I would like to call to Senator Wade's attention is that apparently there are other people in other States who feel that the use of radar for the control of highway safety has been rather successful. An article was handed to me today from the New York Times of April 19, 1959, which states that Governor Rockefeller, who is the newly elected Republican Governor of New York State, had a bill brought to him in which the Legislature attempted to restrict, to a certain extent, the use of radar by saying in this particular measure that the police would have to post signs warning that the device is being used. New York, I may say, has used radar successfully for some time. When this measure came to the Governor's desk, the Governor vetoed the measure. I would like to read the following excerpt from his veto message.

"In view of the death toll on our highways we cannot afford to view the enforcement of our traffic laws as a contest between drivers and our law enforcement officers."

I submit, Mr. President, that Governor Rockefeller, the new Governor of New York, therefore, takes the position that radar has been an effective instrument and is unwilling to curb its use, which, of course, is contrary to the position taken by the Senator who is Chairman of the Highways Committee.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I am somewhat surprised at the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler. Normally, he listens very intently, and I would hate to accuse him of deliberate misrepresentation of what some other Member of the Senate might say. However, if he will refer back to yesterday's remarks, after a few other Senators had made some remarks I prefaced my remarks by saying there were some Democrats, on the other side of the aisle, who would like to see Mr. Shipley take a long vacation. That does not happen to be my individual feeling on the matter. I certainly cannot understand why a liberal, such a Senator Seyler, would deliberately misconstrue things. I am very disappointed

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, if Senator Ehrgood had listened and if he will examine the record of today, he will find that I, at no time, said that he, Senator Ehrgood, was of this view. I said that he had said that some Senators were probably dissatisfied with the activities of Mr. Shipley. However, I at no time, said that Senator Ehrgood was involved in that view. I urge Senator Ehrgood to check the record so as to clear my "liberal" status.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I, personally, am deeply indebted to Senator Seyler, my esteemed colleague from York, for straightening the record regarding the appointment of Mr. Shipley and the letter which I read into the record yesterday. I think it was perfectly proper that he do so. If I may, and for my own personal protection, I would like to re-read my statements of yesterday. They were, in part, as follows:

"At this point, Mr. President, it might be well for us to take note of Mr. Shipley's keen interest in radar legislation. Certainly, I am not alleging that at that particular time Mr. Shipley was a field representative or a salesman of radar machines. However, it might be well to put on the record a letter, copy of which I read and offer for the record."

The heading of the letter is:

"Automatic Signal Division
"Eastern Industries, Incorporated
"Electromatic Traffic Control

It is dated December 23, 1955, and it reads as follows:

"Reading Speedometer Service Company
"200 Lancaster Avenue
"Reading, Pennsylvania
"Attention: Mr. Peter A. LaFata

"Dear Mr. LaFata:

"In connection with your recent letter, we are pleased to refer you to Radar Safety Supply of Emigsville, Pennsylvania, who are our Sales Representatives in eastern Pennsylvania. We are sure that their Mr. O. D. Shipley will be glad to furnish you all available information along the lines of your interest. Enclosed is our Bulletin R-102.

"With appreciation for your interest,
"Very truly yours,
"Automatic Signal Division
"P. L. Green,
"Sales Manager"

Then, I continued by saying the following:

"Let us keep the record straight, Mr. President. I am not charging that Mr. Shipley was selling radar equipment at that time. He was so loud in criticism of our committee action two years ago."

Mr. President, that is the end of the statement which I made yesterday. However, there is no question about the intense interest of Mr. Shiply when radar legislation was before the committee.

I submit again, which is a matter of public record, that we had but sufficient time for the bill to reach the Committee and if it were reported that same day, to be read three times in accordance with the provisions of our Constitution, and then submitted for a vote by this Senate. Mr. Shipley occupied a seat along the sidelines each and every day and was intensely interested. I would say entirely too much interest was displayed for a matter of that kind. Mr. Shipley was too anxious that our Committee not be given time to consider it. I asked him, in the most polite manner that I knew, to furnish the Committee with information regarding the use of radar. To this date, April 21, 1959, he has not yet done so. Apparently, he has a good bit of the information, which I read into the record yesterday, regarding the unsuccessful operation of radar equipment or radar machines for traffic control in the other States which have pioneered this attempt to help the safety record of our Commonwealth and of the different States in the United States. Mr. Shipley's interest was too intense and it was a matter of a good bit of suspicion among the Members of the Committee.

It is true, too, that Senator Seyler and I were privileged to meet in a joint political meeting. Many of both political parties were present. The audience was excellent. The meeting was held in the fine city of York. Both of us, I think, enjoyed the meeting and we enjoyed the opportunity for a frank and free discussion of all the phases of the political campaign last fall.

Mr. President, I do not recall that the matter of radar was brought up at the meeting. However, since our experience two years ago, I have been constantly gathering information on the use of radar. As I submitted in my remarks yesterday, I tried to bring out all phases and experiences of the other States which use radar. I think it is only right and proper that every Committee of this Senate and every Committee of the House of Representatives should delve into these questions before excessive expenditures occur.

I leave it to you to multiply a figure of perhaps $3,000 for each radar machine in operation. In the first place, the machine costs from $1,700 to $1,800. Then you buy a station wagon and special equipment in order to carry this radar machine. Before you are through, you have a substantial investment. The proposition has been brought up many times, "Well, I would be satisfied to give it to the State Police only." However, I have received from very responsible and respectable lawyers on both sides of the aisle the statement that radar can now be used in Pennsylvania, but the courts will not accept it as evidence. I have checked with a number of attorneys and that is their opinion. They told me that we could now use radar in Pennsylvania, but our courts cannot use it as evidence. If that is true, I submit, gentlemen, the point that you cannot restrict it to any one group. You cannot restrict it to the State Police. You must give all policemen the same privilege if that is correct, if it is a matter of accepting radar as proper evidence in a trial.

Mr. President, I know nothing about the experience which Senator Seyler mentioned regarding the State of New York. The State of New York was requested to submit its experience regarding radar, but has not done so. The request was made some three or four months ago and, therefore, I am satisfied that it is not going to comply with the request. I asked thirteen different States and six replied. Not a single one said, in substance, that they would now adopt radar. That is the most conclusive evidence to me.

I said yesterday, and I repeat again today, that every Member of the Senate and every Member of the House of Representatives, our elected officials and our appointed officials, and every local official is intensely interested in bringing down the fatality rate due to automobile accidents on the highways. That rate is a very creditable one.

We hear a great deal of condemnation about the murder on the highways and about speed is a killer and so forth. However, let me remind you of this one point. In the last twenty years, the fatalities per 100,000,000 miles traveled have dropped from 16 to 5.7. That is taking into consideration that our highway population has doubled. I think that is something to be proud of, rather than stand on this Senate floor time and time again, as many of us are prone to do, and condemn the use of our highways and our drivers. I think it is a most commendable thing that our driving record has been brought down from 16 fatalities per 100,000,000 miles traveled to 5.7. I think that fact is a credit to everyone.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not wish to put a pin in the gentleman's statistics, but suppose someone in his family, a friend of his or somebody he knew well, was one of those included in the 5.7. I think Senator Wade would not be standing here boasting about how wonderful it is.

I think Senator Wade is taking the wrong point of view on this radar situation as being a means of prosecuting or persecuting people. If we can use this radar just to save a single life, whether it be in the form of causing some of these people who travel at a high rate of speed to slow down, or remove them from the highways if they are incapable of driving an automobile, I think it will be worth every cent we will spend toward that cause. How highly do we value a person's life? How do we translate that into dollars and cents? I think all of you will agree with me that we cannot do that. There is no value on such a commodity, because any human being is irreplaceable.

We cannot just sit here and speak about radar as being something which is to be used by the police or some official in hunting or tracking someone down and using it as evidence in court. This is not a matter of crime detection; this is a matter of safety and a matter of putting into practice an ounce of prevention.

Senator Wade went into great detail about Mr. Shipley. I can say to you, and everyone here, that I have had the same problem in my District that everybody else has had, and that is of going to an official who has been given a duty to operate in a certain manner and asking him to modify on that duty. It is very difficult for him to accede to my request, your request and to everybody else's request. Sometimes, we take the attitude that perhaps this is a stiff-necked individual who needs some tempering. I do not think the floor of the Senate is the place to castigate him or anyone else as a means of tempering him. Perhaps he is a little bit inflexible. However, I think if he errs, he errs on the side of trying to keep people alive in this Commonwealth.

I am not happy with the statistic of 16 to 5.7. I would like to see the figure of 5.7 decreased to zero. I think we should use any equipment which is available to make our highways safer. Your lives and my life would become that much safer every time we use the highways; likewise, our friends and families would be safer. I think we should do everything in our power to progress in that area in order for us to say that Pennsylvania now has no traffic fatalities on its highways due to negligence or due to the fact that we have not done everything we possibly could have done to save a human being's life.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Wade, you made a statement that in the past twenty years, fatalities have greatly decreased. I do not recall the exact percentages. You are a man in the insurance business. Will you state why, if fatalities have had such a decrease in traffic accidents in the past twenty years, the insurance rates on automobile insurance have risen so high and companies are now complaining they are losing money on it?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, for the gentleman's information, I am not an insurance man handling casualty insurance. My short forty years in the insurance business was devoted exclusively to the life insurance business. Thank you for this opportunity to put in a plug.

I do not have the answer to your question. However, I can give the Senator, if he will give me a moment, the actual statistics from the United States and from separate States as well.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, it may be that fatalities have gone down according to statistics, but certainly other personal injuries, I do not think, have decreased in the past twenty years.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have had my experiences with Mr. Shipley. He is a very firm official and in my opinion, an ideal official. Placed in such a sensitive position, he must lead the existence of a goldfish; always examined, always exposed to carping criticism. However, I found one thing. Every time an appeal is taken on Mr. Shipley's decision,—and you can take an appeal to the Court of Common Pleas—his position is always the prevailing one. For this reason, I feel that we should be proud of having an official like that administering such a thankless task.

Unfortunately, I am not a member of the Highways Committee. Otherwise, they would accuse me of being an amanuensis of Senator Wade. I hope today's discourse is not a prelude to a new investigation, because Senator Wade is so prone to precipitate investigations.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to remind the gentlemen from Philadelphia that the train leaves at 2:00 o'clock, and I believe a Caucus of the Democratic and Republican Senators is called for 1:30 p. m.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I was one of those yesterday who wished Mr. Shipley would take a vacation and

I do not think that I am alone in thinking that way. There are many of us who think that way. I heard Senator Wade state how the percentage of fatalities has decreased over the years. I, myself, do not think that the activities of people like Mr. Shipley had much to do with it.

I used to drive up this way on Routes 230 and 30, and I had many a close call. Since the Turnpike has been built, I have not had any close calls. We have made the roads safer. We have spent billions of dollars on new roads, new safe highways, and our automobiles are safer. The automobiles today have many safety devices which they never had before.

I have seen the activities of Mr. Shipley. At the present time, he is ruthless and he also has no regard for the consequences of his acts. He is capricious in every thing that he does. I have seen men lose their jobs through the irresponsible punishment which he puts on them. For instance, the statute requires a mandatory suspension for certain acts. Mr. Shipley holds quick hearings and adds six months more to it. That, in my opinion, is arbitrary and capricious. I have seen one man serve his year and go back with his insurance policy to get his license and Mr. Shipley, of his own accord, prevents him from resuming his driving privilege. have that case right in my brief case here. The man, instead of serving a one year suspension, is now serving the greater part of his second year suspension. I say that kind of punishment is not called for by the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Laws.

According to Senator Wade's statement, there are 68,000,000 motor vehicles registered and three-quarters of our adult population have licenses to drive motor vehicles. I have yet to hear anyone say something about the right to drive a motor vehicle, which is an inherent right. It is as much a right as the right of free speech, of free press or to walk on the sidewalks.

When you have some man, like a bull in a china ship, going hog wild with power and using it in a tyrannous fashion, I say that man should be curbed. I still say that he should take a vacation. I would like to see him take one at the present time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe we started out to talk about radar and not have a tirade on any gentleman who happens to be part of this State Government. I think the proper place to take up this problem would be with his department head, who is the Secretary of Revenue.

As I stated before, all of us seem to have problems sometimes with people who operate some of these departments. It may be that some of this comment is justified and it may be that some of it is not. I think many of these comments are based on purely personal experiences, which is not a fair way to judge anyone, because a man should be judged by the over-all job he does and the results he is getting. If Mr. Shipley would have saved one life in this Commonwealth, he would have been worth the price the Comonwealth paid him and he would also be worth the job that he is doing.

I would just like to point out one other feature, that when we have this type of activity here, criticizing public officials without having all of the facts laid before us, I think we not only undermine these officials, but we undermine ourselves in the status that we play in the Commonwealth's affairs. I do not think that anyone does not have the right I think they do.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman who just spoke that the right to drive an automobile in thi Commonwealth, or any other State, is a privilege an not a right. It is not guaranteed by the Constitution o the Bill of Rights or any other means. This privileg comes to us backed by antiquity and is based on ou entire law, which is the Common Law of England. Th right to ride on the king's highway is something that i given to you by the king. We have adopted that int our democratic processes and it is now a privilege. Thi privilege, as all privileges, can be lifted by the sovereig as he see fit; the sovereign, in this case, being the Gover nor and the people who act under him.

I would suggest to the last gentleman, if he is in dis agreement with this type of attitude or in disagreemen with what we have adopted by antiquity, that he in troduce legislation to correct the Constitution or the Bil of Rights. I think that would be the proper approach. H should also take it up with the department head if som individual irritates him or irks him. I think castin aspersions on any public official in the end casts asper sions on ourselves, and all of us should be careful t guard againt doing that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I merely want to poin out that this is a very important subject and we shoul be very happy to resume the debate immediately follow ing the recess, and have no objection to it continuing a this time. We, however, are not interested in catchin trains to Philadelphia.

Therefore, I shall not request a recess in view o the Senators who may wish to be heard further on thi point.

I urge that all the Republican Members be prompt in attending this Caucus as it is a very important Caucus and the subject matter must be disposed of.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 1:45 o'clock, p.m.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

They are in the Senate Chamber at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies from Carbon County please rise?

We are happy to welcome you to our Chamber.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE LEMOYNE CIVIC CLUB, CUMBERLAND COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, this seems indeed to be visitors' day here in the Senate, I, for one, am delighted that we have so many lovely visitors here. Among the groups that are visiting are representatives of the Lemoyne, Cumberland County, Civic Club, headed by Mrs. Don Firestone, their President.

If you will extend the official welcome of the Senate, I will appreciate it.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies from Lemoyne please rise? On behalf of the Senate, we welcome you.

VISITING COUNCILS OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN WELCOMED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, if we have omitted welcoming any of the visiting Councils of Republican Women, I hope that they will feel that we do welcome them here today. There are so many here that I know some of them have been missed.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

House Bill No. 190, Printer's No. 75; and

House Bill No. 718, Printer's No. 210.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO SENATOR AND MRS. FRANK W. RUTH UPON THE OCCASION OF THEIR FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LANE, on behalf of the Senate Membership, offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 21, 1959.

On May 2 of this year, Senator Frank W. Ruth and the former Florence Iobst celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage in 1909.

Congratulations are in order for every couple who celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. But in the case of Senator Frank and Florence Ruth an expression of gratitude is more appropriate. Their life together has been one of service; service to their God, to their fellowmen and to their State.

The value of their services can be measured only in terms of a better world. Whoever improves even one person, or contributes even one bit of goodness, makes the world a better place in which to live. The goodness contributed by the Senator and his wife would justify at least half a hundred life spans. That they are responsible for improving their fellowmen is a truth so apparent that uttering it seems banal.

As a clergyman, Dr. Ruth has served his God in saving souls. His mission is helping those who will, earn paradise, but his purpose is pleasing his God.

His ministry, arduous as it was, did not consume his entire energy. Thus his public life. He has served his community in various capacities with civic, charitable and religious bodies. He has been in the service of his State continuously since 1931, serving first in the House of Representatives and then in the Senate. His record is so marked with honor that his fellowmen stand in awe of him.

The record appears to stand for the accomplishments of the Senator, but it is equally clear that Florence Ruth has earned part of it. Senator Ruth is the first to agree that to understand the success of a man we must look to the woman behind him. Every time he thinks of his wife he utters a prayer of thanks to the God who so favored him. She has been everything a man needs to realize his destiny and in addition she has found the time and will to bear him ten wonderful children.

The marriage of the Ruths can be explained as a reward to two good people; but because it has meant so much to their family, their community, their State and their Nation, it must also be accepted as a reaffirmation of God's faith in mankind; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate Senator Frank Ruth and his wife, Florence, on the anniversary of the happiest day in their lives and for the people of Pennyslvania, express our gratitude for the better world they have given us; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Florence Ruth.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I might say that I believe every Member of the Senate would like to be considered a co-sponsor of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure that is correct.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I appreciate this very much, but I feel that I would be remiss if I would not tell you that the feeling that has been in my heart and in our lives was inspired, I believe, by God in the way we met. Both of us started away back. When my wife was thirteen years old and in junior high school, her mother died and left her three little boys to raise. She raised those boys and they are honorable men today. They now have families.

I met her when she was eighteen and I was nineteen. When she was twenty and I was twenty-one, we married and God has been very good to us. In those days we were working hard to make a living as a cigar maker. I bought a little home when I was eighteen years old. She assumed the burden, and then we decided we would go to study. We had one child buried and we had another one ten months old. We had no money when we started to go to school. Her brother was in the Navy and was getting twenty-one dollars a month. He sent half of that money home to bank. He had $190 in the bank when we decided to go to school, and we could not sell our home because no one came to the sale but the auctioneer. We borrowed that $190. We went through school. She took the lay worker's course in the theological seminary; I took the regular course. When she was in school, I took care of the children; we had three by that time. When I was in school, she took care of the children.

She has been the most perfect wife that any woman could ever be. I have always said, and I mean it from the bottom of my heart, that God has made good women, but he has never made a better one than my wife. We have had a honeymoon for fifty years.

I feel the greatest word of praise that I ever received was from a strange woman. I had never met her before. She came and told me that our oldest daughter told her that she had never heard her father and mother say a cross word to each other. We have kept that for fifty years now and I know we can keep it for many more years.

We have raised our children; we have educated them. Some of them pay more income tax than I earn. All eight of them were graduated from high school. Five of them were graduated from Penn State. The oldest grandson has been graduated. The next one is ready to go next year. We are trying to give them the things that we wanted them to have. It is constant companionship and marvelous understanding of all the conditions that made it possible. She has the same deep faith in God that I have always had. We have worked it out together. I do not think there has been any family in the world that has had a happier fifty years than we have had.

I will always say, and I have said it many, many times, that I could not have accomplished anything were it not for her fine understanding, her continual help and sound advice. As an illustration, when I started in preparatory school where I had to start with beginning English, beginning algebra and Latin, I had never heard of Latin and algebra but she taught me. She taught her children the sound principles of Latin and algebra. Other children in the community came to her after school and she set them right. Almost sixty years after high school, she still knows her Latin and her algebra and can teach them. That is the type of work she has been doing all her life.

We have been blessed with good health and we hope that we can carry on for a long time yet.

I want to thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Ruth, I know that I speak for the Senate when I say that was a beautiful tribute to a wonderful woman, and you are indeed very well blessed of God.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I attempted to secure your attention but, unfortunately, you did not see me before you called on Senator Ruth. I feel I would be remiss if I did not make this statement on behalf of the Republican Members of this Senate. I feel, as Bill Lan suggested, that every Member in this Senate would lik to be a co-sponsor of that resolution.

I know of no Member of the Senate on that side, in al the time that I have been here, who has been held i higher esteem by his Republican colleagues than Senato Ruth. We have grown to love him. We have known hin to the extent that we value his friendship and his counse on all matters.

When Senator Ruth leaves this body, the Senate o Pennsylvania will have lost one of its most faithful an one of its most sincere Members.

I want you to know, Senator Ruth, that I bespeak th sentiment of every man on this side of the aisle when say to you, sir, that we all wish you and your wife no only congratulations for the fifty years you have enjoyed but we hope that you will have twenty-five more year and that you will live to have your seventy-fifth anni versary celebrated also.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it has been my pleasur ever since I have been here to serve with Senator Ruth His wise counsel and his ability in handling matters in a quiet, effective manner have been a keynote, I think, fo most of the gentlemen who come to this Senate. Many o them who are new here have to find their way. I think no man is more deserving of fifty years of happiness tha Senator Ruth, and I certainly hope that he will have no twenty-five but fifty more years of it.

I would like to just add one other thing here. I think all of us are happy in this life to get the taffy now rathe than the "epithaphy" later on.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis), in the presence of the Senate, signed the following bills:

House Bill No. 201, Printer's No. 302; and

House Bill No. 287, Printer's No. 97.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, before I make the motion to adjourn, I would like to draw the attention of the Senate to the fact that Daylight Saving Time begins next week. Therefore, when I say "2:00 o'clock" in my motion, it will mean 3:00 o'clock, Daylight Saving Time.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, April 27, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 21, 1959.

The House met at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend George K. Ludwig, pastor of the Hill Jerusalem Charge of the United Church of Christ, Rockland Township, Berks County, guest Chaplain and guest of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Machmer, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, the author of life and the giver of all the blessings we enjoy in life, we invoke Thy rich blessing upon this assembled body today.

We give thanks to Thee for our great land of freedom and privilege. Our gratitude flows out to Thee for the greatness with which Thou hast endowed the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; for the rich storehouse of natural resources which has supplied us with comforts and blessings; for the long line of noble leaders who have labored to make the best use of all the possibilities for material and human strength; and for minds and hearts which today respond to the challenge of duty, responsibility and need. We thank Thee for the privilege which is ours today to share in the democratic processes upon which our national greatness depends.

Bless with Thy great power those in places of responsibility as they labor to maintain liberty and justice in our land. Preserve the strength of government which comes from individual honesty and integrity. Give to the members of this assembled body the constant courage to stand for truth and right amidst the ever increasing pressures which seek self interest at the expense of common good.

May this day bring answers to some of the problems which face us. Strengthen us with the knowledge that Thou art able to help us to overcome difficulties as we look to Thee for guidance. Through confidence in Thy power we commend to Thy care this session of this legislative body. In the name of our Lord we pray.

Amen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has a letter addressed to the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives which the Chair would like to read to the Members of the House.

Dear Mr. Chief Clerk:

I have been advised that unless there were compelling reasons otherwise, that it would be better if I did not take the Chair or the Floor today.

There is nothing organically wrong and except for a slight throat irritation I am in what doctors say is top notch physical condition.

I will, of course, be available either in the Hall of the House, or my office for possible consultation. I am therefore asking the Honorable W. Stuart Helm to preside today.

Sincerely,
H. G. Andrews
Speaker of the House

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GIBSON, DAVIS, HELM, GRAMLICH, VARNER, ANDREWS, McCANN, MIHM, FILO, and KAMYK. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 60.

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley, especially during recent years, has suffered increasingly severe flood damage—in March, 1956 the greatest flood since 1865 and this spring another of comparable destructive effect.

In contrast, Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred relatively little damage. The reason for this disparity in damage clearly lies in the fact that the system of flood control dams for the lower river has long been completed. The lower river tributary flood-waters are habitually held back until flood conditions abate.

Although the flood control system for the Allegheny Valley was authorized more than twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States, the central project, the great Kinzua Dam above Warren, remains stalled in the planning stage.

Continued inaction in getting on with building the Kinzua Dam means a heavy handicap to northwestern Pennsylvania—an ominous, ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property, an active and deadening threat to the economic growth and recreational development of the region.

Like so many areas where the Congress has mounted vast public works to meet needs beyond local powers of enterprise, the Upper Allegheny Valley Watershed now feels a decisive need for positive and immediate Federal action; therefor be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation, including legislation to enunciate the will of Congress if this point continue unclear to the Federal courts, to bring into being without further delay the great Kinzua Dam; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WILT, DOWNS and LOPRESTI. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

On April 30, 1959, the president of the senior class of Thiel College, Roy Wilt, will dedicate a flag in honor and memory of Raymond Earl Renner.

A member of the class of 1959, Ray, as he was known among his classmates and friends, was fatally injured in an automobile accident on January 10, 1957, while still in the prime of his life.

Born on April 5, 1931, he was a veteran of four years of service with the United States Navy.

A good student and friend and highly respected by his fellow classmates, his untimely death was deeply felt and mourned by all; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commend the class of 1959 of Thiel College for its thoughtfulness in dedicating this flag in memory of their departed classmate Raymond Earl Renner; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Roy Wilt, president of the Class of 1959 and Dr. Frederick B. Irvin, president of Thiel College, Greenville, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. REIBMAN, Messrs. GELFAND, EWING and COOPER. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

Three young, outstanding, talented Pennsylvanians have earned honors for themselves, gained distinction for their schools and teachers and raised pride in their parents by being chosen among the forty winners of the Eighteenth Annual Science Talent Search.

From a list of four hundred and twenty-seven superior students from all over the United States who have won honor awards, forty contestants with the highest talent were judged winners on the basis of an examination, scholastic and personal records and reports submitted by the student.

The Science Talent Search for the Westinghouse Science Scholarships and awards is an endeavor to discover at the senior high school year level those who have the potentialities to become the research scientists of the future. It is more than a scholarship contest, it is a major step toward making scientific talent available for important tasks in our civilization. The selection of those with research ability in science has become an institution and tradition due to approval from the education world and the creditable records of winners in colleges, universities and professional positions.

This year's winners from Pennsylvania are two young men and one young lady.

Jonathan David Leavitt, 16, of 627 West Lafayette Street, Easton, Pennsylvania, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Leavitt and a senior at Easton High School.

Stephen Jay Garland, 17, of 108 Elatan Drive, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Garland and a student at Mt. Lebanon High School.

Ruth Rhoda Entine, 17, of 4953 North Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Entine and a student at the Philadelphia High School for Girls.

Each of these young Pennsylvania citizens can be proud of their achievement and are worthy of the honors which have been bestowed upon them for they represent the kind of citizens our State and nation will rely upon in the future to preserve our way of life and make our country the greatest and strongest democracy in the world; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate and commend these young students for their efforts and achievements; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to each of these young people and to their high school principals.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 716, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) allowing contracts for personal or professional services in the nature of expert advice to be made without advertising or bids.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Will the gentleman advise the House as to the purpose of this bill?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to permit the county commissioner to enter into contracts with persons so they may get expert advice as to certain work that perhaps might have to be done.

For example, if the county commissioners wanted to find out whether a certain type of heating system was required in a building, they could engage an expert to prepare their plans and specifications. And then, of course, they would have to advertise in the normal way for the bid for the work to be done.

This legislation is to enable them to get expert advice in preparing plans, specifications and so forth.

For example, I understand that Bucks County wanted an economic survey made to have the commissioners made aware of what problems were coming up in the future. They got a University to agree to do this, but under the present law they would have to advertise for bids for that. It is to correct that sort of situation that this amendment was proposed.

Mr. GAILEY. Do I understand the gentleman correctly then, Mr. Speaker, that this bill has been amended so that all personal service contracts, or personal service contracts generally, are excluded? And the gentleman understands that this bill, then, refers only to personal service contracts in the nature of expert advice; is that correct?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That is correct.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 60

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 60 reported from the Committee on Rules today.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley, especially during recent years, has suffered increasingly severe flood damage—in March, 1956 the greatest flood since 1865 and this spring another of comparable destructive effect.

In contrast, Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred relatively little damage. The reason for this disparity in damage clearly lies in the fact that the system of flood control dams for the lower river has long been completed. The lower river tributary flood-waters are habitually held back until flood conditions abate.

Although the flood control system for the Allegheny Valley was authorized more than twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States, the central project, the great Kinzua Dam above Warren, remains stalled in the planning stage.

Continued inaction in getting on with building the Kinzua dam means a heavy handicap to northwestern Pennsylvania—an omnious ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property, an active and deadening threat to the economic growth and recreational development of the region.

Like so many areas where the Congress has mounted vast public works to meet needs beyond local powers of enterprise, the Upper Allegheny Valley Watershed now feels a decisive need for positive and immediate Federal action; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation, including legislation to enunciate the will of Congress if this point continue unclear to the Federal courts, to bring into being without further delay the great Kinzua Dam; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 57

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House House Resolution No. 57.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 14, 1959.

Citizens of our Commonwealth who are of advanced age should be given the opportunity of living happy and useful lives even after retirement

Because of lack of sympathy or understanding on the part of society or their very own families these older persons are left to shift for themselves in large houses in which large families have been reared but which are no longer desirable for lonely persons

The health welfare safety and happiness of these persons would be greatly enhanced if proper and suitable living quarters with recreational facilities were made available to them

The Philadelphia Housing Authority in the City of Philadelphia could relieve this situation by erecting and maintaining one-bedroom units on the proposed site known as Oxford Village II therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives urge the Philadelphia Housing Authority to erect at Oxford Village II housing facilities of one bedroom units with available areas for recreational facilities which would be attractive primarily to persons sixty years of age or over where they would be able to spend the remainder of their allotted time in peace and contentment

RESOLUTION

Mr. VERONA offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

STUDENTS FROM DICKINSON LAW SCHOOL PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, from time to time, we are honored by visits of delegations and individuals, as well, to this Senate. I am sure that I speak for all the Members of the Senate when I say that we are highly honored when they come to see democracy in action.

Today, we have with us a rather distinguished group, because tomorrow they will be members of the Bar of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The group consists of seventeen citizens from that remarkable Law School of Pennsylvania, known as the Dickinson Law School. They are here as part of a project of the Uniform Commercial Code Class. They are under the leadership of Professor Del Ducca.

Mr. President, if you will extend a welcome from the Senate to this fine group, I will appreciate it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, is very happy to welcome the guests of Senator Wade, the law students from that outstanding Law School of Pennsylvania, Dickinson College. BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PROPERT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 684, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 13, 1943, (P. L. 49), entitled "An act authorizing individual co-fiduciaries, in certain cases, to consent to investments in common trust funds, and validating consents heretofore given," enlarging the investment powers of co-fiduciaries.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, as a Senator, at one time it was my ambition to introduce legislation repealing as many laws as I attempted to add to the statute books of the Commonwealth. I have long since given this ambition up. However, this particular bill, which I am about to introduce, does repeal a section of the School Code of Pennsylvania which provides that a school textbook must be used not less than five years. I have a feeling that this rule is grossly violated at this time. If it were not violated, it would be a national tragedy, perhaps, in this nuclear age.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. HAYS, KALMAN, MULLIN and SEYLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 685, entitled:

An Act repealing section 802 of the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," relating to the use of textbooks for a period of not less than five years.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. CHAPMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 686, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1933 (P. L. 1172), entitled "Borough Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Sugar Grove Borough, Warren County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 687, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled, "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Warren County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. ELLIOTT, MADIGAN, BLASS, SHAFER, VAN SANT, BERGER and WHALLEY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 688, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," establishing the Migrant Farm Labor Commission as a departmental administrative commission in the Department of Agriculture, and prescribing its powers and duties regarding migrant farm laborers and children of such laborers.

AMENDING SENATE RULES

Mr. BERGER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 25), read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

50. (e) The card issued by the President pro tempore must be presented when required by any Sergeant-at-Arms. It shall not be transferable. The transfer or loan of such card to any one shall be followed by its cancellation and the withdrawal of all its privileges from the photographer so offending.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE GOVERNOR TO PROCLAIM MAY 1, 1959 AS LAW DAY, U. S. A.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WEINER, SILVERT, McGINNIS, RIPP, MULLIN, WALKER, STIEFEL, KALMAN, BERGER, MALLERY and BLASS offered the following resolution (Serial No. 26), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 27, 1959.

The official Proclamation of the President of the United States designating Friday, May 1, 1959 as Law Day in the United States of America, urges the people of the nation to join on that day in reaffirming their dedication "to our form of government and the supremacy of law in our lives."

It is to be a day on which the American people reaffirm their reliance upon law in private and governmental affairs, as contrasted with the tyranny and oppression of the individual in the communist world where the same date is traditionally marked by displays of military might.

Adherence to the rule of law has enabled our nation to grow and prosper, for the entire structure of our business, religious, social and cultural life is dependent on the law. It has also been a vital element in our own community life for every citizen relies upon the law in his daily affairs and for the protection of his person and property. However, in our reliance upon the rule of law in our daily affairs we may at times for granted the benefits we derive from it, and overlook the struggle in the world today to preserve law and order as our way of life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate urge the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to rededicate themselves to freedom for the individual under just laws, administered by independent courts, and in so doing emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under communism and be it further.

Resolved, That May 1, 1959 be observed by the people of our great State as Law Day U. S. A. in order to foster an abiding respect for law, and thus enable our nation to grow in moral strength as it grows in population, resources and world leadership and be it further,

Resolved, That the Senate urge the Governor to proclaim May 1, 1959 as Law Day U. S. A.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, a few moments ago, during your greeting to the members of the Dickinson School of Law, you referred to the Uniform Commercial Code and suggested that if these students learn the provisions of that Code, they would really be learned in the law. My advice to them, Mr. President, is not to be too worried about the existing provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code because the bill I am about to introduce has to do with the amending and revising of that Uniform Commercial Code.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair remark to the students from the Dickinson School of Law, if they are still present, that they should heed the words of Senator Scott?

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 60 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred on April 27, 1959, the following resolution from the House of Representatives, reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

CONGRESS MEMORALIZED TO EXPEDITE LEGISLATION NECESSARY TO COMPLETE THE GREAT KINZUA DAM

In the House of Representatives, April 21, 1959.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley, especially during recent years, has suffered increasingly severe flood damage—in March, 1956 the greatest flood since 1865 and this spring another of comparable destructive effect.

In contrast, Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred relatively little damage. The reason for this disparity in damage clearly lies in the fact that the system of flood control dams for the lower river has long been completed. The lower river tributary flood-waters are habitually held back until flood conditions abate.

Although the flood control system for the Allegheny Valley was authorized more than twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States, the central project, the great Kinzua Dam above Warren, remains stalled in the planning stage.

Continued inaction in getting on with building the Kinzua dam means a heavy handicap to northwestern Pennsylvania— an ominous, ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property, an active and deadening threat to the economic growth and recreational development of the region.

Like so many areas where the Congress has mounted vast public works to meet needs beyond local powers of enterprise, the Upper Allegheny Valley Watershed now feels a decisive need for positive and immediate Federal action; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation, including legislation to enunciate the will of Congress if this point continue unclear to the Federal courts, to bring into being without further delay the great Kinzua Dam; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 60

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of House Concurrent Resolution No. 60.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 116, Printer's No. 695; and

Senate Bill No. 117, Printer's No. 696.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, while we are talking about Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117, I would like to read an article which appeared yesterday in the Sunday edition of the Harrisburg Patriot-News. The article is headed: "Maryland Dealers Rap Pennsylvania Raw Milk Quality." I am not only reading this article for my own benefit, but also for the benefit of the Presiding Officer, Senator Fleming. It reads as follows:

> "Rockville, Md.
> "A member of the Montgomery County Council said last night bacteria counts on a number of samples taken from Pennsylvania raw milk shipped into the county have been running high.
> "Councilman Grover Walker said a report from county manager Melvin L. Reese showed bacteria counts running as high as 610,000 per cubic centimeter.
> "Walker, a dairy farmer and a member of the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Assn., made his remarks at a hearing on a proposed county milk ordinance.
> "The Maryland milk code permits a maximum bacteria count of 400,000 before pasteurization, county atty. Alfred H. Carter said. The proposed county code would allow a count of 200,000."

I am saying that Pennsylvania raw milk, which has been tested, has shown a bacteria count as high as 610,000. The newspaper article further states:

> "One Gaithersburg, Md., dairy farmer, W. Lawson King, invited the council to accompany him on a visit to certain Pennsylvania farms, which were not identified.
> "'I'd like to show you the conditions there,' he said, 'and then see if you would be willing to drink a glass of milk from those farms. Believe me, you would not.'"

Mr. President, I am not going to oppose the Majority Leader. I am merely going to suggest a motion to recommit these bills to committee. If Senator Berger wants them to go over in order, it is all right with me.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bills will go over in their order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 132, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Public Welfare with the approval of the Board of Trustees of the Hollidaysburg State Hospital to contract with the Borough of Hollidaysburg and the Hollidaysburg Sewer Authority for improvements and extensions to the sewerage collection system and treatment plant and the use thereof by the Hollidaysburg State Hospital and the payment of part of the cost and maintenance thereafter and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I understand that the Senate is now considering Senate Bill No. 132, Printer's No. 141.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct, sir.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, the reason for this bill is that for quite some years prior to 1935, Blair County was one of the relatively few counties in the Commonwealth where a mental hospital was constructed from local taxes. In 1935, the State took over the Hollidaysburg State Hospital without recompensing one penny for that hospital. A number of years afterward, all except one of the buildings were razed and a new hospital was constructed.

The sewage from the Hollidaysburg State Hospital empties into the sewerage disposal plant of the borough of Hollidaysburg. I should know exactly the population of the borough in which I live. However, I believe the population is approximately 8,000. The population of the hospital has grown over the years. While it is not the largest, it is one of the largest mental hospitals in Pennsylvania. The time has come when the sewerage disposal plant must be enlarged.

The matter of a contribution to be made by the State toward the enlargement of the sewerage disposal plant of the hospital was taken up with the Secretary of Welfare, the Honorable Ruth Grigg Horting, who stated that it was only reasonable and fair for the Commonwealth to make a constribution toward the enlargement. The enlargement of the sewerage disposal plant will cost between $600,000 and $700,000.

The Secretary of Welfare has assured me that this bill, which was prepared I believe by someone in the Department of Welfare, would receive her blessing inasmuch as she considered it the only fair thing for the State to do.

Therefore, Mr. President, I respectfully ask the support of this bill by all of the Members of the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will have to agree with Senator Mallery that this is a worthy bill and one which deserves and merits our support. However, the one problem contained in this bill is the fact that there is $134,000 which must be appropriated.

I am under the impression that there is a cut to be made in the budget in varying amounts. I am in favor of cutting out of the budget any unnecessary expenditures, and also any money which we do not need for purposes which are necessary in operating this State and the State institutions. However, as long as we have not done any cutting and as long as we have not raised the revenue, I respectfully urge that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations until such time as we have the revenue for this measure.

I have looked through the budget, and it might be that my eyesight is failing me, but I do not see anywhere in the budget where an amount of money has been se aside for this very purpose. As long as it is not ther and we do not have the funds to do the work, I thin every Member here will have to agree with me that w have to try to avoid deficit financing as much as possibl This is one way to do it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this bill is very plain in it purpose and, of course, its purpose is very fair. Howeve I submit to the Minority Leader that this is a way to sav money because if the Hollidaysburg State Hospital had t step out and build its own sewerage disposal system, i would cost quite a lot more money than it would to pa its fair share of the maintenance, as it is being asked t do now and which, I understand, the Department of Wel fare feels is the correct and proper thing to do. Therefore I am extremely interested, as is everyone in this Senate in saving all possible money. This actually will result in saving of money.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not disagree with th Majority Leader except that my problem is: Where is th $134,000 which this bill carries as part of the price tag Where will we get that money to accomplish this purpose even though the purpose is meritorious?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I quite agree with m colleague, Senator Weiner, and I do have a suggestion. A much as I dislike to make this suggestion, but it will b taking a project from Blair County. If money is going t be spent, I, personally and naturally, would like to hav as much of it spent in Blair County as is proper.

I received from the Superintendent of the Hollidaysbur State Hospital a copy of his recommendations, and I no ticed one recommendation is that a gymnasium be buil at the Hollidaysburg State Hospital which, I believe would cost in excess of the amount which is being aske for in this bill to help build a sewerage disposal plant.

I think anyone in Pennsylvania would agree that sewerage disposal plant is just about as necessary as gymnasium would be. Further, I think everyone her would agree that it is much more necessary to have sewerage disposal plant, into which would drain the sew age from the hospital, than to have a gymnasium. Do no take me wrong. If we are going to spend money for gym nasiums, I, personally, would like to see one at the Holli daysburg State Hospital. It is believed that this woul help cure the mentally ill. I am no authority on whethe or not it would help. However, I think I have pointed ou briefly the reason why this appropriation should be mad and I have suggested, also, where the money can b obtained.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with what th gentleman has just said. My purpose in asking that thi bill be recommitted to the Appropriations Committee i so that we can resolve this problem. If there is money i the budget for the two projects which the Senator ha mentioned,—I do not doubt that he has made a study o this problem and he is probably correct—I think tha would be the place to decide it. If we pass this bill today we will only be faced later on, when we get down to th budget, with the problem that this has gotten away fron us. I do not have a vote in the House, so I cannot contro what they do over there. I think this is the place to tak care of this particular situation.

Therefore, I respectfully ask that this bill be sent to th Appropriations Committee for reconsideration until thi matter of the budget, which will not be dealt with for th next week or two, comes before us. At that time, we might possibly take up the budget problems and solve that within short order. Therefore, I ask my colleagues to give this matter careful consideration because of the money involved, and the entire budgetary and financial problems involved. We, as the board of directors, must act on these problems carefully. I ask that this bill go back to committee for that purpose.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I yield to Senator Weiner's request that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The one thing I wanted to bring before the Senate was the history of this bill and the necessity of having the appropriation.

Mr. BERGER. I am sorry, Mr. President, but I did not hear the remarks just made by Senator Mallery. However, I believe that, undoubtedly, this whole problem was considered in the Appropriations Committee at its meeting when the bill was discussed and they were satisfied that this was a proper allocation of State funds. Consequently, because this sewer project and the connection with the Hollidaysburg State Hospital is a matter of great importance, I would oppose the request of the Minority Leader.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to belabor this matter. However, I think one of the things which we should bring before this body is the fact that this bill came out of committee some time ago. Since that time, I have heard varying reports about the budget being cut and I think if that is going to be done, this bill should be reconsidered with those cuts. If they are going to cut any projects at all, or cut any money out of the budget, perhaps this should be one of the projects which should be considered in the over-all picture in order that when we study the entire problem, we will be able to do so intelligently and make our cuts wherever they are deemed necessary.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have great confidence in every Member of this Senate doing what is the right thing to do in so far as this bill is concerned. The project has progressed to the point where I believe bonds are being sold at this time in order to construct this sewerage disposal plant.

I appreciate what you have done, Senator Berger. However, I am willing to leave it up to my colleagues on the left to work out some satisfactory solution to this matter.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, I take from your last statement that the $134,000 which we are discussing now was not included in that $100,000,000 cut. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think if the Senator would read the statement carefully, he would see: "so that it would not be to the detriment of indispensable services." I would suggest that possibly the disposal of sewage might come under the category of indispensable services.

Mr. LANE. Mr. Berger, at this Appropriations Committee meeting which you attended, this bill was reported out. Is that correct? Was the amount involved discussed at all?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not believe that I said I attended the meeting. I said, "at the meeting at which this bill was discussed." I said that I was confident they had considered the problem.

Mr. LANE. Then you consider yourself an authority on this particular bill as far as the subject matter contained in the bill is concerned. I just asked you a very, very simple question as to whether or not this $134,000 was included in the $100,000,000 cut that you are also going to make.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure that it would be included in whatever amount may be saved in the reductions in the recommendations from the Governor in his budget.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman very much. I take it that anything which is described or set up as an essential service will not be cut from the budget. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would say that any indispensable service will not be taken out of the budget.

Mr. LANE. Thank you very much. I am going to find that definition very shortly.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, acceding to the wishes of the Senator from Blair, I withdraw my request that this bill be recommitted to the Appropriations Committee.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, some weeks ago the Senate Appropriations Committee selected a committee to hear the budget. This committee has worked diligently for the past six weeks. It has worked late into the evenings in reviewing the budget in detail.

I do not know of any member of the committee who has arrived at any decision in regard to any cut in the budget. The Philadelphia Inquirer carried a story whereby the Chairman of the Committee had thought there was a possibility of a $50,000,000 cut. In my conversation with the Chairman of the Committee, he is not sure and neither am I.

There was a statement made by a very responsible official of the Majority Party, and carried in all the newspapers in Pennsylvania, in which he stated that $100,000,000 could be cut from the budget. Of course, the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce came out with the same figure. In my opinion, the report by the State Chamber of Commerce is certainly a monstrosity. It insults the intelligence of not only the Members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, but it insults the intelligence of the people of Pennsylvania.

It seems to me that it is just about time that we, on the Democratic side, cut the cloth to fit the suit. I, for one, would like to know where they are going to cut this budget. They have made statements in regard to these cuts and this $100,000,000, and I think they should get up on this floor today and tell us where they are going to make the cuts. By doing that, we will be in a position to intelligently apply ourselves. If they do not do that, I cannot see any reason why this committee should continue studying the budget. It is hard and tough work, and we have worked diligently at it. I do not know how we are going to cut $100,000,000 from the budget. I want to save money as much as the rest of the Members. However, I do not know how we can cut even $50,000,000 from the budget.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to address my remarks to the Majority Leader of the Senate, Senator Berger, who is the spokesman for the Republican Majority.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Are you of the opinion that $100,000,000 can be cut from this budget?

Mr. BERGER. That is my present opinion, Mr. President. I do not confine myself to the figure of $100,000,000. I think I stated that we would try to save as much as we could and if $100,000,000 could be saved, that would be excellent.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell me, and the Members of the Senate, just where you are going to make these savings?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to have it well understood by the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, and by the Members of the Senate and by the people to whom he referred, the people of Pennsylvania, that I am not making the savings. That is up to the Administration. I cannot make the savings in the budget. We can recommend certain reductions in the budget and withhold approval of certain appropriations when they are presented to us.

Mr. LANE. Would you advise me, then, where the recommendations are and what the recommendations are going to be in regard to the various portions of the General Fund budget? Let us get down to brass tacks.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the committee, to which Senator Lane has referred, has completed, I would judge, about two-thirds of its investigation of this budget. Although I do not recall seeing the statement that they thought savings or cuts in the amount of about $50,000,000 might be made, I hope that will be augmented by further reductions when they have completed their work. I do not know that it could be one-third more, but having such recommendations in mind, and not having received the committee's report, I trust that it will be able to make further recommendations.

Furthermore, Mr. President, one of the major elements of the requests for additional moneys comes from the fact that there was a $178,000,000 deficit reported for this biennium. As late as a week ago, I believe it was announced that $10,000,000 of that amount could be reduced because of increased collection of the current taxes. If that can be done as announced a week ago, after we know how much money is currently being collected from such taxes as the gross receipts on utilities, corporate net income tax, capital stock tax—if they are increased, that will further reduce the estimated deficit in this budget—we can, therefore, reduce the amount of money requested by the Governor to that extent. That amount is not known at this time and will not be known until we receive a report of current collections.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am willing to agree that there is a possibility that we might be able to reduce the deficit. There is that possibility and it is a real one. However, the statements by the Majority Leader are not the statements which were in the papers, that the budget can stand a $100,000,000 cut. The newspaper statement goes on to talk about having so many people on the payroll and they crowd themselves out of restaurants, and all that sort of thing.

The point I wish to make here today is this. I would like to know if anyone on the other side can tell me of one department where they can start making cuts which are going to amount to $100,000,000. It is virtually an impossibility, to my way of thinking. This statement is very misleading to the people of Pennsylvania. I do not think this Administration—as a matter of fact, I know this Administration does not want any more money than is absolutely necessary to run the State Government. You are not going to cut education, I hope. You are not going to cut welfare, I hope. Fifty-two cents of each dollar goes to education and Public Instruction, and about twenty-eight cents goes to Public Welfare. What are you going to do about those things? Those are the two major departments where I say we should spend the most money.

When we get on the floor here, it becomes a hodgepodge because no one knows where the cuts are going to be made. Yet, they say in the newspapers that there is going to be a $100,000,000 cut. Let us play this game on the up and up; let us be fair and square about this thing. It came as a surprise to me.

I have not missed a meeting of the committee. I do not think the other Members have missed a meeting, either. There was never any talk about any figure whatsoever in my presence. In the event they are going to figure where the cuts are going to be made, I want to be included in on the conference. If no one can answer my question, I might as well sit down. They do not have any figures. It is all guesswork over there.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 28, 1959, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO and Mr. BELL. RESOLUTION No. 61.

In the House of Representatives, April 21, 1959.

The official Proclamation of the President of the United States designating Friday, May 1, 1959 as Law Day in the United States of America, urges the people of the nation to join on that day in reaffirming their dedication" to our form of government and the supremacy of law in our lives."

It is to be a day on which the American people reaffirm their reliance upon law in private and governmental affairs, as contrasted with the tyranny and oppression of the individual in the communist world where the same date is traditionally marked by displays of military might.

Adherence to the rule of law has enabled our nation to grow and prosper, for the entire structure of our business, religious, social and cultural life is dependent on the law. It has also been a vital element in our own community life for every citizen relies upon the law in his daily affairs and for the protection of his person and property. However, in our reliance upon the rule of law in our daily affairs we may at times take for granted the benefits we derive from it, and overlook the struggle in the world today to preserve law and order as our way of life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives urge the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to rededicate themselves to freedom for the individual under just laws administered by independent courts and in so doing emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under communism and be it further,

Resolved, That May 1, 1959 be observed by the people of our great State as Law Day U. S. A. in order to foster an abiding respect for law, and thus enable our nation to grow in moral strength as it grows in population, resources and world leadership and be it further,

Resolved, That the House of Representatives urge the Governor to proclaim May 1, 1959 as Law Day U. S. A.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. HOLLIDAY, AUKER and H. G. MILLER. RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 21, 1959.

Percy A. Patterson, a former member of the General Assembly from the first district of Blair County passed away unexpectedly at his home in Altoona on Sunday, April 19. For P. A. Patterson it was the end of a long and active life in which he was prominent in county and State business and political affairs.

Mr. Patterson was born on October 2, 1878 in Clearfield, and he completed his education at Duff's College in Pittsburgh. Shortly after his graduation he became active in the Republican party, and this active interest led to his election to the House of Representatives in 1932. In 1935 he was appointed State inheritance tax appraiser for Blair County and in 1938 his long and effective political organization efforts were recognized when the Republican committee of Blair County elected him chairman, a position he held until his retirement in 1956.

Percy Patterson was also very active in community and civic projects as is evidenced by the numerous organizations in which he held membership. Among the many were the Elks, the Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Patterson and two of three sons predeceased Mr. Patterson, but he left to survive him a son, a niece, three grandchildren and a sister who deeply mourn his passing; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its profound sympathy to those who survive Mr. Percy A. Patterson; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the chief clerk to his son, Mr. Richard A. Patterson at 3415 Paper Mill Rd., Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania, and to his niece with whom he resided at 2612 W. Chestnut Street, Altoona, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 21, 1959.

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1959.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 412, Printer's No. 125, entitled "An act authorizing courts to alter modify suspend reinstate terminate amend or rescind any order decree judgment or sentence for a period of thirty days from the date of entering of record the order decree judgment or sentence," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Will the House agree to the section?

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 703), page 2, line 19, by inserting after "and" "except in school districts of the first class and first class A."
Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 703), page 2, line 20, by inserting after "Instruction" "in any case in which reimbursement by the Commonwealth is involved".

They were agreed to.
The section was agreed to as amended.
The title was read and agreed to.
And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.
Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 578, entitled:

An Act amending the "Beauty Culture Law" approved May 3, 1933 (P. L. 242) changing eligibility requirements for examination.

The first section was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say this: Sometimes Members rise without addressing the Chair. It is not enough simply to rise, for Members rise from their seats for various purposes. The Chair would request that those who rise and desire recognition would not simply stand in their place until recognized but would address the Chair, and if the Chair fails to hear, address him very emphatically.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, a motion was made by the gentleman from Philadelphia pertaining to House bill No. 578, Printer's No. 182, amending the Beauty Culture Law.

There is a definite discrepancy of opinions regarding the increased amount of education required in this bill, the proposed legislation in this field. I am confident the Committee in the caucus today tried to work something out. I believe the section requires 10 years of education whereas all other requirements are 8 years at the present time, including the barbering field.

Since the Committee has seen fit to take this bill back into committee and try to work out the sections of the amendments to this bill, I ask that the Members of this House do concur, and vote favorably to recommit the bill to the Committee on Professional Licensure.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, is not this the second time this bill has been reported out of Committee?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir. This is the second time this bill has been reported from the Committee.

Mr. STEWART. Is there any assurance from the Majority party that the bill will be reported out again?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly can assure you it is not the intent to recommit the bill for the sole purpose of burying the bill, If the Committee can agree upon a set of amendments to the bill, particularly to the sections I am talking about. The action of the Committee will speak for itself.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement on this motion.

This bill has been before this Committee on two occasions. It has been thoroughly discussed and thrashed out in Committee. Both times the Committee voted this bill out on the floor of the House for a vote. If there is a difference of opinion on the educational requirements, I think it should be debated on the floor of the House, and therefore I ask the Members of the House to vote against this recommittal.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mrs. Kooker and Messrs. A. D. Williams and AGNEW, and were as follows:

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. Speaker, I believe there was a little disappointment that the hearings did not start this morning on the appropriations and the budget. Will the gentleman now tell the House when the hearings will start?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the hearings will start at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, Tuesday, in Room 245.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON Who will be called in front of your Committee?

Mr POLEN. The first will be the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. How many days does the gentleman expect to listen to that department?

Mr. POLEN. We have meetings scheduled Tuesday through Thursday on the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. During that time, in three days, you are going to try to find out the operations of the department in its many phases, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. We are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Are you going to call in any of the fourth class school districts to find whether the $58 million increase in the budget for the support of public schools will be adequate or not?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it was not our intention to call in any of the school districts because we do not believe they will be in possession of the factual information that would be necessary for us to arrive at a conclusion.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But you will get a statement from a responsible person from the Department of Public Instruction as to how far that extra $58 million is supposed to go toward support of our schools, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. We will, Mr. Speaker. Of course it was based upon the present limitations that the Legislature has adopted, $5800 per unit.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now another question. What other hearings do you plan in subsequent weeks?

Mr. POLEN. Our present plans, Mr. Speaker, are for the week following to have the Department of Welfare and, if possible, the Department of Health.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, when does the gentleman figure that he can adequately audit this budget, have the hearings, and finish the job?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I might say we have already done a lot of preliminary work. We have received a lot of information, we have analyzed it, and I believe we should finish the hearings during the month of May.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The gentleman feels then that they will spend just about a month on the hearings?

Mr. POLEN. I believe we can cover the hearings within the month of May.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I think the time has come for another statement about the policy of the Members on this side of the House.

The reason I interrogated Mr. Polen was that we are vitally interested in these Appropriation Committee hearings. We checked back in the 1957 Session and found that when we were in power we started the hearings on the 18th of February by bringing in, I believe, the Department of Justice. Those hearings continued then up until the early part of May. That means the general appropriation bill did not hit the calendar until, I believe, the 19th of May in 1957. In other words, it took two and one-half months to, what we thought, adequately bring in everybody and find out what the needs or the requests were of the Commonwealth at that particular time. In other words, here we are, pretty near the first of May—I do not know who is to blame and I am not blaming the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee—and we have not had a single hearing about that huge budget. And in the short period of time between now and the end of May Mr. Polen hopes to find out everything there is to know about that huge appropriation request. We will not be here during the primary week, and unless he schedules hearings during that week, of course, there will be no hearings.

The reason I am pointing this out to the House, we have on our calendar quite a number of tax bills. First, bills to reenact existing taxes and then, of course, a series of bills imposing new taxes on the people. In other words we have a tax program in front of us. We have not even had a chance to find out the adequacy of that budget, or whether there can be anything cut out of that budget in order to reduce the $400 million.

Another thing, at this point we have no knowledge of what the existing taxes have brought in up to April 15, 1959, which is the day when the capital stock tax, the public utilities tax, the tax on bank shares, the corporate net income tax and the corporate income tax returns are due, and the checks should be over there now.

We should hear very, very soon about how much money existing taxes brought in. We have no knowledge of what the tax, then, would do with respect to decreasing the so-called deficit of $178 million. And we still do not know much about that so-called deficit.

The statement I received from the Budget Office was a statement of appropriations that they have been able to dole out to the various departments. In other words it is a statement of appropriations that they have been able to give a symbol for so that the money could be given to these different agencies and departments. The inference is, however, that accounts payable have been incurred which will mean that there is a deficit of $178 million. But at this point we do not know whether that is true or not.

Also, we think the time has come, as I said the other day, for a real good figure as to what House bill 665, the new Sales Tax Act will bring in. The amendment that was inserted changing the definition of service labor, making it taxable, whether this was applied to personal property or not, was a far-reaching amendment, and could well bring in upwards of $25 million. I know one filling station operator said," Why, where I used to take in a dollar's worth of sales tax, I am now taking in eight dollars and twelve dollars." It probably is a much bigger figure than any of us imagined, and certainly will go a long way toward reducing the so-called deficit that we are asked to meet.

Also, in the weekend papers there is a statement that the corporate profits for the year 1959 will be about the highest in history. Just travel along the highways and see all the trucks that are on the roads, all the vans bringing new cars to dealers' garages, and it just gives you an idea of the way business has picked up throughout Pennsylvania. Perhaps the 1959-1961 estimates on taxes in the budget are too low and should be increased in light of this increased business activity. In other words we want to know how much of this $400 million figure can be reduced by, as I say, cutting down on the budget, by increasing the estimates from the new sales tax, by getting a new estimate of what the current taxes have brought in or will bring in now before May 31. We think that is vital information because we are being asked to put onto the people $400 million in new taxes, which is the largest new single tax bite in the history of the Commonwealth.

Over the weekend I am sure all of you were met by your constituents. They want economy in government. They want efficiency. They want a short, business-like Session. They do not want any new taxes. They want us to hold the line on spending. And they want a procedure other than voting blindly for taxes without adequate information as to the reasonable needs of the Commonwealth.

I am making this statement because apparently the time has come when the Republican party on this side of the House is in business. We were saddened to hear, today, about the operation of Mr. Moran. That is, of course, pathetic, and as I stated earlier we wish him well. That cuts you down to an even 106. You had four requests for leave of absence today, and I think you have eight or ten others who were absent who might have come in, but you certainly do not have a shadow of a constitutional majority this week, and I do not know when you will have another one.

Therefore it is time to enunciate some policy from this side of the House; first, with respect to the new tax bite, the $400 million. We want you to give that a good going-over. We want you to audit this budget carefully. We want a new, realistic figure of just how much the bare minimum needs are before we can promise you any votes for any type of new taxes, whether these on the calendar or others. We certainly want to know "Whither goest thou?" We want to know how much you do need; how much is reasonably needed. We are certainly not going to vote blindly for taxes when you have not yet audited your appropriation bills.

We want to get out of here by July 1, and I certainly want to stand here as a good Representative, as an exponent of good government, and prod you to get your job done, get down to work. Let us get rolling on this Session. Let us get some meat out on this calendar so that the Session can end. While maybe it is to our advantage on the Republican side to let you drag on and drag on into the fall—maybe it would rebound to your political advantage, I do not know—but certainly we are not going to let you do it. We stand for good, sound, efficient, responsible government, and that is what we want you people on the other side to stand for. So get under way, hold your hearings, and be here all week long if necessary. We will have Representatives at those hearings because we are just as interested in what is going on as you are. Therefore our caucus has decided today that as far as your new taxes are concerned we want to know more about these figures before you come to us for any votes on the program.

Now, with respect to old taxes, those that you are seeking to have re-enacted, we realize they expire on May 31, and should be on the books by that time. We know we are not going to be here the week of the Primary Election. Naturally it would only be good government that those taxes be put on the Governor's desk before we leave here for that vacation for the Primary Election, but I do not know that we need to supply votes this week for those bills. Let us see how you get along on your hearings, what progress you make, how much enthusiasm you display in the line of good government and good operation of this House, this General Asfsembly, so that we can rapidly get this Legislature out of town with a job well done. I think it is up to you people. We are not going to be obstructionists. We are going to lend our hand at the proper time, but you have got to show your good faith first.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Minority Leader for extending to us on this side of the House the first sign of meeting head-on the cooperation between two parties in solving the financial situation of this Commonwealth in the very near future.

There is no one on this side of the House that does not favor good government, that will not be standing in front of the Appropriations Committee to remove any item in that budget for which there is no need for the money, or the money itself cannot be used in this biennium. I can assure the gentleman that the Appropriations Chairman intends to do that very thing, point by point.

There is no question that the argument will go on for many years to come, as it has in the past, that you can argue one position of taxes first, or budget first, depending on where you are sitting at the time you are arguing the point.

For example, concerning the situation that has been discussed here today, there is no question in the minds of all the people of Pennsylvania that we are asking for additional money for their schools, for their hospitals, for their non-preferred appropriations, and so are the majority of Members on your side of the House.

We certainly intend to try to help to solve this situation. We realize that this is a request for $400 million worth of new taxes.

The gentleman stated that House Bill 665, the Sales and Use Tax Law, certainly could be revised upward. Would you care to quote the source of your revision? The Pennsylvania Economy League has restudied House Bill 665. When we passed it in this House a few weeks ago the estimates of revenue were $163 million, or $101 million less than the total package when we removed the two items of $264 million.

Now the Department of Revenue is required by law to estimate the revenue that this will produce. And let us see what these two people say. The Pennsylvania Economy League and the Department of Revenue estimate the maximum amount of House Bill 665 will not exceed $170 million. Perhaps you have other sources of information that can back this figure to a greater amount of estimated revenue.

We believe, and I believe that you also believe, that the estimated revenue on the other tax bills that are a part of the House calendar was based on the 1957 rate of business in Pennsylvania, not 1958. So we can assume, and we certainly want the Minority Leader to be right, that 1959 and 1960 will be two of the greatest years in the history of this Commonwealth, for they certainly have to be better than 1958 to equal the estimate that is in the books now.

We will accept the 1957 estimate of these tax figures and assume that business will hold at that high a level or higher before we can estimate additional revenue in this field.

There is no one who likes to stand here and plead for votes for taxes, new taxes, knowing that all of us must pay this tax load. But we realize that we must face the financial situation of placing this Commonwealth on a financial, sound level in the next biennium, not a deficit spending program but a program in which the taxes or the revenue that they provide will equal the appropriations that we say will be appropriated in the 1959-61 budget.

House Bill 1284 is on the calendar today on second reading. House Bill 1284 is a bill in which the sales and use tax applicable to alcohol and malt beverages at the retail level will be amended tomorrow by the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in which the tax will be placed at the source, meaning that the malt beverage and the alcohol tax will be placed in the store, namely, the liquor store and the beer distributor. This bill, along with other revenue raising measures, perhaps will be amended, to be in position to be voted on Wednesday in this House.

I certainly want to thank the Republican Members of this House for offering to consider revenue measures and their support of revenue measure votes in this House on Wednesday.

Every one of our Members on this side of the House, including those who are ill today, except Mr. Moran, we are asking them to be here on Tuesday and Wednesday in session, in an attempt to try to find a solution to pass as many of these revenue raising measures as possible on Wednesday of this week.

We intend later in the Hall of this House to present to this House your requests and my requests as to the hospitals of Pennsylvania, the non-preferred appropriations, the amount that you receive in '57-59, the amount that has been proposed in '59-'61, and the amount that you and I have requested. We intend to bring this to this House—the amount of non-preferred appropriations dealing with our schools and our universities, the amount in '57-'59, the amount listed for '59-'61, and the amount that you and I have requested for each of these.

I do no think it will be difficult for me to say that there will be at least another $30 to $40 million of money that you and I have requested for our hospitals, our colleges, our universities, and our non-preferred appropriations which you and I well know that there is not the revenue or tax measure and that they must be eliminated and no appropriation, or else reduced to fit that particular figure.

We certainly want to thank all the people for their consideration in this tax battle that we have been in. Yes, the people of Pennsylvania are talking about taxes. Surprisingly enough, a lot of people are complaining about the high cost of Federal government, state government and local government. But at the same time, have you met with your school boards, have you met with your hospital boards, have you met with your boards at the universities? I am sure that they have asked you also for additional funds. And rightfully so, because they need this money to operate these institutions in each of our communities.

There is no question that we will do everything possible to meet as humanly as possible their requests within the scope of our revenue raising measures. But if we cannot pass $400 million worth of taxes, can we say that we will cut from the budget a certain figure, a reduction in the appropriations to meet this particular budget in 1959-1961, or are we in a position in which we must face reality and provide the tax votes to place this Commonwealth of ours in a financial situation that you and I believe it should have been in years ago and should continue to operate in in future years?

I seek and ask your support. I certainly have favored the appropriation hearings. I certainly have favored cutting out of the budget any single dollar of any appropriated amount of money which we cannot use it or can find a way to reduce the amount in this budget that we have in the Appropriations Committee at the present time.

There is no question that we agree on all those points. If we agree that we will try to do this, and will agree that we will attempt to do this very thing, can we not then also agree on the total amount of money that will be provided in new taxation, and both parties in Pennsylvania help provide the votes to pass such tax measures?

I am sure that you are well aware of the great difficulty that we have had on our side of the House in getting through the various tax measures that are on the calendar today and that particular bills that have passed up to this point.

You know we have amended and will continue to amend, seeking every effort to pass the tax revenue raising measures, and all we can do is thank you and ask you to join with us in finding the solution as soon as possible. There is no question that none of us on this side of the House, and I am sure there are no Members on the other side, who want to be here late in the fall.

We have other programs that we want to roll out here. There is no question that we have to have a highway program. There is no question that we have to have a highway safety program. Each of these has been waiting patiently in an effort to try to solve this tax revenue raising problem of the Commonwealth for the coming biennium.

Yes, the greatest need that you speak about, my friends, is on the calendar here today. And I ask you, and I ask you publicly for Republican votes and support to pass some or all of these tax measures.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to make a brief reply to the Majority Leader. Just to repeat what our caucus policy is at this point and until we have more information about the budget, existing taxes, revenue and where we go from here, there are no votes for the tax program.

If you are going to amend this bill, taxing whisky and beer at the source, we do not want to be criticized as we have been over the hasty passage of the sales tax bill. I realize that was fast in order to put $250,000 into the coffers of the State. I hear you are going to amend a major tax bill of tremendous importance to a huge industry of the state and you want it passed on Wednesday. I do not believe that anybody on this side can act that quickly on such an important measure. So I just want to reiterate to you the policy established by our caucus today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us if House Bill No. 1284, now on the calendar, was not a part of the original package dealing with $367,000 per day?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I would say that is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman not tell us if House Bill 1285, on the calendar and moved to second reading today, was not a part of the original $367,000 per day estimated revenue, that is, the trade-in feature?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. That was in the original bill.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman tell us if there is any difference in the word "haste" when we proposed and had to remove two items at that point to pass it with all Democratic votes than there is now at this point in taking each as a separate bill?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The question is rather confusing. You are wondering whether there was haste then and not haste now, is that your question?

Mr. McCANN. I do not believe there was any haste either time, but is there any difference in haste at the point when we passed the original 665 as amended, which took out these two items?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that particular question, I believe the state Senate felt that by passing 665 when it did—

The SPEAKER. I doubt that the position of the Senate is a matter of official recognition in this august Chamber.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I certainly will cross off my remarks. I am not here to glorify the other body, I tell you that.

In other words 665 was passed, as I said, in order to bring in $250,000 a day. It was passed hastily, as I say. The amendment that you inserted, changing the definition of tax on service labor when you took out the little word "if" and put in "whether or not," was a far-reaching amendment. In other words, the way you had the bill drafted first it was that only service labor would be taxed if only personal property applied to tangible personal property. When you changed that word the tax is on service labor whether or not you apply any personal property. That made an entirely different tax out of it, as I say. No one knows how far-reaching that was or how much that will bring in, I think the bill was rammed through with great haste and I believe very few people in Pennsylvania know the extent of the amendments that were in the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell us if the two bills of which I am speaking, 1284 and 1285, were not a part of the original sales tax bill which we had to amend?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, but I am now speaking about your amending the tax on whiskey and beer to make it an entirely new concept. I believe you stated that you hope to roll the bill on Wednesday after amending it on Tuesday. I doubt the bill will even be in print on the Members' desk on Wednesday.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that the gentleman can answer my question by stating that it is certainly a part of the original package, and we have amended these two items out into separate bills.

Now then, one of the bills we are going to amend again to reduce the revenue, we are telling you now that the amendments will do the following things to one bill, and we are asking you to consider that piece of legislation for Wednesday of this week, in an effort to try to help solve this financial situation—one step of it—this week.

Can the Minority Leader inform the House if they will consider that piece of legislation as amended on Wednesday, and I believe the Printer can deliver the copy here?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I cannot give you an answer to that until it has been submitted to the House Republican caucus. Unless they change their position of today in the caucus, I would say that they would not consider the bill on Wednesday.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the caucus is held tomorrow, when the bill is amended, even though it will not be in print until very, very late in the night, and we have clearly defined the amendments to the bill, will the Republican caucus consider that tax revenue measure?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I think you are getting the answer from the hinterland here.

Mr. McCANN. I would like to have it for the record, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Your question is, will they consider the amendments tomorrow in caucus?

At your request, yes, they will consider the amendments. What their disposition will be as to the bill and amendments, I can not forecast here today. Unless the opinion changes in the caucus I think there will be a negative answer.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly. All I asked was that he consider the amended bill in caucus.

There will be caucuses on the tax revenue measures tomorrow after we go in session. The decision that they may make they will be able to announce on the floor on Wednesday.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, on April 13, 1959, I filed my reasons for my vote on House Bill No. 665 which was the only bill under consideration at that time. It is incorrectly recorded in the Legislative Journal of April 13, 1959 as reasons for House Bill No. 666. I ask that the Legislative Journal be corrected so that my remarks can be referred to as House Bill No. 665.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread on the Journal.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to go to his office and refer the bills that have been introduced and asks the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside.

MR. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 829, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The General County Assessment Law" approved May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853) removing the restrictions placed upon the expenditure of tax moneys paid under protest eliminating the payment of interest on refunds.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAMB. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please explain the purpose of this bill?

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, under the present law, when a person is taking an appeal from a tax assessment, it is necessary for the treasurer of the municipality involved to set aside 25 percent of the amount in dispute and this amount is not to be used until the appeal has been decided. It is the purpose of this law to give the treasurer the right to use this money.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is the gentleman aware of the fact that originally the law required the full amount of the tax to be set aside and that later it was reduced so that only 25 percent is now required?

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I am aware of that and I do know that it was subsequently reduced to provide that 25 percent would be set aside.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Now, Mr. Speaker, under the present law is it not true that if the taxing body, that is, the borough or school district or whatever it is, that is holding this 25 percent in this trust fund feels that the 25 percent is too high, is it not correct that the municipality can petition the court at the present time so that less than the 25 percent need be set aside?

Mr. LAMB. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Now is it not true also, Mr. Speaker, that if the taxpayer or the taxing body uses this 25 percent or uses all the money paid under protest and if the taxpayer succeeds in his tax appeal and the court holds the assessment was too high, is it not true that he would be unable to get his money back even though he succeeds, if this money is not set aside?

Mr. LAMB. I do not think that necessarily follows, Mr. Speaker, because the bill expressly provides that the amount in dispute, if it is determined that the taxpayer is justified in taking the appeal, can be credited against any subsequent year's taxes. So I see no reason why there should be any question. I think the taxpayer is protected. The money in dispute will be applied to his tax bill.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. But under the present law, Mr. Speaker, is it not true that if he succeeds in his appeal he can get the money paid back from this trust fund immediately without waiting until the next year's taxes?

Mr. LAMB. That may be so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Now, further, Mr. Speaker, is it not true that under this bill if the taxing body spends this money and does not budget for it in this year, the taxpayer can be put off for a further year before he gets his money back which is rightfully his?

Mr. LAMB. I think, Mr. Speaker, that inasmuch as the taxpayer must pay his taxes every year and will be assessed every year that he is not losing.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Well, is it not correct to say that the bill presently states that the court may determine over what period of time such refunds shall be made even though he is clearly entitled to it? May I call your attention to Page 5 of the bill, lines 3, 4, 5.

Mr. LAMB. Would the gentleman read them. I do not have them.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I said taking this as an example, if the taxpayer succeeds in his appeal and it is determined that this money belonged to him, and the taxing body does not pay back even in the first year thereafter or can not give him a credit, for example, if the amount to be refunded is more than the tax, is it not correct that this bill would then say that it could be extended over more than one year?

Mr. LAMB. It is my understanding that the court has the right to extend the credit over a period of years, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Yes. Now further, Mr. Speaker, under the present law, if a taxpayer wins his tax appeal and it is determined that he should get some money back that he paid under protest, does he not get interest on that money at the present time?

Mr. LAMB. Under the present law he does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. And what does this bill do?

Mr. LAMB. This bill provides that there will be no interest paid, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker I ask the Members of this House to oppose this bill. It seems to me that this is legislation which is very unfair to an average taxpayer. Today there are a great many of these tax appeals being taken. As our school districts and our local municipalities need more money they are raising assessments, sometimes unjustly.

It seems to me that it is a fair and sensible thing to provide that 25 percent, not the whole amount as originally, but only 25 percent of the money paid under protest should be held in a trust fund and if the taxpayer succeeds, he should then get his money back rather than waiting for one year or two years as this bill would provide.

It further seems fair to me that if he pays his money under protest and he is found to be right that he should get interest on that. I say that this bill is very unfair to the average taxpayer because, if the municipality today spends that money as it would be permitted to do under this bill, then there is nothing there with which to pay back this taxpayer and, if the 25 percent is considered to be too high, there is a procedure under the present law that permits the court to say that the full amount need not be held but a smaller amount can be. I say that this bill, while perhaps it may have some peculiar significance in Allegheny County with some local problem, it applies to the entire state and I say that it is unfair to the average taxpayer.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, in some of the counties of this Commonwealth, some of the major taxpayers, the larger corporations, are able to hold up, in a sense, the treasurer from using hundred of thousands of dollars by taking appeals.

Now it is the purpose of this bill that the treasurer would have the right to use this money. I do know that the law as it now exists calls for 25 percent. I do not know why that amount was arrived at. I do believe that the individual taxpayer is well protected, because the bill distinctly provides that if his assessment has been unfair then the amount can be credited against any taxes that would arise in the future.

Now as to the matter of interest, I would just like to point out that ordinarily interest is usually paid under one of two conditions. Number one, it is paid under a matter of contract, or, number two, it is paid where money might be considered unjustly withheld. In this case and in the case of all tax assessments the law presumes that the assessment is fair.

The assessment is usually arrived at by the assessor taking into consideration the value of surrounding properties, by taking into consideration the current market value and, I think we have to agree, that in practically all the cases the assessment is made in good faith. So, as a result, if a person does make an appeal from an assessment, it is not because he feels that the assessor has arbitrarily over-assessed him.

I might point out that if we consider the amount that any individual taxpayer may receive in interest by reason of having the amount of his tax bill set aside or returned to him would be comparatively small as compared with the amount of interest that would be paid to the larger corporations and to the big taxpayers. I would just like to point out that it is the taxpayers who are paying the interest. We have to consider the taxpayers as a whole, as a complete body, and I do not think that the individual taxpayer is suffering.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 60

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley, especially during recent years, has suffered increasingly severe flood damage—in March, 1956 the greatest flood since 1865 and this spring another of comparable destructive effect.

In contrast, Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred relatively little damage. The reason for this disparity in damage clearly lies in the fact that the system of flood control dams for the lower river has long been completed. The lower river tributary flood-waters are habitually held back until flood conditions abate.

Although the flood control system for the Allegheny Valley was authorized more than twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States, the central project, the great Kinzua Dam above Warren, remains stalled in the planning stage.

Continued inaction in getting on with building the Kinzua dam means a heavy handicap to northwestern Pennsylvania—an ominous, ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property, an active and deadening threat to the economic growth and recreational development of the region.

Like so many areas where the Congress has mounted vast public works to meet needs beyond local powers of enterprise, the Upper Allegheny Valley Watershed now feels a decisive need for positive and immediate Federal action; therefore be it.

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation, including legislation to enunciate the will of Congress if this point continue unclear to the Federal courts, to bring into being without further delay the great Kinzua Dam; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

MEMBERS OF LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS, PHILADELPHIA COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as a break in our arduous tasks here, I would like to introduce a group of women from the city of Philadelphia and surrounding environs. They are ladies from the League of Women Voters of the Philadelphia area. They are seated on the other side of the Senate.

Would the Chair please recognize them and have them stand in order for the Members of the Senate to have an opportunity to see some of the fair ladies from our city?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, is very happy to welcome the visitors who are the guests of Senator Weiner, a group from the League of Women Voters from Philadelphia.

Will you please rise and be recognized by the Senate?

STUDENTS FROM WASHINGTON SCHOOL, EAST PENN UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT, EMMAUS, PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I have the distinct pleasure today to introduce a group of young citizens from Lehigh County who are visiting with us. They are fifty-eight in number and consist of the sixth grade pupils of the Washington School, East Penn Union School District, in Emmaus, Pennsylvania. They are accompanied by their teachers, Mr. A. Deischer and Mr. C. Treichler. I would like for the Chair to welcome this group to the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, is very happy to welcome the sixth grade pupils of the Washington School, the

Will you please rise in order for the Members of the Senate to greet you?

On behalf of the Senate, may the Chair thank the students for the very gracious applause they gave to the Members of the Senate. That is very unusual and we certainly appreciate it.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I might, at this time, point out that these children are from a borough where they are holding a centennial celebration later this year. You are all invited to come down to that centennial celebration. You can be assured, Mr. President, that I will not raise a beard this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I guess I will be like Cato in the Roman Senate. He used to get up and time and again thundered that Carthage must be destroyed.

During the two Sessions of the Legislature, which preceded the current Session, Senator Lane and I sponsored a bill to regulate children's camps. In 1955, when disaster struck Pennsylvania, we did not even have a list of the camps and we did not know where to send help. I talked time and again to their leaders to set their houses in order, and they promised to do so. However, alas and alack, they failed in their duty.

Accordingly, Mr. President, to put more grist in the mills of Senator Blass and the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, I am presenting this bill, on behalf of Senator Lane and myself.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING CONGRESS TO APPROPRIATE PLANNING AND CONSTRUCTION MONEY FOR THE SHENANGO RIVER RESERVOIR

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SHAFER, BERGER, WEINER, BARR and RUTH offered the following resolution (Serial No. 110), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 28, 1959.

Since the summer of 1958, the city of Sharon and surrounding municipalities have sustained damages from three serious floods. The flood of January 1959 alone caused damages of $6,000,000 along the Shenango River.

Losses of several million dollars were also incurred in the flood of July 1958.

Industry on the Shenango River also requires a controlled flow of water. Augmented flow of the river is a necessity during dry periods in order that factories may maintain an even production and employment rate.

The Shenango Reservoir, north of Sharpsville, Pennsylvania, was authorized by Congress in 1938. Plans are nearing completion.

When completed, the reservoir will provide much needed flood control for the Shenango River area and will provide a controlled flow of water in the river. It will also facilitate navigation on the Ohio River.

Construction money must now be allocated in order to prevent any gap between the completion of planning and the start of construction of this urgently needed project.

Recent floods have proven beyond a doubt that we cannot afford this project to lag. Hesitation only means further destruction of human life, property and industrial production; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania strongly urge the Congress of the United States to appropriate during this session $176,000 in planning money and $500,000 in construction money for the Shenango River Reservoir.

Mr. SHAFER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KALMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, the General Assembly on May 24, 1945 passed the Urban Redevelopment Law. Many of the counties, and the communities in these counties, in the State of Pennsylvania have taken advantage of this law and, in cooperation with the Federal Government, have begun urban redevelopment projects.

Unfortunately, the Urban Redevelopment Law of 1945 was incomplete in that in these communities where they have urban renewal or urban redevelopment projects, the Urban Redevelopment Authorities in the counties, acting as the agents for these communities, have purchased properties or have taken properties under eminent domain proceedings and have razed the buildings on the properties and have readied the properties then for resale, either to the communities or agencies acting for the communities. However, where there has been an objection to the eminent domain proceedings, the urban redevelopment agency has not been able to pass title and these projects have been delayed and have bogged down, many of them now for a period of two, three and possibly four years.

The bill which I am about to introduce, on behalf of myself and several Senators, makes an amendment to the law which would benefit these Redevelopment Authorities so that title would vest in a Redevelopment Authority upon the acceptance and approval by the Court of Common Pleas of the particular county of the bond of the Redevelopment Authority, and secure payments for damages sustained by the owners of the property by the selection and appropriation of the Redevelopment Authority. This would greatly expedite the acquisition and resale of the land in the urban renewal areas.

Under the present law, the Redevelopment Authority can obtain possession of the property upon the filing of its bond and approval by the court, but title is necessary in order to convey the property. In some cases, if title were not passed until the landowner has been compensated, the program may be delayed for considerable periods spent in litigation, growing out of condemnation proceedings.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. KALMAN, MURRAY, SCOTT and WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 703, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 24, 1945 (P. L. 991), entitled "Urban Redevelopment Law," providing that title to property taken by eminent domain may be vested in an Authority by order of court upon filing of a bond.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted, as amended.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, last week there were some observations on this floor concerning the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Code. As a result of this, on subsequent days, there was some publicity given out to the effect that we in this Body are concerned about fixing laws. The editorials in The Evening News and The Patriot, I suppose, referred to " 'No Fix' and Outraged Politicians."

I noticed, consonant with this publicity, a statement given out by the head of the department which was involved, the Highway Safety Department, to the effect that we were looking for special treatment for certain types of people. If that is the impression he has, he is wrong. I never intended to give any impression that I want special treatment for anyone. My protest was in the operation of the law as it applied to everyone.

Duplicate persecution or duplicate punishment is obnoxious to everyone who believes in enforcement of laws and law enforcement by decree of the Legislature.

Today, we see the opposite happening. A person who violates a law is duly fined and prosecuted in the courts. On the other hand, we see another agency who takes this individual and punishes him again. For example, a person who commits a violation, for which he is punished in the court—maybe it is for driving while intoxicated—receives a $200 fine and a year's suspension. Along comes this man, using a certain dubious power, and he adds to that six months more suspension.

A person who drives a taxicab or who drives a truck, for instance, drives 50,000 miles a year or more. He is exposed to the road all of the time because his livelihood depends on it. If he makes one pass, passing a truck on a road as passing on a road, he is given a fifteen day or a thirty day suspension. In that case, his livelihood is taken away for a month and he is not only punished, but his wife and children are punished and they do without food and so on for a whole month. I do not consider this a special class.

I know people who never touch a drink while they work, but after work they will. If that person drives while he is socially active, he is persecuted. His livelihood is taken away from him under the present interpretation of the law. This deprives his family of the benefit of his income and salary during the time of his suspension. I think that the law should be changed. I think that this man's power should be curbed in these instances; not that anyone should be given any special attention.

I believe this Body passed a resolution in which it requested the Secretary of Revenue not to suspend licenses of people whose livelihood depends on driving. That is not asking for special treatment for anyone.

I think this Body should act in these cases of injustice. I also think that the man who issued this statement implying that this Body or any Member of this Body is asking for special treatment, or is involved in fixing any laws for any particular people, should certainly be curtailed or reprimanded for such type of publicity.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, during the last two Sessions and I believe many Sessions before, we have had the recurring problem of what can be done about the State Board of Law Examiners. While I am fully appreciative of the fact that we have a division of power under our Constitution, yet I believe it is a matter of such concern and importance, not only to lawyers and prospective lawyers but to everyone in the Commonwealth, that we should give some serious thought to these problems. I appreciate that you cannot legislate into the realm of the Judiciary or Executive Branches, but these are matters which affect everyone in Pennsylvania.

One of the finest treatises on this is a very short one, and I would like to read it into the record. It is written by Ella Graubart, of the Allegheny County Bar. It reads as follows:

> "Each year in Pennsylvania we observe an incredible and disturbing phenomenon. Men who have completed a full course in an accredited School of Law with average and good grades and have received a Bachelor of Laws degree take the Pennsylvania Bar examinations and fail.
> "We have begun to accept this incongruous situation with equanimity. But should we?
>
> "We shall take one Pennsylvania law school as an example and show its experience with the Pennsylvania Bar examinations. This Law School requires every applicant to have a Bachelor's degree from an accredited college before entrance into the Law School. The curriculum provides for three years of study during the day. In 1958 the school graduated 50 students, of whom 48 took the Pennsylvania Bar examinations. Of these only 14 passed.
> "This means that 34, or 71% failed. Most law school graduates also take a cram course to prepare for the bar examinations. Many of the 34 who failed in the July, 1958, examinations took a cram course. They will now take a cram course again and make another try at the bar examinations.
> "All of this places a heavy financial burden on the men and their families, to say nothing of the psychological damage, the frustration and anxiety of the would be lawyers, their parents and friends.
> "It seems to some of us that many of the bar examination questions are intentionally complicated and confusing, as though the prime purpose was to emphasize trickery and sharp thinking. Many of the questions merely test the student's memory. A good memory is a great asset for a lawyer, but a far more effective weapon is persistent diligence in learning all there is to know about his case.
> "If candidates take cram courses twice and then pass the bar examinations at the second or third try, are they better able to practice at the bar?
>
> "A lawyer should be a man with a broad cultivated background, a good analytical mind and the willingness to work with persistence and good will to solve the problems which his clients bring to him.
> "A college degree and a degree from an accredited law school should give him the tools with which to start in his profession.
> "Old law is changing so rapidly and new law is being made so fast, that there is no reason for enthroning memory on so high a pedestal.
> "Curiosity, inquiry, integrity and industry are far more important.
> "Of all the candidates who took the Pennsylvania bar examinations in July, 1958, from all law schools, only about half passed, specifically Dickinson Law School 58%; Duquesne Law School 40%; Pennsylvania Law School 67.74%; Pittsburgh Law School 31.57%; Temple Law School 50.58%; Villanova Law School 64.28%. These figures include a total of 328 students from six Pennsylvania law schools who took the examinations in July, 1958. Of these 47 were 'repeaters.' In the January, 1958 exam, of 45 students who took the examinations the first time, 26 passed. In the July, 1957 examinations, of 269 who took the examinations for the first time, 160 passed.
> "The reason why half of the candidates failed are many—some did not have time to answer all the questions and left a number unanswered. Some were nervous and unable to express themselves with clearness and directness. Some were exhausted from studying day and night and taxing their memories with legal formulas and statutes. Some were trained in law schools outside of Pennsylvania and were not familiar with Pennsylvania statutes and procedures.
> "Whatever the reason, another cram course and another examination and the expenditure of another $1,000 and another few months will not better qualify these men for practice in the courts of Pennpylvania.
> "Do we need bar examinations? Why should not every person who graduates from an accredited law school and has a good character be permitted to practice law in this state?
> "In view of the disastrous results of each year's bar examinations with about half the applicants failing, should we not reconsider the problem? Cannot the State Board of Law Examiners and the faculties of the law schools and the Pennsylvania Bar Association get together and determine what a Pennsylvania lawyer should know and what he should be and correlate the curriculum and the bar examinations so that every man who gets a Bachelor of Laws degree from an accredited law school can anticipate passing the bar examinations—without a cram course! Perhaps he could be admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania without taking a bar examination.
> "There seems to be no reason why we must stand by year after year and see serious young men and women caught in a web of our own making.
> "I would like to suggest, therefore, that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania appoint a committee made up of faculty members of the law schools in Pennsylvania, members of the Board of Law Examiners and members of the Pennsylvania Bar Association to study the curricula of the law schools, the work of the cram courses and the examinations of the Board, and to recommend a system which is more effective in admitting qualified lawyers to practice in Pennsylvania."

From my own experience, Mr. President, I took my bar examinations in 1924. I was one of the fortunate ones; I passed the examinations the first time I took them. I did not pass them because I was more brilliant. It may have been that they knew about the horseshoe or the clover-leaf in my pocket. Therefore, it is not a matter of sour grapes.

However, Mr. President, I have a great concern for the young men who seek a career in the legal profession. I have a great concern for fairness in all things. I am quite sure that the Members of this Senate share with me the concern that we should be fair with everyone. If nothing more is done than we awaken the conscience of the people of Pennsylvania and those in authority so that something can be done to relieve this unfair situation,

I think the time we spent this morning shall not have been spent in vain.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe Senator Walker deserves our gratitude for bringing to the attention of this Body the situation pertaining to Bar examinations. I, somehow, will have to paraphrase the words of Jefferson to the effect that, "I abhor czars." Any czar is no good. This commission, which examines our law students, consists of czars. They are out of our control. It must be an anomaly that of all the boards, this is one board which is not appointed by the Governor and is not confirmed by the Senate. Once you set them up, all they know is to engage in carnage.

Mr. President, I believe this is a subject which should be examined by the Joint State Government Commission and corrected. I am not casting any aspersions upon His Honor, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania however what we are doing now in the Joint State Government Commission is giving more and more power to the Supreme Court. This situation, which Senator Walker brought to your attention, should command immediate action. It is disgraceful to take young men, who just completed their studies in a law school, and produce so many failures. These are calculated failures, simply to keep a certain number of people from being admitted to the Bar. The sooner we pay some attention to this matter, the better it will be for Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, while we are in the process of soul-searching here today, I thought that I might mention something that has been on my mind for a long, long time, and that is the sloppy method in which the Members of the House and Senate pass legislation. Down through the years we, as Members of this Senate, have continued to delegate our Authority to the various bureaus and commissions which operate our State Government.

For example, we had a speech a little while ago by a distinguished Member from Philadelphia regarding highway safety. The reason we are confronted with these problems on highway safety today is because we, as Members of the House and Senate, have delegated these powers to the various bureaus and commissions, resulting in the fact that they, in turn, make a great number of the rules and regulations. For example, let us take the sales tax. What did we do? We passed legislation and then we said, we will give the power to the various departments and bureaus to make such rules and regulations which are consistent with the provisions of the Act. Therefore, we delegate to them that power. Ordinarily and generally speaking, after we review the rules and regulations, we cannot recognize the legislation which we have passed.

I know it is difficuut; it is very difficult to go into all of the ramifications of every piece of legislation that comes before us because we get tired, too, like anyone else. Howevver, I do believe that this Senate should be more deliberative in passing legislation. We should be very careful that we do not surrender our legislative prerogatives. We should be very careful that we do not place too much authority with bureaus and commissions because we, as Members of the Senate, are answerable to the people of Pennsylvania and the peoplpe of Pennsylvania have delegated upon us the responsibility to legislate intelligently and thoroughly.

Therefore, since I heard the distinguished gentleman from Cambria County speak about the problems of the law students, I might say that there is no wonder that a great number of the law students fail to pass their examinations, because I believe what we should do here in this Senate is start looking over these obsolete pieces of legislation which are now on onr statute books and which are not in effect. We should try to endeavor to bring about a general repealer of many of the statutes on our statute books which are not in full force and effect at the present time.

LOWER MERION-NARBERTH COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, it has been our privilege today to have with us a number of groups. I understand we have about 900 children in the Capitol as visitors. I also realize that members of the League of Women Voters bave been introduced.

Now, Mr. President, I am very happy to present to you, and the Members of the Senate, some of the finest. I take great pleasure in introducing to you, at this time, the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, is most happy to welcome the guests of Senator Propert, the Council of Republican Women from Lower Merion Township and the surrounding adjacent communities in Montgomery County. Will the young ladies from that council please rise so that the Senate may recognize you?

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATE PARLIAMENTARIAN

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, at this time, would like to correct a very grievous error that he made yesterday when presiding. Yesterday was the occasion of the birthday of one of the most efficient Members of the Senate staff; a man who, as you all know, has done invaluable work and has been of invaluable aid to the Senate of Pennsylvania. In my opinion, he is possibly the outstanding Parliamentarian in all of the forty-nine States.

I refer to none other than our own Mark Gruell, who yesterday celebrated his thirty-ninth birthday. Let us congratulate him.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, let us all join in singing, "Happy Birthday to You."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All right, let us do that.

(The Members of the Senate then joined in the singing of "Happy Birthday to You.")

REMARKS BY SENATE PARLIAMENTARIAN

Mr. GRUELL. Mr. President, the only thing I can say is thank you very, very much. I have been here quite a long time, as many of you know, and this is the first time this has ever happened. I am very deeply grateful. Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is well that they know where he is, Senator.

STUDENTS WELCOMED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I see another group of students sitting in the gallery. I do not know where they are from, but I want to assure these students that we are very happy to have you here, too.

Will you please rise so that we can recognize you?

STUDENTS FROM VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY WELCOMED TO SENATE

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I had a group of students from Villanova University, headed by Dr. Nova and also by Mr. John Kelly, that I wanted to introduce. I sent them touring the Capitol, because I did not know that we were going to get so close to adjournment, but I do want to note that they were here for the record of the Journal.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is sorry they are not here, Senator. We would have welcomed them as we did all the other groups of students, and we know that your remarks will be spread upon the Jorunal.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 28, 1959.

The House met at 11:00 a. m. EST.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Gracious God, Whose Infinite Love and tender mercy reaches the hearts and minds of men in the busy experiences of life. Prick our consciences that we may know and sense Thy divine presence in the life of each one of us. Purge our hearts of the self-sufficiency which Thou dost find abiding there. Instill therein the awareness of our dependence upon Thee and the strength and stay which Thou wilt be in life. Grant to each of us the humility as characterized by the Master of old, and the stamina with which to exert the faith as characterized by our forefathers of days gone by.

Quicken our steps that Thy Will and Thy Way may be accomplished in the day in which we live. And kindle within each one of us the challenges and goals which Thou wouldst have us attain and aid us in reaching their fulfilment: through the Blessed Trinity; Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is also informed that we have a delegation with us from the Lancaster League of Women Voters. They are the guests of the gentlemen from Lancaster, the Messrs. Merry, Eshleman, Royer and Wood.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would advise the Members that before sending notices to the desk of visitors that the visitors be actually in the Hall of the House and not simply a delegation that is expected. It places the Chair and the House in an embarrassing position when we proclaim the presence of delegations which are not actually with us.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 63.

In the House of Representatives, April 27, 1959.

It has been alleged that election frauds are regularly perpetrated with impunity: that in many areas of the Commonwealth free elections and the free exercise of suffrage are denied to great numbers of people.

It is claimed that in large cities abuses of the privilege of assistance in voting are permitted to occur at every election, and that the residence and registration requirements are regularly violated,

If these charges are true, then our elections have not reflected the actual will of our electorate and it is possible that persons are presently holding public office who are not entitled thereto.

It is imperative that the General Assembly have knowledge of the facts in order that appropriate action may be taken; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint five members of the Senate who together shall constitute a joint committee to investigate into the practices and procedures employed in the holding of elections throughout the Commonwealth giving particular attention to election practices in large cities and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of the Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved. That the committee so appointed shall report its finings and recommendations to this General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 111, 132 and 397.

SENATE MESSAGE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 28, 1959.

Since the Summer of 1958 the City of Sharon and surrounding municipalities have sustained damages from three serious floods. The flood of January 1959 alone caused damages of $6,000,000 along the Shenango River. Losses of several million dollars were also incurred in the flood of July 1958.

Industry on the Shenango River also requires a controlled flow of water. Augmented flow of the river is a necessity during dry periods in order that factories may maintain an even production and employment rate.

The Shenango Reservoir, north of Sharpsville, Pennsylvania, was authorized by Congress in 1938. Plans are nearing completion.

When completed, the reservoir will provide much needed flood control for the Shenango River area and will provide a controlled flow of water in the river. It will also facilitate navigation on the Ohio River.

Construction money must now be allocated in order to prevent any gap between the completion of planning and the start of construction of this urgently needed project.

Recent floods have proven beyond a doubt that we can not afford this project to lag. Hesitation only means further destruction of human life, property, and industrial production; therefore be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the Senate of Pennsylvania strongly urge the Congress of the United States to appropriate during this session $176,000 in planning money and $500,000 in construction money for the Shenango River Reservoir.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this is the Senate resolution dealing with the Shenango River planning funds, and I am asking that the House do concur in this resolution immediately for the hearings regarding this and the Kinzua dam are scheduled on April 30th in Washington D.C.

So, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House do concur in the Senate Resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Democratic Members of the House be sure to take their House calendars with them. I am going to ask for a recess of this House from 12:05 EST time to 2:15 EST time and there will be a Democratic Caucus in 30 minutes following the recess of this House. I ask that every Member on the Democratic side of the House come to the caucus with his calendar at the scheduled time. The first 30 minutes is for lunch.

Mr. Speaker, I now ask for a recess of two hours and fifteen minutes.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we will likewise have a caucus and we will reserve the first half hour for Members to have their lunch. That will mean 1:35 DST to arrive at the caucus room, if you please.

There being no objection

House Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 411

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair craves permission to rest his throat a bit and requests the gentleman from Armstrong to preside.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. SHERMAN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 135, entitled:

An Act providing that in actions of trespass founded upon negligence the contributory negligence of a plaintiff shall not bar recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, on March 3rd, 1959, this bill was thoroughly debated and discussed by me, along with various men in this House.

This bill, which ordinarily seeks to deny a recovery to the plaintiff just because he was the slightest bit at fault, then goes further and states that the contributory negligence of the plaintiff shall not bar recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of the injury.

Rather than debate it by me any further, I wish to submit my reasons at this time in support of this bill.

I think there are others, and I submit a list of others who seek to debate this bill, and I ask that the list be recognized.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I will make a very brief statement on behalf of this bill.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association has unanimously endorsed this bill. The Philadelphia Bar Association has taken the same action. It was the law of this Commonwealth for almost fifty years until recently changed by the Supreme Court. This bill will reenact the old law which is a sound law.

Mr. AGNEW. Briefly, Mr. Speaker, this is the type of bill that is called a lawyers' bill. I suppose it is true that generally speaking most lawyers favor this bill. I think it should be explained as briefly as possible to the membership why lawyers favor this kind of legislation.

The present law on this subject is a harsh doctrine. It works an unfair legal advantage against an injured victim of the negligence of some other person, and the present law which we are seeking to amend, in a not very drastic manner by this bill, gives an unfair advantage to the person whose negligence has caused the injury to another person and to that insurance company which represents him.

Now there are, without going into detail, many accidents in this state where both parties suffer serious injuries, where both parties have adequate liability insurance, where there is no insurance payment made to either party because of the doctrine of contributory negligence.

As representatives of the people I think we are too often persuaded by the effective lobby which is admittedly a selfish interest and we are not enough persuaded to cast our vote in the best interests of the general welfare of the people we represent. I think this bill is for the people who are unfortunate enough to be injured and to suffer personal bodily injury as the result of the negligence of some other person, in this day and age, usually in an automobile accident.

I know many of you feel you are committed to vote against the bill because you have been advised by the insurance lobby that the cost of insurance will increase. This is not a fact. If there is any such increase, it would be negligible and would not be enough to justify the insurance commissioner to raise the insurance rates. There is only one thing that will increase the cost of insurance and that is a substantial increase in the number of accidents.

I say a vote against this bill is a vote for the insurance lobby and a vote for this bill is for those people who are unfortunate enough to be injured and to suffer bodily injury by the negligence of some other person.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask recognition for the purpose of speaking against this bill.

House Bill No. 135 was defeated in this House on March 3rd, 1959. The sponsors are Sherman, Goldstein, Gelfand and Stewart, who are members of the Bar of Pennsylvania. The bill provides that in actions of trespass founded upon negligence, the contributory negligence of a plaintiff shall not bar recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury.

No one can actually define proximate cause. No two judges or attorneys can define proximate cause. Their opinions differ and vary as to the meaning of proximate cause. This bill represents a controversial piece of legislation and undoubtedly under this bill both parties involved in an accident will be paid off if this bill is allowed to pass and is enacted into law.

This certainly is breeding more calelessness on the highways. As you know, we have enough irresponsible people in the streets now without being responsible for them in event of an accident.

The present system of judges and juries have administered the law of contributory negligence very satisfactorily for many years, and certainly do not feel that it should be possible for irresponsible and careless people to collect.

Verdicts will undoubtedly rise so as to pay off these careless and irresponsible people and increase the burden of the other people in the state to pay increased insurance permiums for such payment.

Because of the large verdicts handed down today by the courts the cost of insurance has risen 300 percent in cases of bodily injury, liability and property damage.

There is no question that sizable additional rates will be necessary and instead of one lawsuit there undoubtedly will be two lawsuits, and again I see a large increase in rates. The rates for automobile insurance have increased considerably in the past few years and just recently the National Bureau of Surety and Casualty Underwriters have petitioned for a 17.4 percent increase in passenger insurance rates. The Bureau whose members do 31 percent of the auto insurance in this Commonwealth filed their proposals last month with the State Insurance Department. The Bureau contends that the increase is necessary because its members suffered a $7 million loss during 1956 and 1957 in Pennsylvania, and the still incomplete 1958 figures made these higher.

One of the reasons they have petitioned for an increase in rates is because of the increasing number of accident claims. In 1958 the Bureau stated that there was a 21 percent increase in bodily injury cost.

If this bill is allowed to become a law, it will be difficult for the automobile owners in Pennsylvania to obtain insurance. There are many Members in this House who have sons under 25 years of age who operate motor vehicles. Many of these under-age operators are capable drivers. However, the parents must pay 100 percent or more increase in automobile insurance rates because of the under-age 25-year category.

It is difficult today to obtain insurance where there are drivers in any family who are under 25 years of age, and the insurance companies are reluctant to issue you insurance for this reason.

The proponents of contributory negligence, quite unwillingly, are telling the operators of motor vehicles in this Commonwealth, Drive as recklessly as you please. No matter how negligent you are, if you are injured and your car is wrecked, you can be certain of recoverable damages, just so long as the other fellow is a tiny bit negligent.

I ask the Members of this House to vote against this bill and I request, Mr. Speaker, that only those Members answering to their names be recorded.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the previous speaker has indicated that the courts do not know the meaning of proximate cause. As long as we have been having accidents in Pennsylvania, and as long as the courts have been considering accident cases, they have been considering and defining the subject of proximate cause. I think certainly legal authorities will agree that proximate cause is well defined.

I just want to present to the House, very briefly, the thinking of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in presenting this bill which we have presented in the House. We know, all of us, that there is such a thing as the common law and statutory law. Under the common law if the plaintiff is negligent in any degree, even though unrelated to the accident, he is barred from recovery. But the courts have decided that where negligence is prescribed by a statute that if a plaintiff commits negligence that is in violation of a statute, that does not bar his recovery unless it is a proximate cause of the accident. So we have the peculiar situation of a double standard in Pennsylvania. If the plaintiff is guilty of common law negligence in any degree he is forbidden from recovering, but if he has violated a statute and is negligent in that respect, he is barred only if that negligence is a proximate cause of the accident.

Now, all we want to do is make one standard in Pennsylvania so that the plaintiff is barred, whether statutory or common law negligence, only if his negligence is a proximate cause of the accident. So we ask you to support this bill.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, has this bill been amended in any way to make it a better bill than when last considered on March 3?

Mr. SHERMAN. No. The Judiciary Committee approved it 100 percent, the Pennsylvania Bar approved it, and we believe it is a very good bill.

Mr. STIMMEL. But since last considered, this bill has been amended in no way?

Mr. SHERMAN. That is true.

Mr. STIMMEL. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to debate this bill. I came into, and I quote, "this august Chamber" and I find that the legal profession is somehow a much maligned segment of this House of Representatives. That is regrettable. I do not think that it is meant in all sincerity. I think perhaps the non-lawyers in this House sometimes grasp bills such as this and seem to stick the needle into the lawyers with them.

The gentleman from Westmoreland called attention to the House that no judge nor lawyer can define proximate cause. Well, first of all I think that he is in error. I think I could venture a definition of proximate cause, but that is beside the point.

My point is this, that the law does not intend to be or purport to be an exact science. The law's concern is to dispense justice, and I think it has been indicated by previous speakers on behalf of this bill that the purpose of this bill is to secure justice for all parties and not just one side of the court room.

I would ask the gentlemen here in the House how many people who opposed this bill when it first went through the House, and who are prepared to oppose it today, have spoken to judges in their own counties concerning this particular bill? I have. I would venture to say that had they, the majority of judges throughout this Commonwealth would favor this legislation, because it does clear the air, it does restore equity and justice to the courts.

Let us be practical politicians, momentarily. What one of us here would not be proud to be on the same platform as a judge and have a judge commend us? I do not think it unfair for me to say that in Erie County we have judges who are so confused by the state of the law on this particular subject that they qualify what we call their charge to the courts, in the fear of being in error, so that the charge now reads in effect what they believe the law should be, and which this bill, House bill 135, would make it again.

One last point. Much has been made of increased insurance rates. The insurance industry is a large one. They have actuaries and statisticians who can come up with all kinds of figures at most any time, but yet I have not seen nor have I heard one opponent to this bill, either today or previously, who can give us any idea as to what the approximate increase due to the passage of this bill will be. To me that is entirely speculative, and I think the nail was hit right on the head a few minutes ago when the gentleman remarked, Mr. Agnew I believe, from Allegheny County, that any increase in rates is going to be attributable to increased accidents and increased travel on our highways and not enactment of House Bill 135.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I spoke in favor of this bill on March 3, and I have not changed my opinion. The gentleman from Westmoreland, if anything, made me more convinced that this is good legislation. He used the figure 300 percent as the increase in insurance rates. Well, it cannot be exactly 300 percent; may be 295 percent, but I doubt that it is 300 even. However, everything has increased in price by 300 percent if you go back to 1910 or 1915 or some date like that.

Also, the gentleman from Westmoreland forgot to tell you that these drivers today who are guilty of contributory negligence are still paid by the insurance companies today. They collect. They collect under their collision coverage, they collect under the medical payment provision of their policy, so that some of the statements that he gave us in opposition to this bill I do not think hold water at all.

I think this is good legislation. It makes a very slight change in the existing law. I think the Members of this House should vote in favor of progressive legislation such as this.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I have talked to many attorneys, many attorneys who are learned and well learned in their profession, and I spoke to them in reference to this bill. They are opposed to this bill. I am also informed by not only learned attorneys-at-law, but by judges also that there are no two attorneys or judges who can define proximate cause. Neither one, neither attorney nor judge, will have the same definition.

There is no question as to why the insurance rates are increased. If the gentlemen who have spoken in favor of this bill will check the records they will find that the reason insurance rates have increased over the period of the last ten years is because of the frequent number of accidents and the high verdicts that have been given by juries in the automobile accident field. Therefore I ask that all the Members here vote against this bill.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, maybe I should not talk, but I heard a statement made here that lawyers are opposed to this bill. We have a good many lawyers in this House, and those who have spoken have spoken in favor. We have some insurance men in the House, and all those who have spoken have spoken against. Take it from there.

Mr. BOWMAN. Unfortunately the remarks of the gentleman require me to arise. I am a lawyer, and I am opposed to this legislation. I am perfectly willing to debate with any lawyer on the floor of this House the very intricate and very complicated and complex problems which this bill creates. I do not think it would be particularly interesting or enlightening to the lay Members of this House. I did not speak on this bill the last time it was debated. I have no intention to today. I merely say that I am opposed to this legislation.

The entire law of negligence has risen through the decisional law, through the common law, not by statute with respect to this particular field. I think the courts in their improvement of the justice and the improvement of law will take care of this problem without this Legislature interfering or entering into the field of common law negligence. I propose to vote against the bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I will take just a moment to say that I am also an attorney and I am opposed to this bill. I gave this bill very thorough consideration. I presented it to my bar association and I also represent their attitude when I vote against the bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I think the Members of the House ought to know that there are two kinds of lawyers, those that represent plaintiffs and those who represent defendants.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, my primary business as a lawyer is representing plaintiffs.

On the question recurring,

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SHERMAN filed the following reasons for his vote on HB No. 135.

Provides that in any action of trespass founded upon negligence, contributory negligence of the plaintiff shall not bar recovery on his part unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury.

In January 1957 the Pennsylvania Bar Association, after spirited discussion and argument, the proposal to make the doctrine of comparative negligence the law was defeated.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Judge Leo H. McKay of Mercer County offered a resolution which was referred to the Appropriate Committee to study the subject. By a vote of 8 to 5 the Committees approved the resolution which was incorporated in HB 135. The Pennsylvania Bar Association at its meeting held in January 1959 passed the resolution by a vote of 76 to 46.

The law at present is that a defendant is liable for a negligent act on his part if it is the proximate cause of plaintiff's injury, but a plaintiff is barred from recovery if his negligent act contributed in the slightest degree to the injury.

Two of the latest cases on this subject are Crane Vs. Neal, 389 Paa 329 and Middletown vs. Glenn 393 Pa. 360 both of which hold that "there is not the slightest doubt that a plaintiff is guilty of contributory negligence and can't recover if his negligence contributed in any degree, however slight, to the injury.

The great majority of the States of this Country now have the rule embodied in Bill 135. The present law has been repudiated in England where it arose, and in many states which formerly adhered to it. It has not been included by the American Law Institute in the Restatement of the Law of Torts—it applies different standards to the respective parties to the litigation—and where applied in practice it operates unjustly by denying to plaintiffs with meritorius cases to plaintiffs who have become maimed, crippled and disabled for life—the case of the uncompensated victim against the case of the careless and negligent defendant who is permitted to go scott free regardless of his blame.

It encourages juries to disregard the law and render compromise verdicts in order to avoid injustices.

It is essentially in accord with the Restatement of Torts on the subject.

The Bar Association's study of comparative negligence has focused the attention of its members upon the essential inequity of the "slightest degree rule."

The present proposal presents a middle course. It eliminates the distinction of the rights of the parties without imposing the objectionable features of comparative negligence rule. The present law denies recovery in meritorious cases or brings about explosive verdicts who are reluctant to apply it, and if it be pointed out that juries frequently disregard the law, certainly that fact is entitled to little weight as an argument on its merits.

The present proposal places plaintiff and defendant on the same footing. It is just and equitable e.g. plaintiff can recover if defendants' fault is a proximate i.e. direct cause of plaintiffs' injury.

Note in present law—two inconsistent rules affecting a plaintiff's right to recover.

In statutory violation cases e.g. motor vehicles, plaintiff is barred from recovery because of contributory negligence only by the proximate cause of his injury—and in non-statutory cases plaintiff is barred only if his negligence contributes in the slightest degree to his injury.

The present proposal would simpify the law by removing the distinction between the rules of degree between statutory and non-statutory cases.

In 65 C.J.S. at page 742, 11 Federal court decisions and decisions from 40 States in support of the rule in Bill 135.

All we are doing is asking for an Act which will make the Law correspond with existing practices as it is employed in the negligence field today. It is more honest to have a law which corresponds with the practice. For that reason among others the bill is a good one and should be adopted.

I request your support of this bill.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. KEE asked and obtained unanimous consent to extend the time five days on House Bill No. 336, Printer's No. 246, on page 16 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 405, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law" approved June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1095) authorizing cities boroughs and townships to regulate and supervise the use of explosives for blasting.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WARGO asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section I (Section 20), page 2, line 9, by inserting after "done," "where such regulations are in effect. In the absence of such regulations such blasting shall be done in accordance with regulations prescribed by and under the supervision of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 569, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) changing provisions with respect to acquisition of real property and the disposal thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 578, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Beauty Culture Law" approved May 3, 1933 (P. L. 242) changing eligibility requirements for examination.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate any of the proponents of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I want to know what the purpose of the bill is.

Mrs. KOOKER. The purpose of the bill is that it provides for the establishment of an educational requirement to take the examination for a beautician's license and further requires that such an examinee be of good moral character.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, does the lady know of any persons who have been admitted to the examination who were not of good moral character—that is, by the State Board of Cosmetology?

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not, but I may say in this respect that the Certified Accountants, the Architects, the Chiropodists, the Engineers, the Nurses, the Optometrists, the Osteopaths, the Pharmacists, the Physicians and surgeons, the Real Estate Brokers, the Real Estate Salesmen, the Veterinarians, the Chiropractors, and Practical Nurses all have this very same phrase written into their boards of examination.

Mr. EILBERG. I thank the lady for this complete list.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to know, is it not a fact that the Board of Cosmetology now passes upon the qualifications of all applicants for this examination?

Mrs. KOOKER. Did I understand the question? Will you ask that again?

Mr. EILBERG. Does the Board of Cosmetology have the power to pass upon the qualifications of applicants?

Mrs. KOOKER. They prepare the test under this bill in order to have the applicants apply for the examination.

Mr. EILBERG. The question is, do they pass upon the qualifications of every applicant, Mr. Speaker?

Mrs. KOOKER. I presume so.

Mr. EILBERG. As a matter of fact, the Beauty Culture Act so provides. Now, the Beauty Culture Act also provides, does it not, that the Board of Cosmetology has the power to refuse to permit anyone to take the examination?

Mrs. KOOKER. They could, if they would not come up to the proper qualifications.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, is the lady saying that the Board of Cosmetology, in view of her support of this bill, is not properly qualified to pass upon the qualifications, including moral qualifications, of any applicant who wants to become a beauty culture operator?

Mrs. KOOKER. May I answer the gentleman by saying this, there are only seven states in our whole country that do not set forth educational requirements to take the beauticians' license examination.

Mr. EILBERG. The lady is not answering my question.

Mrs. KOOKER. I am sorry, Mr. Eilberg, probably I did not hear your question properly.

Mr. EILBERG. I asked if the Board of Cosmetology is not qualified to pass upon the qualifications of applicants?

Mrs. KOOKER. Well, they would be qualified under this law should it be enacted.

Mr. EILBERG. Then you are saying the present board is not qualified?

Mrs. KOOKER. I can not answer that. I imagine so, but I really would not know.

Mr. EILBERG. You imagine that they are qualified, yet you would add this question of moral character and other qualifications to the bill?

Mrs. KOOKER. Well, it still simply provides for the establishment of an educational requirement to take the examination under this board.

Mr. EILBERG. Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to know is there anything new in the section of the bill pertaining to the requirement of 1,000 hours of training?

Mrs. KOOKER. In the bill, "They shall have completed a tenth grade education or the equivalent thereof and they shall have either completed 1,000 hours as a student in a duly registered school of beauty culture as hereinafter provided in this act, or they shall have been registered and served as an apprentice at least two years in a licensed beauty shop as hereinafter provided in this act established to the satisfaction of the Board that he or she has been an operator in the active practice of beauty culture for at least 24 months prior to the date of filing application for admission to the examination."

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to know if all these requirements are not already required, that the lady has read, by the regulation of the Board of Cosmetology?

Mrs. KOOKER. This is new material written into the bill. It is so underlined on the pink sheet.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would advise the lady that the regulations of the Board of Cosmetology already provide for the 1,000 hours and all the sections to which she has referred other than the section pertaining to education.

Now, does the lady know the average number of years of schooling that the average Pennsylvania attends or has attended?

Mrs. KOOKER. Under this bill they are supposed to have gone to the tenth grade. Under our laws of today most girls and boys graduate from the twelfth grade at the age of between sixteen and seventeen years of age. Therefore, I do not think the tenth-grade requirement imposes an undue imposition upon any of us who take up the beauty culture profession.

They wish it to be known as a profession.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask the lady if she knows what the amount of schooling is that the 10 millions of people we have in Pennsylvania have achieved?

Mrs. KOOKER. Well, I would not have any way of knowing that.

Mr. EILBERG. Now, does the lady know the percentage of unemployment in Pennsylvania among the employable population?

Mrs. KOOKER. Not more than I heard you say when we got this bill out of Committee.

Mr. EILBERG. I thank the lady, Mr. Speaker.

According to information that I have, approximately 34 states in the United States require an eighth grade schooling or less for admission to the beauty culture trade. The reason is apparent. Beauty culture is a manual occupation as distinguished from one which requires a high degree of education. At the present time there is a shortage of beauty operators and I feel that the passage of this kind of bill would not in any way help that shortage.

I would also call to the lady's attention that according to figures which appeared in our newspapers last week, presented by the National Educational Association, believe it or not, the average Pennsylvania has completed only the ninth grade.

Among our population we have almost ten percent that have completed only the fifth grade. I ask the Members of this House if they want to impose a regulation at this time that would require a minimum of a tenth grade?

I would say, also, Mr. Speaker, according to statistics all of us have been receiving the past few weeks, approximately 11 percent of our employable population is unemployed. If this bill were to become law, there is no doubt that many people who are now unemployed would not have an apportunity to go to school and become a beauty school operator. I tell you also, Mr. Speaker, that there are many people in our districts—I do not know how many of you have been approached by housewives and others—who do not have the minimum education required by this bill, whose husbands are not working and who wish to supplement the income of their husbands. These women are sometimes willing ot take the few months' training now required to qualify themselves to earn a few additional dollars for the family. I say these women—you know many of them, many of you know them—I say these women should not be deprived of the opportunity to learn a trade.

And so, Mr. Speaker, I say that while we all should be perhaps generally in favor of the state raising the educational requirements of any licensee, still at the same time we must consider the situation as it is today. So I ask you to vote down the bill.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. KOOKER. I will be further interrogated.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, this is for my own information. I was just wondering if any provisions had been made in this bill for a person who is in business today and who has been in business for quite some time, as many of them are. I have had a case in my city where a lady who had only gone to the eighth grade, who through illness, I think, lost her license for about three years but was able to take an examination and start in business again. Now what would this bill do if it became law? For example, a person who has only gone to the eighth grade and lost her license, would she be able to get it back again?

Mrs. KOOKER. Those that are already practicing in this field are already licensed. Under this bill it is my understanding that she can go back and take this examination again if she had the proper hours completed as a student or had worked as a registered apprentice in a regularly recognized beauty school. It is my understanding that she could go back and be relicensed.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, as I undestand the bill, the person would have to have ten years.

Mrs. KOOKER. Oh, no. It says, ". . . shall have completed a tenth grade education or the equivalent thereof and shall have either completed one thousand hours as a student in a duly registered school of beauty culture as hereinafter provided in this act or shall have been registered and served as an apprentice at least two years in a licensed beauty shop as hereinafter provided in this act established to the satisfaction of the board."

Mr. CIOFFI. What I would like to know, what does the bill mean by the equivalent of the tenth grade?

Mrs. KOOKER. I can probably answer that better by saying that it means if she, or he, has been a operator in the active practice of beauty culture for at least twenty-four months prior to the date of filing an application for admission to an examination.

If she has been in business for two years, she is entitled to get a license.

Mr. GELFAND. May I just ask the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, one question?

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. KOOKER. I shall.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, would the lady read the section of the bill she just quoted pertaining to the tenth grade education? The section of the bill you just quoted?

Mrs. KOOKER. I don't have it right here before me now. I have it in this bill probably. ". . . shall have established to the satisfaction of the board that he or she has been an operator in the active practice of beauty culture for at least twenty-four months prior to the date of filing application for admission to an examination."

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I am asking for the portion of the bill just preceding that, beginning with section 2, I believe.

rMs. KOOKER. ". . . shall have completed a tenth grade education or the equivalent thereof." Shall have either completed.

Is that all you care to have?

Mr. GELFAND. That answers that portion of the question.

Mr. Speaker, I would point out that the bill provides "shall have completed a tenth grade education or the equivalent thereof and shall have either completed one thousand hours as a student in a duly registered school of beauty culture."

I am just pointing this out to indicate that in addition to the tenth grade education, she must also have completed one thousand hours as a student of a school of beauty culture, which I think should modify our thinking.

Mrs. B. Z. MILLER. I was just going to make a statement, Mr. Speaker. Before I agreed to go on this bill, I interviewed quite a number of hairdressers in Philadelphia and they all said to me they were in favor of it. They are in favor of better help. The girls come to them from very short terms in beauty schools and are not capable. The patrons will not accept them to work on their hair and they said, Go ahead with it. We would rather have qualified people to work for us. So I am giving you the viewpoint of the employer.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask either one of the sponsors whether they would tell me whether they are making it easier or harder for women to get work as a beauty culturist?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Would the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, answer the interrogation?

Mrs. KOOKER. I would be happy to answer that question by saying that I do not think it will bring an undue hardship upon any beauty operator under this law, and I feel it will be a great protection to the people who go there. I also feel that it will bring some prestige to the profession of the beauty culture hairdresser who is in this profession. I feel that she wants to have some prestige and be in some recognized professional category and I do not feel that this imposes hardship upon her.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to have the woman answer me in a lawyer's way, yes or no. Does it make it harder or easier? I am not a lawyer but I would like to have the answer.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Filo, I am not an attorney but I will say a very definite "no," it will not, in my estimation.

Mr. FILO. I thank the lady.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senate Bill No. 309, Printer's No. 610

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

CONCURRENT HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 44

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House House Resolution No. 44.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1959.

The Government of the United States acting in cooperation with the Government of Canada will soon complete the St Lawrence Seaway a project intended to provide a water route for ocean-going vessels from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean

The State of Pennsylvania necessarily has a great interest in the St Lawrence Seaway A very large portion of the funds used in its construction was raised through Federal taxation in Pennsylvania The Port of Erie Pennsylvania's only Great Lakes' port is our only direct connection with the seaway If the taxpayers of Pennsylvania are to receive the greatest benefit from their tax dollars already expended by the Federal Government the Port of Erie must be turned into a seaport capable of accommodating ocean-going traffic In addition it must be an effective transfer point possessing land and air transportation facilities adequate to make a routing through Erie logical and desirable

If the Port of Erie becomes such a seaport then the benefits to the economy of not only northwestern Pennsylvania but to the entire Commonwealth and to states bordering Pennsylvania on the south will be tremendous

In recognition of this the Federal Government has already appropriated the money necessary to dredge the Erie harbor to the depth essential for the accommodation of ocean-going vessels

In addition to sums previously expended the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania proposes to expend further sums in the development of the Port of Erie The present budget contains recommendations for the expenditure of approximately six hundred thousand dollars for that purpose during the 1959-1960 biennium

The Commonwealth has also constructed new highways and proposes to construct even more highways leading to Erie for the purpose of facilitating transportation to and from Erie

Now the success of the entire program is in jeopardy By a vote of 238 to 142 the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States voted to permit the City of Chicago to divert great quantities of water from Lake Michigan If that diversion is permitted to occur the result will be to so lower the level of Lake Erie that proper development of the Port of Erie will be seriously affected and the economy of our State seriously injured therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Senate of the United States be memorialized to defeat this high-handed attempt to benefit a single city at the expense of the third largest state and be it further

Resolved That each member of Congress and each United States Senator from Pennsylvania be informed of this matter and that they each be urged to take whatever steps they can to prevent Senate concurrence in the House action and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be dispatched immediately to the presiding officer of the Senate Vice President Richard M Nixon and to each member of Congress and United States Senator from Pennsylvania

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 61

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House House Resolution No. 61.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 21, 1959.

The official Proclamation of the President of the United States designating Friday May 1 1959 as Law Day in the United States of America urges the people of the nation to join on that day in reaffirming their dedication "to our form of government and the supremacy of law in our lives"

It is to be a day on which the American people reaffirm their reliance upon law in private and governmental affairs as contrasted with and tyranny and oppression of the individual in the communist world where the same date is traditionally marked by displays of military might

Adherence to the rule of law has enabled our nation to grow and prosper for the entire structure of our business religious social and cultural life is dependent on the law It has also been a vital element in our own community life for every citizen relies upon the law in his daily affairs and for the protection of his person and property However in our reliance upon the rule of law in our daily affairs we may at times take for granted the benefits we derive from it and overlook the struggle in the world today to preserve law and order as our way of life therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives urge the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to rededicate themselves to freedom for the individual under just laws administered by independent courts and in so doing emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under communism and be it further

Resolved That May 1 1959 be observed by the people of our great State as Law Day USA in order to foster an abiding respect for law and thus enable our nation to grow in moral strength as it grows in population resources and world leadership and be it further

Resolved That the House of Representatives urge the Governor to proclaim May 1 1959 as Law Day U S A

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House of Representatives shall forward a copy of this resolution to the Honorable George C. Magee, Jr.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Magee.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, now for some time I have been celebrating my 39th birthday, and for the last 15 years I have been celebrating.

I do not know who contrived, or schemed, this thing, but I do want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart.

However, I do want to correct something that was in that resolution. I did attend medical school, but I am not a doctor and I do not have that degree. Thank you very much one and all.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. BALTHASER, YATRON, MACHMER and LUIGARD offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 28, 1959.

There are few couples in this great land of ours that can say that they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary but we here in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania are proud to say that one of our most esteemed Senators and his wife are going to celebrate their 50th anniversary of marital bliss on May 2 of this year. Senator Frank Ruth and his ever charming wife Florence were married on this day in 1909 which was a half century ago. This half century of married life has been devoted to that way of life that all people should strive to achieve that is, devotion and service to your God, your fellowman, and your country and State.

Dr. Ruth and his wife have tried to make our world a better place to live in. There is no question that they have accomplished this end. As a clergyman Frank Ruth has served his God in saving souls and instructing the unenlightened, and as a civic servant he has served his community by representing the people of his area here in Harrisburg. Since 1931, Dr. Ruth has been in the service of the Commonwealth and for the first five years of his tenure he sat among us here in the House of Representatives. Since 1936 Frank Ruth has bestowed his great wisdom and understanding on his colleagues in the Senate.

No man could accomplish all the things Senator Frank Ruth has done in the past fifty years without the support and love of his wife. Her prayers and guidance have helped Dr. Ruth to make the right decisions both in the field of religion and in the field of government. Leading a public life as Frank Ruth has done throughout his marriage would be a great strain on any woman but to the former Florence Iobst it was an honor and a pleasure. During these fifty years of marriage she has found the time and the will to bring ten children into this world.

From the time Frank and Florence Ruth took their wedding vows on May 2, 1909 theirs was a marriage blessed by God and now as they approach their 50th year together and they look back on all the wonderful things that they have done it is obvious that this marriage must be accepted as a reaffirmation of God's ever present faith in mankind; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate Senator Frank Ruth and his wife Florence Ruth on their 50th wedding anniversary and on behalf of all the citizens of our Commonwealth thank them for making our State and our Nation a better place to live in and to bring up our children in; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Senator and his wife.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. FULMER, YETTER, CAPITOLO and WYND offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 28, 1959.

The Honorable J. Russell Eshback celebrated his sixty-first birthday on April 25, 1959.

Mr. Eshback's long history of public service is a shining example of dedication to good government and the public welfare.

Mr. Eshback received his Bachelor's Degree in Education from the Pennsylvania State College and his Master's Degree from Columbia University, and subsequently taught in the public schools of New York City for a period of thirteen years.

Mr. Eshback's public service includes eight years as the Republican Chairman of Pike County, one term as Treasurer and two terms as Prothonotary of Pike County. In addition, he served seven years as a county commissioner of Pike County, from which office he resigned in order to assume his present duties in this House of Representatives.

Mr. Eshback's family, friends and neighbors have long looked to him as a true leader in community and State affairs; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its hearty congratulations to the Honorable J. Russell Eshback upon his attainment of his sixty-first birthday, and extends its hope that he may long continue to enjoy life to its fullest and contribute to the affairs and well-being of his community and State; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Eshback.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pike, Mr. Eshback.

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, friends, I certainly thank you for this resolution. As you all know, I am only a freshman. I guess I am supposed to be seen and not heard. There is only one thing I would like to do. I would like to reverse those digits. Thank you.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. STROUP and WESCOTT offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 28, 1959.

Tuesday, April 28, 1959, marks the passing of another eventful year in the life of Albert S. Strausser, one of the most highly esteemed members of this House of Representatives.

Mr. Strausser was born in Mt. Carmel, Pennsylvania, on April 28, 1904, the son of Elias and Amanda (Miller) Strausser, and attended Mt. Carmel public schools, Bucknell University and Gettysburg College.

An all-American football player, Mr. Strausser became an active participant in the sport during his high school days and carried the ball through college and twelve rugged professional football years.

Mr. Strausser's experience as a Naval officer in the 117th Navy Construction Battalion in the Pacific Theater was put to excellent use in his position as partner of the Strausser Construction Company of Berwick.

It is indeed fortunate that we should be honored with the presence of a person of Mr. Strausser's ability and accomplishments and a credit to the electors whom he was chosen to represent; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its hearty congratulations to an all-American citizen on his 55th birthday for his past accomplishments and best wishes for a prosperous future; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Albert E. Strausser.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be a first time for everything and this is it I guess, friends.

I did not think the Members of the House would catch up with me but I do appreciate having my birthday, my 38th anniversary, recognized in the House. I thank the sponsors of this resolution and I say one thing, there is always a first for everything, and this is the first birthday anniversary that I noticed or saw a pink elephant.

One other correction, Mr. Speaker, I was not an All-American college player; I was an All-State player.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

REMARKS MY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, yesterday in the Hall of the House here, there were some questions raised about the anticipated deficit of the Commonwealth for the present biennium.

Following that debate yesterday, we requested and have received the information dealing with this entire subject which I am most pleased to insert in the record, and which the Governor of our Commonwealth has released a few minutes ago.

Governor David Lawrence announced today that the new estimates of state finances have reduced the Commonwealth's anticipated deficit by $21,346,329. The anticipated deficit for the 1957-1959 biennium is now set at $156,332,545. Estimates made when Governor Lawrence presented his budget set the defiict figure at $177,678,874. The Governor explained the new estimates are based on revenue yields in excess of the former calculations and a small decrease in the originally estimated deficiencies.

The revised estimates are based upon revenues collected up to Monday, April 27, 1959, along with a projection of anticipated collections to the end of the biennium, May 31, 1959. The biggest increase came from higher corporate tax collections than were anticipated.

Mr. Baldwin, the Governor's Budget Secretary, explained as follows:

> After thorough consultation between representatives of the Budget Office, the Pennsylvania Economy League and the Department of Revenue, it appears that all taxes in effect from the start of the present biennium will yield $16,300,000 more than had been estimated in the budget document.
> In addition, the revised Sales Tax enacted this month and now in effect will produce $2,000,000 during the present biennium, making a net increase in total revenue of $18.3 million.
> Our estimates anticipate we will collect $133,000,000 in taxes from this date through May 31.

Mr. Baldwin also said that in addition to revenue increases, deficiency appropriation requirements will be $3,046,329 less than the amount in the 1959-1961 budget document.

> This reduction was achieved by revising the deficiency requirements of the Department of Public Instruction on the basis of more up-to-date information than was originally available.

On the Administration's budget for 1959-1961, Mr. Baldwin the Budget Secretary, gave the following estimates:

> We have also reviewed the estimates of taxes presently in effect, including those which still have to be re-enacted for the 1959-1961 biennium.
> Those combined revenues are now anticipated to yield $1,675,012,354. This includes an increase of $170,000,000 expected to be realized from the Acts Nos. 14 and 15 of 1959.

This is the present Sales Tax bill that we debated yesterday.

> On the basis of these estimates the need for additional tax revenue will total $210,653,671 to balance the budget as presented. This is approximately $26,500,000 less than appeared necessary on the basis of earlier computations.

Now, Mr. Speaker, those very questions were raised yesterday in this House and today the answer is given by this Governor and the Budget Office. In fact, every question that has been presented we will try to answer, and the Governor has informed all of us that he desired to have the House and the General Assembly enlightened to the fullest extent regarding any questions they may have regarding both the revenue and the budget. Certainly we can repeat here today that if there is any section or any part of that budget which should be reduced or eliminated for any reason, where the money cannot be used or does not serve the purpose for which it is intended, or where there can be savings without the reduction of service, we stand here committed to do that very thing.

I am most proud, and I certainly am most pleased to be able to reply to the situation within one day, and I cerainly do hope to be able to reply again at least twice during the month of May to see if these figures will stand up for the end of this present biennium. I am most pleased that the revenue estimate measures continue to increase, and I crtainly hope they will continue to increase.

The only item I want to bear out again is that Act No. 15 and Act No. 14 are again estimated by three sources as $170 million. When we passed them here that night we stated that this was $163 million or $101 million which we had taken out of that bill of $264 million worth of new taxation. Again, it has been reaffirmed today by the Department of Revenue, by the Economy League, by the Budget Office, that this particular taxation will yield $170 million.

I certainly am confident that these figures that we are accepting are backed by people who know and estimate truthfully that this is what they will do. If there is any reason to produce from any source to this House that this will produce more, on a sound basis, I certainly will stand here to accept those figures, more than $170 million. In fact, I hope that the ecenomy of Pennsylvania improves so much in 1959 and 1960 that this will most certainly be a matter of record and that it will increase the yield more than $170 million.

Again I say I hope that we can continue to operate this way in which we can answer any question that is raised as soon as it is humanly possible to bring the facts to the entire people of Pennsylvania and to every Member of this House.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering if that applause over there was for the eloquent remarks of Mr. McCann, or whether it is joy in the hearts of the other side to think that they have picked up $21 million. I believe the latter is probably true.

That picking up of $21 million from existing taxes to the end of this biennium just bears out what we have been saying here in the last three or four weeks, that even the taxes commencing by May 31, 1959, would substantially reduce the deficit. That leaves the deficit $156 million, approximately. Let us go to work on that deficit now.

Is that, represented by money spent, accounts payable, appropriations that you would like to spend but which you do not have the money to spend? Can you cut that another $24 million, say? If you can, there will be approximately $50 million that we will not have to raise.

Then I understand that the budget hearings that have started today are going to be pretty good hearings, that both the Democrats and the Republicans in these hearings are going to cross-examine the witnesses and try to find out what programs are new, what are old, and just what, if anything, can be saved. I think a lot is going to come out of these hearings.

That is the reason why the House Republican Caucus feels that there is plenty of time to get these figures in front of us, plenty of time to find out what the real needs are for the coming biennium.

Then when we find out what the real needs are, our caucus will sit down and, if necessary, talk taxes. But they are not ready to do that thing now. They reiterated it again today in our caucus, and I am pleased that you have given us this first figure, a reduction of $21 million in the deficit. I know the Governor gave it to you because we prodded you yesterday, and we will keep prodding you and let us get some more good news. Maybe that $100 million figure eventually can be realized, and if that is the case, we can all go home thinking we have done the job very well.

An Act amending the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law" approved June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1095) authorizing cities boroughs and townships to regulate and supervise the use of explosives for blasting.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WARGO. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I understand perhaps there is a lot of opposition to this bill, perhaps rightfully so, but I shall read into the record a letter from one of the municipalities that is very much interested in this type legislation and I quote as follows:

> The Council of the City of Carbondale also believes that some legislation must be adopted which would put a stop to damages being caused to homes by reason of the concussion which occurs from dynamiting the overburden at strip mine operations. The City, on behalf of numerous of its residents, have filed complaints with State Officials in regard to this matter; the complaints have been duly investigated and the Officials have reported that they have found that there has not been any violation of existing laws or regulations pertaining to blasting.

In spite of the fact that there are no violations, damage to property is continuing daily and shows a need for additional legislation to take care of such matters. It is not uncommon for homes within a radius of more than a mile of the stripping operation to be severely damaged in that windowpanes are broken, plaster loosened, and supporting walls cracked.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I feel that if a mayor or burgess can go in there and ask these operators to cut down on their charges, they would get their coal and their homes would be protected.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. A. M. LEE asked and obtained unanimouse consent to extend the time five days on House Bill No. 310, Printer's No. 66, on page 15 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to make a few remarks and addres myself to House Rule 60 which provides for the decorum of the Members of the House druring debate and during roll calls.

It has been very disturbing to me since I have been a Member here, and it was particularly noticeable yesterday during the debate, with the demeanor of a lot of Members of the House while a Member is on the floor debating a bill. Now that rule, as we well know, provides that while a man is on the floor speaking we should not pass up and down the aisles, nor while the vote is being taken should we walk up and down and across the aisles and continue conversation.

It sems to me that there has been a noticeable disregard and relaxation of the rule, and I think the situation is getting worse. It is very disconcerting to get on the floor and have people, employes and Members, walk right in front of you and conduct their business while you are trying to concentrate on what is going on.

It is not too much dissimilar to the floor of the New York Stock Exchange on a busy afternoon, and I would ask the Members if they would please observe Rule 60.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is in agreement with the tenor of the gentleman's remarks. We would call to the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia that now and then pages engaged upon the necesasry business of the House do pass, come and go, in the discharge of their duties. So there is a difference between the Members running at large and the pages of the House.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask at this time that the House recess for a period of 30 minutes and I ask that all the Democratic Members of the House report immediately to the new House Caucus Room.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to call a Republican caucus in the old House Caucus Room immediately.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair declares a recess of one-half hour. The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

REVENUE BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up revenue bills on the third reading calendar out of order.

Mr. Speaker, I call up House Bill 655, Printer's No. 395 on page 16 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 655, entitled as follows:

An Act reenacting and amending "The Realty Transfer Tax Act" approved December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742) imposing the tax permanently.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few remarks on this particular bill.

It is the real estate transfer tax. It was put on the first time in 1951 as a temporary measure. It was put on at a time when about $150 million had to be raised in order to balance the budget in Governor Fine's first biennium. It has been continued on a temporary basis ever since, and now it is being made permanent.

We realize there is a frightful need for revenue, but most people in the state do not like this particular tax. The home builders claim it has been a tremendous impediment to the sale of homes and the building of new homes. While it probably is a necessary adjunct of our tax structure at this time, it is unfair. But with the problem facing our Commonwealth, it seems that it has to be reenacted. I for one will look for the day when we can repeal this tax so that home building, which is one of the greatest industries in Pennsylvania today and is really building up our great state, can be free from the impediment of this real estate transfer tax.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE IN SENATE AMENDMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 26 of today's calendar, House Bill No. 619, Printer's No. 244, bills for concurrence in Senate amendments.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 619.

An Act amending the act of July 8 1957 (P L 594) entitled "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales or gifts of cigarettes requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes to secure licenses prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax making it unlawful to sell or possess cigarettes upon which the tax has not been paid conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and other persons making an appropriation and providing penalties" continuing the additional excise tax for a limited period of time and imposing an additional state excise tax to provide funds to repay principal interest and costs incurred by the sale of bonds issued to create the Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Fund

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 8, by inserting after the word "penalties" the words "continuing the additional excise tax for a limited period of time and"; Section 1, page 2, line 12, by striking out at the beginning of the line the figures "1959" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "1961"; page 3, line 10 by inserting after the word "Fund" the words "the interest thereon and the cost of administering the fund."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission of the House, before I request the House to concur, to state to the Members of this House that it is not the intention of the membership on this side of the House to bring in from the Committee on Ways and Means a House bill dealing with an additional cigarette tax.

Mr. Speaker, I request that the amendments placed in House Bill 619, Printer's No. 244, by the Senate be concurred in by the House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, a bigger issue is here involved than whether we concur in an amendment inserted by the Senate.

We passed this bill originally in this House in pursuance of a mandate of the people that a bonus be paid to veterans of the Korean conflict, with which to pay that bonus we put a tax of one cent on each package of cigarettes. That bill I voted for.

This amendment has nothing to do with taxes with which to pay for the Korean bonus. It is an additional tax of one cent on cigarettes which will be paid into the General Fund and no part of it will be used for the Korean bonus.

What we are doing is placing an additional tax of two cents on cigarettes, only one-half of which will be used for the Korean bonus. This is not what the people mandated; this is not what this original bill provided.

I do not think it is fair to the veterans of the Korean conflict to tie taxes into a bill intended for their benefit with one that also includes a tax for general revenue purposes. If the tax for general revenue purposes cannot stand on its own, we have no right to impose it through the guise of benefits for the veterans.

I oppose the concurrence.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I thoroughly concur in everything the previous speaker, the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, has said.

I think it is very unfair in the first place to put a cent of tax on cigarettes to pay the Korean bonus. I would like to remind the Members of the House and all the people of Pennsylvania that the boys who fought the Korean war, and many of them who died, many of them who are permanently disabled, did not do it just for the cigarette smokers. They did it for all the people of Pennsylvania, and all the people of Pennsylvania should help pay this Korean bonus.

I reluctantly voted for the bill when it first came up in the House because we did not have anything on which to vote except the tax on cigarettes. And I did it also with the understanding that we would have a chance to vote separately on an extra tax on cigarettes. Somehow or other we are not being given that opportunity. I think I know how, I think I know why, but I am not going to go into that end of it. I think a lot of us have been mousetrapped, and I do not like it one bit.

Another thing I want to bring out about this tax on cigarettes, and the same thing can hold true on the extra tax you are going to put on liquor and beer, and that is that you are going to begin to tax to the point of diminishing returns. You will now have, as I understand it, if this bill passes, six cents state tax on cigarettes, and there is eight cents federal tax on cigarettes. That makes fourteen cents tax on one pack of cigarettes, about 120 percent tax. I do not care whether it is a needy item or a luxury item, when you begin to tax things to that standpoint you are going to make it profitable for bootleggers and smugglers to move liquor and cigarettes into this state from other states hand over fist, and you will not be able to stop them. You are just making it profitable for them to get into that illegal business.

I certainly ask all the Members of the House to vote against concurring in this amendment on the grounds that we stated and the grounds that Mr. Tompkins stated. It is unfair; it is unconscionable. And on those grounds alone it ought to be licked.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, we started the hearings at 9:30 yesterday with the Department of Public Instruction. We adjourned at 1:00 o'clock; we convened again in the evening at 7:00 and ran until shortly after 11:00. We reviewed at these two meetings, primarily, the subsidy program and the instructional program with the Department of Public Instruction.

We found out that, of the amount in the budget of approximately $705 million for Instruction, all but $358,000 of that amount is mandated by action of this Legislature.

We reviewed the various programs under the direct control of the Department of Public Instruction. This afternoon at 2:00 o'clock we review the State Teachers College budgets. Tomorrow at 9:30 we will review it for the institutions of higher learning and the medical schools.

I might say of the increase in the budget for the Department of Public Instruction for instruction, the increase of $80-odd million all is mandated.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there has been a series of letters circulated by the several departments on Capitol Hill to people outside of Harrisburg, who are the objects of the bounty of our budgets, urging these folks to bring pressure on the General Assembly. Some of the letters are out over the signatures of department heads, particularly the Department of Labor and Industry.

I now ask the gentleman, as a result of those letters, have you started receiving pressuring from outside to hold the line on the budget as is?

Mr. POLEN. As of this date I have not received any letters of this type.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is it reasonable for us to presume that these letters, which have been mailed out, have been sent out at the expense of the Commonwealth with postage paid by the Commonwealth?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no information on that subject. My knowledge is limited to what I have read in the newspapers, but I will be glad to ascertain the information for the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as a result of these letters having been mailed all over the state, will that influence him as Chairman of the Committee in giving a fair and reasonable and adequate audit of the budget to make sure that the sums are necessary?

Mr. POLEN. Those letters or any other letters certainly would not influence the Chairman or, I believe, any member of the Committee in the consideration of this budget.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. A further question, Mr. Speaker. What are the gentleman's plans for next week with respect to hearings?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, next week our plans are rather fluid, due to the fact that the inauguration of the Secretary of Internal Affairs will take up most of the day on Monday.

However, we intend to hold hearings on Wednesday and Thursday. It may be possible for us to make a decision on Monday to have some hearings on Tuesday. I do not think it is possible to get enough of the Members here to hold a meeting Monday morning and, in the afternoon, due to the caucuses of the House, it would be impossible to have them then.

It is possible that we might schedule an evening meeting on Monday, but I do not believe that is desirable.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, I might say this, that a large, quite a large, number of our Members come in for Monday on Sunday night, particularly the Appropriations Committee, and I believe that you could plan on quite a number of Republican Members to be present Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock if you wanted to schedule your hearings on Monday. Had you given that any thought?

Mr. POLEN. We have given it some thought but our intention was to have the Department of Welfare next, and we really would only get started with them in the short period that we would have on Monday. I will say this, Mr. Speaker, we will review the matter tomorrow, and if it is possible to hold a meeting on Monday, we will notify the members of the Appropriations Committee by mail and, if necessary, by telephone of the meeting.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have one more question. Today on the calendar there were a number of bills which will call for issuing of licenses on a two-year basis rather than on a one-year basis. Will that mean that the Department of Public Instruction can cut down on some of the expense of running that department in view of reducing the budget?

Mr. POLEN. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that it would reduce the overhead expense of the Department of Public Instruction in the issuance of licenses under the Department of Special Licensure.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clear up a point here.

I am certainly glad you brought up the point about the biennial registration. Every effort is being made to save money wherever it can be done, and by these pieces of legislation the administrative costs to the Department will be reduced.

I am sure that the gentleman knows that the present estimated income in the past has been $1.6 in this field. The cost has been around $1.3 to $1.35 and I am sure the gentleman is also aware that if we can reduce this appropriation figure to stay in conformity with the Supreme Court decision, every administrative cost will be reduced wherever possible at a saving to the Commonwealth and the taxpayers.

Perhaps we should have debated those items prior to the passage of the bills, but I think everyone in all our caucuses discussed them very, very carefully.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, many people have asked regarding next week's plans of this House. For sure the House will be in session, if at all possible, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It would be possible to solve some of the problems that we hope to discuss the first of the week, it may require that we would be in session on Thursday. That decision would be made Monday, but, definitely, the House will be in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—and, if it is necessary, Thursday.

On Tuesday, Mr. Speaker, the House will convene at 2:30 p. m., Daylight Saving Time, so that all these wonderful ladies may attend that wonderful luncheon for the Secretary of Internal Affairs. That is the only change in time.

The SPEAKER. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, please remember that on Wednesday evening is the Gridion Dinner staged by the diligent, accurate, intelligent, compassionate, considerate, reportorial staff of the various papers stationed here at Harrisburg. Whatever good I can say of the reporters, the correspondents, the laymen, the show will be even better, Wednesday evening.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. LUIGARD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, May 4, 1959 at 3:30 p. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:35 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

O Lord and Master of us all, whate'er our name or assign, we own Thy sway, we hear Thy call, we test our lives by Thine.

Our gracious Lord, we gladly lift our hearts to Thee, because Thou art the God in Whom we live and move and have our being. At Thy throne of grace, we ask for all the precious things which Thy boundless love can give. Here in Thy presence, we confess our sins and misdoings. May they be covered by the mantle of Thy forgiving grace.

Bless our homes, our dear ones, our communities. Bless our State, our Governor and his assistants. Bless both Houses of our Legislature and, especially, bless the Members of this Senate. May they have Thy guidance as they make our laws.

The PRESIDENT. The bill, as amended, will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 44 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

PORT OF ERIE

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1959.

The Government of the United States, acting in cooperation with the Government of Canada, will soon complete the St. Lawrence Seaway, a project intended to provide a water route for ocean-going vessels from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean.

The State of Pennsylvania necessarily has a great interest in the St. Lawrence Seaway. A very large portion of the funds used in its construction was raised through Federal taxation in Pennsylvania. The Port of Erie, Pennsylvania's only Great Lakes' port is our only direct connection with the seaway. If the taxpayers of Pennsylvania are to receive the greatest benefit from their tax dollars already expended by the Federal Government, the Port of Erie must be turned into a seaport capable of accommodating ocean-going traffic. In addition it must be an effective transfer point, possessing land and air transportation facilities adequate to make a routing through Erie logical and desirable.

If the Port of Erie becomes such a seaport, then the benefits to the economy of not only northwestern Pennsylvania but to the entire Commonwealth and to states bordering Pennsylvania on the south, will be tremendous.

In recognition of this, the Federal Government has already appropriated the money necessary to dredge the Erie harbor to the depth essential for the accommodation of ocean-going vessels.

In addition to sums previously expended, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania proposes to extend further sums in the development of the Port of Erie. The present budget contains recommendations for the expenditure of approximately six hundred thousand dollars for that purpose during the 1959-1960 biennium.

The Commonwealth has also constructed new highways and proposes to construct even more highways leading to Erie for the purpose of facilitating transportation to and from Erie.

Now the success of the entire program is in jeopardy. By a vote of 238 to 142, the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States voted to permit the City of Chicago to divert great quantities of water from Lake Michigan. If that diversion is permitted to occur, the result will be to so lower the level of Lake Erie that proper development of the Port of Erie will be seriously affected, and the economy of our State seriously injured; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Senate of the United States be memorialized to defeat the high-handed attempt to benefit a single city at the expense of the people of the largest state; and be it further

Resolved, That each member of Congress and each United States Senator from Pennsylvania be informed of this matter and that they each be urged to take whatever steps they can to prevent Senate concurrence in the House action; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be dispatched immediatley to the presiding officer of the Senate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and to each member of Congress and United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, several weeks ago, I spoke on the floor of this Senate in regard to the accumulation of old and obsolete laws which we have on our statute books. After consulting with a number of experts, the decision was made to sponsor legislation creating a Law Study Commission in Pennsylvania. It shall consist of nine members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania, three of whom shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and three of whom shall be appointed from the Membership of the House of Representatives.

The members shall serve for a period of two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. They shall receive no compensation for their services.

The gist of this bill, Mr. President, is that the Commission shall study and prepare plans for the codification of the stateute laws of Pennsylvania. The Commission shall prepare plans for the classification of laws, under which the statutes of Pennsylvania are classified, in categories according to the subject and in such manner that a single statute, re-enacting all of the laws contained in any category, will apply to only one subject within the meaning of Section 3, Article III, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Such categories shall be so arranged that each may be designated as a chapter of the codified laws of this Commonwealth.

The Commission shall be a continuing body and it shall meet and elect a Chairman.

Mr. President, I feel that we made one mistake in drafting this bill. I believe the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General should also act as Chairman of this particular Commission. We are at a loss to set forth any amount of appropriation, because we feel this is going to be a very huge project.

Therefore, Mr. President, after talking with the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, Senator Scott, we have decided to allow the Committee, itself, to decide just what amount would be necessary for the coming biennium. We feel this legislation will accomplish a lot here in Pennsylvania because it will simply our statutes, it will do away with a lot of space which is now crowded and it will provide for a more efficient operation.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, STIEFEL, SCOTT, McMENAMIN and KALMAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 724, entitled:

An Act creating the Law Study Commission of Pennsylvania; defining its powers and duties, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. WEINER, SCOTT, WATKINS, ROONEY and BARR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 725, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation and operation of the Juvenile Court Judges' Commission; prescribing its powers and duties; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I am about to introduced a resolution in the interest of all taxpayers and home owners in Allegheny County. I am doing so because of the widespread discontent among the boroughs, townships and third class cities over the activities—many of which are hidden from view—of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority.

This is another of the giant Authorities over which the voters and taxpayers have practically no control; a giant that strides around the county doing as it pleases and accounting to no one for its actions.

The charge has been made that organized groups of Allegheny County citizens have received rude and discourteous treatment at the hands of those bureaucrats who are in charge of this Authority. For one thing, these citizens and property owners have been given no indication of the amounts of money that are being spent and will be spent in the future.

Since the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority will provide a large amount of sewerage service for my county, I think all of you will agree that the people of my county have a right to know what this Authority is up to. However, they do not know, and time after time have been refused the information which is their right. To meet this situation, my resolution would create an investigating committee of five Senators to probe into every corner of this high and mighty Authority. This committee would have all the usual powers of subpoena so that we may find out the truth of the matter and let that truth be known to the people of Allegheny County.

I think most of the Members of this Body have had sad experiences with Authorities. Most of you know that they are creatures of government, over which even the Legislature seems to have little control and certainly the people have less control than that.

The people of Allegheny County should know what this Sanitary Authority is up to, how much its rates will be and what it will cost home owners now and in the future. We are entitled to that information and we want to know it as soon as possible.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution and ask that it be referred to the proper committee.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVETIGATE THE RATE-MAKING POLICY AND THE PAST AND PROPOSED EXPENDITURES OF THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY SANITARY AUTHORITY

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution (Serial No. 27), which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

In the Senate, May 4, 1959.

When completed and in operation, the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority will provide a large part of the sewage service in Allegheny County.

It has been claimed that work on this Authority is progressing slowly in an inefficient and careless manner with the resulting excessive expenditures and waste.

The charge has been made that organized groups of Allegheny County citizens, who will be affected by this new service, have received discourteous and arrogant treatment from personnal of the Authority. These citizens have been given no indication of the purpose for which undetermined sums of money have been spent, nor is there any indication of the amounts to be spent in the future. Certain communities in the Allegheny Valley have complained that the proposed rates are unjust, unfair and excessive, and that the Authority has acted in a discriminatory manner as to the rates for these communities.

If any of these allegations are true, it is the duty of the Senate to take swift remedial action to prevent continued abuse of the extraordinary powers entrusted to the Authority, curb unnecessary spending, supply property owners with necesasry information that would allow them to be fully prepared for the added expense entailed in joining the new system and prevent unjust rates from being imposed on the citizens of Allegheny County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President pro Tempore of the Senate appoint five members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to investigate the rate-making policy and the past and proposed expeditures of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the Senate at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this Session of the General Assembly.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL No. 127

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 4, 1959.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That Senate Bill No. 127, Printer's No. 136, entitled "An act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) entitled 'An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto' authorizing cities to acquire and maintain historical property and permitting city planning commissions to make recommendations in relation thereto," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE GOVERNOR TO ESTABLISH A RESEARCH CENTER FOR BITUMINOUS COAL IN THE BOROUGH OF BARNESBORO, CAMBRIA COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. WALKER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 28), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 4, 1959.

Vast unemployment previals in the Borough of Barnesboro, and this borough is within the most distressed area of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Borough of Barnesboro is situated in the center of the Bituminous Coal Fields.

The Curtiss-Wright Corporation, at its Quehanna laboratories in Clearfield County, has recently developed a process wherein coal can be effectively used for road construction and surfacing.

Continued research in this field, if fruitful, could greatly alleviate the unemployment problems of this Commonwealth. Once again our most important industry, the mining of coal, could operate at full capacity, and the economy of our distressed areas could regain its stability.

The Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor, in keeping with his efforts toward the betterment of Pennsylvania, has expressed a willingness and a desire to further the research for uses of coal.

In order to bring immediate employment to this distressed area and to eventually make possible a full utilization of our industrial potential throughout the Commonwealth, it is deemed highly advisable that a research center be established in Barnesboro, Pennsylvania; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Governor to establish a research center for bituminous coal, and that such research center be situated within the confines of the Borough of Barnesboro, Cambria County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution at this time, and ask that it be sent to the appropriate committee for action.

The "Resolve" part of the resolution is rather sweeping in its demand. I do not believe that the Members sitting here have had an opportunity to study this resolution, much less think about it. I also think one of the problems we have at the moment is the problem of financing this and other types of research projects in which we are interested. I believe we should have an opportunity to study this problem further before we take any kind of action.

I, also, do not want to slight any of the other boroughs which may be situated in Cambria County. Therefore, we may have to widen this area where the research center would be located. For that reason, I ask that the resolution be referred to committee for further study.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this bill, which I am about to introduce, aims to obtain a certain correction which, in my opinion, will take care of an injustice.

As you know, Philadelphia is surrounded by an empire of suburbia. Those people who live in a suburbia get better rates on casualty insurance than the people who live in the heart of Philadelphia. Yet, a person who lives in the suburbs of Philadelphia spends most of his day and part of his evening in Philadelphia. I do not see why this differentiation is justified. For this reason, I am presenting this bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduced a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 726, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 11, 1947 (P. L. 538), entitled "The Casualty and Surety Rate Regulatory Act," further regulating the making and classification of rates in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. KELLER, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KELLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 727, entitled:

An Act to provide for two additional law judges of the court of common pleas in the seventh judicial district.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 617, on second reading, now go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I looked those amendments over and they look all right to me.

This piece of legislation might possibly expand employment in western Pennsylvania, especially in the bituminous coal fields.

I feel that this bill has been on the Calendar for several days and I can see no reason why it should be passed over in order. After all, I have to look after tens of thousands of unemployed coal miners in western Pennsylvania. It is my job to see that if there is a possibility, they should receive employment. If this legislation will contribute to the employment of our coal miners, I see no reason why it should be delayed one day.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the bill should be passed on second reading, as amended. I will be glad to debate it tomorrow.

Mr. President, I move that the bill be acted upon now.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it may clarify the thinking of some of the Senators to say that we think this is a good bill. However, if it does pass on second reading, the practice has been that when a bill contains a money expenditure, it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for further action.

After the bill had passed second reading, it was my intention to move that it be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations for action by that Committee.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Do you wish me to withdraw my motion? The bill will then pass second reading and you will re-refer it to the Committee on Appropriations, is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in the regular course of business, I believe the bill would pass second reading if Senator Weiner withdraw his request that it go over in order. In view of Senator Lane's position, I believe he probably will and in view of my contemplated action.

Mr. LANE. I will withdraw my motion, Mr. President, and see what happens.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on the advice and counsel of the Majority Leader that he is going to re-refer this bill to the Committee on Appropriations, I withdraw my motion for the bill to be passed over in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 617, the bill just read, be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1959.

The Munhall High School rifle team has shot its 14th consecutive perfect team score to decisively defeat Upper Darby and Bradford High Schools and capture the State high school rifle championship for the 13th time.

The Munhall Indians won the Section 1 championship in March by completing 12 straight victories in regular competition against some of the top rifle teams of the State, and continued on to win the W. P. I. A. L. championship by defeating Shaler High School, the Section 2 champions early in April, thus moving into the State finals. Then, on April 11, 1959 at the championship tourney at Penn State the Munhall gunners won the coveted State title by tallying a perfect 1,000 team score.

The victory of the Munhall High School rifle team is well deserved and the honor well placed, for during all of their matches they have established an enviable reputation for skill and determniation, and even more, for fairness and good sportsmanship; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends its most hearty congratulations to each member of the Munhall High School Rifle Team and to coaches J. S. Wilson and A. J. Mattee upon winning the State Championship; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Munhall High School.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 923 Printer's No. 350

House Bill No. 1119 Printer's No. 292

House Bill No. 1173 Printer's No. 375

House Bill No. 1174 Printer's No. 376

House Bill No. 1175 Printer's No. 377 and

House Bill No. 1176 Printer's No. 378

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1422, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of July 19, 1957 (Appropriation Acts page 60) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1957 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957" deleting certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said deletions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman what is the purpose of House Bills 1422 and 1423, which are companion bills on this calendar?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1422 reduces the appropriation to the Public School Employees' Retirement Board in the amount of $17,878,083.

That is necessary in order that the deficiency of the same amount can be paid to the Department of Public Instruction to enable them to pay the balance due on the appropriations due the First, Second, and Third Class School Districts.

There was an agreement made between the Department of Public Instruction, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, the Attorney General and the Budget Office that they would process 80 percent of the appropriations due the First, Second and Third Class School Districts and pay them in April. Then, when it was finally determined what the net amount of the deficiency appropriation was, that balance would be paid. These amounts are due the First, Second and Third Class School Districts, and if House Bills 1422 and 1423 are passed, it will enable prompt payment to be made of the balance due these classes of school districts.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, in order to pass these deficiency appropriations you must lapse or fail to provide some $17 millions of money that should go into the retirement fund, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now Mr. Speaker, this is the second or third time this session that we have passed deficiency appropriations through the means of lapsing retirement funds, is it not?

Mr. POLEN. This will be the third time that we have lapsed money from the Public School Employees' Retirement Board.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could the gentleman say how much the total lapsing is up to this point?

Mr. POLEN. The total lapsing up to this point is $8.5 millons and with the inclusion of House Bill No. 1422 it will make a total of $26,378,083.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would any further lapsing be possible as far as the retirement funds are concerned?

Mr. POLEN. It could be, but I hope that we can avoid it.

I might state, Mr. Speaker, that all of these bills, the two previously passed which are now acts and House Bill 1422, contain the provisions in the bills that the Legislature pledge itself to restore these amounts to the retirement fund.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. A further question, Mr. Speaker. The Governor's Budget, on pages 4 and 5, recommends total deficiency and additional appropriations of $77.6 million. Now do these bills on the calendar represent the end of the deficiency requests, or will we, before May 31, have requests for additional deficiency appropriations to the total of $77 million?

Mr. POLEN. This does not represent all of the deficiencies included in the Governor's Budget, but I believe that we will be able possibly to restrict the deficiencies in the balance of this fiscal year, this biennium, to the ones we are presently asking for. I would not preclude that we may have to ask for additional ones, but I would call to the gentleman's attention, Mr. Speaker, that these amounts are included in the budget and, as a matter of fact, the final figures in connection with these deficiency appropriations that will be in this particular item are approximately $3 million-odd less than we had anticipated.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that we were all amazed when we received the Governor's Budget and he stated very frankly, I would say, in his budget that we would have to pass, before the end of the biennium, deficiency appropriations totaling $77.6 million. As I have said before at this microphone, it has happened every session that I have been here that we have had to pass deficiency appropriations totaling anywhere from seven or eight million dollars up to this suggested figure of $77 million, which I hope you will not have to reach. It is one of the deficiencies in our legislative system.

We hold Appropriation hearings, we call in the department heads and, whether the Democrats are in power or the Republicans are in power, we adjourn here sine die and we go back home thinking that we have adequately provided for all the departments here on Capitol Hill. We have no more than left town when a spending spree starts and then we come back and in the first weeks of the new session they are crying on our doorsteps for more money. So what do we do? Unless there are additional revenues over and above those estimated, we always have to dig into retirement funds, lapse them or lapse some other critical appropriations in order to take care of deficiencies.

I think the time has come when even at this session of the General Assembly we pass a bill with some teeth in it which will forever and a day stop defiicency appropriations or requests for over-spending by department heads unless they get the consent of the General Assembly.

In that connection, before we vote on these bills, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In my few brief remarks here I have tried to find out what I think is a deficiency in our system which needs correcting, and it is the will of our caucus that something be done this session of the General Assembly.

I am asking the gentleman whether he would join with us in the preparation of a bill for introduction and passage which will solve this problem once and for all!

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I personally, and I am sure that the Governor of this Commonwealth, favors the necessary legislation in which we would agree that we adequately finance each of the departments in appropriations, not over-estimating the revenue, but making an honest budget and then eliminating this so-called deficiency appropriation once and for all and holding every department and every agency to within the limits that we have financed for the biennium.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman then be willing to go along with legislation at this session of the General Assembly which would seek to solve this problem, and make it impossible in the future to run deficiency appropriations, if the money is available through adequate taxes to support the appropriations made?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the last part of the statement that Mr. Johnson made certainly had the greatest hearing, adequate taxes.

It is never our intention to ever, at any time, try to over-estimate and let the economy of Pennsylvania fall by the wayside, which would not produce the revenue. But, I say to you standing here on this floor this date, we certainly favor that legislation, and I believe we can appoint a committee from our side of the House to sit down and to work on it the day you are ready or right now.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. This over-spending has no relation to the income from taxes. I believe you will agree with that.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly agree with that statement, but if the estimated tax revenue for the biennium would, for some reason such as in 1958, fail to yield the estimate, and cause a deficiency, I am sure you will agree then the money does not arrive in tax revenues. But we are not speaking mainly about that. We are talking about where we get X millions of dollars in the budget on a line by line item and we say to you, this is the amount of money for the coming two years, live within this budget and operate within this figure. The answer is yes.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

With that explanation I believe that a good many on our side of the House will go along on voting for the appropriation and for the lapsing of the retirement fund.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Cambria, the former Speaker, Mr. Andrews, desire to be recognized?

Mr. ANDREWS. I do, Mr. Speaker.

I knew, sooner or later, one of these young spriggins would get too ambitious, and it is one of the hazards you take by developing budding and over-ambitious talent.

I am speaking here just to save the trouble of crossing to the other side of the House. Because of our action today we have re-established a sort of brotherhood in agreement upon some essentials that have waited long —many, many years—for a sane approach.

The Minority Leader said that we come back here and are amazed to find deficiency appropriations. Why? Why are we amazed? Because we have never functioned as a House in a fashion to place ourselves in a position to know what was going on.

It is my firm conviction that if House Bill No. 260 had been in force at the beginning of the last administration some of the problems we face we would not have had to face today. We have wrung our hands for 30 years because departments went their own particular way after we had gone. And why shouldn't they if we hand over, as we will, $2 billion and we have no machinery by which we can acquaint His Excellency, the Governor, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and the people of Pennsylvania with the fact that appropriations are being exceeded, that departments are operating outside the purview of the law. If we do not have that machinery, it is our fault. We are blaming departments for being profligate while we have neglected to create the machinery that would enable us to function through our committees as guardians of the immense amount of money that we transferred to the departments for their expenditures.

It has been our purpose in the past, ladies and gentlemen of the House, to take a billion or so, bundle it up in bundles, hand so much to your department, goodby; so much for this other bureau, goodby; and we have had the insane notion that we can have short sessions. Sometimes when I hear the Minority Leader talking about a short business-like session, I could murder him, just murder him. When you have $2 billion to spend and the problems that we have to consider, you cannot do it, in one of these short business-like sessions, because our business is to know the reaches and sweep of the problems that we face, to know what the departments are doing, what the bureaus are doing.

This committee is a beginning—a beginning, simply a beginning. It lays the foundation for legislative responsibility for the expenditures of funds. We have permitted the departments to be our guardians. We are their guardians. It is as though they are our children, children of our begetting. We created them; they serve by reason of our will and yet we have permitted them, over the years, to become our masters.

There is further insanity that we are going to cure. I say that a legislature that commits suicide deserves contempt. It is not necessary to be in session, to be in being, and I say the time has arrived and if it is not recognized at this session it will be recognized when there will not be any sine die resolution. We will remain in being, not in session, and our committees will have full power to function, to call before them any of these departments that are getting over the line. And how will they know whether they are getting over the line? Through the operations of this committee which you have authorized today.

You say there is no recourse if this committee finds that things are not going right and this Legislature is not in being. The Legislature can be called back at our will, and not simply at the will of the Chief Executive. We have laid today a great foundation. It is a culmination of a 20-years' battle. I am glad to see it this day and it is a beginning. It is a beginning. It is a rebirth on the part of the legislative body that has slumbered too long. Our committees have not worked as they should have worked. They have not been fortified with the technical assistance that they need. This bill will help them. It will supply them with information, and then we shall realize that legislating a $2-billion budget is not a catch-and-can-catch-affair, that it is a charge upon the conscience of every Member of this House as long as he is a Member. Many of the problems that we face will vanish and, instead we are only enacting a routine that is familiar to every old Member. We have met every two years for many years and we battle about the same things and, eventually, in one way or another, the budget is financed. We are creating the machinery to see that it is properly financed.

I thank the ladies and gentlemen of the House for their attention. I am glad to speak here because today at least we are united in our aims and our objects. We have made a great achievement. I thank you for your patient listening.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, a number of the Members have talked to me of their concern on account of the telegrams they have received protesting House Bill No. 1422.

I want to assure them, and I want to assure the teachers of Pennsylvania, that we are not taking any funds out of the retirement system. The amounts we are lapsing or reducing have not been paid, due to the fact that not enough revenue has been received.

I want to say to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, that there will be other deficiencies during this Session. He said he hoped there would not be. Not all of the amounts included in the Governor's budget have been covered by bills. I said it is possible we will not have any more during the balance of this month, but we will of necessity have to introduce bills to make the payments that will be necessary on the balance of deficiencies which we have not covered.

Since we all seem to have discussed not only House Bill No. 1422, but also House Bill No. 1423, I want to call to the attention of the Members of this House that this is not really overspending. This concerns the subsidies for teachers' salaries which are based on the number of units contained, and it consists of transportation for the handicapped, which are matters that you can hardly estimate accurately two years in advance. That is the reason for these deficiencies here today. I do not think it is humanly possible to absolutely estimate them such as we have done in the past.

I would further say to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, that unless we want to considerably increase the amount for instruction and to pay for the subsidies in this budget, we may be faced with the same situation two years hence.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 250, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343), entitled "The Fiscal Code," providing for additional reimbursement and procedures relative thereto in the auditing of disbusements affairs and accounts and clarifying the provisions relating to audits.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BRETH asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 408), page 4, by inserting between lines 5 and 6

The reimbursements and procedures herein shall not apply to the Fire Insurance Tax Fund.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the sponsor of the amendments Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what the purpose of these amendments is.

Mr. BRETH. The purpose of the amendment is exactly as it reads, to remove funds of the firemen from jurisdiction under the Act.

Mr. STEWART. Would this mean that the Auditor General would still be required to audit the firemen's pension funds?

Mr. BRETH. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. STEWART. Has not the Attorney General so ruled?

Mr. BRETH. I believe that he has under an Act which was passed two years ago. That Act was passed with unanimous consent in the House and in the Senate, but the firemen woke up and found they had been included under the Act of two years ago. And if many of us in the House at that time had realized that they were to be included under the Act, which had to be interpreted by the Attorney General later, we would have opposed the measure or had them taken out of the Act, as we propose to do here.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the policemen are now audited by the Auditor General, and the cost charged against their funds.

Mr. BRETH. I suspect that they are.

Mr. STEWART. Who will actually do the auditing and where will the charges go now on the firemen's pension fund?

Mr. BRETH. A few weeks ago this House passed House Bills 75 and 76 which took care of that situation very nicely, much to the satisfaction of a great many Legislators, the vast majority of Legislators in this House, and also the Volunteer Firemen's Association, throughout the state who had jurisdiction over these firemen's relief pension funds. I want to congratulate the House at this time for passing those two bills, 75 and 76.

Mr. STEWART. Now that the speech is finished, I would like to have an answer to my question.

Mr. BRETH. The answer to your question is that if you remember the contents of 75 and 76, they took away from the Auditor General the right to audit the firemen's relief and pension funds which had been included in the Act of two years ago, and placed it at the local level.

Mr. STEWART. I have a very poor memory, but have those bills become law?

Mr. BRETH. So far as I am concerned, I certainly hope they do at this particular Session.

Mr. STEWART. They have not become law as of right now, is that correct?

Mr. BRETH. The most we can do as Members of the House of Representatives is to express our will and opinion, and our will and opinion in this House, to the tune of 168 to 19, says that we certainly hope they become law soon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair reminds the gentleman that the only question before the House is the adoption of the amendments, and not House Bills 75 and 76.

Mr. STEWART. Now we are discussing this bill in front of us, and I would still like to know: If this bill passes as a Senate bill with your amendment, would the Auditor General be in a position where he has a duty to audit, and no place to place the cost of the audit? Yes, or no?

Mr. BRETH. I did not understand the question fully.

Mr. STEWART. I would like to know, if this bill passes, with the amendment which you suggest, whether the Auditor General will be in a position of being required to audit the books, with no place to place the cost.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I am not afraid of anything that the Auditor General will be of a mind to do if this bill passes. I have an opinion from the Attorney General's office which says that without the amendment this bill will not affect the firemen's funds; however, I at this time am not prepared to take a chance, and I would like it physically written into the bill that they do not include the firemen's funds. That is the purpose of these amendments.

Mr. STEWART. I thank the gentleman. I would now like to make a brief statement.

In view of the fact that this bill is for the purpose of permitting the Auditor General to audit many accounts and charge these accounts with the cost of the auditing, and in view of the fact that the appropriation bills from the Auditor General's Department have concomitantly been reduced, it seems a travesty to present an amendment to this bill at this time with the frank admission that the Attorney General has now rendered an opinion that the firemen's funds does not come under this bill. Either they do or they do not. In my opinion a vote against this bill is a vote against orderly auditing procedures.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. We heard a very scholarly discourse by our Speaker, not our former Speaker, on bipartisan legislation so that we would have a watch-dog committee of the legislature to determine how our money is being spent. Yet we have an amendment now being proposed on behalf of the Volunteer Firemen of Pennsylvania, who have the arrogance to say that when they get tax money that tax money shall be spent in such manner as they shall dictate without supervision by anybody whatsoever.

The bill to which Mr. Breth referred, I opposed it because of the stand they took at that particular time. If we are going to allow the Volunteer Firemen to receive the money of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we should have the right to audit them. We have had experience in various communities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where such monies have been embezzled, spent improperly. A vote for these amendments is a vote against the hard-bitten taxpayer.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want the record to clearly show that this is not the taxpayers' money in the sense of tax appropriated money. This is from the two percent for fire insurance which is appropriated, nothing more than a trust fund appropriated and divided to the various municipalities.

I want the record also to show that I, personally, have faith in all township and borough auditors who audit every one of these accounts, who do not believe in permitting any embezzlement.

I am voting for the amendments because I do believe that the volunteer firemen of Pennsylvania have a right, and I favor giving them the right, to have the local auditors, whom we elect from our own local citizens in each borough, township and city, to audit these accounts, this trust fund given to them. They have regulations they abide by that they follow very carefully, and not a single person over here is favoring any legislation which would permit anyone to squander even trust funds.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to correct the Majority Leader. We have no law on the Statute Books of Pennsylvania providing for local audits. We have a hope and a prayer for same.

Secondly, he has pointed out this is a trust fund. This is a trust fund that came from insurance companies who paid their money into the treasury of this state. Whether it is a trust fund or otherwise, it is a gift by the taxpayers to the Volunteer Firemen, and they ought not to be ashamed to have their books audited.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak for every Volunteer Firemen Relief Association in this state, and I wish to say on the record that no relief association nor the members thereof are ashamed to have their funds audited. The point we are discussing is the method of audit. I want to say, as sponsor of the amendment, local auditors will do the job just as well as any other source.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 309, Printer's No. 610,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to remind the Members of the House, and especially the Members of the Game and Conservation Committee, that tomorrow morning starting at 9:00 a.m., daylight time, there will be a hearing on House Bill 324, the air-pollution bill, in the main House Caucus Room on the first floor.

Any Member of this House is welcome to attend the hearing, and if he wishes to be recognized, I certainly shall do my best to give him any courtesy that he desires.

I want to say that the hearing has attracted quite a lot of attention, and there will be a number of experts on air pollution there to give statements, and their opinions on the problem in Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, some weeks ago I requested that Mr. Polen, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, advise me as to the number of people who receive money under private contracts. I have now received that information from Mr. Polen and I want to thank him for his excellent cooperation.

In view of the fact that we are having watch-dog legislation and we are very anxious to know how the taxpayers' money is being spent, I believe the Members on both sides of the House will be interested in some of these figures.

Under private contract $267,000 was spent for appraisal fees from August 28, 1957 to April 24, 1959. For engineering services during the same period, $28.5 million was spent. For architectural fees, $865,000 was spent.

I call to your particular attention that these only include fees in state government; they do not include fees in any department or commission such as the Turnpike or the General State Authority.

I think it is time that House Bill 1163, which would give the taxpayers and the Representatives a knowledge as to who gets $7500 or more a year under private contract should be given serious consideration by the Appropriate Committees and reported to the floor of the House so that we can have an additional watch-dog feature for the benefit of the taxpayers.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce a Republica Caucus to be held tomorrow at 1:30, Daylight Saving Time.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have two functions here to perform at this time; one to the many who have asked - we will not have a Democratic Caucus scheduled tomorrow in this House.

Then, Mr. Speaker, a few weeks back we had occasion to be the guests of the fine people of the City of Brotherly Love in Philadelphia, in which we enjoyed their hospitality and listened to their problems, and they have many in the great city of Philadelphia, and it was at that time that I stated on the floor of this House that on May 5th we would have our Democratic dinner and I would invite to be our guest, the gentleman who is the great Republican leader of the Minority Party of this House.

So Mr. Speaker, I present to Albert W. Johnson a paid $100 ticket for the dinner tomorrow night with my compliments.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in reading the ticket it says it is a Victory Dinner. Is that for Albert W. Johnson or Lyndon Johnson?

Mr. McCANN. I am sure that the gentleman will join in the victory of this wonderful lady, Miss Genevieve Blatt.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, I thoroughly appreciate the invitation.

I am just wondering where I should go tomorrow night. I am invited to a Republican rally at Steelton, where I will be able to peddle my wares. I do not think I would be heard above a whisper at this dinner tomorrow night. SoI am going to try to get a refund on that hundred bucks, if I can.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. RIGBY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

Mr. RIGBY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN S. ALLISON, Pastor of Rock Bend Methodist Church, Homewood, Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

"O God, our help in ages past,
"Our hope for years to come;
"Our shelter from the stormy blast,
"And our eternal home."

In these moments of devotion, we seek Thee as the flowers turn to the sunshine.

Fill our minds with wisdom, our hearts with tenderness, our hands with usefulness. Take all reluctance out of our obedience, and all bitterness out of our endurance. May we follow where the Master leads, serene and unafraid.

We gladly offer to Thee our song of gratitude today. May each of us find Thy forgiving grace. Bless our dear ones and our communities. Bless the Members of our House and Senate. Especially guide the Members of this group in today's tasks. Bless our State, our Governor and all our officials. Pour Thy blessing on America; bless our President and his advisors.

May the leaders of our world pause for a moment and take thy hand and be led out of the swamps of hatred, war and bitterness, to the highlands of brotherhood and peace.

We ask all these things in Chirst's name, Amen.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM ARMSTRONG AND BUTLER COUNTIES PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have the very happy pleasure to present to this Body a group of beautiful women, whom I would like the Chair to recognize. They have good political sense by voting Republican. They are from Armstrong and Butler Counties. Through a little slip awhile ago, I officially opened my campaign for re-election next year when I had my picture taken with these ladies.

Mr. President, I present these ladies from Armstrong and Butler Counties.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is very happy to welcome the guests of Senator Pechan, the ladies with such good judgment from Armstrong County who will lead the fight for good government by returning him to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Will the ladies please rise in order to be recognized by the Members of the Senate?

MEMBERS OF THE EASTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I would like the Chair, and the Members of the Senate, to recognize a very distinguished group of young ladies from my district, Northampton County. I might say to Senate Pechan that we, in Northampton County, have a nonpartisan group visiting us today. They are equally divided between Democrats and Republicans. They are members of the Easton League of Women Voters, from Easton, Pennsylvania, headed by their newly elected President, Mrs. Alvin Wolfe. They are also accompanied by their Past President, Mrs. Lawrence Resnick.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is happy to welcome the guests of Senator Rooney, being a nonpartisan group of ladies who support Senator Rooney in Northampton County.

Will the ladies please rise and be recognized?

REMARKS BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I heard the remarks made by Senator Pechan. I hope the ladies who, according to Senator Pechan, demonstrated such excellent judgment will continue to do so by attending the Democratic Dinner tonight at the Zembo Mosque.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I am sure the ladies will be happy to avail themselves of your invitation.

MEMBERS OF CAMBRIA COUNTY COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this afternoon, we are highly honored in having not only a very beautiful group of ladies, but also politically prominent and astute people who are in the Republican Party, from western Pennsylvania. Some of them come from as far west as Westmoreland County. There are considerable groups from Indiana, Jefferson and Somerset Counties. However, I will let their respective Senator introduce them.

I am tremendously proud, Mr. President, to introduce to you, and to the Senate of Pennsylvania, the ladies from the Cambria County Council of Republican Women. They are seated in the balcony.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is very happy to welcome the members of the Council of Republican Women, from Cambria County, who are the guests of Senator Walker.

Will you please rise in order to be recognized?

MEMBERS OF INDIANA AND JEFFERSON COUNTY COUNCILS OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I have had the occasion of listening to various Senators making remarks about the fine looking ladies who come from their particular counties. We, too, from Indiana County, have a wonderful group here, who are representing the Council of Republican Women.

I would like the Chair to recognize these guests from Indiana County at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is very happy to welcome the ladies from the Councils of Republican Women from Jefferson and Indiana Counties, the guests of Senator Kromer.

Will you please rise so that we may welcome you to the Senate?

STUDENTS FROM ABINGTON HIGH SCHOOL, MONTGOMERY COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, this seems to be visitation day. We are always very happy to have students from the various high schools visit with us here in the Senate.

We have a very distinguished group today from Montgomery County. They are the Historians and American History students from Abington High School. I might say, Mr. President, that they have two exchange students from Germany accompanying them. They are here under the direction of their teachers, Miss Grace Davis and Miss Ruth Kraupf. They are seated in the balcony.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, is most happy to welcome the guests of Senator Propert, the students from Abington High School. We are particularly happy that the two exchange students from Germany are here to see the democratic processes in Pennsylvania at work. We hope your visit here will be both informative and pleasant to you.

Will you please rise so that we may welcome you?

MEMBERS OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If the Chair may, this is one of the most pleasant duties that I have had to perform. It is not often that I get the opportunity to do this.

We have lovely and beautiful women from all over western Pennsylvania here today, but none, I might say, more lovely nor more beautiful than those from the Council of Republican Women of Allegheny County.

Will the guests of Senator Kopriver please rise and be recognized?

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS FROM WESTMORELAND COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, we not only have good looking Republican women here from Westmoreland County this afternoon, but we also have three very good Democratic leaders from Westmoreland County present. They are seated at the rear of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate, is very happy to recognize the guests of Senator Mahady, the Democratic leaders from Westmoreland County.

COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM BUTLER COUNTY WELCOMED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Pechan just informed me of a very grave error which I made. I did not ask those other backers of his, those very fine and distinguished ladies from the Council of Republican Women from Butler County, to rise.

Will you please rise and be recognized?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 405, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) entitled "The Penal Code" prohibiting certain business activities on Sunday.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to say that ninety-five per cent of my mail is letters favoring this bill. However, I think it is unconstitutional; it is a religious bill.

Last Session we passed a bill to stop the sale of automobiles on Sundays. Now they are creeping in again; creeping in again to stop other sales. This is a religious law. No doubt about it. Every letter I get says: "I want to go to church on Sunday, to my religion."

I know it is going to hurt me back home, but I have got my consecience in my head. I am voting "no."

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I can re-echo those sentiments of Senator McGinnis very, very strongly. I believe in what he stated one hundred per cent. I personally, of course, do not like to see stores open on Sunday. However, it is an entirely different situation when we are asked up here in this Legislature to pass laws on these matters. Let us not be fooled by false labels. We cannot delude ourselves or the public with the phony and fallacious argument that these Sunday closing bills are merely economic bills.

As the Senator has pointed out, they are essentially religious bills. It is a sad commentary on our modern processes when we would accept labels for substance. This legislation, I believe very strongly, is backward legislation. It is pre-Renaissance.

Let me first state why this type of legislation is really religious in character. Obviously, it deals with Sunday, which the large majority of people in this Country think of as their Sabbath, as their day of worship. Incidentally, let me just state that the Governor made a statement that he was in favor of this bill, and the entire flavor of that statement was that we should not get the last ounce of money on a Sunday, at cetera, et cetera.

Again, I would re-echo the words of Senator McGinnis about all these letters that we have been receiving, relating to a day of rest and talking about religion. I sympathize with them. However, again I state, no legislation like this.

In Commonwealth versus Hoover, 25 Pa., Superior Court 134, it shows the object and it traces the historical development of all these laws. The entire object is the enforcement of religion. The offenses enumerated are not the acts themselves.

As you go through this bill, Senate Bill No. 405, you will note, of course, that on other days of the week except Sundays, these sales are legal. Merely because it is Sunday, they are now illegal. I do not call it what you call it. They are essentially religious in kind.

We have an obligation in this Senate, and in the House, to protect the rights of minorities. Sunday does not happen to be the Sabbath day of all people. Those people, who do not believe such, should be protected and we should do what is right because the Constitution states, in effect, that man shall not interfere with the rights of conscience. That is what we are actually doing by bills such as this.

This is one matter in which our founding fathers decided that the majority should not control the minority. The object of government is to protect all persons in the enjoyment of their religious as well as their civil rights. Our protection of minorities is not accomplished by subterfuge such as Senate Bill No. 405.

Let me just go through the bill and point out how ridiculous it is. It prohibits the sale of toys. Then there is a little amendment, excluding novelties and souvenirs, which takes care of the summer trade. My objection, of course, is not to this exception here, but it is to the entire bill because I believe that you do not force upon people laws such as this. It is a matter of their own individual conscience.

May I point out that besides Senate Bill No. 405, there is Senate Bill No. 144, which would prohibit the sale of real estate, and Senate Bill No. 491, which would prohibit the sale of meat in certain operations, excluding neighborhood stores.

Again, as Senator McGinnis pointed out, this is opening the door. Two years ago, I voted against the automobile dealers' bill on the same basis. I believe that, year after year, we will be deluged with legislation such as this. I can only quote, and I cannot say it any better than it is said in a speech that Thaddeus Stevens made in the case of Specht versus The Commonwealth, in 8 Pa., 312. Thaddeus Stevens gave forth great speeches on religious freedom, and I would just like to quote a few sentences from one speech:

> "Does this act of Assembly 'control or interfere with the rights of conscience?' It evidently treats the first day of the week as a holy, a sacred day; and it prohibits labour on that day, not for the purpose of giving rest to man, as a mere civil regulation, but because it profanes the Lord's day.
> "We have other holidays. We have political Sabbaths, such as the 4th of July, and 22nd of February. We reverence them as days of great political events. But we do not enforce their observance by legislation. But the act in question" —referring to the Act of 1794—"compels all to observe Sunday as a sacred day. To oblige men to refrain from labour out of regard to his holiness, is to 'control' their religious observance, as much as if they were ordered to kneel before the altar, or the images of the Saints. And to all those who conscientiously believe that it is not a holy day—that it is not the true Sabbath of the Lord, it is an 'interference' with, and a constraint of their rights of conscience. It is no answer to say that the day of rest should be uniform among all. If it were a mere civil regulation, there might be some reason in it; but then it would be made a day of recreation—of relaxation; and most probably those days would not come so frequently. The French, when they discarded its religious character, when they worshipped the Goddess of Reason, and provided only for the rest of the people, fixed the tenth day. But I suppose it requires no other argument than reading the several acts upon this subject, to prove that our legislation looks to enforcing the religious observance of the day. If the legislature can direct that religious observance, then there is no limit to their power over religious subjects. If they can direct the people to stay at home quietly, they can direct them to go to church, and if they can direct them to attend church, they can indicate the church to be attended. In short, if they have any power over religious subjects, they have all power. Such power would be a perfect union of church and state, so much abhorred by the people of this republic. It would inevitably lead to religious persecutions, and finally to civil and religious tyranny."

Members of this Senate, we are certainly not going to aid the cause of religion. There is no doubt in anyone's mind, I am sure, that we cannot legislate morality. I admit that this bill will be passed. I am sure that the great pressures that have been brought forth among all these Members will result in the passage of this bill. I think it is a sad day; I think it is a sorry day. I predict that the day will come when we will rue its passage.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I must disagree with my distinguished colleagues, Senator McGinnis and Senator Ehrgood, that this is a religious bill. There is no part of this bill which has anything to do with religion. This bill, in my opinion, represents the only effective approach to the problem of preventing Sunday from becoming another bargain day in business. We have had the Blue Laws on the books for generations. Senate Bill No. 405 gives the Blue Laws some teeth, and it imposes a fine which will eliminate the abuse of Sunday sales.

It is a clear and definite bill, which states precisely what categories of merchandise may be sold on Sunday and it provides adequate penalties to make enforcement possible.

The public would not be inconvenienced in any way since the prohibited items are in no sense necessities or convenience goods that should be, and must be, sold on Sunday. The bill is patterned very closely after the law which was passed in 1957, prohibiting the sale of automobiles on Sunday. I can say, gentlemen of the Senate, that practically every automobile dealer and every salesman in Pennsylvania favored that bill in its entirety.

This is a bill, also, that will enable hundreds of thousands of store clerks in Pennsylvania to have a day of rest and a day to be home with their families, since they have to work on Saturday and since Sunday is one of the days that the children are home from school. That is the social part of this bill. It is another manner in which we are improving the working conditions of these people in Pennsylvania, and the working conditions of the workingman in our State have been improved over twenty-five years.

I sincely hope this bill will be passed so it will affect the store clerks. I have received about 5,000 letters from every nook and corner of this State, and everybody is for the bill. There are a few instances where these big bargain centers from out-of-State have invaded our territory, because they can operate on Sunday. I have heard objections from this group.

I sincerely hope, gentlemen, that you will all vote favorably for Senate Bill No. 405.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I am compelled by the wordage of this bill to take the floor today and speak in opposition to it. I agree with my colleague, Senator McGinnis, that anyone who has studied the Constitution of Pennsylvania and studied the laws of Pennsylvania will believe that this bill is unconstitutional.

You cannot legislate in certain fields to preclude those persons from operating, and yet permit others to participate on Sundays. You may say to yourself, "What about the bill that we passed last Session, the automobile bill?" I am willing to venture on this floor today, Mr. President, that that bill was unconstitutional and if it should be tested, I feel the courts would so rule.

I would like to face this issue, Mr. President, not as a religious issue but, in accordance with what has been said hereby my colleague, Senator Rooney, as an economic issue. Let us see how really economic this bill is. Who are we serving today in Pennsylvania by casting our vote for Senate Bill No. 405? Are we aiding the people who need aid?

In my District in Philadelphia, we have a street which runs ten blocks. This place has been open on Sunday for fifty years, Mr. President, and many small businessmen have survived because of Sunday sales. Once again, we are passing a piece of legislation to aid the big chain stores, and to aid the big department stores in the centers of big cities. The little businessman is the man forgotten. He is a man of the past. In Philadelphia today, seventy-seven per cent of the small business establishments are vacant. The former corner grocer and the former corner butcher are men of the past. They are struggling to make a living. The corner grocer makes his money on Sundays when the chain stores are closed. You patronize him on Sundays and that is how he stays in business.

Here, today, we are going to give a double blow to the little guy. We are going to hit him below the belt again and say: "You, Mr. Clothing Man, who has two salesman, and you, Mr. Hardware Man, who is dependent on your neighbors to patronize you, you must close your doors on Sunday because we have to help the department stores in big cities to survive."

Mr. President, only two weeks ago, according to the Federal Reserve System, the department stores of this State, especially in the City of Philadelphia, increased their sales by fourteen per cent. Yet, they still want this type of legislation.

I say it is unfair. I say we are forgetting. I say we are turning our heads on the things which made American and Pennsylvania great. It was the little man; it was the little man who, working with his wife and his family, raised his children and sent them to school and educated them. He made it from that little store. That is the man that we here in Pennsylvania are going to punish. We are going to take away his last source of income, that little Sunday business which he takes on.

Regarding the automobile dealers of Pennsylvania, I will venture to say right here that if the automobile dealers of Pennsylvania had their choice, they would want that Sunday law repealed, because right in Philadelphia all the Sunday business, again, is going over the bridge to Jersey. There are more cars being sold from the lots in Jersey on Sunday than in Philadelphia during the week.

We are not aiding business in Pennsylvania. We are doing everything possible to drive it out and kick it down.

Let us today in this Senate, regardless of what we have felt before, not think of religion, but let us think of economics. Let us give the little guy a break for once and let us give him our vote.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, we have had a lot of discussion pro and con on this bill. It is an important bill, a very important bill.

I do not like to disagree with so many of my colleagues, but I believe we can disagree without becoming disagreeable.

As I read this bill, I find nothing in it which is of a religious nature. The bill is prompted by the thousands of letters that we have all received in the Senate of Pennsylvania, asking us to do something for the men and women who work in the department stores. These people are not asking to go to church; they are asking for a day of rest.

I do not find anyone complaining about the Act passed at the last Session concerning the automobile business.

This is a bill which has been crystalized by, I think, a very great organized labor section in our Commonwealth, the American Federation of Labor. They are in favor of it. They are heading up a group of people who have no particular voice to speak for them. I believe it is the obligation of the Senate of Pennsylvania to vote for this bill in order to give some recognition to the men and women who work and who are compelled to work on Sundays, whether they like it or whether they do not like it.

This is not a bill. It is rather an indictment of our civilization which makes this kind of legislation possible and necessary. It is too bad that business will not permit its employees to have a day of rest. It is too bad that we must legislate morals, as we may be doing in this bill.

It is a necessary bill. It is a bill which is filling a great void. It is a bill for which the people of Pennsylvania are crying. I am for it, and I urge all of my colleagues on both sides of this Senate to support Senate Bill No. 405.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President and fellow Members of the Senate, I have received innumerable cards and letters. I was in favor of this bill earlier. In these particular communiques I received, apparently the people are misled. These letters and cards stressed the fact that the Sabbath Day should be kept holy. They stressed the fact that there should be a day of rest.

However, if you read Senate Bill No. 405 carefully, you will find that the bill permits wholesale selling on the Sabbath, but not retail selling on the Sabbath. I do not know who misled these thousands of people. I do not feel now that I can be in favor of a bill which does such a thing and yet does not protect the people who are sending literature to me, because as I read the bill, Mr. President, it says, "wholesale." Another thing, how could it be enforced? Therefore, I cannot be for a bill of this type.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is with humility that I stand up here in the face of the arguments which have been given. However, I want to point out several things which I think should be considered in order to clarify the air.

There is no question in my mind that if I thought this were a religious bill, I would be against it. I would still be for the bill and vote for it if it also included Saturdays. However, there is one thing we are clearly wrong on in our reasoning. When someone said that this was a pre-reformation bill, let me draw to your attention that this bill is only clarifying the law. It is not making any new law in this Commonwealth. Our law reads as follows:

"No unnecessary servile works except works of necessity and charity shall be performed on Sunday."

It has read that way for many, many years. When I went to law school, a contract made on Sunday was bad.

What is new in this law? It is merely a clarification, applying to retail outlets. Senator Sarraf was right. It does not apply in the clarification to wholesale outlets. However, let me assure you that the original law will not be repealed by this bill. This is only a clarification bill. After all, when one travels throughout Europe, there is one thing which is impressive. In every Legislature in Europe, there is a moral reform going on. From Sweden to Finland, to Paris and to London, we find a sweep, a resurgence toward moral re-alignment.

Morality is not the basis of this bill. The idea is—and I agree with Senator Ehrgood here—that it does have its origin in the Old Testament. We must have one day a week in which to rest from our labors. We have to agree on which day of the week. Maybe it is not the same in your case as it is in mine, or in my case as it is in yours. Next Thursday, in my religion, is a holy day and we ask no one to close the stores. We just get up early and go to church, and then go about our business. Our religion is a thing of our own.

The economic stability of the Country demands that we do keep one day a week for rest; not for religion. No one is telling you to go to church; no one is telling you that you have to be an atheist. This has been the law of this Commonwealth and the law of the land since its very inception. It is only clarifying what we have all believed in and what we have all stood for. That applies to men of every religion. There should be one day of rest, and that rest will be enforced. This has been since the time of Moses.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Walker made the statement, and Senator Mahady also made the statement, that Sunday is a day of rest, and that this is something we are doing for the store people in order to make sure that they have a day of rest.

May I ask you, sir, whether you believe in the process of collective bargaining as between employer and employee and union, or do you believe that the government should prescribe the conditions of work?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I certainly do believe in collective bargaining. I said in my remarks previously that it was an indictment of our present day society tha we have to pass laws of this kind. Communities are gettin along fine, but the advent of these super markets ha simply changed the whole complexion of the situatio These people, who have no one else to speak for them certainly deserve some support. They deserve our help

This is not a religious issue; it is a matter of givin a man a day off each week.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, of course, Senato Walker did not really answer the question; he simpl evaded it.

I do not care what you call it, Mr. President, but wha Senator Walker is saying, in effect, is that the Senate o Pennsylvania is to prescribe a condition of work an actually take away negotiations between employer an employee, which he states he believes in.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to make few remarks at the close of this prolonged argument.

If there is one group of great people in our Commor wealth, and one which has shown its greatness again i this legislation, it is the Jewish people whose Sabbat falls on Saturday. They have been very gracious an by and large, they feel that this is a good bill. The have said that if this is a bill for the greatest numbe if it gives them a day of rest, they are in favor of it. think that is to their eternal credit. It is just unfortunat that there are a few people who really impose themselve on those who are not able to defend themselves by keepin their markets and stores open on Sunday. I think, e sentially, it is a good bill and I believe it is neede legislation.

I am not attempting to evade the question, althoug we lawyers are accused of being evasive. That is ce tainly not my idea.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hope the former speake when he used the words "we lawyers" used them ed torially and not "we" as a group. We do not intend be evasive, but I see no need for this type of bill.

Let me bring to your attention a large chain of cand stores, of great size, which provide this Commonwealt and the city of Philadelphia, as well as the Feder Government, with quite a large sum of tax money. The have chosen to remain closed on Saturday. They occup a store in the city of Philadelphia, at Thirteenth an Chestnut Streets, which is one of the best locations in th city for the sale of that type of merchandise. They choo to remain closed on Saturday, which is the busiest da of the week, and operate on Sunday. How will this bi benefit them? How will they be able to continue o erating? We are not only saying to them that they ca be closed on Saturdays if they wish, but we are al saying that they cannot be open on Sundays if the choose to do so.

It seems to me that at each Session of the Legislatur we infringe on some other group or people constantl I have heard the very same gentlemen, who have spoke in favor of this bill, speak both privately and openly o this floor of the Senate. They have said that they do n want further regulations. They do not want the gover ment creeping further and further into people's busines

All the letters we have received are typical of th type of letters which most Legislators get in any kin of given activity or in connection with any kind of bi There are gentlemen sitting around this Senate who hav a deep interest in this bill, who have organized the people, who have printed the letters, who have mailed them, who have mimeographed them and who have even stamped the addresses of the Senators on them. All the people had to do was sign their names and drop them in the mailbox. I will venture to say that many of your letters, if you take the time and trouble to answer them, would come back marked, "Not Known," "Not at this Address," or something similar.

This bill would not be moved—and I would like someone on this floor to contradict me if they think I am saying what is not properly so—here today if it were not for the lobbyists who feel they have been kept waiting and who are anxious to move this bill. They are most adamant about moving this bill so they can report back to their bosses that the job has been well done.

This bill, Mr. President, is not necessary. We are doing something which is completely beyond the purview of this Legislature. Senator Mahady is also a lawyer and he has just returned from Europe. He gave us his views on the international law on this subject, of what is happening abroad. Senator Mahady will also tell you that the Blue Laws, such as they are, will remain in effect for some time. We do not need to clarify them any longer. If we are going to clarify them, why pick on certain groups or certain activities? Why have we said in this bill that souvenirs and novelties are all right, but every other kind of retail selling is no good? How can we do this type of thing? If we are going to do it for this group, tomorrow morning another group will come in and want the bill amended to take care of their purpose. We can spend the rest of this Session amending this bill until we have taken care of every pressure or lobby group which comes before us.

Mr. President, this bill is religious in nature, and let us not ever try to escape that fact. There are many people in this Commonwealth who observe some day other than Saturday or Sunday as their Sabbath Day. If we are now going to provide and set up a day, I think in a sense we are abrogating one of our basic rights under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that of religious liberty.

I dare say that many of the people who have been working in the car business, for whom we passed that legislation last Session, would be very happy to be working on Sunday and off on Monday or Tuesday. If this type of activity continues and the mobility of our population as it is today, so they can move easily from the Philadelphia area to the New Jersey area in a matter of eight minutes, we will find ourselves in the position where some of these people will not only be home on Sunday, but they will be home every other day of the week with their families. We will be looking for ways and means of finding money to keep them going on unemployment compensation, which problem we already have in this Commonwealth.

What are we doing here, Mr. President? Who are we serving? The only people being served are the large super markets which are now closed on Sunday. The corner grocer, the small businessman who only lives because of his Saturday and Sunday business, is being slowly wiped out. This, gentlemen, is the vanishing American, the corner storekeeper, the very backbone of our economy, the very man who has kept this Commonwealth and this Country going.

We are doing this to serve a handful of people who have decided that they are going to, once and for all, invoke their will on the people of this Country and of this Commonwealth. This is the means and the vehicle they are using. We can see here that it does not run on party lines because we have found, on both sides of the aisle, that people are not so sure on it. I am certain that many of these men here, if they did not have to stand up and be publicly counted, would actually vote against this bill. However, they are just afraid of what might happen and of what vengance these gentlemen who sit in the rear of the Senate Chamber, and who control a great deal of wealth, will be able to inflict on them in the coming election. This is an awful way of voting for any kind of legislation.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, about all that any Senator can say at this time is that he reiterates the remarks made by certain other Senators. If, as of this moment, I did not admire and respect Senator Weiner, you could not help but admire the type of gentleman he is. A man who would get up before this Senate Body and speak from the heart, as Senator Weiner did, deserves the acclaim and applause of every Member of this Senate. He told you what was on his mind, and that should be on the mind and conscience of each Senator in this room. Senator Weiner spoke as a lawyer. He knows the constitutional impact of such a measure without a doubt. I, as a lawyer, also say to you that this bill is totally and wholly unconstitutional and could not stand before the Pennsylvania Constitution or the Federal Constitution of the United States.

Whether it be constitutional, whether it be religious or otherwise, it is a bill of deception. A sales job has been done on this bill, the like of which I have never seen. The people have gotten to believe that on the passage of this bill, every store in the Commonwealth will be closed. How wrong they are and how unhappy they are going to be after this bill is passed. People who have nothing to do with retail stores, and people whose parents do not work in retail stores, are being led to believe that they are going to have a day of rest. They are not. The wholesale house is going to be open. This bill is aimed specifically at retail stores.

Members of this Senate, do not let them deceive you. These people handling this bill, labeled "lobbyists," have gone to great extremes to tell the people that the retail stores must be closed. Otherwise, there would be no day of rest.

Mr. President, there is still one God and one Lord. He is the same God and the same Lord for the retail man as he is for the wholesaler. Why did they select the word "retail" in this bill? Because certain big business, as outlined by Senator Weiner, are out to do harm and oppression to certain small business houses. We of the Senate, of this Commonwealth, should not permit that to take place.

As I said in my opening remarks, I reiterate what Senator Weiner said. I admire and respect what Senator McGinnis said. The good Senator McGinnis carries a great number of years of practical knowledge, legal knowledge and what we would term political know-how. The good Senator, I am sure, gave this bill some study, because he knows the possible adverse affect such a bill can have.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say, do not consider the constitutionality of it if you do not care to. Do not consider the economic or religious phase of it, if you do not care to. However, consider the type of deception which is being played on you and on me. Let us not vote for it. I ask you, as a body, to vote against this bill by voting "no" when the roll is called.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I intend to vote in favor of this bill, but for different reasons.

I feel today that many people advocate the passage of this bill, but they are able to go to New Jersey and get all they want. Some people, who appear as the champions of this bill, are actually insincere. Nevertheless, because a certain segment of the population can enjoy Sunday's freedom and some will not take advantage of it, the situation is mixed up and we have a condition of obfuscation.

In the downtown area of Philadelphia, on a Sunday afternoon, the rich and opulent can go to a club and get all the drinks they want. Two years ago, I stood on the floor of the Senate and said it was about time to get to these one-man clubs and if they are literary societies, make them lecture. If they are singing societies, make them sing. Make them do what their charter calls for. Yet, people go to these clubs and enjoy the drinks and enjoy the leniencies of life simply because they can afford to be members of a club.

For this reason, Mr. President, we have a mix-up in our thinking. I feel that with the passage of this bill, the situation will become so unbearable that three years from now, there will be a general upheaval and all these bills and all these closings will go down the drain. I am simply voting for this bill to reduce the entire situation to absurdity and then have general relief for all the people in Pennsylvania.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, after hearing the many eloquent speeches, both on behalf and against this bill, I am compelled to rise and speak on its behalf. My remarks are somewhat similar to Senator Mahady's, from Westmoreland County, who said that is purely a clarifying law and not making a new law.

In order to refresh your recollection, I would at this time like to read a portion of the Penal Code of June 24, 1939, Section 699.4, which is now on the statutory books and is the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It read as follows:

> "Whoever does or performs any worldly employment or business whatsoever on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday (works of necessity and charity only excepted), or uses or practices any game, hunting, shooting, sport or diversion whatsoever on the same day not authorized by law shall, upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding, be sentenced to pay a fine of four dollars ($4), for the use of the Commonwealth, or, in default of the payment thereof, shall suffer six (6) days imprisonment."

I am sure all of you have read Senate Bill No. 405. It just puts more teeth into the law and specifically adds Section 699.10 which states as follows:

> "Selling certain personal property on Sunday whoever engages on Sunday in the business of selling or sells or offers for sale on such day at retail clothing and wearing apparel clothing accessories furniture houseware home business or office furnishings household business or office appliances hardware tools paints building and lumber supply materials jewelry silverware watches clocks luggage musical instruments and recordings or toys excluding novelties and souvenirs shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding for the first offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100) and for the second or any subsequent offense committed within one year after conviction for the first offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) or undergo imprisonment not exceeding thirty days in default thereof."

Mr. President, we are highly inconsistent, especially in the speeches made opposing this bill. Here you have an existing Act and you have one which is clarifying it, putting more teeth into it. If this bill is unconstitutional, as the opponents so state, then all of the Blue Laws of the Commonwealth are unconstitutional. All of us here know full well that not only the local courts, but the appellate courts of the Commonwealth have upheld the Blue Laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the utmost degree.

In the most recent cases in Pennsylvania,—and this is why we have legislation such as Senate Bill No. 405—you have two guys from Harrison coming into Pennsylvania and establishing a store in Whitehall Township, in Lehigh County, and they are willing to pay the four dollar fine any time in order to do business. The court in Lehigh County, in District and County Reports, page 571, in the Bauder and Mills cases, bases its decision on the Appellate Courts of Pennsylvania and it states as follows:

> ". . . since this provision is a civil regulation and does not attempt to control or interfere with conscience or establish a preference for any religious establishment or mode of worship.
> ". . . does not violate the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution as being an invalid exercise of the police power, since the legislature may in the interest of the community properly provide a period of rest from labor, and for that purpose it may select a specific day to aid in the enforcement of its provisions, . . ."

The court further said:

> ". . . . is not unreasonably discriminatory as applied to persons working for hire in departments of a store not dealing in goods necessary to be sold on Sunday, . . ."

Mr. President, there is nothing in this bill that is of necessity to the public of Pennsylvania, where they should be able to go to a store and buy it on Sunday. You heard me read and quote from the bill the items which are specifically excluded. If these men who are opposed to this measure would read the bill, they would find that it surely does not hurt them or any of their constituents.

All of my letters have been in favor of this bill. I can say very emphatically that I have received no letters opposing this bill. I did receive one card which said that the bill interferes with the freedom of religious worship. However, I go back to the Blue Laws of the Commonweath which have been upheld by the courts of the Commonwealth.

I ask all of the Members, on both sides of the aisle, to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, am going to deny that this is a clarfying bill. If it is clarfied more, I might vote for it. If it were amended to hit the Jews, the Seventh Day Adventists and other religions in this State, I might vote for it. However, inasmuch as it only hits one day of the week, it is unconstitutional; it is a religious bill. I cannot vote for it because if it were amended, as I said, to include the Jews, the Seventh Day Adventists and such other religions, and if there were separate amendments to this bill, I might vote for it.

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, in my opinion, Senate Bill No. 405 is good legislation.

I think it is principally economic. More and more places are open for business today than ever before on Sunday. If this is to continue, all businesses are going to be forced to open or stay open if they are going to be competitive.

I know that automobile dealers in our section of Pennsylvania are very happy that the law was passed two years ago, closing their places of business on Sunday. I think people generally, employers, employees and the public in general, are in favor of this type of legislation. I certainly hope that my colleagues will vote for this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I must say that we have had quite a lot of free expression here today in regard to this piece of legislation. I am inclined to agree with Senator Kalman in the position that he has taken here, and I believe that this is good legislation. I have heard charged on this floor that it is discrimination, and I have heard the argument that it is unconstitutional. However, I have not heard anyone get up and read any notification from the Attorney General that the legislation is unconstitutional.

Let me say further, Mr. President, that someone mentioned something about lobbyists doing a good job on this particular piece of legislation. Let me say this to you here and now, no lobbyists have contacted me. I have not seen any lobbyists in regard to this piece of legislation. I have received thousands upon thousands of letters from good people who feel that this law should be passed. I have received three in opposition. I believe that it is about time that the Senate of Pennsylvania realizes and appreciates its responsibilities and passes legislation like this. It is not going to hurt anyone. It is not going to put anyone out of business. It is going to give the people of Pennsylvania, especially the working people, however, a day of rest to which they are entitled and we should make sure that they receive that day of rest by voting for this legislation.

I am proud to vote for it. I will stand up and defend my position any place and anywhere, and there is not a lobbyist who influences my vote.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, there are two historical figures whom I have always greatly admired, Thaddeus Stevens and Senator Ehrgood. When we find the two combined in one argument, it seems it would be almost irresistible. However, in a long and brilliant career, such as each of these gentlemen has had, it is pardonable I think if we find either one of them speaking a bit of nonsense every now and then.

I know of no religion, Mr. President, which says that a man should sell on any given day. This bill only says that there shall be one day on which people shall not sell. It is difficult for me, on that basis, to raise the religious issue which several of these gentlemen seem to be trying to raise.

I think we have a practical situation in Pennsylvania, Mr. President. I come from a county where we have a district attorney who has done a sincere job, I believe, in trying to do what the law requires on this point. He has found it impossible to enforce the law, because the law which is on the books is of an ambiguity which makes it impossible for a law enforcement officer, seeking to do his duty, to carry out the law.

I would say if we are going to have the law on the book ,and we have had it on a long time, then it is about time we put it into shape in a definable manner so that law enforcement officers can take that law and can say what it means, and so that the public and the people who have stores can understand what the law means in order that we can have a sensible enforcement.

If Senator Ehrgood, or anyone else who feels strongly on this matter, would bring to the floor of this Senate and have on this calendar a bill which would abolish the Sunday observance laws, I think perhaps some of the arguments they made would be defensible arguments. I might not agree with them, but I think they would be defensible.

The choice we are given here today is, shall we keep the law as it is on the books, unenforceable, vague, ambiguous; or shall we put into the law, specifications, details which make this law tangible, which make it possible for our law enforcement officers to enforce it, and for the people who are affected by it to understand what the law means.

On that basis, Mr. President, I intend to vote "aye" on this bill .

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I had hoped to avoid making any statement on this bill today. I think that those who have followed the enforcement of the Sunday legislation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are familiar with the fact that the test cases in enforcement have been tried in Lehigh County, as has been pointed out by Senator Kalman. The court decisions have been appealed from Lehigh County.

Frankly, I am not going to speak for or against the bill. However, I would like to enlighten the Members of the Senate on some of the past history of the bill and will call names, names.

It was several months ago, over a year ago, that a business from New Jersey moved into the aforementioned Whitehall Township of Lehigh County. It was known as the "Two Guys from Harrison." They started operating on Sunday. It was a novelty. The people came from Northampton, Bucks, Monroe, Pike, Schuylkill and all the surrounding counties, so much so that they jammed traffic on the highways of the Seventh Street Pike in Allentown and Whitehall Township. However, the people came and they did business. There were other enterprises along the same route which were open on Sunday and doing business.

Since last September, the District Attorney of Lehigh County has tried to enforce the old law which is on the books. Appealing to the court, there was a decision rendered and it upheld the District Attorney. When the appeal went to the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court then ruled that the adiministration of the old law was discriminartory and the cases involved were thrown out.

There has been reference here to the amount of mail that has been sent to the Senators and to the Members of the House regarding the Sunday sales bill. I would like to enlighted the Members of the Senate as to the situation that has existed throughout the areas affected. There is nothing wrong with this because anyone is entitled to do this same thing, and that is to write to your Senator or your House Member. It so happens that I know some employees of various stores in my particular locale, and other locales, who wrote the letters and they submitted them to the officers of the affected stores, which mailed them for the employees. This is a perfectly legal procedure. The only thing that is doubtful in my mind, as of this minute, is the fact that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has ruled that the enforcement of the old law was discriminatory.

Again, I repeat, I am not speaking for or against the bill, but I would like to ask if that was discriminatory administration, would there not be a question of discriminatory administration on this bill in its present form?

I thank the gentlemen for their attention.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that all this discussion has resulted in one fact being made absolutely clear, and that is that the present Blue Laws which we have on the books and which have been upheld by the Supreme Court apparently are not being enforced because many of these businesses are still operating. Therefore, we are not trying to narrow this further by this type of legislation, which I believe everyone here will agree is further discriminatory and is unconstitutional because it delimits the items which can be sold. In other words, we pick out retail and proceed along barring that area. We then go along and say that wholesale, by not including it in here,—in other words, by exclusion—is all right. We further delimit it by narrowing down the items and spelling out the items that cannot be sold in this bill.

I would just like to add an addendum to what Senator Van Sant said. The case he was speaking about was taken from the Supreme Court and appealed to the Federal District Circuit Court. My impression is, if my memory serves me corectly, that it was overruled and that the people are now allowed to operate on Sunday. This is one of the further reasons that we have this bill.

I feel that this bill is one more blow for closing and restricting our State, keeping out activity, cutting down the revenue that our people are able to obtain, and also cutting down employment for many people in this Commonwealth who can use an extra day of employment, whatever that day of the week happens to be.

I, therefore, ask respectfully that my colleagues vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I just want to make this brief comment. The statement was made by one of the previous Senators, who spoke on this measure, that this law helps to clarify the present existing law. Yet, when you talk to some of the sponsors of the bill and you ask them, "Do wholesalers have to stay closed?", they tell you that wholesalers must stay closed. They tell you that under this bill, a wholesaler must stay closed because the word "retail," to them, includes the word wholesale.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, visualize yourself as a lawyer, and a client comes to you. This bill says that you cannot sell at retail on Sunday. If this is a clarifying measure, I have to say that I wish, again, that I never see another clarifying measure. This is merely going to create chaos and confusion among wholesalers and retailers, large business and small business.

We have asked for time to amend this bill and it was indicated that the bill was going to be voted on today. One of the things was clarification of whether the word "retail" included "wholesale," by getting a ruling from the Attorney General which was not forthcoming. The bill had to move today, they told us. What is so important about this piece of legislation? Is another Sunday or two going to make that much difference? We, in this Senate, who are lawyers and who are going to be called upon to advise clients, must know whether a client who sells at wholesale is going to be penalized $100 every Sunday and $200 thereafter. Are the cops on the beats and the constables going to arrest my clients because of something that is being passed today which uses the word "retail" and yet the sponsors of the bill will tell you that wholesalers are barred? It becomes a penalty for a wholesaler to sell on Sunday.

I challenge any sponsor of this bill to get on this floor and tell me how a wholesaler can be barred from selling on Sunday under this bill. It cannot be done, and if this bill is passed, I shall advise my clients that under the wording of this bill, in a law passed in this Senate, a wholesaler can sell on Sunday.

Mr. President, I tell you this bill is not clear. This bill is going to put us back days, months and years. It is not the type of bill which we should put our stamp of approval on until such time as definite clarification is forthcoming.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, there have been a great many lawyers taking this floor today. I think it is time that we get an expert, a layman, to give his views on this bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I yield to my good friend, an expert, Senator Watkins.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am confused.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I would just like to place upon the record another fact, neither for nor against the bill.

This bill, as reported in the Allentown Morning Call by one of the gentlemen of the Press, Mr. Charles Ettinger, was drawn and written by the Attorney General.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 495, Printer's No. 671, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill 510, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 7, 1901 (P. L. 493), entitled as amended, "An act providing for the examination, licenseure and registration of persons, firms or corportions engaged or engaging in the business of work of plumbing or house drainage, and prescribing certain rules, regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing, house drainage and cesspools, in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines, penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof," permitting the use of rigid polyvinyl chloride pipe and providing for the joining of pipes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hate to be an "aginer," but that seems to be my role here today.

I have been advised by the Department of Health that, as mentioned in Senate Bill No. 510, Printer's No. 760, this new piping, which will be made of a plastic substance, will not do what the advocates of this bill say it will. The piping will be used for venting and for carrying waste substances. The piping, as I am advised by the Department, will not be anti-corrosive. It will not be able to carry this chemical substance away or act in a proper manner in venting.

I do not know how many Members of the Senate are aware of some of the problems which may be involved in this type of a situation. However, where you have sewer gas or chemical substances which form a gas, it can cause great difficulty. If the piping, itself, is not of such a substance as the present type we are using, which is made of hard clay or a solid pipe, as it is known, to carry away this gas or properly dispose of it, you will have great problems and you may even have a very dangerous situation. It may cause explosions or the back venting of this gas into a home which can do great harm to the people living there.

Therefore, Mr. President, since I have been so advised by the experts on this subject, I ask my colleagues to vote against this bill. If the sponsors would like the bill to be passed over in order, and discuss the bill further with the Department of Health, I woud be most happy to agree to that motion. As my position stands now, I ask that my colleagues vote "no" because we are doing something which I think is within the purview of the Department of Health.

And the question recurring,

Shall thebill pass finally?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BERGER. I did not realize that Senate Bill No. 510 had passed third reading. Is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. It passed third reading.

Mr. BERGER. Did you say it has passed third reading?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, my impression is that the bill has not passed third reading, and that it is before us now on third reading. It is open for debate at this moment.

The PRESIDENT. In other words, your objection was to it being passed on third reading? Is that correct, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 510

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. Actually, at the present time, if your objection does not go to the third reading of the bill, then it has passed third reading. You may reconsider the vote by which it passed third reading. Is that what you propose, senator weiner?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir. That is my motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did you vote, Senator Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. With the prevailing side.

Mr. SEYLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman vote?

Mr. SEYLER. I voted with the prevailing side, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have no particular objection to the motion and having the vote taken on it. However, if the bill has passed third reading, and I am informed by the Chair that it has, it was my intention to request that it go over in its order and appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar. I did not, however, understand that it had passed third reading.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, may I ask the Majority Leader whether he would have any objection to reconsidering the vote by which the bill passed third reading and then have it go over on the Third Reading Calendar for tomorrow?

Mr. BERGER. I have no particular objection, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Then, Mr. President, I suggest we pass the motion and put the bill over on third reading.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 510, Printer's No. 760, on third reading, now go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 613, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 2, 1956 (P. L. 1211) entitled "Practical Nurse Law" providing for examinations for licensure to be given at State teachers colleges and State-aided universities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the arguments I am going to advance against Senate Bill No. 613 are also applicable to Senate Bill No. 614. They are similar bills; one dealing with the practical nurses and the other dealing with registered nurses.

The purport of the bill is to convenience the examinees. In other words, the bill sets up the examinations to be taken in any of the fourteen State Teachers' Colleges. If we, just for a moment, think about his situation, where we are setting up all these different centers to convenience the examinees, the cost to th Commonwealth will be terrific. It will also cost money for the personnel required to run these examinations. It will cost money, also, in the basic setup to procure enough papers and material to go around to all these different institutions, with enough proctors to proctor this examination.

I do not believe that the present situation, as it now exists, causes any real inconvenience to anyone wanting to take these examinations. They happen so infrequently that I think it improper to put an extra burden on the Commonwealth, either by way of money or by way of personnel, when seeking to cut down our expenses should be the prime business of this Body.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am goinng to request that these bills go over today and possibly over until next week. However, I want to state what inspired me to present these bills. A doctor or a dentist may graduate from Pitt or Pennsylvania, and he is at liberty to take his examination either in the western end of the State or in the eastern end of the State, at hardly any cost to him.

These young girls who graduate from nursing school, some of whom live in Erie County and some of whom live in Washington County, are forced to come to Harrisburg just for the convenience of the Board. It costs these girls, who are just graduating, a minimum of $100 to come down here and live for two or three days, and many of them come from families who cannot afford it.

I am willing to amend this bill if we go back to the old manner of doing it, by allowing the examinations to be taken in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. I do think it is unfair to pick this one group of professional people and have them spend at least $100 to come down here and take the examination.

Therefore, I am going to request, if I may, that these bills go over until proper amendments are prepared. Next week when we get these bills, I think both sides of the aisle will be satisfied that they are good bills.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just want to make an observation on Senate Bills Nos. 613 and 614.

I believe Senator Pechan's position is very sound. I think he is absolutely right. I do believe that these young ladies, who are graduating from school and those who are taking the practical nurse's examination, would be more than happy to pay an additional licensure fee for the convenience of taking these examinations close to their homes.

I know for an actual fact that last year, fifty-one young ladies from western Pennsylvania, especially from Washington and Greene Counties, traveled all the way to Harrisburg, stayed overnight, took the examination, then went back to western Pennsylvania and it cost their parents at least $100.

First of all, it seems to me that it would only be fair and proper that we should make this convenient for these young ladies because, in most cases, their parents do not have the money. Secondly, they have just finished school and they, themselves, do not have the finances. I know very well they would be willing to pay triple the fee if they could only take the examination close to home. I think it is good legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 613

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Dear Mr. Davis:

I wish to thank you for making the Testimonial Dinner in the auditorium of the Rehabilitation Center at Johnstown a huge success.

It would be very appropriate if the attached copy of the Citation presented by the National Rehabilitation Association would be read to the members of the Senate since they made the construction of the Center a reality.

The personnel of the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation and the staff of the Rehabilitation Center will be dedicated to restoring dignity to the severely handicapped residents of Pennsylvania by giving them the physical capacities and ability to engage in employment.

Sincerely yours,

Citation

The National Rehabilitation Association cites the State of Pennsylvania for its significant accomplishments on behalf of its handicapped citizens: for the vision, courage, and persistence of its leadership which has resulted in the establishment at Johnstown of the nation's most complete, comprehensive rehabilitation center; for support of ongoing rehabilitation programs which has resulted in the State's achievement of highest rank in the quality and quantity of rehabilitation services; and for the practical demonstration it is giving to the United States and to the world of the human and economic value of rehabilitation.

Presented at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, April 16, 1959.
E. B. Whitten, Executive Director
S. W. Hendrix, President

The PRESIDENT. These communications will be printed in the Journal.

I wish to report to the Senate that, on behalf of the Governor, I accepted this Rehabilitation Center for the State. I wanted to say to you that along with Senator Whalley and Senator Walker, I was proud to be a Pennsylvanian and to see what the General State Authority had been able to construct for the people of Pennsylvania. I am sure you would have all been proud had you been able to be there. It was really worth-while.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would like, at this time, to make two introductions. The first are three Republican women from the town of Latrobe, which is my home town. The very good looking woman, sitting in the rear of the Chamber, is my neighbor, Mrs. Thomas Bird, and the two very good looking women sitting up above her are Mrs. Anna Bick and Mrs. Helen Fine.

The PRESIDENT. We are very glad to have her. Now she is thrice welcomed.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is probably not the right order of business under which to make this statement. More importantly, I would ask the Senators to bring with them the bills which they have on their desks, because there will be no picked Calendars at this Caucus.

That is all the remonstrances I have, Mr. President.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O Gracious Father, Everloving Son, and Everlasting Spirit, the light of Thy faith ever shines within our land. We thank Thee for that guiding torch which has led Thy servants in the past to bow in adoration before Thee and receive from Thee the stamina with which to meet and overcome the cares and difficulties of life. In this hour we look to Thee with that same confidence and assurance as exemplified by Abraham of old, and pray that Thou wilt grant to each one of us the keen insight to discern the problems which confront us, as well as the knowledge with which to discover and carry through an adequate solution: through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, Ever One God, world without end. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON, RIGBY, McCANN, J. P. O'DONNELL, DOUGHERTY and A. M. LEE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 64.

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1959.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has for many years participated in the international trade and commerce of the United States and generates substantial volumes of international traffic, including passengers, cargo and mail.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is vitally interested in preserving and expanding its international trade and commerce and in providing improved transportation services for its passengers and shippers, as well as for mail.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has always enjoyed a common interest in trade with the countries of the Orient and is vitally interested in expanding trade and relations with the Orient as a means of fostering commercial and industrial development and providing increased job opportunities for its citizens.

The advent of jet air transportation will, if properly employed, remove the principal historic handicaps to major expansion of trade and relations with the countries of the Orient, namely, remoteness and high transportation costs, and will establish the Orient as the world's greatest frontier for development of international trade and travel.

Presently available air services and routes are wholly inadequate to meet the present and future needs of the Commonwealth for preservation and expansion of its trade and travel to the Orient and to maintain its competitive position with other states and areas; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in session convened, favors prompt establishment of direct, competitive American-flag air services between Pennsylvania and the principal countries of the Orient in such a manner as to insure the fullest possible realization, now and in the future, of the convenience, comfort and time and cost savings of modern jet air transportation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General, The Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, The Department of Commerce and other official offices of the Commonwealth interested and affected thereby, are hereby authorized and directed to make such presentations and to take such other action as may be appropriate to present and support the aforesaid position of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania before the Civil Aeronautics Board and to such other agencies and persons as may have an interest in this matter, all with a view to securing the earliest possible adoption and implementation thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Attorney General, The Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and The Department of Commerce.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. VARNER. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1959.

On August 16, 1958, Alexander S. Robertson passed away. Mr. Robertson served in 1939-1940 as a member of this House of Representatives. He was born in Foxburg in 1894, and resided in Clarion County all of his life. A machinist by trade and owner of a garage, Mr. Robertson served his friends and neighbors in Clarion County during his active life in many capacities—he was President of the Foxburg Borough Council from 1930 to 1938, a member and past president of the Foxburg Community Club, member of the Clarion County Bucktails, and actively interested in the affairs of the American Legion, serving as Commander of his post, County Commander and Deputy District Commander. Mr. Robertson enlisted in the Navy in 1917, and until after the Armistice, served on sea duty on destroyers and submarines. Mr. Robertson's active life, marked with many civic and social contributions, both to his county and community, and to the people of this Commonwealth, came to an end last summer at the age of sixty-four. He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Bash Robertson, and five children: James of Toledo, Ohio; Alexander, Syracuse, New York; Mrs. Jeanne Thomas, Waterloo, Iowa; Mrs. Sarah Johnston, Coraopolis, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Barbara Davenport, Iowa City, Iowa. With the passing of Mr. Alexander S. Robertson, we have lost a fine friend and citizen of this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives express their sincere sympathy to the surviving members of the family of Alexander S. Robertson; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to his widow at her home in Foxburg, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to note in the Hall of the House a delegation representing the Council of Republican Women from Cambria County.

The members of the delegation are the guests of the House generally, and the guests of the gentleman from McKean, the Minority Leader, in particular.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean and expects from him a fitting word of welcome to this wonderful delegation of Republican women from the rock-ribbed Democratic County known as Cambria. We expect him to be very pretty in his remarks.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the House of Representatives we certainly want to welcome to the Hall of the House of Representatives, this very, very beautiful chamber, these very, very lovely ladies. We are delighted that they are gracing us with their presence today.

I just made a speech to them upstairs, and they have given me their unqualified support in the coming election this fall, and they are going to make Cambria County Republican for the first time in its history. So we are awfully glad they are here.

The SPEAKER. We await such election returns with interest.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 141, entitled

An Act imposing liability upon parents for the wilful and malicious acts of children over seven and under seventeen years of age setting limitations and providing procedure for recovery.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mrs. HENZEL. I think I need not remind the House, Mr. Speaker, of the lengthy debate and discussion that we had when this bill was before us some weeks ago, and I have no intention of belaboring the bill before its vote today.

But I think the discussion we had when the bill was in front of us formerly brought out two things; that there were differences of opinion as to the philosophy involved in parental responsibility, but certainly that there was a need for such legislation as parental responsibility represented. The bill we have before us today is an effort of a number of weeks' work to reconcile these differences, to evolve something that would be acceptable to the varying philosophies as they relate to parental responsibility, and to make legislation on this subject possible.

Therefore I would ask that the Members of the House look with acquiescence today on this bill as it appears before us, supporting it in order that we may put upon the books legislation that will make a kind of parental responsibility a necessity in Pennsylvania.

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill, House Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 489.

I question whether there is any real need for this kind of legislation. I believe the property owners are properly protected under the present laws of the Commonwealth.

They can file a suit for any damages they have received under the present laws of the Commonwealth.

I have with me here a copy of the Penal Code, P. L. 872. Under the provisions of this Penal Code, any person found guilty of maliciously destroying property is subject to a $300 fine or six months in jail, or both.

Now it seems to me there is really no need for this type of legislation if we have a provision already in the Penal Code to cover that.

The other provisions that this bill seems to propose to enact is to permit the landlord to collect a $300 fine, or up to a $1000 fine, for any injuries he may receive at the hands of the tenants.

The landlord is also protected under the present law as far as this provision is concerned, because he can file a charge of assault and battery by whatever means the tenant may injure him, or he can file a libel suit for any other injuries.

I would say maybe 65 or 70 percent of the people of the Commonwealth are tenants. They are renting in one form or another. Now this bill would affect each one of those people. For that reason, and that reason alone, I think this is a bad bill, and I would like to ask the Members of the House to vote this bill down.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate either one of the sponsors of this measure, or one of the framers of the amendments which have been placed in it since the bill was entered.

The SPEAKER. Will either one of the sponsors consent to be interrogated by the gentleman from Montgomery?

The Chair recognizes the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the lady tell me what this bill accomplishes that cannot be accomplished by present law?

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I can only answer that in the words of a lay person. I would say this is one step towards closing the gap as far as making the parents responsible.

As I understand it from a lay point of view, at the present time the law specifies that a parent cannot be held responsible unless he has had some prior indication on the part of a child that he is potentially wilful and malicious, and it is only after such wilful and malicious tendency has been proven that he can be held responsible. This would close that gap and say that on the very first instance of a wilful and malicious act the parent, if proven to be neglectful or negligent, would be held responsible.

If the gentleman from Delaware demands a more technical and legal explanation, I would defer to Mr. Fineman.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I do not care to belabor the interrogation, but one question I would like answered: Does this bill provide anything which is not provided for by present laws?

Mrs. HENZEL. I felt, Mr. Speaker, that in my answer I had shown that this is one step further toward making a parent responsible by wiping out the so-called one bite clause.

Mr. ISAACS. I thank the lady, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I believe the sponsors of this measure have made the error of trying to please everyone to such an extent that we have a bill on the calendar which I believe does not provide anything new.

I am possibly one of the prime advocates of a parental responsibility bill in this House. However, this bill in its present form reminds me somewhat of a waif wandering around in a cruel world where nobody lives and dogs bark at strangers. Personally, I doubt if it is worth the printer's ink that has been used on it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I must agree with the previous speaker. I think the medical profession has a term called a placebo, and I think that is what this bill attempts to do. It is the case of a doctor very often giving a patient a prescription that has nothing but water, or a little aspirin in it to make them feel better, and I think that is what this bill will do and nothing more.

I object to the bill on several grounds. First of all, it treats children from the ages of 7 to 17 exactly alike. I think, Mr. Speaker, you and I and the rest of the Members of the House know that in a child of 7 and a mature child of 17 their tendencies are completely different, and there is no differentiation here whatsoever.

Another reason I am opposed to this bill is because there are children who are bad, whether they come from a wealthy family or from a poor family, but this will not be a deterrent to the children of a poor family. To the child of a wealthy family the $300 or $1000 will not mean a thing, but to a poor family it will mean a great deal. I think this is a bad piece of legislation.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I want to take exception to the statements made by my learned colleague, Representative Schwartz. I am heartily in favor of this bill and legislation along these lines. It seems to me, and especially now while we have so many wonderful ladies in the Chamber, that a bill such as this should be brought up.

I do not want to lecture these parents who are here today because I am sure they are not the type who would be involved in legislation like this. But it seems to me that over the years there has been an attitude that is quite prevalent not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the United States, of parental irresponsibility. The responsibility of a parent to the child is inherent in the natural relationship. There is no reason in the world, moral or legal, why a parent should not be responsible for what that child does.

In law we impose responsibility on an employer for not the wilful and malicious acts of his employes, but really for the negligent acts of his employes. It seems to me where the relationship is of blood rather than of contract that the parent should act responsible. Now what this bill does is merely set forth in law what that natural relationship is and the responsibilities. It is a step in the right direction.

We are plagued, especially in Philadelphia today, with vandalism that is running rampant. We have malicious destruction of property. The Board of Education has been asking for this type of legislation because of the terrible problem involved, and there has never been a step taken to offset it and to correct it.

I might agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, that this bill might not be worth much as a practical matter, but I think it is a tool that can be used by a judge in a juvenile court to get some parents who are constantly brought before the court to accept that responsibility which is theirs under the eyes of God. If it does that it accomplishes its purpose. But there is nothing wrong in the world, and I want to repeat this, why a parent should not by law be held responsible for the wilful and malicious acts of that child. Whether the child is a good child or a bad child it is a relationship so close that the parent should accept the obligation, the legal obligation, as well as the moral obligation. I, therefore, ask everyone to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, as one of the sponsors of this bill I agree that the bill has been watered-down. However, as Mr. McCormack pointed out, it is a step in the right direction, and I feel that there is a need for this type of legislation and we, as parents, should be responsible. So I am asking both sides to help pass this bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker at previous sessions of this legislature we have had some 10 to 15 bills of this nature introduced. We have heretofore passed a bill of this kind more stiff in its nature.

When this bill came to my attention I had to say whether or not I would go for a bill of this kind. I feel under no circumstances can it do any harm.

I am pleased to see that the age limit has been lowered to 17 instead of 18, which was one of my original objections. But I feel the one main reason that we ought to have legislation of this kind upon the statute books, and that in itself, if there was any question as to whether or not I would be for or against a bill of this kind, I would be for it, and it is that too many people in this Commonwealth do not realize perhaps that bordering upon law of this kind exists in the state of Pennsylvania. If we did have legislation upon our books it would become known throughout the state of Pennsylvania that legislation of this kind does exist and that in itself, Mr. Speaker, would be quite a deterent to a good many parents who should have greater control and custody over their children and do not.

Therefore, for that reason, among others. I say vote "aye" for this bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intention today to speak upon this bill whatsoever, until I heard the round-robin of argument pro and against the bill.

I would inform the House that I do not rise as a militant advocate for the pasage of this bill, although I am going to vote for the bill. I am going to vote for the bill because I stated at the time of the initial debate on this bill that if there were placed before me a bill that sought to hold responsible those parents who by their own negligent conduct, by their failure to guide and counsel their children, made possible the acts of which complaint is made, then I would vote for such legislation.

I have also risen because I think I would be remiss if I did not take this opportunity to express to the lady from Delaware, the charming Mrs. Henzel, my appreciation for her very fine cooperation and consideration in working out and resolving the problems with which we were confronted when first this bill was before us. Again I extend my deep appreciation and gratitude to her.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I have been laboring with my conscience to see if I could sit still in my chair and allow a bill such as this to go by without making any comment. However, I feel so strongly about this particular bill that I cannot allow the opportunity just to say a few words of opposition go by.

I believe the bill is a misnomer. We call it a parent responsibility bill, but actually it is a parent irresponsibility bill. If we want to legislate against irresponsibility, I do not think we have any need to do so because already the laws of this Commonwealth provide for irresponsibile parents. Because the child has a propensity toward certain types of negligent action and the parent is aware of this, he can be made fully responsible for any of the actions of the child. However, if the parent is a good parent, observes all the necessities for keeping his child under control, what this bill would do would be to create a schism between him and his child, because if the child gets into some trouble, although the parent would try to supervise him properly, the parent becomes responsible for the child's malicious conduct.

I say to you that what we are trying to do is to attack a sociological problem in a legalistic way, when this is no correct solution. What we should do is establish certain types of committees, commissions. We should go to psychiatrists, psychologists, allow them to study such a problem and establish a way to treat these children, because these children need help. They are emotionally disturbed. I do not think that making the parent responsible will in any way satisfy the need of the problem, nor has this type of legislation been successful elsewhere.

Only last year I remember reading a group of articles in the Evening Bulletin in which they indicated that a number of states have already tried this type of legislation and in each state in which it has been tried they have ultimately had to give it up. The fact of the matter is all that has happened in the states where they had any sort of history with this type of legislation is that the problem has continued to be such as it was or the problem has increased, and what has happened has been a schism, a rift, between the parent and the child.

I say to you what we do is we rush hastily to meet a problem when we do not know what the solution is, and I think we should give it full study, a clear study, and then reach an ample solution before we head into something we will regret later on.

I say that a vote for this bill is wrong and I suggest that we vote it down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REVENUE BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 769, Printer's No. 491, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. As we pass over the revenue raising measures on the House calendar today, I would like to say that we had an exploratory meeting this morning between the leadership of the Republican and Democratic side of the House regarding our revenue taxing measures that were a part of our program here this morning.

We have agreed that following the present Primary which will be held in a few days within the Commonwealth that we will hold a series of meetings between the leadership of the two parties in discussing our revenue taxation problems in an effort to accomplish a goal of financing the budget as soon as the budget hearings may be completed.

We are at this time approximately $85 million short of mandated revenue raising measures according to the existing mandates of the 1959-61 budget. The House has passed existing tax measures, it has passed certain new tax measures. And we hope that by the series of meetings we may be able to accomplish the proper financing of this Commonwealth to eliminate this financial chaos, to find a program that we may agree upon, to do the things that we honestly believe we can do with the tax dollars and to present a true and honest budget, not wasting any money and demanding that for every dollar we spend we get the fullest possible value of that taxpayer's dollar.

It is with these hopes and these intentions that the revenue raising measures will be passed over for the period of this week and next week since we will be in session both weeks and then have our recess for the Primary week. We are asking and hoping that we can begin our meetings with the primary week, following the Primary, and schedule the proper series of conferences to establish those things in which we can agree that we must, as two parties, find a solution to these financial problems, both to our schools, our hospitals, our universities, and those things that we agree on in the budget that we must finance in new revenue in the 1959-61 biennial period.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that this will then place the membership of this House in the proper knowledge that we are attempting to meet and find these answers, that we will present to each of our caucuses each of the series of discussions in an effort to solve this as soon as humanly possible following the primary period.

Therefore Mr. Speaker, the revenue raising measures on the calendar will be passed over each of the days that I mentioned until following the Primary week.

The SPEAKER. There being a party tonight, and quite a number of bills to refer to Committee, the Chair would request the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, if he is so inclined, to preside while the Chair refers the bills and gets them to the Printer. If we wait until after the party, the Printer will not be able to get the bills done.

MR. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I would like to confirm what Mr. McCann has said. We did this morning meet with Mr. McCann, the Speaker of the House and Mr. Lopresti. Present at the conference was myself, Mr. Helm and Mr. Gibson. With repeats to our policy on this side of the House we are not ready to move any tax measures until we know more about the budget, more about the revenue needs and what existing taxes on the books will bring in.

We were assured that after the Primary recess, that the hearings would continue and they felt that in not too long a period of time maybe they could give us what they felt was a realistic figure of what is necessary to run the Commonwealth, including support of public schools.

Now I believe that there is a little resentment on our side of the House with respect to having 15 minute hearings on different groups being brought before the Appropriations Committee. I believe a longer time should be given for this important matter because our members feel that they can not intellegently arrive at a budget figure in such a short period of time. We will be glad, on this side of the House, to sit down with you and discuss the problem. However any decisions made, or any propositions offered will of necessity be brought back to our caucus for approval and through discussion, and to give you back a report as to the wishes of the Republican caucus on this side of the House.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentlemen from McKean.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean, Mr Johnson, what subject that we discussed this morning or at any other time that we had the committee hearings took only 15 minutes?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, in answer to your question, I, of course, was not present at your hearing this morning. I was in this conference that Mr. McCann spoke about. I am just reiterating the word that was brought back to my office that there was a feeling that scheduling hearings 15 minutes apart was to rapid, and that you would not be able to hear the groups you wanted to hear in that short period of time and do justice to it.

Mr. POLEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The schedule was made which scheduled the hearings 15 minutes apart and I explained that there was no limit at all on the time. We have alerted these different departments, bureaus and boards and told them we wanted to have them there and they were there, but that each group would be given as much time as the members considered necessary. At no time was there any rush to stop any questioning, and before we concluded each hearing every member was asked if he had any additional questions and, if you look at the time that was involved and the number of hearings, you will see that, I think, the shortest hearing took about 40 minutes.

These hearings that we scheduled were small and covered small items that we felt we could dispose of this morning. We started at 9:30 and the last hearing was closed about 1:00 o'clock. I want to assure Mr. Johnson, and all the Members of this House, that as much time as is necessary will be given to the membership of the committee and there is no intention to rush anything through.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 256, entitled as follows:

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
Mr. RENWICK asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.
The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,
House Bill No. 359, Printer's No. 427,
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 506, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Liquid Fuels Tax Act," approved May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149), reducing the tax rate of fuels used in jet or turbo-jet propelled aircraft and aircraft engines.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, this bill would reduce the tax rate on jet fuels from one and one-half cents a gallon to one cent a gallon. With this bill Pennsylvania has an opportunity to move ahead in aviation and provide a tremendous stimulus to the jet age as it affects Pennsylvania.

I would like to point out that this jet fuels tax that is on jet gas come into being on June 1, 1956. The income during the following twelve months was some seventy-seven thousand dollars during the following twelve-month period. In '57 and '58 the seventy-seven thousand dollar figure increased to in excess of one hundred thirty-three thousand dollars, or an increase of 72 percent. There is every reason to believe the rate of consumption of jet gas will increase substantially.

At the present time there is only one airline, as I understand it, Capitol Airline, that is using this type of gasoline, but there are other airlines which are coming into Pennsylvania—Eastern Airlines, T.W.A. and others.

I have been reliably informed also that jet engines use three and a half times the consumption of gasoline that ordinary aviation uses. Therefore the need for some help is readily apparent.

I would like to point out that a very real reason for this bill is that other states are competing with us in not having any such tax, so that when the airlines come into Pennsylvania they are at a competitive disadvantage. We want to do everything possible to encourage the airlines, to bring them into Pennsylvania and help Pennsylvania.

The figures which I indicated previously as coming from jet gas were provided by the Auditor General. I would like to point out also at the same time that these monies are turned into the Aeronautics Commission. I have been informed by the office of the Auditor General that the Aeronautics Commission is now financially in excellent shape. I ask everyone to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 761, entitled as follows:

An Act repealing the act of March 9, 1771 (1 Sm. L. 313), entitled "An act to prevent the destruction of rock-fish and oysters."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the bill that is before us today seeks to repeal an Act that had its statutory birth in antiquity back in 1771. Now I realize that there are very few Members of this House who have reached the grand old age of 188 years, so I want to explain briefly what the Act of 1771 did.

The Act of 1771, although the title to the Act doesn't so indicate, prohibited the sale of clams and oysters between May tenth and September first in any one year. I imagine that this law was put on our books because of health reasons. In those days they didn't have the freezing equipment or the refrigeration equipment we have today, and I understand that clams and oysters, from our good friend, Harris Breth, become milky inside during warm days and that they spoil easily and can be dangerous if consumed. So the need for this type of legislation is no longer apparent.

Now, the necessity for repeal came into focus recently when two Pittsburgh attorneys—and all Pittsburgh attorneys are smart— went into a hotel and ordered some clams. After they had consumed this delicacy they refused to pay for the clams and the proprietor went to a lawyer who is also a Pittsburgh lawyer and said, "You better start suit for these clams. I had two colleagues of yours come in and partake of his delicacy and they refused to pay me." He immediately went to the statute books and he said, "You know, they are right because under the laws that exist today if you sell clams between May tenth and September first you are subject to a penalty of ten shillings and in addition the clams are forfeited to the constable or the overseer of the poor for purposes of giving it to the poor. So the Act is no longer needed and I respectfully submit to the House that we ought to repeal it and get up to date with our seafood laws.

Now the Act also makes an additional provision concerning rock-fish, and a lot of men have asked me since this bill has been on the calendar, what is a rock-fish? I am not a fisherman by any means, and so I had to go to a dictionary this morning and the natural habitat of a rock-fish is the rocks. It is not akin to scotch on the rocks or anything like that, but its natural habitat is in waters where the bottom of the waters have a rocky foundation. As far as the rock-fish are concerned, the Act says that you could not sell a rock-fish between March first and September first of any one year. This was not necessarily a health measure, as I read the law, but rather an act to protect the spawning and proprogation of rock-fish before they reached a certain length because before you could sell a rock-fish during this period, it had to reach at least a length of twelve inches from the eye to the fork in the tail. I am sure everyone knows what a "fork in the tail" is.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today my colleague, Herman Willaredt, from Montgomery County, and myself have introduced a piece of legislation that would create a bureau of verification in the Department of Justice for the verification of the eligibility of persons to receive public assistance grants.

I believe that we should give the membership of the House a bit of background relative to this legislation so that there may be no misrepresentation of the purpose of this proposal. I would like to refer the membership of the House to a report of the Joint State Government Commission that was compiled after a resolution was passed by the 1951 Session of the General Assembly.

In the findings of that study one glaring summation stands out more so than any other. In the summary of findings in this report, and the membership can procure a limited supply of this report from the Joint State Government Commission, you will find on Page 3, under the summary of findings under paragraph 8, it is estimated that during the biennium 1949-1951 net assistance overpayments to recipients amounted to $16 million. Of this amount $10 million was financed from Commonwealth taxes.

The gentleman who is co-sponsor with me on this legislation and myself served with an interim committee of the Joint State Government Commission on the finances and budget of this Commonwealth. During that time we ran across this report and we felt that something should be done about it. We want to say to you that this is no plan to eliminate the needy and the eligible from receiving public assistance. In fact it may be a plan that will enable those who are needy and eligible for assistance to have a better ratio of same by eliminating those who are ineligible and are receiving it.

I believe at this time it is appropo for the sponsorship to consider this bill inasmuch as we have been having a running report of events in our daily Press related to public assistance recipients and to certain alleged revelations concerning public assistance recipients.

It is my hope that this bill can come before the House and be fully debated in the shortest possible time so that we can, in conformity with the findings in this report, institute such a bureau in the Department of Justice, and it is our estimation that such a bureau will cost approximately $200,000 per biennium. In the event that the amount of money can be saved or any substantial portion of that money can be saved that is so reported in these findings from prior bienniums, the bill is a good one.

I must say to the Members of the House we have no figures. We have no figures from the later bienniums with reference to public asssistance, but we feel sure that the report has proven that the social worker is not sufficiently competent to cope with the type of problem that we learned in this report had to be coped with in order to find out those ineligibles which are on the rolls. If we can spend $200,000 in that bureau to do a job of this kind for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it will be a landmark in the history of Pennsylvania in bringing about better government in this manner.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. KORNS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

Mr. KORNS offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

RESOLUTION
CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. MUNLEY, Mesrs. WARGO, NEEDHAM and EDWARDS offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 5, 1959.

The Honorable William J. Reidenbach was born in Scranton on May 5, 1900, the son of Frederick W. and Margaret Reidenbach.

Mr. Reidenbach's interest in sports, charitable and fraternal organizations, and government has permitted him to contribute much to the well-being of his community. He has long been looked upon as a person whose interest in the well-being of his fellow citizens is sincere and varied, and he has done much as a member of this House of Representatives to forward farsighted and sound legislation, geared to benefit the interests of the residents of this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its good wishes to the Honorable William J. Reidenbach on his fifty-ninth birthday anniversary, and its sincere hope that he may long continue to serve the best interests of his community and add to the accomplishments of this House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Reidenbach.

Mr. REIDENBACH. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to detain the Members here from attending the dinner this evening.

I want to thank my colleagues for remembering my birthday. We are all going out and having a very good time at the expense of the Victory Dinner this evening. I am going to have a very cheap evening.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize that it is late but Mr. Petrosky made what he figures is quite an important announcement and I would like to interrogate him very briefly on what he had to say.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, are we to understand that the gentleman's so-called far-reaching bill will rip out of the Department of Public Assistance, the right of social workers and of those in charge in the County to determine the eligibility of relief recipients and lodge it in the Department of Justice here in Harrisburg?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I think the gentleman said he was going to establish a bureau of eligibility or something like that in the Department of Justice, is that right?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I stated that the bill provides that there would be a bureau of verification which shall verify the eligibility of persons to receive public assistance grants.

The gentleman well knows that the federal government is a contributory to some of our programs of public assistance grants, and the Federal Social Security Act provides that a single agency shall administer that fund.

There is no intention of ripping anything out of anywhere, and if the gentleman will refer to the report we spoke about, out of the Joint State Government Commission, and this solution, we believe, is the one that will bring about the savings in taking off the rolls those that are ineligible.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, are we to infer that it is the findings of the Joint State Government Commission that the judgment of the Attorney General shall be substituted for that of the Secretary of Welfare as to who goes on relief?

Mr. PETROSKY. Absolutely not. The eligibility and the rules and regulations shall be set, as they are today, in the law.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. This bureau of verification would apparently look over every application for relief and then would make a decision whether that particular person was eligible or not. Isn't that about it?

Mr. PETROSKY. No. They would conduct investigations, similar to the type that were conducted, in order to procure the data that has been procured in arriving at the figures that I gave you as to the possibilities in saving funds of the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb, desire to be recognized?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker I rise to a point of order here.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LAMB. I feel, Mr. Speaker, that this is a debate on a bill that is not on the floor and has never been introduced.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the point is well taken.

I realized when Mr. Petrosky got up and made the speech about the bill, that it was a contravention of our rules, but I did want to know more about it.

I do not want the Press of Pennsylvania to get the idea that the Attorney General of Pennsylvania is going to determine who is going to be entitled to relief. I realize that it is problem that needs study and needs correction, but I am just wondering whether that is the way to do it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Section 3 of Article 3 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania reads as follows:

> "No bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the Members."

The point of order is well taken.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, on the point of order, I spoke under unanimous consent of the House to address the House.

The SPEAKER. pro tempore. The Chair would say that we cannot waive the Constitution of Pennsylvania by unanimous consent of the House.

Mr. PETROSKY. I agree. However, Mr. Speaker, my questioning was not in relation to the bill but in relation to my remarks before the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks pertained to a bill which the gentleman himself introduced.

CONGRESSMAN PROKOP WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to welcome to the Hall of the House Congressman Stanley Prokop of the 10th Congressional District. He is the guest of Mrs. Munley and Messrs. Wargo, Needham and Reidenbach of Lackawanna County.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would also like to welcome a former Member of this House, the gentleman from Greene County, James Cole.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AGNEW. My inquiry is directed to the last ruling of the Chair. It is my opinion, and this is my inquiry, that this House can discuss any subject, legislative or otherwise, by the unanimous consent of its Members, and I intend to use the proper procedure to pursue this inquiry so that we have a proper ruling on it, so that all Members of this House can understand it once and for all. I wish to take this up with the Speaker of the House and the Parliamentarian at their convenience sometime during the day or tomorrow.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will submit the question to the Speaker of the House.

Mr. McCANN. I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, because I think we should clear this point. Tomorrow we should set this question as a special order of business to emphatically clear this situation.

I am sure it is my understanding that none of us is to speak or make a statement on a bill we are about to introduce, although we certainly do grant unanimous requests, and no one ever objects to any of us speaking on any subject in this House.

Therefore, tomorrow in the Session let us be absolutely clear, that the Parliamentarian be well prepared to settle this question under the rules which will govern for the balance of this Session and Every session in the future.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair wishes to advise the Members that the question is on the Constitution, something which the Members themselves would necessarily have to decide. The question will be submitted to the Members.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was looking through the calendar, and I recall specifically a Debate—I do not recall the date of the Debate— following the time a statement was made, I believe by the Minority Leader, in reference to a bill he had introduced. It specifically came up on the floor at that time, after he had finished speaking, that hereafter, the Majority Leader said, it is against the policy of the House that we debate and discuss bills that have been introduced but have not been printed. I think it is a wise rule because the Members do not know what is going on. You were talking about a bill that none of us has had the opportunity to review, and I think even if it were not for the Constitutional provision the Speaker has set forth, that it is sound and wise to adhere to this strict rule that we should not discuss a bill we do not have before us, so that we can intelligently decide and discuss it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, for the record, so that all may understand, I did not get up to discuss a bill that I had introduced as such. I did make reference to certain material that is available. You must recognize that the bill I introduced is a certain change in certain of our procedures within the framework of the law, and would comply with the federal law as well.

Principally I wanted to make certain references to the material that the Members could look up in the Joint State Government Commission because of the running battle that has been going on on public assistance in the last 30 to 60 days in the newspapers. Certainly they would be interested in being conversant with the issue, and the only way they could be is to procure the material in respect to the proposed legislation.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the House will bein Session tomorrow. There will not be any Session of this House on Thursday. Scheduled time is 10:00 a. m. tomorrow morning. I hope everyone will get an hour's sleep and be here in plenty of time, bright and fresh.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, May 6, 1959 at 9:00 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:11 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1959.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN S. ALLISON, Pastor of Rock Bend Methodist Church, Homewood, Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the rest of the night and for the privilege of living another day. May it be lived for Thee and others.

In these moments of devotion, we would speak together of Thy loving kindness and Thy tender mercies. Thou hast kept our feet from falling. In the midst of dangers, we have had Thy protection and peace. When others have been afraid, we have been able to say: "The Lord is my strength and my salvation. Whom shall I fear?"

Here in Thy presence, we confess our sins, sins of omission and commission. May they be covered by the mantle of Thy forgiving grace.

Bless our homes, our dear ones and our communities. Bless our State, our Governor and all our officials. Bless both Houses of our Legislature, and especially bless and guide the Members of this Body. May they find in Thee the way, the truth and the life.

Pour Thy blessing on our National life; bless our President and his advisors. May they have wisdom that cometh from above as they face these difficult hours. Speak to our world. May it learn to live together in peace and brotherhood.

May the words of our mouths and the meditation of our hearts be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord, our strength and our redeemer. We ask these things in Christ's Name, Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, one of the most fascinating figures in American history was the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Charles Evans Hughes. Charles Evans Hughes came to the Governorship of the State of New York and to almost winning the Presidency of the United States. Finally, he became the Secretary of State and Chief Justice by getting after insurance companies.

I do not intend to emulate the example of Charles Evans Hughes. I cannot do it. However, this bill is an attempt to proceed in his footsteps. The law of the land in Pennsylvania, and in the United States, can be traced back to the Anglo-Saxon law, and it is that there should be a statute of limitation on claims arising out of conflict for six years. Everybody is abiding by it because this is the law of the land. However, insurance companies, in cases of fire and casualty, have typed on the policies, in small letters, that the statute of limitation is only one year. This is the reason why many people suffer losses and can do nothing to the insurance companies. A year passes very quickly and then the people are out of luck.

The purpose of this bill, Mr. President, is to provide that the insurance companies, mighty as they are, should be subject to the law of the land and should abide by the statute of limitation of six years.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 744, entitled:

An Act providing for a statute of limitations on fire provisions of this act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, yesterday morning I read an amazing statement in the morning paper. It quoted the Adjutant General, A. J. Drexel Biddle, as saying that it will probably be another six months before bonus checks start—let me emphasize the word "start"—to flow to veterans of the Korean Conflict. This strikes me as utterly ridiculous and if this be true, it is bureaucratic red tape at its worst. For reasons which I shall explain later, I am firmly convinced that the muddled and confused bureaucracy, as practiced for the past four years in Pennsylvania Government, will be responsible for this long delay in getting checks to our veterans.

There has been no secret that we intended to pay this bonus. As long ago as 1955, I offered the enabling legislation. In order to make certain that this legislation would be on a strictly nonpartisan basis, I obtained cosponsorship of two Democratic Senators.

Forms used for the World War II bonus, which was so adequately handled, are still available. There is no reason in the world why, with a few simple changes perhaps, they cannot be used to speed up the Korean bonus.

Let me recall to you some facts concerning the payment of the World War II bonus. I want you to especially listen to the dates I shall mention. On November 8, 1949, the people of Pennsylvania voted the approval of the bonus. On January 23, 1950, just a little over two months later' Governor Duff extracted the first application from a mail bag and number one check went to a veteran from York County. On that date, January 23, 1950, the bureau was in business.

The primary business of the World War II Bonus Bureau was to make payments to qualified applicants as promptly and as economically as possible. The remarkable speed of the Second World War bonus operation was accomplished without red tape or politics. The prime requisites for employment in the bureau were whether or not the applicant had veteran status and a background of ability to perform the job that might be assigned to him. Over 3,300 persons were screened to secure the services of 533 employees. These 533 employees were selected after interview and examination of prior experience without regard to their race, creed, color, religion or political affiliation.

It is my understanding that the employees who will be hired to distribute the Korean bonus must be Democratic, and no person will be hired unless he carries the stamp of approval from his own Democratic County Chairman. I say that this is an outrage. It is the real reason why General Biddle now says it will be at least six months before the first bonus checks start—let me again emphasize "start"—to flow.

Let me tell you that when these Korean Conflict boys were called to fight and die, or go through life permanently crippled and otherwise disabled, they were not asked whether they were Democrats or Republicans. They were not asked whether they were white or black, Protestant, Catholic or Jew. They went because they were Americans. They did not go because they were Democrats or Republicans. They went as decent, willing Americans, to defend the land they loved.

I say that it should not take six months to start paying the Korean bonus, nor should the Bonus Bureau be turned into another Democratic patronage haven. These veterans deserve this bonus just as rapidly as they can get it. Cut out the politics, and they will get it.

I would like to make one more comment, and that is that I just learned yesterday that we have House Bill No. 1, which passed unanimously, asking for a $41,000 appropriation to continue the administration of the World War II bonus. I do not suppose there are over one-half dozen straggling cases which would fall within the category of being eligible for the World War II bonus. Yet, they are asking for $41,000 between 1959 and 1961 for the administration of these three or four or five cases which may come in.

I think it is ridiculous. I think it should be looked into. I pray the Appropriations Committee will study that bill and make sure for what the $41,000 is going to be spent. If it is as it is stated in that bill, that it will take $41,000 to pay out perhaps $3,000 in eligible bonus payments, something is wrong somewhere.

INTERROGATION

Mr.WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Armstrong tell the Members of the Senate what has happened to House Bill No. 40?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, House Bill No. 40 is in the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Armstrong tell the Members of the Senate how long that bill has been in the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. PEHAN. Mr. President, it has been in and out several times. I do not know when it came over.

Mr. WEINER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong further tell the Members of this Senate why the bill was taken off the Third Reading Calendar, at his behest, and sent back to the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is giving me a little more credit than I deserve. I, as one individual, cannot get a bill back into committee. I thank the gentleman for the confidence that he has in me that I, as one individual, can get a bill back into committee.

Mr. WEINER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong tell the Members of the Senate whether he protested this bill being recommitted?

Mr. PECHAN. Absolutely not. In fact, I was one of the people who thought that it should go back into committee. May I elaborate?

Mr. WEINER. Senator, will you just please answer my questions? Then I will be very happy to let you elaborate.

Therefore, Senator, if I understand your answer correctly, you were one of the people who helped send it back to committee. You deserve the credit that you are not seeking, is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. Well, yes. All right, I will take it.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, will you tell the Members of the Senate what House Bill No. 40 would do and how it is necessary to the Korean bonus?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, in House Bill No. 40, the figure has been changed with the bill being in and out of committee, and I do not know who is responsible for the amendments. When the bill came over, it had a figure of $200,000, then it was $300,000 and then $500,000. Truthfully, what the figure is now, I do not know, as it has been amended.

However, to answer your question, it would take "X" number of dollars out of the General Fund to start the machinery rolling for the administration of the payment of the Korean bonus.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, will you also tell the Members of the Senate where this bill is now reposing, in case anyone did not understand? Where does this bill rest at the moment?

Mr. PECHAN. In the Committee on Appropriations, to which it was recommitted.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Senator. I want to thank the Senator for his helpfulness in informing us where the bill is located which will provide the money for the machinery to hire anyone to do the work which is necessary to get this Korean bonus rolling. Without this money and without the implementation to do this, the bonus cannot be paid.

I do not know whether Senator Pechan has taken this material from the newspaper or whether he has talked to General Biddle himself, but I do not see how anyone can hire even a single person, even clerical help, and just begin to process the bonus without the necessary funds to do this job. We have passed these bills to provide the money for the bonus. We have passed the implementation to float the bond issue. We have, this morning, passed the resolution that is necessary to go with this so that we can get the thing rolling. The only matter we have not provided is the money to do so.

If, once this money is provided, the situation prevails, as the Senator indicated here to the Senate, I would think he would have a just claim and a just right to get up and make the statements he has made. Barring that, and you do not give the people the money to do the job, you cannot criticize them for something that may happen or may not happen. We do not have any information on the matter.

If the Senator can tell us what is going to happen six months from now on the stock market, I think all of us will be very happy to hear from him, and I think many of us will be guided by his advice. However, to tell us that these things are going to happen, that the employees have to be Democratic and that they have to be of a certain stripe or color indication, I think is completely erroneous. I think it is giving misinformation, and I think it is completely unfair unless he has taken this problem up with the department.

I think the Senator will also advise the Members of the Senate, if he recalls correctly what happened on the bonus payments to the remainder of the World War II veterans, that the people who were hired were primarily veterans and their political affiliation or their political party did not make any difference. I am positive the same situation will prevail today in this matter.

With all deference to the gentlemen of the press, who are hard working and who try to do an honest job, I think it is unfair to criticize anyone from a newspaper story without having all the facts. Sometimes the newspaper employees get carried away with themselves, and they do not always reflect the stories filed with them. Therefore, I think the Senator ought not use the newspapers as a basis for attacking anyone, or for making an accusation, or falsly putting anyone in a bad light.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to say to Senator Weiner and the other Members of the Senate that when I asked that we consider House Bill No. 40, it was because I had veterans' organizations which said that the bill should be studied and that it should not be a political football. As the Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Department of the American Legion, I was called in, along with other veterans groups. We were to make a study of the bill and make sure that it would not become a political football.

As veterans, we know that we are also going to have to pay for the retirement of these bonds. We do not want any waste of money. You must remember that the veterans' organizations were responsible, in a great measure, for the passage of the Korean bonus. They went to their membership, they went to the House and Senate, and helped along the passage of the Korean bonus. They also feel that they want to do the responsible thing and that this indebtedness must be retired. They want it to be retired in such a manner that it will be least costly to the taxpayers.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think we should clear the air on several factors. One is that House Bill No. 1 will be debated when it comes up. It should not be a bill to continue World War II compensation. A prior war compensation should not muddy the atmosphere in connection with the present controversy.

Secondly, sometime ago, I went to the other side of the Senate and asked that House Bill No. 40 be put on the calendar and not be held in committee. I was told that I should wait until the cigarette tax is passed and when we have the money, we will pass it immediately. That was the promise which was given to me at that time and that was the reason given.

Let me add something else to that. I sit on committees of two veterans' organizations. I have been a National Judge Advocate and a State Judge Advocate; my brother was a National Commander. I am in touch with the veterans, too. The way this was put to the veterans was that it would become a political controversy if they insisted upon it being put on the Calendar. The veterans made no request of this Body to hold House Bill No. 40. That was done in the Senate, alone, and in committee.

Let us look at the record about one other thing. There was an excellent job done on the World War II bonus by General Weber. We, the veterans, went to him at first, when he was starting, and he said: "I must have my key people and I will furnish them." He did not limit the employment to veteran status, and I do not think Senator Pechan meant that in the narrow sense of the word. I think he meant it in the employment of the same guide that was used in connection with the World War II veterans; that is, families of veterans, mothers of deceased veterans, families who were in need, such as a sister or a mother or a brother of a deceased veteran.

I suggest to you that I checked with the Administration the other day. I was down in "Pop" Jones's office, and he said the same guide for employment would be used as was used in the prior veterans employment. I do not think that is an abuse here. I do not think there is a question of delay. The newspaper article carried an estimated date, so that no one could expect it any sooner. In all the inquiries we have made, we have been told that as soon as we get the money, we will go to work.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to Senator Pechan today and the several speakers who followed him, when he took the microphone. Let us say to the distinguished gentleman from Armstrong County, Senator Pechan, that if there is any delay in the payment of the soldiers' bonus, I would say that he is, to a great extent, responsible.

It so happened that this bill was committed to the Committee on Appropriations, according to the History, on February 2, 1959. The bill was not reported from committee until April 20, 1959. Senator Pechan was one of the principal persons in the committee who argued that we should hold it until the cigarette tax bill came over from the House. If Senator Pechan will recall, at that time, we had quite an argument. I think that his motion to hold the bill prevailed by just two votes. Most of the Republicans, Senator Ruth and I, and most of the others tried to get the bill out. Senator Pechan argued and held it in committee. Therefore, when he gets on this floor and talks about delaying, a portion of the responsibility lies right at his door. After it was reported out, he recommitted it again. That is the picture. Senator Pechan is partially responsible for any delay in the paying of the soldiers' bonus.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like, briefly, to mention something in connection with House Bill No. 40.

In the first instance, there was some question in the minds of a number of people, Members of the Senate and also members of veterans' organizations, as to whether the amount of money set up in the bill was too much or, perhaps, not enough. Considerable time was taken in straightening that out, and I want to confess that, as of now, I do not know whether the amount of money is greater than might be needed to set up the initial machinery or not. However, I do want to point out that when the bill was reported on April 20, 1959, it contained a figure of $300,000 more than the House had placed in it as being a sufficient amount to take care of this. This was brought to the attention of the Caucus, and it was thought that it would be very desirable to have the bill go back to committee to find out whether or not that amount of money was necessary. We did not think that it was necessary. Consequently, the bill is still in committee and I believe certain amendments, restoring it to the original amount of $200,000, have been prepared. I antitcipate the bill will be reported in that fashion.

If Senator Weiner desires to be heard further on this matter, I will defer making the motion I am about to make until after the conclusion of his remarks.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no further remarks.

RESOLUTION No. 66.

In the House of Representatives, May 5, 1959.

State Route 666 parallels Tionesta Creek for most of its course as it winds among the wooded hills and scenic valleys of Warren and Forst Counties. It is a route of exceptional natural beauty and historically significant.

At the lower terminal, the village of East Hickory, is the site of the mission established in 1769 by the great Moravian missionary David Zeisberger. This mission was erected there in the Munsee-Delaware Indian settlement of Goschgoschink.

David Zeisberger's influence upon the Munsee-Delaware tribe was profound. By the dramatic conversion to Christianity of the war chief Olickhican, "Gun Sight," who had come to Goschgoschink to get rid of him, Zeisberger paved the way for the establishment of the Moravians farther west in the heart of the Delaware country. This growth of Christian faith undoubtedly contributed to the eventual settlement of the Northwest Territory; therefore be it Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Secretary of Highways is hereby urged to name State Route 666, the David Zeisberger Highway, and to place appropriate markers thereon.

May 1, 1959, marked the death of Joseph C. Gallagher, a well-known labor leader and former member of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Gallagher, a native of Freeland, Pa. and the son of the late John F. and Mary (Brogan) Gallagher, passed away at the age of 56 following an illness of about three weeks.

Joseph C. Gallagher served as President and Chairman of the Mine Committee of Local Union No. 2477, UMWA, at the Jeddo No. 5 operations of the Jeddo-Highland Coal Company from 1928 to 1936, when he became an organizer for District No. 7 of the United Mine Workers of America. He served in that capacity until March, 1942, when he was commissioned as an International Representative of the organization. In performing his duties as an International Representative, Mr. Gallagher served the membership of the United Mine Workers of America in many sections of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Maryland.

In 1940 Mr. Gallagher was elected to the Pennsylvania General Assembly, and ably served in that capacity for a two year term. In addition thereto he has served as a member of the Labor-management Advisory Committee of Pennsylvania since 1947.

The outstanding services which Joseph C. Gallagher has rendered in the furtherance of labor and his fellow man will be remembered and enjoyed long after his passing. His unselfish endeavors will serve as a guide and inspiration for future leaders in the field of labor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends to the widow, family and loved ones of Joseph C. Gallagher its sincere condolances upon his death, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to his widow, Mary M. Gallagher.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

SPECIAL FUNDS BUDGET MESSAGE

GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE
HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA,
WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1959

Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly: ,

I have the honor to transmit herewith the budget estimates and requests for the various special funds, whose uses, under statutory law and the Constitution, are restricted to specific public purposes.

Included in this budget are provisions for the Game Fund, the Fish Fund, the Banking Department Fund, the Milk Control Fund, the State Farm Products Show Fund, and—major among them all—the Motor License uFnd.

Because the Motor License Fund is, by far, the largest of all of these special funds, it seems proper to devote my remarks to a description of the requests in this category, both in terms of the program to be accomplished and of the revenue necessary to carry it out. However, I should point out that each category of this budget has been carefully reviewed and scrutinized by the operating agencies themselves, by the Budget Office, and other reviewing officials in a determined effort to keep costs at the lowest possible level.

As was the case with the General Fund Budget which I presented, there is little element of surprise about the Motor License Fund recommendations. Since this Administration assumed office late in January, the Secretary of Highways has made clear the problems facing his department. Before that time, various groups and individuals have emphasized the necessity to raise additional revenue if Pennsylvania is to maintain its vast highway system properly, and if it is to improve and expand that system to meeet today's needs and those we can reasonable expect in the future.

Some of the problems of Pennsylvania's Department of Highways were dealt with, in detailed fashion, by the Automotive Safety Foundation in its report of last August.

You will recall that the then—Governor and the General Assembly called upon this expert agency to survey the operations of the Department and to make recommendations on needed improvements.

When the report was made public, both candidates for Governor supported the bulk of the suggestions it contained, as did various other individuals and groups concerned with the adequacy of Pennsylvania's highways.

Various recommendations of the Automotive Safety Foundation will be implemented through this budget as it is presented to you. Other features, which do not require additional financing, will be embodied in legislation soon to be introduced for action by the General Assembly.

It is hardly necessary to comment upon the impact of the State's highway system upon the economy of the Commonwealth and upon the well-being of its citizens. Motor vehicle registration is increasing year in and year out. The dependence upon highway transportation, for pleasure, business, and industrial activities, becomes more evident with each passing day.

Unfortunately, we have not kept pace fully with the increasing traffic demands on our present highways, nor have we been able to provide the new highways necessary to unify this State and to increase its economic potential. On the other hand, we have, in the past several years, carried on a record-breaking construction program, while, at the same time, gearing up the Department itself for the enlarged responsibilities imposed upon it, both by the ever-growing traffic volumes and by the Federal Highway program.

We need to do still more. And that is precisely what this budget proposes.

We must make certain that we utilize fully the Federal funds which will be available to us and that none of these sorely-needed monies is diverted to some other state because of a default on our part, in financing, in planning, or in programming.

As essential as the Federal-aid program is, we cannot overlook the fact that half of Pennsylvania's 41,670-mile State highway system must be constructed from 100 per cent State funds.

Nor can we ignore the engineers' reports that 4600 bridges on the State network are load restricted and obsolete.

We know—and the Automotive Safety Foundation reinforced that knowledge—that Pennsylvania has not done a good job in traffic engineering and that its directional signs are woefully inadequate.

The program of roadside rests, which has proved extremely popular both for Pennsylvanians and for out-of-State tourists, should be expanded.

Right-of-way costs are reaching a staggering figure, and the need to improve and modernize our maintenance program is undeniable.

All of these factors, which have a direct effect upon the State's highway program, apply to the responsibilities of local governments in Pennsylvania as well. No one needs to be reminded that these governmental units, in common with all others, are having a difficult time meeting their obligations in this and in other programs.

Finally, it is essential that Pennsylvania's highway needs be looked at, not from the viewpoint of a biennium or of the term of a single administration, but for a longer period of time, just as the Federal program was established.

Highways Secretary Martin, whose knowledge in this field, both as an engineer and as a planner, is unchallenged, has calculated that we must spend $3 billion over the next twelve years for construction and reconstruction. On an annual basis, this calls for a construction budget, excepting maintenance, right-of-way costs, and other obligations, of $250,000,000.

All of this then leads us to the figures of this budget, as it pertains to the Motor License Fund.

The recommended expenditures for 1959-61 highway purposes are $989,237,527. To finance such a program will require the continuation of the present gasoline tax and its increase by one cent a gallon. It is estimated that the increase in this levy, to be collected for 22 months in the next biennium, will be $56,800,000, of which $11,360,000 would be returned to local governments for highway purposes as presently provided by law. Beyond this increase it is recommended that the passenger car registration fee be established at $15 annually, rather than the present ten dollar rate. This would yield an additional $35 million for the next two years. This budget also proposes raising the cost of drivers' licenses to three dollars a year, an increase of two dollars over the present charge. The biennial income from this increase is estimated at $22 million. Totally, these adjustments, plus other miscellaneous increases in local government contributions, would produce $116,895,000 in new State funds for the highway budget.

Because of these increases, we will be able to enlarge the Federal monies available to us in 1959-61 by $135,337,624. Putting the two sums together, the total in revenue for the highway program would amount to $252,232,624 for the biennium. Under this budget, as recommendned, Federal funds would total $332,718,440, as compared with the $198 million available for the 1957-59 biennium.

Money available for the Motor License Fund for the next biennium amounts to $991,358,948, including a cash balance, as of June 1st, estimated to be $55,748,656. Of this latter amount, $45 million is encumbered. At the conclusion of the 1959-61 biennium it is projected that there will be a cash surplus of $2,121,421.

The program to be financed by this revenue has been balanced, as it pertains to the Federally-aided system and to that portion of the highway network which is entirely the State's responsibility. For example, construction on the 100 per cent State highways would receive $124 million, as compared with $94 million provided for this purpose in 1957-59. This money will resurface approximately 1240 miles of roadway, resurface and widen another 700 miles, reconstruct and relocate 280 additional miles and rebuild about 300 smaller bridges.

Construction on the Federally-aided part of the State highway system would amount to $371,762,371, of which $88,248,931 would be State funds. This compares with $266 million devoted to Federal primary, secondary, urban, and interstate highways in the 1957-59 biennium.

In road maintenance, for which $93 million was allocated in the current biennium, the request in this budget calls for $105 million. Right-of-way costs, for which $55 million was provided in the 1957-59 program, increases, under the terms of this budget, to $89 million. It is interesting to note, however, that the State funds devoted for this purpose in 1959-61 will be about a million dollars less than in the current biennium.

At this point, I want to emphasize that the Federal funds which will come to Pennsylvania for its highway program should not in any way be considered largess. It is the proper return of money paid by Pennsylvania taxpayers in Federal gasoline taxes.

To carry out the program called for in this budget requires extensive engineering work. The department expects to spend $60,600,000 for engineering in the coming biennium, an increase of $5,600,000 over the actual and estimated expenditures in 1957-59. However, again in keeping with the announced policy of this Administration and with the recommendations of the Automotive Safety Foundation, the greatest portion of this work will be carried out by departmental engineering forces, which are being strengthened with each pasing day. The amount of work to be contracted out is expected to be $5 million less than in the current biennium.

The other major items called for include $71,628,321, for non-highway departments, $21,750,000 for administration, and $17,500,000 for rentals to the State Highway and Bridge Authority. This latter amount takes into consideration the contemplated sale of $20 million worth of bonds to finance projects already committed. Although this sale will bring the total bonds outstanding to the authorized limit for the Highway and Bridge Authority, this budget does not advocate raising this ceiling. This is in keeping with a desire to keep the highway program as nearly to a pay-as-you-build basis as possible.

Totally, this budget is predicated on an ambitious highway construction and maintenance program. It is, I am assured, an entirely feasible program. Beyond that, I am convinced it is a necessary program.

Pennsylvania is in the throes of a great competitive struggle with other states for its economy security and progress. The calibre and adequacy of our transportation facilities are key factors in this struggle.

I need not point out to the members of the Legislature the importance of our highway system, nor need I emphasize that the demands for new facilities are pressing in every section of the Commonwealth. The program to be paid for under the terms of this budget will not provide all these facilities as rapidly as many of us would like to see. It does, however, assure us that we can biuld new highways, reconstruct and modernize existing ones, and maintain the entire system effectively and wisely.

This is a program geared to meet the demands of the automotive age.

It will be carried out by a department which this Administration intends to make as good as the best anywhere in the Nation.

To achieve these goals means the adoption of this budget essentially as it is set forth.

Needless to say, it is the right and duty of the members of the Legislature to scrutinize this document carefully and diligently, and to examine the program it would bring into being.

Accordingly, I respectfully urge your thoughtful and prompt consideration of this budget.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

RULING BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The House has requested a clarification of the parliamentary equities involved in a particular situation. The situation was this:

A Member of the House, after having secured unanimous consent to address the House, proceeded to discuss a bill which he had introduced. A point of order was raised that the discussion was out of order.

It was argued that it was in derogation of the Constitution to permit the consideration by the House of any measure that had not regularly been reported from committee and printed. In the opinion of the Chair, the question raised involves an interpretation, from the standpoint of parliamentary procedure as to the differences between "discussion" and "consideration." One of the formulas regularly used by the Chair runs after this fashion:

This bill has been read three times at length, considered and agreed to.

In the opinion of the Chair, the word "considered," when employed in the usual parliamentary setting, implies a united action, an action designed to promote and move in the direction of some definite decision. "Discussion", on the other hand, is a matter in which only one Member might be primarily concerned. It has been the established practice in the past for Members of this House, for various reasons peculiar to themselves, to ask unanimous consent to make a statement. It has been the practice, when such request is made for the Speaker to respond: The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman may proceed.

Once unanimous consent is given a Member to make a statement, it would seem to the Chair that the Member is confined only by the recognized rules relating to propriety and that the limitations placed upon the Member speaking are dictated only by the patience of the House which, having granted leave to speak, can terminate the discussion.

The Chair therefore holds, in accordance with long-established practices of the House and in conformity with what we believe is correct parliamentary procedure, a Member, once having obtained unanimous consent to speak without any limitations being imposed relating to duration or substance of the discussion, can discuss future legislative projects of particular concern only to himself without being in derogation of either the Rules of the House or of any Constitutional provision.

The Chair observes, incidentally, that when a Member of the House raises a point of order based upon his interpretation of the Constitution that the matter is referred to the House for its decision.

If, however, the Chair precipitates the discussion based upon the interpretation of Constitutional provisions, that the Chair must then himself attempt to resolve the issue that the Chair has himself raised.

It is therefore held that when it is contended a Member of the House, who has obtained unanimous consent to address the House, is out of order because he elects to discuss some matter of particular concern to himself, is not well-taken.

Since the substance of the issue involves the interpretation of the language of the Constitution, the Chair submits the opinion to this House for its approval or disapproval.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, having been temporarily in the Chair at the time when the question arose yesterday afternoon, I believe that I should make some few remarks concerning the question, and I would say at this point that I am wholly in agreement with the opinion as expressed by the Speaker of the House this morning.

It is my opinion that the interpretation to be placed upon the word "consider" is such that the action of the House itself would be involved in the discussion. Then when a Member is merely discussing it from his particular point of view, without calling for action upon the House, that actually the House itself is not considering the particular legislation; therefore it is my opinion that we should raise the question here by a motion.

MOTION TO SUSTAIN OPINION OF SPEAKER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that the opinion of the Chair be sustained.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BOIES. If the Member is in order, and can discuss a matter only of interest to himself, possibly after getting unanimous consent, then if the membership of the body who are not interested in his discussion desire to terminate the discussion, how do they go about it?

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent means just that. It is a privilege extended, and any Member of the House could rise and suggest that his approval for further discussion had been withdrawn, and the Member on the floor could then submit the matter to the House as to whether or not on the basis of a record vote the House would permit him to continue. Perhaps we should have a special rule to cover the situation.

Mr. BOIES. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is it necessary to approve by motion a ruling of the Chair when there has been no objection made to the ruling?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would reply that since the essence of the difference, if there has been one, is an interpretation of the language in the Constitution, that it is in line with proper procedure and in conformity with the Rules of the House and the practice that the matter be referred to the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I just ask the gentleman if he will yield to me one moment. During this discussion all of the Members are deeply interested, and I would like all the noise to cease. We want to clearly hear the words of the Speaker and what each Member is saying.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, a further point of inquiry. Does a vote on this motion mean specifically that a Member can introduce a bill that has particular significance to him, and then speak on it with unanimous consent?

The SPEAKER. That is the substance of the interpretation placed upon the situation by the Chair.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does it also mean that after a bill is referred to a Committee that that Member can then speak on it even though it has not been reported out of the Committee?

The SPEAKER. If the House gives a blanket permission to speak, a blanket permission, the Chair does not ask, "For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" He does not reply "I want to speak" about so and so. He asks for permission to make a speech. If the House gives its blanket approval or permission to speak, he can speak about any blank thing he wants to until the House stops him.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In other words it would also mean, Mr. Speaker, that if a bill, let us say, passes second reading and moves to third reading, that it can still be discussed by unanimous consent, since it would then not be being considered?

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent means the waiving of all rules to the contrary. That is what unanimous consent means.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti.

I, too, wish to thank the Speaker for his enlightening decision, and the submission of the question to the House.

Inasmuch as I was involved in the point of order that was raised, I took last evening and this morning to conduct a research upon the matter, and have with me here, although I shall not belabor the House with the various decisions, the Rules and the Constitutional provisions that support the Speaker's position, for I full well know the Members know, too, that the Speaker conducted such a research as well. I believe the decision is in accord with every practice and every written law, Constitution, laws and Rules of the House, and is in full accord with those provisions as stated in the books that we have.

I support the position of the Speaker and support the submission of this to the House on the basis of interpreting Article 3, Section 2 as to the words "consideration" of a bill, and it is substantiated in the definition given in the second edition of Merriam-Webster's dictionary.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in view of what the Speaker said, when unanimous consent of the House is given the person or Member to make remarks or make a statement, if those remarks are a contravention of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, does that still apply?

The SPEAKER. The Constitution of Pennsylvania is a document that is interpreted both by the Supreme Court and by this House. The question of constitutionality can be raised in connection with any measure, and the House can be in error concerning its constitutional interpretations and be reversed by the Supreme Court, or it can be correct in its interpretation, and we are now considering a measure of interpretation.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the reason I raised the question, it was raised yesterday and the Speaker quoted the Constitution as to the matter that was before the House at that time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

Would it not then be a proper procedure, if a Member is taken to task on the floor of the House for alleged debating of a bill that was introduced by the Member and was not yet reported out of committee, for any Member to raise a point of order on that Member? Then it would have to be put to a vote of the House, if necessary, as to whether or not he was violating the provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution in his remarks on that particular bill.

The SPEAKER. The question is not exactly stated by the gentleman from Blair. The issue revolves around the unanimous consent to speak, and given without reservation. Any Member could move to revoke the unanimous consent and the House could silence the man who was speaking.

Mr. AUKER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would make further inquiry of the Chair. Assuming that a Member has spoken to the House with the unanimous consent of the House, and Member rises and makes known his objection to further speech on that matter, does the simple fact that one Member so rises and makes his objection known in that case terminate unanimous consent? Or, must it be given to the House for consideration by a majority vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair, when the question is raised would refer the matter to the House: "Objection has been raised to the gentleman's continuing his remarks on the basis of unanimous consent."

The question would be: "Will the House grant its consent that the man continue speaking?"

Mr. SCHAAF. And if one Member objected there would no longer be unanimity of consent, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would so hold. The matter would then go to the House.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion because the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in my opinion, has already affirmed the Chair's opinion.

In the case of Hallock versus the City of Lebanon, the Supreme Court, through Mr. Justice Potter, was asked to define the word "consider," and here is the decision of the Supreme Court:

> To consider is to fix the mind upon, with a view to to careful examination; to ponder; to study; meditate upon; think or reflect with care.

I therefore request that the other Associate Justice in this House vote in favor of the opinion of Mr. Justice Andrews.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, not to belabor a point; in support of the point taken yesterday, the point was not taken until an interrogation was made after a Member was given unanimous consent. Does the unanimous consent carry over to any interrogations?

The SPEAKER. The Member who did the interrogating also got unanimous consent in interogate.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. To move the previous question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That is not necessary.

The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader. Does he request a voice vote or a roll call vote?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe on an important question like this, the Chair would feel better if he had a roll call on it.

I want to say that, of course, the effect of your interpretation here is of the word "consider." You are giving it a liberal meaning, which I think you should, because we should not put a straight jacket on ourselves here in this deliberative body.

The SPEAKER. The Chair knows for what purpose the gentleman, Mr. Schwortz, rises. He moved the previous question which the Chair hopes he will not press.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to give this admonition to the House: Our policy has functioned pretty well in the past. While we are a deliberative body we are not, in a sense, a debating society. We are a cumbersome body in that there are 210 men and women here.

I personally feel that while the Chair's ruling is sound and correct, we should give due consideration to a Rule of this House which will pretty much narrow it down to just about what the Chair has said.

Personally, I think I was wrong earlier in the session when I had a piece of paper which had not become a bill yet, because it had not been put on the desk and given a number; I probably was wrong in discussing that particular piece of legislation that I was about to introduce.

I would not condone what Mr. Petrosky did yesterday; not that he was wrong, but I think from our standpoint it is not good procedure to start talking about legislation.

I felt yesterday I had to interrogate Mr. Petrosky about that bill because he had a Press release on it, and it was quite an important bill, as we discussed here yesterday. Another Member on our side wanted to find out more about it because he wanted to be in the newspapers, too, on the bill.

So I therefore say that your ruling is a good ruling, and in interpretating that word "consider," I believe we should adopt a new Rule of the House which will narrow down that type of discussion. I think it is time enough to discuss a bill after it is out here on the calendar and has had the corroboration of the Committee and is being moved into a position for vote.

I ask the Members on this side to suport your ruling, with the admonition that we should adopt a rule which will pretty much define the area in which we are allowed to perform with respect to the introduction of legislation.

The SPEAKER. We want to have a typical roll call to establish who is here today and who isn't, and we might as well have that roll call on the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, on the motion and, of course, a short answer to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

I have already stated that I am in accord with the Speaker's ruling. The findings are so factual that I do not believe any of us can deviate from his very learned findings.

However, I want to state at this time, since the remarks of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, are already in the record, that I thoroughly disagree with his assertions in reference to the discussion of the prior day, and at such time, Mr. Speaker . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that he is departing somewhat from the question at issue, which is whether or not the decision of the Chair . . .

Mr. PETROSKY. I agree, Mr. Speaker. I am merely making the observation because the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, brought it up.

At such time as that contemplated rule change will come before the House, I will be happy to debate the issue with the learned gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call. Those in the negative may stand at the end of the roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON and McCANN and were as follows:
